THE POOR MARCH

By Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, Fourth District, Kentucky

I think it is important to raise some pertinent points about the Poor People's March, which threatens to disrupt the operations of Congress and the government this summer.

The eyes of the Nation are focused on Congress, watching to see if this body of lawmakers and the Executive Branch of the government yield to the intimidation of people who are making unreasonable demands. We face a fiscal crisis in this Nation that is comparable to the days of 1929 and 1930. There is a limit to how much we can do in the way of spending money. We have already done a great deal. In 1966, a total of $24.6 billion in Federal aid was appropriated for the poor, through the various agencies. In fiscal year 1968, the budget request is $27.7 billion in Federal assistance for the poor.

The marchers plan to camp on or near the Capital Mall in a shanty town. Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall has said that Federal property cannot be used for encampments without a permit—but has hedged on whether or not a permit would be given, citing an instance in 1937 when the Boy Scouts got a permit for a tent city on the Mall.

The marchers threaten to harass Congress and the Capital all summer until their demands for a guaranteed annual wage and other gifts are met. This is not the way Congress does business. There are 100 members in the Senate and 435 members in the House. There are many deliberations before action is taken on any bill. I trust Congress will never see the day when the members rush through a piece of legislation without carefully weighing every angle. Many people wonder where all the money is coming from to support this march. It has been suggested that disclosure of financial assets be made by those who control this campaign. This disclosure should include the amount and source of contributions, assets, salaries, and so forth. Other groups using Washington streets have to post bond to indemnify the United States for damages to government property. The American Legion and the Shriner both post bonds for Washington conventions.

As the march heads toward Washington, the Nation will be watching to see if the President intends to establish a privileged class of lawbreakers, who use and abuse government property, who trample on the rights of law-abiding workers to go to and from their jobs—and then ask Congress to reward them by perpetual payments for not working.

In needy countries, daily consumption of protein is less than two-thirds of diet-adequate countries' level, and fat consumption is less than a third.

NEW TOMORROW

If I had time tonight, I might be a bit frightened. But just now, there's time to feel only excited and happy. It's funny . . . when you're a little kid, it seems as if you go to school forever. Then all of a sudden, it's graduation night, and you know that this is an end and a beginning all at once.

Mom and Dad will be out in the audience, and so will Dan. He sent me these roses. Our minister will be out there too, and I hope he'll notice that the smile I send in his direction will be a particularly grateful one. How often I've gone to him with my childish troubles, only to have him treat them as seriously as if they were of world-shaking consequence. It was he who really taught me how to pray.

He taught me so many of God's lessons. And I am sure that throughout my lifetime I'll be learning them anew and repeating them over and over again. How wonderful to realize that this commencement, this end of an era, is really the beginning of a new tomorrow.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SKIN FOR SKIN?

Lesson for May 26, 1968

Background Scriptures: Job 1: 2, 29; 32:1-5, 42. Devotional Reading: Job 19:23-29.

Why does God allow good men to suffer? There seems to be no question more frequently asked or implied to clergymen than this one. It seems to find its source in the assumption that God should allow only unrighteous men to suffer, that the righteous man should be spared all such misfortune.

Thus, when a man who believes himself to be righteous is afflicted with hardship, misfortune, or suffering, his question, "What did I do to deserve this?" rises like an indignant complaint. His sins, if there are any, have been "small sins," certainly nothing that would justify the misfortune that has come upon him. Either he has not been as good as he has assumed, or God is being unjust.

No guarantee

Perhaps, however, there is another alternative. Perhaps we err in assuming that suffering and misfortune are necessarily God's means of punishing us for our sins. Maybe we are equally wrong in believing that righteousness will always be rewarded by good fortune, that it will guarantee us against difficulty. If so, then not only the sinner suffers in this life, but the righteous man as well.

This is the question which we find running through the book of Job. The Hebrews, not unlike many moderns, assumed that the righteous were rewarded with prosperity and well-being in this life, that the unrighteous would fall victim to sickness, misfortune, and suffering. The writer of Job, however, sets himself to demonstrate the fallacy of this interpretation.

In the first scene of this drama, we find God and Satan conversing. Satan is pictured here, not so much as God's adversary, as his chief officer in charge of testing the motives of God's people. He has come to the conclusion that people practice religion only in order to get from God what they can in material blessings.

He points out, for example, that Job is faithful only because he has received so much from God. He is eminently prosperous and successful; why shouldn't he be faithful? Look how profitable it has been for him, sneers Satan. Let him experience deprivation of some kind. Then see how faithful he remains! Then measure his loyalty!

A good man suffers

It is for this reason, then, that God permits Job to be tested. He is certain of Job's loyalty and allows Satan to use one affliction after another to try to break this man's spirit. Thus, the writer is indicating that righteous men may suffer just as unrighteous men do. If a man so unbelievably good as Job can suffer, then any man may.

God makes but one condition with Satan: "Behold, he is in your power; only spare his life." (Job 2:6 RSV) Satan takes him at his word and spares nothing short of Job's life. His affliction is almost as unbelievable as his goodness: his children tragically killed, his wealth, health, and most friends gone. Then to "rub salt in his wounds," Job is left with a wife and a few "friends" who taunt him and harass him to confess his "sin" and be freed of his suffering.

What good's integrity?

"Do you still hold fast your integrity?" asks Job's wife. "Curse God and die." If his integrity doesn't keep him from suffering, says his wife, why should he try to remain faithful? This was the same argument which Satan had advanced: "Skin for skin!" Job, however, refutes this point of view. A man's relationship with God should not be dependent upon the favors the Deity bestows or withholds from him. It needs to go much more deeply than that. He will remain faithful in the bad times as well as the good.

There is more to Job's faith than "skin for skin." So much for him, but what of us?

COMFORT FOR ALL SEASONS

On sultry summer days, an automatic Heat Pump . . . using only electricity and air . . .
cools your home.

Then, on frigid winter ones, the same single electric Heat Pump unit warms your home.

But an electric Heat Pump demonstrates its extreme versatility during the spring and fall days. It switches from heating . . . on frosty mornings . . . to cooling . . . as it becomes warmer in the afternoons . . . then back to heating . . . for chilly evenings.

Just set the thermostat to an ideal springtime temperature range and the electric Heat Pump maintains it season after season.

If you plan to build . . . now is the time to think about an electric Heat Pump.

A home garden, properly planned and managed, is a distinct aid to the family budget, diet and happiness. Here are a few points to remember about a home garden:

1. Most home gardens are too large. Plant only the vegetables the family will eat and just enough of each vegetable to supply family needs during its harvest period. The value of a garden is measured by the quality and length of time vegetables are available for table use. Several small plantings of many vegetables serve the needs of the family much better than one large planting. Gardens with more than 1,000 square feet per person are probably too large.

2. When gardens are too large, land, labor and money are wasted. Gardeners trying to plant enough vegetables at one time to supply the family needs for freezing, canning, daily table use, and to offset losses from insects, diseases, and droughts, usually have more than they can handle. This garden usually ends up as a weed patch and supplies too few for the vegetables the gardener actually had in mind.

3. Plan and plant to meet needs of the family. A good plan should show what and when to plant vegetables, such as corn or beans, which have a short harvest period and can be planted at intervals of two weeks to lengthen the harvest season. Many other vegetables can be planted two or more times during the growing season.

4. The family diet is important. A steady supply of fresh, green and yellow vegetables is necessary to good health and proper mental attitudes. Printed information is available at all Extension offices to assist gardeners in planning and growing their gardens.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

The WSCS met at the home of Miss Helen Richardson on Tuesday evening, May 14, with Miss Richardson also having charge of the program. Mrs. Shirley Losey, Mrs. Opal Shaw, Mrs. Alberta Ballinger and Mrs. Marjory Keeney assisted with the program. This program included a summation of the contributions made to the missions we support and monies used for other things. I'll include a few in my report. In 1966 at one race track, $500,000 was wagered in one day. In the same year Methodist women gave $1,233,389 for one year in world. Man and women in Methodist Churches gave less than $2.00 per person for world. One feels a bit of elation to read that almost 1 1/4 million is spent on missions, but had we the figures on amounts spent on any one of the following items it would seem insignificant, for instance alcoholic beverages, toys, soft drinks, cosmetics, sports, beauty aids and many others. Let's stop and think!

The devotion was given, based on Mark 1:16-20, the theme being the value of ways of making our homes Christian homes. Among the requirements were love, prayer, discipline, not only for the children but for the entire family. The same state of officers was kept for the coming year. How we wish every woman in the church would become interested in this group. In addition to those named, the following attended: Mrs. Reva Fennell, Mrs. Wavelyn Parsons, Mrs. Allene Faulkner, Rev. and Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Frances Losey and the writer. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Place of next meeting to be announced.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fennell, Jr. entertained with a dinner on Sunday for the Fennell family.

Mr. and Mrs. Lathan Brinkley and daughters took Mr. and Mrs. Carsee Brinkley to Cynthiana, for dinner on Mother's Day. Following a delicious meal they visited "Pa" Payne in Paris. Mr. Payne is Marie's grandfather, Lathan's great-grandfather, and great-great-grandfather of the little girls. He seemed good for his 96 years.

Mrs. R. Rector, Mrs. E. Schmitzler and Mrs. K. Keeney called on friends and relatives at Speers and St. Luke Hospital, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Richardson visit with his sister and family, the George Fennells, Jr., where several others of the family came to see them on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Victor Damico, Mrs. B. Rich, Mrs. L. J. Rapp and Mrs. F. Keeney attended the spring meeting of the homemakers clubs at Summit Hills on Thursday, enjoying a nice luncheon and a style show of very useful summer garments from Penney's, Covington.

At morning worship, May 12, at the Methodist Church, the mothers were honored by presenting to each a flower. The oldest mother present was Mrs. Caroline Armstrong, 94, and the oldest member of the church. The youngest mother was Mrs. Tom McCafferty. The mother of the most children was Mrs. Francys Keeney, having six, and a close second, Mrs. C. Duncan, with four present. The minister used as his text, "Behold Thy Mother."

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Losey and Robert called on Charles Losey's family, Saturday evening.

INDEPENDENCE

Mrs. Anna K. Wichterman of West Palm Beach, Fla., has returned to her home after spending her vacation with her father, Thomas Glass, and wife, Susie; her mother, Marie Glass accompanied her home.

Mrs. Jessie Fisk and Mrs. Freddie Harding took Mrs. Clara Fisk out for dinner, Mother's Day. Harry Fisk and Fred Harding spent that afternoon with Clyde Poore and took his wife, Mattie, out for dinner.

Marie Glass was the Sunday evening guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maddox, their daughter, Ruth, and their son, and husband, Russell Daugherty, as well as their son, Dwight Maddox.

Marie Glass had as Monday guests Mr. and Mrs. John Fogel, Glenna Glass, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Poore, Mrs. Anna Wichterman, and Sam H. Glass.

UTOPIA CLUB MEETS

The Boone County Utopia Club met April 25th at the extension office in Burlington, John Hetterman, president, presided. There were 22 members and 6 children present. A short business meeting was held. The new building to be at the Fairground was the main topic of discussion.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. Warren White, Director of the Daniel Boone Boys Center. He has been in youth work for the past 15 years. The Daniel Boone Center is the only one in the state which aids boys between the ages of 8-12. There are three teachers and three counselors who work with Mr. White. One would have to hear him speak before one could realize how some of these boys have been neglected and mistreated. The center helps them greatly but they can only stay there a short while—then one wonders what will happen to them after they leave the center. Some of them do not want to return to their homes.

If anyone in the county can help the center in any way it would be greatly appreciated. The boys need baseball equipment for the summer.

Utopia Banquet

The Boone Co. Utopia Club Banquet was held May 4, at Mr. Jims Steak House in Erlanger. Those attending reported a very good meal and a pleasant evening.

Superlatives at Simon Kenton

The senior class of Simon Kenton High School has selected the Senior Superlatives for the 1968 school year. They are as follows:

Mr. and Miss Simon Kenton, William Herper and Kandy Wrenn; Most Popular, Jeffrey Cook and Nancy Lea; Most Attractive, Dale Cross and Donna Fisk; Most Humorous, Gordon Dunn and Suelen Young; Most School Spirit, Mike Gray and Betsy Dawkins; Most Ambitious, John Allen Rich and Brenda Spegal.

On Honor Day, May 9, many seniors were honored. The most outstanding senior boy and girl, George Halsey and Nancy Lea, were given awards. Special awards were presented to Brenda Spegal, Valedictorian, and to Carol Monson, Salutatorian. Department awards were also presented to any seniors. Debbie Bailey led the class in singing the class song which was written by Miss Bonnie Gray.

Future activities include the senior boat ride, senior picnic, the Baccalaureate on May 26, and the Commencement, May 28.

From 1921 to 1961, India's population grew 44 percent, from 248 million to 357 million. This is better than 1 percent a year.

Leonard F. Woolum Is Commencement Speaker

Dr. Leonard F. Woolum, Professor of Education at Eastern State University, Richmond, will address the Walton-Verona Senior Class, their parents and friends at the Commencement Exercises on Friday, May 24, 8:00 p. m. in the school auditorium.

Dr. Woolum, a Knox County, Kentucky native, received his early education at Barbourville, Kentucky, his A. B. at Union College, his M. A. at the University of Kentucky, and his Doctor's Degree at the University of Maryland.

He taught school, served as principal and in other school capacities until 1957 when he became a part of the faculty at Eastern University.

The Seniors of Walton-Verona invite you to their Commencement and to hear Dr. Woolum.

Piano Recital Is Held

Mrs. Gertrude Henson recently presented her pupils in a piano recital at the Walton Christian Church.

Those participating before their parents and friends were: Rhonda and Rita Hampton, Laura Kuchle, Connie and Steve Lawrence, Joy, Carol and Debbie Jacobs, Gina Williams, Nannette and Michele Johnson, Jimmy Wiley, Darlene and Darnay Darlington, Randy Ryan, Paula Beighle, Rene Huey, Billy Faulkner, Susan Jarman, Dayna and Layna Cheesman.

Masons to Confer Degrees

Florence Lodge, No. 929, F&AM, will confer the Master Mason degree in its new temple on a large group of candidates from Northern Kentucky, starting at 2:00 p. m., Saturday, May 25, 1968. Dinner will be served at 6:00 p. m.

Green Road Special Meets

The Green Road Special 4-H Club met for its regular meeting at the Collett home in April.

The president, Carol Sallee, called the meeting to order and then Melanie Simpson gave the 23rd Psalm as the devotion. The pledge to Old Glory and the 4-H pledge was next on the agenda. Roll call revealed 12 members present, including Penny and Lisa Bush, Margaret and Stanley Collett, Terry and Cheryl Hamblin, Carol and Gary Sallee, Melanie Simpson, Jerry Kerr, Michael Robinson, and Vicky Yelton, plus adult leaders, Eve Collett and Barbara Simpson. With five visitors, a grand total of nineteen were present.

After completing the rest of the business, it was no wonder that "we were able to sew up a storm" under the direction of Mary Abel, special guest of the month.

Everybody please bring your record book to the May meeting.

ONE STOP FLY CONTROL CENTER

We carry a full line of fly control products for face flies, horn flies, stable flies, and house flies. Flies are here and will continue to increase in numbers and rob your feeding operation of production dollars. We have products for spraying buildings fogging, on the animals, and for knocking down flies. Purina Cygon 2E will last on your buildings for up to eight weeks. We also carry Purina Cattle Dust, Purina Fly Bait, and the New Purina Atomizer Sprayer. See us today for one stop fly control.

PRODUCT DOING EXCELLENT JOB

We have had excellent reports of Purina Complete Pelleted Milking Rations doing an excellent job of increasing production. Louis and Nelson Hess of Falmouth completed an annual herd average of 16,897 lbs. per cow on Purina Milk Chow Special. This was on D.H.I.A. with the only roughage being hay. Purina Dairy 16% Checkers is also doing a top job. With poor quality corn throughout Indiana and Ohio, why take a chance on lowering production...switch now to Purina Milk Chow Checkers or Purina Checkerboard Dairy KY 16%...the two high energy milking rations for extra profits. See us today for more details.

WHAT DOES "CLEAN" MEAN TO A DAIRYMAN?

No milkstone...No residue...No film...No corrosion...No foam...No place for bacteria. Yes sir, we believe that is what "clean" really means to a dairyman. You can be sure your pipelines and bulk tanks are clean when you use Purina Dairy Pipe-Line Cleaner. You save money, too. No acid cleaner to buy. See us today for all your dairy cleaning needs.

GRASSES LOW IN PHOSPHORUS CONTENT

Pasturing cattle? They may not be getting all the minerals they need. Grasses are low in phosphorus content, supplying only about 50% to 60% of cattle phosphorus needs. New Purina Range and Pasture Mineral packs a 16% phosphorus level into a total mineral supplement formulated specifically for grazing cattle. Purina Range and Pasture Mineral also contains 16% calcium to help balance the phosphorus. It also supplies organic iodine to aid in the prevention of foot rot and soft tissue lumpy jaw, manganese, magnesium oxide, iron, cobalt, zinc, and copper...all the vital trace minerals in readily available form. This product is also available in block form. See us for the right mineral for your beef or dairy cattle.

Mr. Prewitt also gave awards to Bill Wethington for his part as assistant secretary of the athletics funds. And to Mike Praisher, the President of the Student Body.

The Valedictorian address was given by Mr. McGlone.

First Baptist Church Vacation Bible School

Vacation Bible School will begin at First Baptist Church, Walton, on June 10 and continue through June 21, 8:30 to 11:30 a. m. This includes children from 3 years of age through 16 years.

Rev. Charles T. Saylor will be principal of the school, with Joe Afterdark leading the music program.

Rabies Shots To Be Given Boone Dogs

According to the Boone County Health Department, rabies shots for dogs will be given at the following times and places in the county, in June:

June 3—Burlington Courthouse, 10:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon, and at Petersburg Post Office, 1:00 to 3:00 p. m.

June 4—Taylorsport, Sprague's Grocery, 10:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon, and at Hebron, Comer School, 1:00 to 3:00 p. m.

June 5—Verona School House, 10:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon, and at Firemen's Picnic Grounds in Walton, 1:00 to 3:00 p. m.

June 6—Big Bone Park, 10:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon, and at Union Presbyterian Church, 1:00 to 3:00 p. m.

June 7—Florence Grade School, 10:00 to 12:00 and 1:00 to 3:00.

An accredited veterinarian will be giving the rabies shots. There will be a fee of $1.50 for each vaccination. Live vaccine, good for three years, will be used.

The Boone County dog warden will be present to issue a license to any person whose dog does not have a tag.

Literary Club Meets June 5

The Walton Woman's Literary Club will have its last meeting of this year on Wednesday, June 5, at 2:00 p. m., in the home of Mrs. Clayton Jones, North Main St., Walton.

The hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. Melvin Wasson and Mrs. D. Hess Vest.

All club members are asked to bring a gift package to be taken to the boys at the Daniel Boone Camp. Gift packages should include state items, as toothpaste, soap, deodorant, comb, hair oil, and include a small toy as a yo-yo, marbles, or model car, also some chewing gum and hard candy.

ANNUAL CEMETERY MEETING

The annual meeting of the Richmond Cemetery Association will be held Memorial Day at 10:00 a. m. at the church on Richmond Road.

He who does his best today will be hard to beat tomorrow.

TO BECOME A NURSE

Miss Elaine Frederick

Miss Katherine Elaine Frederick will be graduating from the Kentucky Baptist Hospital School of Nursing in Louisville, June 3.

Commencement exercises will be held in Alumni Memorial Chapel of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

After graduation, Miss Frederick will reside in Louisville, and continue working at Kentucky Baptist Hospital.

Miss Frederick is a 1965 graduate of Walton-Verona High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Frederick of South Main St., Walton.

Accepting Applications For State Police Cadets

The Kentucky State Police are accepting applications for a Cadet class tentatively set to begin on July 1st.

"We must have 45 qualified applicants for our next school, if we are to fill existing vacancies and keep the Kentucky State Police up to its allotted strength," said the State Police Director, C. B. Crutchfield.

To encourage new trooper recruits, all interviewing and testing will be done at local posts. First Sergeant Bradley of the Dry Ridge Barracks said, "We feel this is an excellent chance for qualified young men to avail themselves of a challenging career in law enforcement as provided by this opportunity to join the Kentucky State Police. Applications may be obtained from your nearest State Police Barracks. Investigate today!"

Independent Schools Outrank Those of the County Systems

Recently this office received a copy of Quality Rankings of Kentucky School Districts, the first report of a two-year study of the quality of education in the State of Kentucky. It is a system analysis of 197 Kentucky public school districts based on their socioeconomic and educational characteristics. The data represents the 1964-65 school year.

The major purpose of this initial presentation is to enable the administrators and school board members of a Kentucky school district to determine how their district ranks in comparison with the other 196 districts of Kentucky pertinent to quality education.

Over 300 factors have been identified in various studies as possibly influencing quality education. These factors have been categorized into three groups: community variables, school variables, and student variables. These groups can also be logically titled input, process, and output variables. There are 19 variables listed and each of the 197 schools are graded as to percentages and by comparison—a good idea can be determined as to position the school stands compared to these averages.

These 19 variables included such factors as median grade attainment, median family income. These are included in the community or input variables. Under process or school variables are per pupil expenditure, salary,

Simon Kenton FHA Alumni Meeting

The Simon Kenton FHA Alumni held their monthly meeting Thursday, May 16, at 7:30 p. m., in the RECC Building on Walton-Nicholson Road.

Marilyn Young presided at the business session. The club has tickets for the "Afternoon Show" on television for May 21. Twenty-five members and guests will attend.

A makeup demonstration will be given at the next meeting. Members were asked to bring suggestions for programs.

The program this month was on "Time Savers in Housekeeping." Everyone learned a few new ideas and how to save time.

All who attended the skating party had a good time.

Mrs. Judy Nunn assumed the duties of first vice-president because of the resignation of Miss Carolyn Hidenman.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by Mary Bailey and Barbara Barker.

The next meeting will be held on June 20th at the Owen County RECC Building, Walton-Nicholson Road.—Reporter

Kindergarten Graduation At Hickory Grove Church

The graduation program of the Hickory Grove Baptist Kindergarten was presented May 21, at the church. The 21 pupils receiving their certificates were:

Gregory Allender, Douglas Alsip, Lori Binder, Arvil Bush, Jr., Sara Dixon, Gina Finnell, Vicki Graham, Jacqueline Gurley, Kimberly Hensley, Connie Jackson, Gary Layton, Valerie Mattel, Michael Medley, Terri Molique, Tamara O'Brien, Tracy Olbert, Scott Ruthenford, Lori Simpson, Vicki Walter, Richard Webb, and Jill Williams.

The teacher was Mrs. Earl Wills and was assisted by Mrs. Wilford Dixon, Jr.

WA-NA CLUB TO MEET

The Wa-Na Woman's Club will close its 1967-68 year with a dinner meeting at Heritage Steak House, Route 42, Florence, Monday, June 3, starting at 6:30 p. m. Mrs. John Acree, Governor of the Fifth District of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, will be the guest speaker and install the new officers of the club.

NAMED VICE PRESIDENT

George W. Baker

George W. Baker, President of Kentucky Fried Chicken Operating Co., a Kentucky Fried Chicken Corporation subsidiary, which controls all company-owned stores, was recently elected a vice president of the parent corporation.

A native of the Walton area, Mr. Baker is a graduate of the University of Kentucky, and an Air Force veteran. He is married and has two children, Andrea Lea, 6, and George III, 4. They now live in Nashville, Tenn.

Baker headed KFC's highly successful company-store operations in Dallas, Texas.

June Convention For Republican Women

Kentucky women are looking forward with interest to attending the Kentucky Federation of Republican Women's Convention to be held June 12-13-14, at White House Inn, Dixie Highway, Covington. Hostess club for this 3-day event will be the Kenton County Republican Women's Club.

Besides officers of the State Federation of Republican Women's Clubs, the delegates and guests will hear many fine speakers: Kentucky Senator Thurston Morton, Senator Carl Curtis of Nebraska, Mrs. John T. Salmon, third vice president NFRW, and the Rev. Douglas Moseley, assistant to the president of Lindsay-Wilson College.

Gov. and Mrs. Louie B. Nunn will attend the June 13 banquet, at which Sen. Curtis will speak. Mrs. Nunn's son, the Rev. Don Aspley, will give the invocation. The remainder of the program is to be taken up with interesting reports and informative workshops, a fashion show, tours and social events.

Registrations by mail are being accepted by Mrs. Eric O'Hara, 1154 Breckinridge Road, Covington, Ky. 41011.

It is hoped that many Kentuckians make plans to attend the convention this election year.

In the last 12 years, America has spent $18 billion providing food and fiber aid to developing nations.

rank, library expenditures, teacher pupil ratio, and attendance. These are on elementary and secondary levels. And under output or student achievement are: percent of ninth graders who graduate, percent of graduates entering college, and qualification tests.

We cannot list all of the 197 schools, but will give ranks of some of the Northern Kentucky schools, both independent and county. The top two schools in the state are in Northern Kentucky. Number one is Ft. Thomas, and number two is Beechwood, both independent districts. Some other schools in this area and their ratings are: Covington, Ind., 14; Bellevue, Ind., 12; Erlanger, Ind., 24; Ludlow, Ind., 30; Walton-Verona, Ind., 38; Williamstown, Ind., 60; Kenton County, 71; Pendleton County, 89; Grant County, 95; Newport, Ind., 101; Boone County, 108; Campbell County, 109; Falmouth, Ind., 122, and Gallatin County, 135.

In addition to ranking on the 19 variables, the 197 schools were also ranked again, using five quality variables that include the output or student achievement variables that include: 1. Percent of ninth graders who graduate; 2. percent of high school graduates who enter college; 3. percent of ninth graders who enter college; 4. college qualification test; and 5. the Armed Forces qualification test.

In this ranking of the top 50,

41 were independent districts and nine county. Walton-Verona ranked 25th and most of the Northern Kentucky schools moved up in their rank.

The following conclusions and interpretations are drawn from profile analysis of the 197 school districts:

1. The findings related to rankings of the 197 Kentucky public school systems indicate that independent school districts are superior to county school districts in a substantial majority of cases.

2. The data reveals that certain areas, as Northern Kentucky, Central, and Western have school districts of higher quality than do Eastern Kentucky.

3. Community wealth and expenditures largely determine rank of school districts.

4. Small independent and county districts without sufficient financial support usually have poor schools, yet some few districts with rather small student bodies are exceptions and do have good schools.

5. School size alone, however, is not the determining factor in school quality because many of the larger systems with adequate financial resources are inferior.

Other factors in addition to those used in this research are responsible for school quality are: lack of community interest and support, poor administrative leadership, and influence of socioeconomic and cultural factors.

Glady's Hopewell Circle Meets

The Glady's Hopewell Circle of First Baptist Church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Wilson and enjoyed an interesting program on Missionary Volunteers.

Those present were: Dora Pennington, Georgia Greene, Mable Webster, Ernestine Deaton, Joyce King, Vera Wright, and Elizabeth Farrell. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harold Wilson, Georgetown College.

Two years ago Paul worked as a Home Mission Board summer student missionary. He started the first Vacation Bible School on the Apache Indian Reservation. He made many slides during his summer with the Indians and started the first mission. On April 7 of this year, the mission was constituted into the first Apache church, called The San Carlos Apache Baptist Church, with 19 baptized members. They will build their church on Apache land and share the gospel with countless lost Indians. The members have already voted 10 percent to the Cooperative Program and 2 percent to Associational Missions.

The Glady's Hopewell Circle was glad they had a part in this new church as they sent Paul money for supplies and the first mission offering and also prayed often for this week.

In August, Paul and Melody will go to Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Kansas City, Mo., where he will continue his ministerial education.

Japanese Tea

As a climax to several weeks of study on Japan in the Walton Christian Church school through the 'World Outreach Dept., a Japanese Tea was enjoyed Sunday afternoon in Fellowship Hall.

Decorations lent an atmosphere of Japan and several interesting items of that country were displayed. Refreshments consisted of green or spiced tea and cookies.

Several of the children's classes had planned the program and some were dressed in kimono.

Despite the rainy afternoon, a nice group enjoyed the tea and the fellowship. Mrs. Arthur Russell and members of the CWF helped in planning and serving refreshments.

Celebrates Birthday

Miss Evelyn Jones became a teenager May 21 when she celebrated her 13th birthday. To celebrate this occasion, 20 of her friends enjoyed a picnic supper at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jones, of North Main Street.

Meeting Night Changed For Boone VFW Auxiliary

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Boone County Memorial Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 6009, voted at a recent meeting to change the meeting night to the third Wednesday night of each month. The coming meeting will be held on June 20 instead of June 3. The time and place will remain the same, 8:00 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Shirley Ferguson.

Joint installation of the Post and Auxiliary was held May 28 at the Post in Union. Mr. and Mrs. Don Jones were the installing officers.

All members of the Post and Auxiliary are urged to participate in the Memorial Day parade which will start from the Albers Store in Florence. The group will meet at 9:00 a. m.

Extended Area Telephone Service

The Consolidated Telephone Co. announced this week that Greater Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky Metropolitan Extended Area Telephone Service (EAS) will become available Sunday, June 2, at 2:01 a. m. for customers in the 282 and 283 exchanges of Florence. About one-third of the total number of customers requesting the service will get it initially. All others will be changed over as quickly as possible after the June 2 date.

The service improvement will allow customers taking EAS to call most telephones in the Greater Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky areas toll free. Greater Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky customers will also be able to call Consolidated EAS customers without a toll charge.

Customers in the 282 and 283 exchanges, taking the new service will get new numbers beginning with 371. New number cards have already been furnished to these customers and are to be placed on the telephone dial over the old number. The new numbers will be in effect immediately for customers involved in the initial change and for others as soon as the EAS service becomes available to them.

Local service and existing toll rates will remain in effect for those people not involved in the initial change over. The new EAS rates will become effective for each customer as the individual change overs are completed.

New Directories
The new 1968 Boone County Directory will be distributed to all

NOTICE FOR BIDS—

Purchase bids are now being accepted by the Superintendent of the Walton-Verona Board of Education, Walton, Ky., for one 1957 Dodge 49-passenger school bus. In excellent shape, with new motor. May be seen Monday through Friday at Walton High School. Bids must be in Superintendent's office by June 1, 1968. Telephone 606-485-7105. 21-21c

Consolidated Telephone customers beginning May 29. Customers electing to take EAS and who will be involved in the initial change over June 2 will also receive a white section of the new 1968 Greater Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky Directory. Others electing EAS will receive Greater Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky Directories as individual changes are made. Customers electing to take EAS service will be listed in both directories while those electing to retain local Consolidated service will be listed in the Boone County Directory only.

Dialing Instructions
The new directories contain additional dialing instructions for EAS service. However, those customers whose service will be changed over at a later date should follow dialing instructions for their old numbers until service changes have been made. After the new EAS service has been installed dialing instructions for 371 numbers contained in the new directories should be followed.

The Citizens Telephone Co. is furnishing six installer-repairmen and a foreman to help expedite installations of EAS service, and "Everything will be completed as quickly as possible," L. T. Utz, Vice President of Consolidated Telephone Co. said.

All Saints Church Honors Graduates

Members of All Saints Church who graduated this year from Walton-Verona High School, and the 8th grade graduates, as well as their parents, were guests at a breakfast given for them Sunday morning after the 9 o'clock Mass, in the school hall, Verona Road.

Those attending were Sister Henrietta, principal; Sister Joy, and Miss Eileen Rehkamp, teachers; Father Joseph Rueter, pastor; and the following graduates and parents: Charles Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Butler, Ronnie Cuzick and Mrs. Henry Cuzick, of the 8th grade, Larry Ryan and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ryan, Bill Wethington and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wethington, Kathleen Ryan and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ryan, Shirley Steward and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stewart, Peggy Cady and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cady.

Father Rueter congratulated all the graduates on finishing their school work and challenged them to the new beginning this will open for them.

Mrs. Eloise Reihemann was in charge of the preparation. Girls helping serve the breakfast were Debbie Butler, Mary Reihemann, Holly and Kay Krekler.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—As an unmarried widow of a World War II veteran who died of a service-connected disability, am I still eligible for the Veterans Administration guarantee on a G. I. loan?

A—Yes, you are. The Veterans' Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967 extended your period of entitlement to July 25, 1970.

Q—My husband has a $10,000 National Service Life Insurance policy. In March of 1967 he converted from a term plan to modified life. He received a very small dividend in 1967 and none in 1968. Is the VA paying a dividend in 1968?

A—Yes. The VA is paying dividends in 1968 on those policies that qualify for the dividend. The small dividend your husband received in 1967 was for the number of months the term policy was in force since the previous anniversary date prior to conversion to the modified life plan.

Dividends for 1968 are not being paid on modified life policies since the premiums are scaled so low that no surplus from which to pay dividends has developed.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL AT GOSHEN CHRISTIAN

Daily Vacation Bible School will be held at the Goshen Christian Church, Piner, from June 3-14, 6:30 to 9:00 p. m. The theme for the school is "God's Word, Today's Hope."

All children in the community are welcome. If anyone wishes further information they may contact Mrs. W. W. Worthington, director.

The closing exercises will be on June 16 at 8:00 p. m.

Cheerleaders Selected At Walton-Verona High

Cheerleaders to represent the Walton-Verona High School basketball teams were selected Thursday of last week before school was dismissed.

Chosen on the Varsity squad of W-V were Vonda Noe, Connie Denny, Christy Carlisle, Peggy Moses, Kathy Bowling, and Karen Chance.

The Junior Varsity girls will be "Skeeter" Taylor, Debbie Lamb, Debbie Whaley, and Sharon Eisenhardt.

To cheer for the 7th and 8th grade teams will be Machiele Johnson, Margie Shields, Evelyn Jones, Sandra Dixon, and Lois Frederick.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET AT GOSHEN

The third annual Mother-Daughter banquet of Goshen Christian Church was held May 17.

The men of the church served as hosts and they prepared and served a delicious dinner.

After the banquet, a program was given in the auditorium. At this time, Mrs. Chester Mullins was chosen "Mother of the Year." This honor was previously given to the late Mrs. Elbert Callen, in 1966, and to the late Mrs. Edna Colston, in 1967.

Mrs. Mullins, who was crowned "Mother of the Year" by her husband, is the mother of three children, seven grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren. She has been a Christian for 54 years.

Treasures of prehistoric mound builders have been found near Marion. These include ornaments and utensils.

In underdeveloped countries, 60 to 80 percent of the labor force is in farming.

ORDINANCE NO. 1968-6

An Ordinance ordering the improvement of Verona Avenue, Service Road, Interstate 75 and through an easement on the property of White and Steers, and Highways Nos. 14 and 16, by the construction of a new eight (8") inch water main along said road and highways and 3302 lineal feet, and providing that the entire costs thereof be apportioned and assessed pro rata against the owners of the property fronting and abutting on such improvement except such portion which will be paid for by the City of Walton as provided by Chapter 94 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes, and providing that the payment by the property owners for said improvement be made in cash within thirty (30) days after the acceptance of such improvement and the passage of an assessment ordinance as provided by Chapter 94 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes.

WHEREAS a resolution has been adopted by the City Council of the City of Walton, Kentucky, for the improvement of Verona Avenue between Needmore Street and Service Road; to improve Service Road from the intersection with Verona Avenue to the Southern City Limits of Walton, Kentucky; to improve Interstate Expressway No. 75, and through an easement on the property of White and Steers, between a point on Service Road and a point on Kentucky State Highways No. 14 and 16; to improve Kentucky State Highways No. 14 and 16 between the Southern City Limits of Walton, Kentucky, and a point on Stephenson Mill Road.

NOW, THEREFORE, THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF WALTON, KENTUCKY, DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:—

Section 1. That it hereby orders and requires the improvement of Verona Avenue with the installation of 1650 feet of 8-inch water main, together with the necessary fire hydrants and appurtenances between Needmore Street and Service Road. And to improve Service Road with 1021 feet of 8-inch water main, together with fire hydrants and appurtenances, between Verona Avenue and the Southern City Limits of Walton, Kentucky, and to install 936 feet of 8-inch water main and necessary appurtenances across Interstate Expressway No. 75, and through an easement on the property of White and Steers, between a point on Service Road and a point on Kentucky Highways No. 14 and 16. And to improve Kentucky State Highways No. 14 and 16 with 1685 feet of 8-inch water main, together with fire hydrants and appurtenances between the Southern City Limits of Walton, Kentucky, and a point on Stephenson Mill Road.

Section 2. Said work shall be done in accordance with the specifications prepared by Earl L. Paul, City Engineer, Walton, Kentucky. All of which specifications are hereby adopted as the specifications for the improvement herein ordered and are hereby declared to be a part of this ordinance as though fully set forth herein; and said improvement shall be made in accordance with plans and estimates as filed with the City Council of the City of Walton, Kentucky, by Earl L. Paul, City Engineer, Walton, Kentucky.

Section 3. The City Council of the City of Walton, Kentucky hereby declare this improvement to be a necessity and the materials provided in said specifications suitable therefor and the City Clerk was ordered to advertise for seal proposals for the doing of said work, and the furnishing of the materials therefor, by the insertion of an advertisement in a newspaper having a general circulation in the City of Walton, Kentucky, at least one week for at least two (2) consecutive weeks before the letting of the contract for doing the work. Notice for bids was advertised in the Kentucky Post & Times-Star, on the 4th and 11th days of December, 1967. Said bids were opened and read by the City Council of Walton, Kentucky, on the 16th day of January, 1968, and Coppage Construction Company, Inc., Taylor Mill Road, Independence, Kentucky, was the low bidder, and was awarded the contract to do said work, and accompanying its bid was a certified check or bank draft in the amount of 5% of said bid.

Section 4. The Contractor whose bid was accepted shall enter into a written contract with the City of Walton, Kentucky, and execute bond in the sum of fifty (50%) percent of the bid conditioned on the faithful performance of said contract and shall complete said work in 220 (by 12/31/68) days from the time said contract is accepted and entered into by the City Council, however, provided, that said time may be extended for a reasonable period in the discretion of the City Council, if the contractor is prevented from completing said work within said time without any fault on its part.

All of said work is to be done under the direction of the City Council and the City Engineer of Walton, Kentucky. The City Engineer of the City of Walton, Kentucky, shall be the referee in all decisions pertaining to the improvement herein ordered and his decisions shall be final wherever the compliance with plans, estimates and specifications is involved, but the City Council may reject said work if it is not in a workmanlike manner to their satisfaction.

Section 5. The City Engineer of the City of Walton, Kentucky, is hereby required to report to the City Council when said improvement is ready for acceptance, said report to contain an itemized statement for the entire costs of the improvement and the total length of the improvement in lineal feet. The entire costs of said work shall be done at the costs and expense of the owners of lots, or parts of lots, or land, abutting and fronting thereon, and the City of Walton, Kentucky, and when completed the entire costs and expense of the improvement shall be ascertained, and shall be apportioned, levied and assessed upon and against the lots, parts of lots, or land fronting and abutting thereon, as provided by Chapter 94 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes. A lien prior and superior to all other liens is hereby created on all lots, parts of lots, or land fronting and abutting thereon to secure the payment of said assessment, payment of which is to be made in cash within thirty (30) days after the adoption of the assessment ordinance therefor. Any assessment or parts of assessments not paid within thirty (30) days after the adoption of the assessment ordinance thereof, shall carry a penalty of ten (10%) percent of the assessment and bear interest at the rate of six (6%) percent per annum from date of the adoption of the assessment ordinance, as provided in Chapter 94 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes.

Section 6. The improvement provided for by this ordinance shall be known and designated as a stage improvement.

Section 7. Other stage improvements which will be required before the said improvement will be completed are construction of a sewer system, sidewalks, streets, and such other improvements as the City Council of Walton, Kentucky, may later deem necessary.

Section 8. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are, to the extent of such conflict, hereby repealed, and this ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after the date of its passage and publication, as provided by Chapter 94 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes.

First reading and approval on the 7th day of May, 1968.

PASSED AND APPROVED AND ORDERED PUBLISHED, by six members of the City Council of Walton, Kentucky, this 21st day of May, 1968.

CAC Neighborhood Services Plan Dance

These are times of civil disorders and demands for more extensive welfare programs. It is tempting to say in discouragement and disbut, "all welfare should be stopped." Despair at the whole situation is no constructive action.

Increased knowledge and interest is necessary.

The victims of tornados are given low cost government loans to begin again. Head Start programs give children much needed help in the competitive business of school. CAC Neighborhood Services help solve problems facing many people in Boone County.

These are only three programs in the wide range to which huge government monies can be directed. Few people would say these are wasteful, unnecessary programs. Don't put all welfare projects into one lump and label it useless. Investigation into what is happening might prove surprising at the constructive work going on right here in this county.

CAC Neighborhood Services is one agency which deals directly and swiftly with people. In winter with no coal and no money to buy any, an elderly lady unable to chop wood faces a very bleak situation. She probably won't know about old age benefits. Her's is a miserable situation. CAC Neighborhood Services purchases coal for her and immediately begins the procedures in acquiring help for this lady.

How does CAS Neighborhood Services have the money to buy coal? From the Emergency Fund, which will be increased by the proceeds from the dance at Immaculate Heart of Mary School Hall on June 1st.—Pub. Chm.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

KINDERGARTEN PICNIC

The graduating class of Hickory Grove Baptist Kindergarten enjoyed a picnic Wednesday, May 22, on the spacious lawn at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Earl Wills.

Those enjoying the day were: Mrs. Norma Jean Dance and son, Douglas Alisp; Mrs. Randall Binder and Lori; Mrs. Arvil Bush and Arvil, Jr.; Mrs. Wilford Dixon, Sara and David; Mrs. Jerry Finnell, Gina and Tony; Mrs. Ross

Graham and Vicki; Mrs. Collett and granddaughter, Jacqueline Gurley; Mrs. Dwayne Hensley and Kimberly; Mrs. Robert Jackson, Connie, Robert and Donald; Mrs. Vernon Lawson, Gary and Sherri; Mrs. Val Mattel, Valerie and Mike; Mrs. R. J. Medley, Michael and David; Mrs. John Molique and Terri; Mrs. Roy O'Brien and Tamara; Mrs. Edward Olbert, Tracey, Mark and Kristin; Scott Rutherford; Mrs. Robert Simpson and Lori; Mrs. James R. Walter and Vicki; Mrs. Richard Webb, Richard and Wade; Mrs. Kenneth Williams and Jill, and Mrs. Wills.

Sadly missed by pupils and the teacher alike, were Mrs. James Allender and Gregory. All were sorry that Gregory was confined to his home with a slight case of scarlet fever.

Learning begins as curiosity.

STILL ONE THING

Lesson for June 2, 1968

Background Scripture: Job 31.
Devotional Reading: Matthew 5:3-11.

"A good man is hard to find," goes the old saying.

But what is a "good man"? It all depends what you use as your standard of measurement. For some people, a "good man" is synonymous with a respectable member of the community. He has a fine position, is active in civic matters, and leads a quiet, orderly life, bothering no one.

To others, however, this "goodness" may be more specifically defined: he does not smoke, or drink, or curse, or tell off-color stories. Furthermore, he is an active member of a church, a man abounding in good works and worthy projects.

Whose standards? To still others, the "good man" is the man who is free of racial prejudice, interested in social uplift, and deeply concerned with all issues of justice and equity.

There are others for whom the word "good" has an unpleasant connotation. They think of someone who is "goody-good," too sweet, too nice to be true. The goodness of such men is either painfully naive or deceptively artificial.

Thus, it all depends upon what you mean by "good," how you set the standards by which goodness will be measured. Men have a habit of writing the standards according to their own private desires and capabilities. I do not smoke, so for me, "goodness" means abstaining from tobacco. Thus, I am "good" and my smoking neighbor is not. On the other hand, my neighbor is a man with a small appetite, so temperate eating is an essential for "goodness" to him and a mark of condemnation against me.

We are not too unlike the South Sea Islander who, when asked to distinguish between his understanding of good and evil, said: "Evil is if my neighbor steals my cattle or my wife; good is when I steal my neighbor's cattle or wife." We all tend to load the scales of righteousness in our own favor.

No one is good
If every man was ever truly good, it was Jesus. Yet even he said, "Why do you call me good? No one is good but God alone" (Luke 18:19 RSV) In Romans 3:10-12 (RSV) Paul freely quotes the Psalmist: "None is righteous, no, not one... no one seeks for God. All have turned aside... (See Psalms 14:1, 2; 53:1, 2.) We must therefore conclude that the New Testament sees man's claim to goodness as a self-delusion.

This is how it was with Job. He was certain that he was "good" in the sight of God. Yet, if this were so, then there was something wrong with God's justice. If Job were really "good," then his suffering would be quite incomprehensible.

Show me, Lord

One of Job's redeeming qualities is his honesty. He believes he is righteous and he tells God so in no uncertain terms. Too many of us would feel as he did and yet present to God a facade of false modesty. Chapter 31 is a sincere, if naive, recital of Job's goodness. In a sense, he is honestly challenging God to show him where he has gone wrong. "Lord, show me," he says, "I don't see where I've failed."

In time Job will discover that there is more to goodness than he would have imagined. He is like the rich young ruler who told Jesus that he fully observed all the commandments. What more would God require of him for eternal life? Yet, Jesus surprises him, indicating that there is still one thing lacking.

For all of us, there is, at the very least, always still one thing!

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Mills of Middletown, Ohio, and Mr. Batson Mills of Cincinnati, called on Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Ballinger recently.

Rev. and Mrs. Frank Phillips and children, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Green and children were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Don Keeney.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Losey received a letter from Mrs. Albert Gilligan recently, telling them that Mr. Gilligan was back to normal health following his recent stay in Georgetown Hospital. Also, they have accepted the U. S. Park Service offer for their farm and will be shopping for another home. We visited them recently and can easily understand how they wish to remain where they have lived so many years. It is such a well cared for home and grounds where each tree and shrub has some memory. We wish them luck in finding a new home.

We congratulate John A. Rich on the favorable mention in senior honor roll from Simon Kenton. May every worthy ambition of his and every other member of the senior class be achieved. An axiom I recall, I don't know who said it, but it is worthy of thought—I heard it long ago, "No excellence without great labor." It is still true today.

Rev. J. Rose and Rev. Rosa, evangelist and song leader, and J. B. Harmon, pastor of Pleasant Grove church, were Sunday evening guests at a spaghetti supper at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Keeney attended the wedding of her cousin, Miss Judy Damon, on Saturday evening, May 18, at Latonia Baptist Church.

We regretted to learn that Mrs. J. H. Klette is a patient at St. George Hospital, Cincinnati. Hope she doesn't have to remain long, but can return home.

Mrs. Lindsey Webster, Reporter

Mrs. Richard Hutchinson is better after an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Webster visited Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hutchinson, Sunday afternoon; also Mr. and Mrs. Price Webster, who is better.

Mrs. Owen Stephenson is better after falling and injuring some ribs.

Mrs. Floyd Chapman visited Mrs. Pearl Lamm, Thursday.

James Ellison, who was injured by a tractor, is a patient in St. Elizabeth Hospital.

The WMS met at Vine Run on Thursday for an all-day meeting. It was a nice meeting.

Leo Flynn visited Mr. and Mrs. Owen Stephenson, Sunday.

Mrs. Frances Code and son went to the cemetery at Berry, Monday. They called on her aunts, Mrs. Lula Maupin and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Simpson, and also her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wells of Falmouth.

Mrs. Lindsey Webster visited Mrs. Owen Stephenson and family on Thursday afternoon.

Notes Of Servicemen

Master Sergeant Dennis R. Glacken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Glacken, Route 1, Crittenden, has received his second award of the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Seoul, Korea.

Sgt. Glacken was decorated for meritorious service as a supply inventory supervisor at Scott AFB, Ill. He was cited for his outstanding professional skill and knowledge in the accomplishment of his duties.

The 16-year veteran now serves with an Air Force advisory group at Seoul. He is a graduate of Walton-Verona High School, and his wife, Jean, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Oliver of Morning View.

Marine Lance Corporal John A. Ratliff, son of Mrs. Treva L. Ratliff, Route 1, Verona, was promoted to his present rank while serving with the First Military Police Battalion in Vietnam. His promotion was based on time in service and rank, military appearance, and his knowledge of selected military subjects.

As a member of the battalion, he provides security forces for the Third Marine Amphibious Force and sentry and scout dogs to units in the five northernmost provinces of South Vietnam.

Gardeners looking for easier methods of good gardening should give some thought to their planting practices. Many gardeners plant their crops too close and too deep.

Correct spacing of plants will result in a healthier and more easily managed crop. Plants should be spaced to permit normal growth without shading each other too much. Plants which are too close together are competing for fertilizer, moisture, and light. When placed correctly, less work will be needed in caring for the crop.

Spacing should be worked out for each vegetable crop as to distance between the rows and distance between the plants in the row. Seeds should be sprinkled in the furrow. Generally, 10-12 seeds per foot are enough. If expected seed germination, 85-90 percent, is obtained, thinning to desired stand should be done when plants are two or three weeks old.

The rule of thumb for depth of planting for most vegetable crops is four or five times the thickness of the seed. Small-seeded crops, such as carrots, lettuce, etc., need to be covered only about 1/4 inch with soil, but such crops as peas, beans, and cucumbers should be planted from 1 to 1 1/4 inches deep. Potatoes are an exception to the rule and should be planted, generally, to a depth of 4-5 inches. Transplants should be set about one inch deeper than they were while in the plant bed.

Planting at the right depth with proper spacing will go a long way toward getting stocky, high-yielding plants. This is the ultimate goal of every good gardener.

THIS IS PROGRESS!

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

Can the U. S. stand four more years of the kind of government it has been getting under the present Administration?

The Nation is in serious trouble, at home and abroad. But you would never know it from the statements that come from the Administration spokesmen. For instance, Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford just recently said: "America is not in trouble. It is steady on its course. It is making progress." This kind of Gung Ho Great Society talk isn't fooling the American people. Shortly after that statement, during the week ending May 11, an all-time high record of 562 U. S. servicemen were killed and 2,225 were wounded. Is this progress?

Can the Federal budget stand four more years of deficit spending? Can our balance-of-payments stand four more years of the kind of "progress" that resulted in continuous deficits, causing the entire world to doubt our ability as a world leader?

Can our gold supply stand four more years of raiding by other nations that would cut the small amount we have left by almost one-half? Can the American dollar stand another four years of erosion at home and abroad? Can our senior citizens stand four more years of so-called "progress" that would devalue their meager dollars another 10 percent through inflation? Can the farmer stand four more years of the "progress" that leads to lower prices and less income? Can our cities stand four more years of rising crime and unrest? Can the taxpayer stand all this progress?

What our government needs is new management, not only in the White House, but in the Agriculture Department, the State Department, the Defense Department, and all of the offices of the Executive Branch.

The need for a new direction in government involves the future world strength of the U. S. and neither our word or our dollar will ever again be as good as gold unless we change the policies that have led our Nation down the same road that took Britain over the cliff and into the valley of insignificance.

The American people have indicated they do not like the Great Society's version of "progress"—high spending, higher taxes, more inflation, crime and riots, Federal waste, lower world prestige, a sagging dollar, dwindling gold reserves, the no-win war, camp-ins, lie-ins, and all the other "ins" that the "ins" in government have fostered and defended.

It's high time the blame for our many problems is laid where it belongs—right at the feet of the Great Society planners and experimenters.

HE NEEDS CREEP CHOW

Most beef cows do not produce enough milk to satisfy the growth requirements of the baby calves in energy, protein, and other essential nutrients. It takes more than the mother's milk plus grass to bring top dollar on today's calf markets. Creep feeding can solve this problem for the cow-calf operator who is after maximum returns from his brood cow herd. Purina Creep Chow provides a palatable and properly balanced ration for the growing calf. Come in and talk with us about the advantages of creep feeding beef calves.

LET US HELP YOU AT PLANTING TIME

Telephone feeding is the key word to busy farmers at planting time. Give us a call and we will deliver you Complete Purina Milking Rations, Hog Rations and Cattle Rations. WALTON, KENTUCKY—THURSDAY, JUNE 6, 1968

Volume 53—Number 23

Walton United Methodist Church, South Main and Loreco Streets, is featured in this week's clean-up and paint-up appreciation picture. Fixing up projects most recently completed, include a new roof on entrance porch, pointing-up of facing, sidewalk repairs, parking lot resurfaced, and new floor covering on entrance hall and stairways. A new concrete sidewalk and driveway have also been constructed at the parsonage, as well as a large, decayed tree removed from the front lawn. These improvements certainly add to the beauty, convenience and safety of its members and visitors. Improvements of this type are long-lasting and contribute as an encouragement to all Walton residents to join in the present cleanup and paintup campaign to help beautify our city. A prize will be awarded for the best job.

Vandalism Costs $4000 In Kenton

According to Supt. R. C. Hinsdale, vandalism cost the Kenton County Schools about $4000 during the past year.

"Vandalism is not the problem, the lack of teachers and adequate buildings are," Mr. Hinsdale said. "But it is annoying, more than annoying, in fact. We need that money for so many other things."

Most of the damage is in broken windows, the superintendent said. Buses, books, restrooms, and other building damage, such as paint splattered on walls are also popular targets for vandals.

"It is especially annoying when we just about get a new building built and find some of the windows have been either shot out with BB's or broken with rocks," Hinsdale said.

Mr. Hinsdale said that burglar alarms have been installed in several of the schools in the county, and that has curbed the problem some in the past year, he added.

None of the vandals have been caught this year. "How can you catch them if you don't see them? They just throw a rock or shoot a BB and run," Hinsdale stated.

"We will have summer school this summer, but there will still be vandalism. It will not be excessive, but it will happen," Mr. Hinsdale continued. It is hoped that students will learn to respect school property.

PLAN FOR COMING YEAR

Plans for the coming school year were discussed at a get-acquainted "Coffee Hour," May 24, at the school, given by Mrs. Malcolm Fletcher, president, for new officers and chairmen of the Taylor Mill PTA.

Those who were able to attend were: Mrs. Thomas Barnett, Mrs. Eugene Feagan, Jr., Mrs. Carlos Mahoney, Mrs. William Caddell, Mrs. Paul Larsen, Mrs. Charles Stephenson, Mrs. Homer McMillen, Mrs. Veach Rankin, Mrs. Hoyt Branshear, Mrs. Charles Fugitt, and Mrs. David Wintling.

To Beautify Rest Areas

Gov. Louie B. Nunn and Commissioner of Highways William B. Hazelrigg have announced that bids for landscaping and grounds facilities in rest areas on Interstate 75 in Boone County will be received by the Kentucky Department of Highways on June 28th. The two rest areas are located one mile north of Richwood.

Franklin is the home of one of the largest mail markets in the world. Sue Monday, a noted guerrilla, was born nearby.

DEMOCRAT CLUB IS TO ELECT OFFICERS

The Boone County Democrat Club is not a private club. The club, according to President Carlton Anderson, has 175 members. The only requirement is to be a registered Democrat. One club member is not a resident of the county.

The club will present to the citizens of Boone County, the Democrat party philosophy and opinions on important events.

Friday, June 7, at 7:30 p. m., in the Boone County Courthouse, Burlington, the 1968-69 officers will be elected. Refreshments will be served by the club.

Mr. Anderson said, "Our fiscal year is June to June. Come and join with the club. Help give Kentucky back to the people."

MAKES UK DEAN'S LIST

Beverly Jo Rushing

Miss Beverly Jo Rushing, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Rushing of Verona, was informed that her scholastic achievement had earned her a place on the Dean's List with a 3.62 standing, after completing her junior year at the University of Kentucky.

Miss Rushing, 20, is a Home Economics major. She is a graduate of Walton-Verona High School. She is currently employed by General Electric in Cincinnati, but will return to the Lexington campus this fall.

WOMAN KILLED ON I-75

A Cincinnati woman was killed instantly last Friday afternoon on I-75, 5 miles South of Walton.

According to a Grant County truck driver, who witnessed the accident, a tire apparently blew out on the Northbound late model Corvair. The auto struck the end of a guard rail throwing the car passengers onto the road. The car bore Indiana license plates.

Art Exhibit at Last PTA Council Meet

The Kenton County Council, P. T. A.'s final meeting of the year was celebrated with a colorful luncheon and art exhibit following the business meeting at the Y. M. C. A. in Covington.

The council, this year, gave recognition to the senior and junior high school art programs of the county. Each school entered five works for competition. These were collected for an exhibit in the dining area of the Y. The exhibit was judged by Jack Meawell, Miss Aileen McCarthy, and Miss Elaine Hall. The judges awarded six ribbons.

The winners were: First place, Lisa Gilham of Beechwood, Greg Burns of Turkeyfoot Junior High; second place, Sharon Rump of Twenhofel Junior High, and John Dixon of Dixie Heights; third place, Kenny Ehmet of Dixie, and Barbara Adams of Simon Kenton.

Mrs. Vincent Hartje, past president of the council, installed new officers, as follows: Mrs. Wesley Hall, president; Mrs. Raymond Evans, vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Pennington, secretary, and Mrs. Fred Wetzel, treasurer. All outgoing officers and chairmen were honored.

Members of the Sixth District attending were introduced, with Mrs. Shelby Kinney, newly elected Sixth District president, being elected from Kenton County Council, was presented a gift from the council by Mrs. Frank Palmer, Jr.

Big Bone State Park Too Close To Metropolitan Area

The Boone County Democrat Club, through its president, Carlton Anderson, of Hebron, looks with jaundiced eye at State Parks Commissioner Gable. Mr. Gable stated that Big Bone Lick State Park won't be a major state park because it is close to the metropolitan area.

The club wants Big Bone Lick State Park to be equal to every major state park in Kentucky. Every effort will be made to see that this objective is accomplished.

Bill Wethington Gets Legion Scholarship

The Johnson McElroy Post 277 awarded Bill Wethington with a $100 American Legion Scholarship to be used to further his education.

Bill graduated from Walton-Verona this May and plans to continue his college education next fall at Eastern State University.

The hours are from 10:00 to 12:00 noon and 1:00 to 3:00 p. m. Persons eligible for chest x-rays include those 18 years of age and over, pregnant women only if referred by a physician. Those persons under 18 years of age must also be referred by a physician.

Experience helps, but we never seem to have it until just after we need it.

Senior Citizen Auto Insurance

Insurance Commissioner Robert D. Preston has approved a filing by the Mutual Insurance Rating Bureau, which is pioneering in the area of insuring automobiles for senior citizens.

The Mutual Bureau, on behalf of the American Motorists Insurance Co. and Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Co., has received approval for a Lifetime Renewal Agreement at age 65.

Preston cited the filing as an important step in providing automobile insurance coverage for Kentucky's senior citizens. Each of these insurance companies will not guarantee that every insured, who has been continuously insured by the companies for at least five years before reaching age 65, can be insured for life.

The coverage will be provided as long as the premium is paid, a valid driver's license is maintained, and the insured is able to provide medical certification as to his vision and medical capability of safely operating an automobile.

Kenton County To Hold Summer School

Summer school for grades seven through 12 will be held this year at Dixie Heights High School, William Faulkner, principal, and at Simon Kenton High School, Gay Best, principal. It has been announced by the Kenton County Board of Education.

Summer sessions will begin on June 17 and continue through August 2, 8:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon, Monday through Friday. Registration will be held on June 14, at 10:00 a. m.

The summer school program is to be operated under Title I, ESEA. It will be tuition free for students residing in the Kenton County School District who must make up a subject that was failed.

Subjects to be offered, if enrollment is adequate, are: English I, II and III; General Math I and II; Algebra I; American History and World History; General Science; Biology; 7th Grade English and Arithmetic; 8th Grade English and Arithmetic. The following courses may be offered on a tuition basis: Driver Training, $35.00; Typing, $25.00.

Further information about the summer school may be obtained by calling William Faulkner, Park Hills, 431-2578; Gay Best, Twentynot, 356-5559; Don Davis, Central Office, 356-9211.

Memorial Day Parade

The Walton Memorial Day parade was enjoyed by both participants and onlookers, as the Walton-Verona Band, under the able leadership of James Layne, the Knottville League and managers, the Boy Scout Troop, the Walton Volunteer Fire Department, and Johnson-McElroy Legionnaires and Auxiliary marched in honor of our veterans. We thank each who took part. Rev. Charles Saylor read the scripture and Truett DeMoisey challenged each one to help create peace within and without our hearts by protecting the freedom these veterans gave their lives for. As the last salutes died away and taps were sounded, we were thankful for the freedom we still enjoy.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Chapman and daughters of Lexington, were the weekend guests of Mrs. Chapman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sturgeon, of Beaver Road. Sunday dinner guests in the home of the Sturgeons were Rev. and Mrs. Robert Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman and daughters, Miss Donna Yates, Karen Yates, and Don Sturgeon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Miracle and Mrs. Thelma Miracle of Manchester, Ky., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Murray of Stephenson Mill Rd., near Verona. Attending Memorial services in Walton and Ludlow, last Thursday, were Dale Gadd, Miss Stella Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Baker, and F. E. Fisher.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Murray and son of near Verona, spent the weekend in Manchester and Burning Springs, visiting relatives.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

I would like to thank all of my friends and relatives for the flowers, visits, cards, gifts, blood donors, and especially their prayers; all of these kind acts and deeds have helped me in my recovery. I especially want to thank the hospital staff and doctors who cared for me at St. Elizabeth, also the staff and all nurses, Dr. Cull and Dr. Bowling at Owen County Memorial Hospital. Thanks to everyone!

Meeting of The CAC Neighborhood Services

Boone County CAC Neighborhood Services held its monthly meeting May 23. Items under general discussion were aspects of local welfare needs, the Head Start program, and FHA loans.

Dr. Michael Endres of Villa Madonna College, noted that at the county level welfare needs are generally of the emergency nature which arise during the waiting period for state public assistance.

Mrs. Phyllis Weirich, member of the Board of Directors of the Home for the Aged, spoke about the early stages of planning concerning the home and also of a child care center for working mothers, and an emergency care clinic.

Rev. John Roth, pastor of Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church of Erlanger, is chairman of the committee formed to study the welfare needs of the county. Other members are Dr. Endres, Miss Sheila Glenn, Mrs. Phyllis Weirich, Mrs. Doris Ruby, Mrs. Jesse Bow, and Mrs. Margaret Isaacs.

Mrs. Audrey Carroll has been selected director for the 1968 Head Start program. A motion was passed to retain a screening committee for Head Start teachers.

Charles Holloway was elected chairman of the CAS Neighborhood Services Advisory Committee, and Mrs. Weirich was elected vice chairman.

The next meeting is at 8:00 p. m., June 25, at the Courthouse in Burlington. Attendance at this meeting was very good, and it is hoped that each of you will attend next month's meeting.

Lincoln Homestead State Park, Springfield, contains replicas of the cabin in which Abraham Lincoln's father was reared and the cabin in which the President's parents were married.

Each of the 70 Ionic columns ornamenting the outer walls of the State Capitol in Frankfort, is cut from a single block of stone.

Delegate Explains Church Legislation

With the merger of the Methodist and EUB churches in late April there has been much discussion of some legislation passed at that time by the church regarding their ministers and the use of tobacco and alcohol. The following news release was made available to the Advertiser by Rev. Robert Yates of the Walton United Methodist Church. It is printed with the intent of enlightenment on the subject for all our readers:

"The press gave a great lead of attention to the new form of dedication that the minister must answer when he is receiving his license to preach and applying for probationary membership. Since so much publicity was given to this I want to deal with this in some detail. First let it be said that The Methodist Church has not relaxed its position on the use of alcoholic beverages. It still stands in the discipline as follows: "We believe that the Christian principle of love for God and neighbor calls for us to abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages and to minister to those victimized by their use. The use of beverage alcohol imperils the abundant life to which Christ calls us. This is especially true in an organized and mechanized society. Individuals and families are destroyed by its use. We join with men of good conscience who seek to overcome the social, economic, and moral waste which this indulgence has created. The Church must become a healing and redemptive fellowship for those who suffer because of beverage alcohol." The legislation passed referred only to the questions asked the minister. The old form called for him to be examined by the annual conference board of ministerial training as follows: "Are you willing to make a complete dedication of yourself to body, in mind, and in spirit, and to bear witness thereto by abstinence from all indulgences, including alcoholic beverages and tobacco, which may injure your influence?" Under the new form as passed by the general conference the prospective Methodist minister must agree: For the sake of the mission of Jesus Christ in the world and the Christian gospel and in consideration of his influence as a minister to make a complete dedication of himself to the highest ideals of the Christian life, and to this end, agrees to exercise responsible self-control by personal habits, conducive to bodily health, mental and emotional maturity, social responsibility, and growth in grace and the knowledge and love of God". Accompanying this is a resolution of interpretation that the church will place in the discipline to interpret the above statement. "The legislation in no way implies the use of tobacco is morally indifferent question. In the light of the developing evidence against the use of tobacco the burden of proof would be upon any user to show that his action is consistent with purity of body and responsible social behavior. Therefore the changes are not to be interpreted as relaxing the traditional view concerning the use of tobacco and alcoholic beverages by a minister of the United Methodist Church. Rather they call for higher standards of self discipline and habit formation in all personal and social relationships. They call for dimensions of moral commitment that go far beyond any specific practices. Your Kentucky Conference delegation voted for the former resolution. We felt that we needed to be specific in regard to the two points involved—tobacco and beverage alcohol, however, the majority of the Conference felt that these should not be specifically mentioned but that the ministry should be called to a higher dedication and that a minister should voluntarily abstain from these as well as other indulgences that would be harmful to his influence. Since this legislation has passed we in the church must believe that this will indeed lead to a deeper and higher dedication of our ministry in the United Methodist Church."

This release came from Rev. R. R. Patton, pastor of First United Methodist Church, Lexington, a ministerial delegate to the General Conference in Dallas, Texas, in April, 1968.

PINER HOMEMAKERS

The Piner Homemakers Club met May 21 at the home of Mrs. Chester Mullins. The president, Mrs. Clarence Duncan, opened the meeting with the pledge to the American flag. The devotional was given by Mrs. Woodrow Marshall. The scripture text was taken from Mark 1:16-20. She told of the responsibility of the homemaker to make her home a Christian home. The roll call was answered by 11 members, telling their favorite wild flower.

Mrs. Ezra F. Fisk of Texas, and Mrs. Dennis Glacken and daughter, Karen, were visitors. The club has made plans to take a tour to Berea, Ky., July 16. The club voted to send a donation to the Kenton County Fair. Members reported reading 10 books. The president reported on the spring luncheon, held at the Summit Hills Country Club, May 16. Others attending the luncheon were Mrs. Richard Coleclough, Mrs. William Wolterman, and Mrs. Marshall Hills, who was a model in the fashion show.

Mrs. Marshall had a very interesting and informative lesson on "Self, Family and Home Protection." A special interest lesson, "Understanding and Accepting Self," was attended by Mrs. Malcolm Oliver and Mrs. Coleclough. They gave a very thought-provoking report.

Others attending were: Mrs. Louise Schlachter, Mrs. Frank Elliott, Mrs. Charles Flynn, Mrs. Marion Martin, and baby Diane Hills.

The June 18 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wolterman at which time members will be making decorative pillows.

BEAUTY AND FASHION EXPERT AT BARKLEY HOUSE

Ray Mattox, director for Viviane Woodard Cosmetics, Erlanger, announces an advanced training program to be presented at the Barkley House at Greater Cincinnati Airport on June 6, at 7:00 p. m. for local consultants. This program will be conducted by Ben Benson, Hollywood makeup artist who will show "the professional way to highlight one's best features."

The Annual Conference of the Kentucky Methodist Church is in progress at Morehead, Ky.

PINER TEEN BEES

The May meeting of the Piner Teen Bees 4-H Club was held in the home of W. W. Worthington. The meeting was brought to order by the president, Jerry Bray. The secretary read the minutes and other officers gave their reports.

It was decided to have a bake sale on June 15, which will be held at the Piner Firehouse.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served.

A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

The news in shoes is femininity—heel and toe, and all the way around. The accent on femininity in women's footwear is in keeping with the more feminine mood of fashion this year.

Low and mid heels are still the favored heights—in fat, chunky shapes—sometimes curvy, sometimes rounded or squared off. The higher heel is slowly making a comeback, but this is a thicker, straighter heel than the old "needle" that was once so popular. Toelines continue wide, to balance the broader heels. But many are rounded in a "baby doll" silhouette.

In daytime shoes, the pump is first in favor, and it's feminized in a number of ways. Chains, buckles, bows, and nailheads are slimmer, flatter and softer for the wellbred, wellshod look for Spring 1968.

The new applique treatment—strong on flower motifs—is popular, with the overlay often applied in a different material for texture as well as color contrast. You'll also see pumps with painted designs or with tiny embroidered openings dotting the instep, either multi-colored or in a second color.

Graceful sling-backs are also very much in the fashion picture, along with d'Orsay pumps, either cut to a V at the side or two-piece with a distinct separation. The low-heeled, high-tongued walking pump is still broad toed, monk-strapped and/or brass touched, but the tongues are trimmer and there's sometimes a fringe. Also popular is the soft tie-shoe, especially the spectator-tie, which is the ideal accessory for this year's 1960ish fashions.

This year's sandals can be as lady-like or as casual as you prefer closed-toe sandals on low to mid-height heels or wedges are crafted from smooth, grained, antiqued, embossed suede and patent leathers. In the banded sandal, widths are broad with gold ornaments or clasps, openings and pale or clear tones adding a light touch.

Lounge-about sandals include thong-, crossed-strap styles, sandals with chains, and gladiator sandals reaching from ankle to calf. Some are made of embroidered ribbon, metallic leather stripping, flowers or jewels, anchored to sturdy soles.

The moccasin meets the season's demand for femininity with soft leathers, lighter colors and trim such as fringe, nailheads and higher tongues. However, sportier penny moc, moc-bat and monk-strap styles will still be very much in the picture. The mini-boot, a soft leather boot with openings that give it an almost sandal look, also is a newsmaker.

In the after-five footwear, the "pretty-pretty" trend really blossoms. You'll see butterflies, bits of mirror, floral ribbon bows, jet pompoms, plastic balls filled with ribbon or flowers, and such decorations on insteps.

Pump styles for evening range from decollete shells and two-piece d'Orsays to high cut shoes with up-front interest done in an ultra-dressy leather. Examples of evening sandals include a low-heeled metallic leather sandal with a single broad band in front and a flower pinned to its low ankle strap and a sandal that is merely a series of thin crossed strips of jewel-toned lustre leather. Other sandals have a more closed look, perhaps more sling-back than sandal with small openings at the side or instep.

There's lots of color in this year's footwear. In daytime shoes the stress is on soft neutrals or clean, clear shades with no hard edge.

In the neutrals, honey comb, banana cream, nude, and grey are important. Brighter tones you will see often include poster green, yellow, orange and azalea pink.

In all types of shoes, brown is very popular, especially the darker browns—often combined with white. Black-and-white is another favorite, and look for red and navy as well. For evening wear, the metallic leathers are still the news—in silver, gold, copper, and pewter. There'll also be black, white and off white, rose and some pastels.

More than 70 tree species are native to Kentucky; some 60 of these have commercial value.

Until Dr. Thomas Walker and a small band of surveyors entered Kentucky in 1750, it remained largely uncharted and unknown.

PINER PTA MEETING

The regular meeting of the Piner PTA was held on May 16. The president, Mrs. Robert Chapman, opened the meeting with the pledge to the flag, followed by prayer by Franklin Breeden. The president gave her yearly report and stated that Piner had again won the Clara Kees award for the seventh time. This is an award given to the school in the sixth district that has the largest percentage of membership per enrollment. Piner also received the silver bowl again for having the largest percentage of membership per school enrollment in the state of Kentucky.

Mrs. David Wolfe read the by-laws concerning the nomination and election of officers. The following were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Morgan Campbell; Vice President, Mrs. John Mullins; Secretary, Mrs. Marshall Hills, and Treasurer, Mrs. Carlos Oliver. They were installed by Mrs. Wesley Hall, president of the Kenton County PTA Council.

A president's pin was presented to Mrs. Chapman by the new president, Mrs. Campbell.

Mrs. Ray Morgan, elementary librarian, gave a report on the present state of the Piner library and she honored the student library workers of the fifth and sixth grades.

The room count was awarded to Mrs. Leo Stahl's sixth grade, first prize; Mrs. E. L. Steinhauer's fifth grade, and Mrs. James Bailey's fourth grade, second prize; Mrs. Dewey Fisk's third grade, Mrs. James Cummins' second grade, and Mrs. William Goshorn's first grade, third prize.

The program was presented by the 4-H Clubs. Mrs. Herbert Spencer's club sang, "This Land Is Your Land," and presented a skit, "Tale of An Egg," and also did some blackouts. Mrs. Steinhauer's "Starblazers" club presented a minstrel show entitled "Show boat." Mrs. Stahl's club presented a program, "Holiday Appreciation."

Three members of the Piner Clever Clover 4-H Club, Misses Rhonda LaFollette, Trudi Northcutt and Andrea Ballard, modeled their 4-H sewing outfits, as did some of the fifth and sixth grade girls. The clubs' projects were on display in the school library.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

The PTA had an "Appreciation Luncheon" on May 27 for the faculty and staff of the Piner School.

The largest theological faculty in the world is employed by the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville. The faculty of this school is larger than most seminary student enrollments.

THE CHASE

Lesson for June 9, 1968

Background Scripture: Job 38 through 41.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 148.

Someone has warned that we must be careful what we make our heart's desire, for we just might get it!

We have all seen dogs who delight in chasing after automobiles. But have you ever considered what a dog would do if he caught one? It is one thing to chase after something, but something else to know what to do if your chase is successful.

Rev. Althouse This is what happened to Job. Suffering, confused, frustrated, even angry, Job has challenged God to give him an explanation for the sorry plight in which he finds himself. He has pleaded for an opportunity to "have his day in court," to reason together with God. After all, Job is a reasonable man. He will gladly understand if only God will give him a reasonable explanation.

An Unexpected Response
Last week we saw Job's reasonable approach (Job 31). With great clarity and logic he had set forth his case: If he has sinned in any way, then let God show him and he would understand. How could the Lord withstand the logic of his evidence? How could he fail to see that Job was a righteous man suffering the affliction that should be reserved for the ungodly?

The Lord has been silent for a long time, allowing Job to catalogue his reasonable complaints. Like a defendant in a court of law, he has allowed his accuser to continue uninterrupted. Now, however, he speaks at last: WHO IS THIS THAT DARKENS COUNSEL BY WORDS WITHOUT KNOWLEDGE? (Job 38:2 RSV)

This is not the kind of response Job had expected. God's reply is not that of a defendant, struggling to explain his unreasonable actions, but as the Lord of the Universe Who is this, asks God, who casts doubt upon my wisdom and goodness? Who is this, he demands, who speaks in such ignorance?

Cross-examination
Like a dog chasing automobiles, Job had demanded reasonable answers to his questions. Then suddenly the chase is over and God confronts him: If I give you your reasonable answers, Job, will you be able to understand them? You want to reason together, but are you capable of reasoning with your Creator?

Job had intended to do the cross-examining, but it is now clear that it will be God asking the questions and Job who will need to come up with the reasonable answers. If you are really so wise, Job, where were you when the world was created? Can your mind comprehend the dimensions of the universe and understand how it was fashioned? Can you with your wisdom control the planets and stars?

The answer to all of these questions is obvious to this reasonable man: the human mind is finite, too limited to understand the intelligence of God's creative will and purpose. How often, like Job, I have found my lot unreasonable and demanded of God a logical explanation. Yet I might just as well have asked Einstein for a simple explanation of Relativity or challenged an astronomer's computations of the universe.

The Mind's Limits

It is natural that man wants to understand, to use the mind that God gave him, to ask his Job-like questions. Still, we must remember that often, like Job, we are asking to understand what our poor finite minds cannot grasp, to grapple with problems that are intelligible only to the mind of the Creator Himself. It is then that, having discovered the limitations of our intellect, we respond to God with humble awe and wonder. We know that thou canst do all things and that no purpose of thine can be thwarted," says Job at last.

He still does not know why he is suffering, but now he takes courage and hope in the knowledge that, even while he suffers, God still reigns. The chase is over. The pursuer is secure in the hands of the Pursued.

TRIUMPHANT TRIANGLE

HOME . . . SCHOOL . . . CHURCH!

The predominant influences in the life of a child.

The Home provides love, security, example—to shape the growing personality.

The School develops the mind, stimulates initiative, nurtures social responsibility.

The Church cultivates faith and character, building the spiritual foundations of a noble life.

Wise parents understand the vital importance of each of these influences in the growth of their child. They work faithfully to strengthen all three.

THE CHURCH
FOR ALL...
...ALL FOR
THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Reader's Digest Award to McGlone

Vernon McGlone, valedictorian of the graduating class of Walton-Verona High School, has been given the annual award of The Reader's Digest Association for students who by their successful school work give promise of attaining leadership in the community, it was announced this week by Billy E. Frewitt, principal of the local school.

McGlone will receive an honorary one-year subscription to The Reader's Digest in any one of its 13 language editions, and a personal certificate from the editors

"in recognition of the past accomplishments and in anticipation of unusual achievement to come."

The Reader's Digest Association is presenting these awards in senior high schools throughout the U. S. to the highest honor student of the graduating class.

The award to young McGlone, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett McGlone, of 28 Needmore St., Walton, was made possible through the cooperation of Mr. Frewitt and his teaching staff. They selected McGlone to receive the award, designed to stimulate scholarship, citizenship, and continued contact with good reading after graduation.

TAYLOR MILL PTA MEETS

The final meeting of the Taylor Mill PTA was held Monday, May 20, at 8:00 p. m., in the school auditorium, with Mrs. Malcolm Fletcher presiding.

Installation of officers for the year 1968-69 was held. Mrs. Malcolm Fletcher, president; Mrs. James Walter, vice president; Mrs. Thomas Barnett, recording secretary; Mrs. Eugene Feagan, Jr., corresponding secretary, and Mrs. John Ruffley, treasurer, were installed by Mrs. James Feagan, a past president.

School Bus Patrol students were recognized as members of the Kentucky School Troopers by a Certificate of Merit from the Division of Kentucky State Police. The recipients were William Schuh, Larry May, Donald Rich, David Dunaway, Steve Scroggins, Tim Foster, Shawna Ryan, Jeff Thompson, Jeff Walter, David Palmore, Russell Ridner, and Doug Walker.

The evening was concluded with a program of music presented by the 5th and 6th grade chorus, directed by Mrs. Charles Fugitt, and the Taylor Mill School Band, under the direction of William George.

The meeting had been preceded by a bake sale.

BACON BURNS AT 3:00 A. M.

A trailer truck loaded with bacon caught fire on Northbound I-75, early Tuesday morning. Firemen from Walton and Florence were called to the 3:00 a. m. blaze. The entire load of meat was an apparent loss.

See Reds Play Baseball

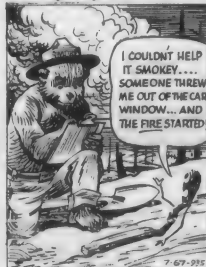

Mr. and Mrs. George Raybourne of Alta Vista Drive, and children, George, Jr., Ricky, Patty and Diane, and Jeff and Paul Ferguson of Beaver Lick, enjoyed seeing the Cincinnati Reds defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 6-5, last Wednesday evening, May 29, at Crosley Field.

After the game a gala fireworks display was shown on the field. Climaxing the evening, they feasted with White Castle hamburgers in Covington. This evening out was the compliments of a close friend.

Fort Knox, established in 1918, was named in honor of Henry T. Knox, Revolutionary War general and first Secretary of War. It contains 106,060 acres and the U. S. Gold Repository, a fortified bullion vault housing the major portion of the gold reserve of the United States.

The safest way to destroy an enemy is to make him your friend.

HELP COWS REACH BRED-IN ABILITY
 Are your cows milking up to their bred-in ability? Are they getting the nutrition they need for maximum production? Purina Checkerboard Dairy KY is a high efficiency ration with a balance of vitamins, minerals and protein cows need for top performance. It's a complete milking ration, high in molasses for added palatability and pelleted for easy handling and feeding. Put your herd on Checkerboard Dairy. See us today and let Checkerboard Dairy 16% KY help your cows produce all the milk that's bred into them!

MORE THAN A PROTEIN SUPPLEMENT

Purina Show Chow is a well-balanced supplement for grains and roughages...providing protein and energy sources...fortified with the important vitamins and minerals which can be lacking in the diet of confined show animals. Years of Purina purebred nutrition research have developed Show Chow expressly for show-winning qualities...fast growth and muscle development...firm, uniform show ring fleshing...rich bloom and growth of haircoat. See us for Purina Show Chow and feeding programs.

GET BIG LITTERS OF HUSKY PIGS
 A sow is a pig factory. She has the big job of producing and nursing two litters of pigs every year. Like any other factory, she has to have raw ingredients to produce the products (pigs) and maintain the factory (her body). If she doesn't get proper nutrition, she may actually resorb some pigs into her system, causing you to lose pigs you will never even see, or she may farrow weak, unthrifty litters. Purina Sow Chow has what it takes to help the sow keep her body, farrow big litters and have plenty of milk to start them right. Purina Sow Chow is available as a supplement to your grain or as a complete sow ration. Ask us for Purina Sow Chow soon!

FLY PROTECTION THE PURINA WAY

Purina Dairy Sprays help you save money controlling flies. Cows eat more, rest more, milk more...make more money for you. Get quick kill and long-lasting action from Purina Fly Sprays. Fly control pays. See us soon for the right Purina Dairy Spray to fit your needs!

Zion Baptist Church has recently undergone some structural improvements which have added to its usefulness. The annex in the front gives additional seating space and a choir box for the worshipping congregation. A new rug has been installed and paint was applied last year. Members are proud of their completely equipped kitchen. A central heating system was recently converted to natural gas. Future plans include air conditioning, windows and carpeting. Rev. Wilfred Davis conducts a worship service each Sunday morning with additional services periodically. Attendance in Sunday School is about 50. These beautiful photos were furnished to the Cleanup Committee by local photographer, Stanley Kacaba.

26th Anniversary Of Lillard D.A.R.

Shakertown at Pleasant Ridge, Mercer County, was the scene for a luncheon and historical pilgrimage commemorating the organization of the Capt. John Lillard Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Hostesses for the June meeting were Miss Laura Dickerson, Mrs. Kirtley Points and Mrs. Reese Ingles.

The Shakers were a quiet, honest people who followed the golden rule and farmed the 1,500-acre tract of ground and manufactured all things they needed in daily life. They believed in divine healing, and lifted their hands to work and their hearts to God.

Following a delicious repast, Mrs. Charles Alphin, Regent, introduced the following dignitaries: Dr. Winona Stevens Jones, Lexington, honorary state regent and a past vice president general; Mrs. Bacon P. Moore, Harrodsburg, an honorary state regent; Mrs. Wilson Evans, Berea, state regent; Miss Elizabeth Steele, Lexington, librarian of John Fox library at Duncean Tavern; Miss Laura Dickerson, Williamstown, past national program chairman and present state vice regent; Mrs. George B. DeAtley, Harrodsburg, state recording secretary; Miss Anna-steele Taylor, Lexington, state librarian; Mrs. Ben K. Erdman, Lexington, state registrar; Mrs. James B. Beauchamp, Danville, past state treasurer, and editor of Kentucky DAR Newsletter; Mrs. James L. Shewmaker, regent of Harrodsburg Chapter; Miss Carla Lenter, Dry Ridge, good citizen; Miss Brenda Porter, Williamstown, good citizen.

Other guests enjoying the day were: Mesdames A. B. Hall, Lexington; Austin Roberts, Danville; Carol Price, Harrodsburg; Harvey Ragon, Florence; Kenneth Gibbs, Hebron; James Middleton, Dry Ridge; William Bishop, Ft. Mitchell; Emmett Holbrook, Crittenden; Mildred Shipp, Williamstown, and Miss Betty Jo Ackman, Crittenden.

Members attending were: Mesdames Charles Z. Alphin, J. W. Bennett, Lloyd C. Watson, B. C. Cotton, Evan Hance, Robert C. Hume, Abram Hedges, John Just, Otis Lanter, G. Lee Points, Kirtley Points, Alva Russell, Zayda K. Clare, Misses Martha Blaine, Louise Conrad, and Laura Dickerson.

Piano Recital, June 15th

Pupils from the class of Mrs. Burdette F. Powers will appear in a program with the theme, "Music For A June Evening," on Saturday, June 15, at 7:30 p. m., in First Baptist Church, Walton.

BOONE REPUBLICAN CLUB ACTIVITIES

Now that the Republican primaries are over, the Boone County Republican Club will be meeting to plan its campaign for the coming year. Plans for the Boone County Fair booth, the annual Boone County Republican picnic, and various other activities will feature the campaign in Boone County for another year, as they work to re-elect Congressman Gene Snyder, elect Marlowe Cook, and the GOP presidential nominee.

The regular meeting will be held Thursday, June 13, at 7:45 p. m. at Republican Headquarters at 276 Main St., Florence.

The meeting is open to anyone interested in the work of the Republicans of Boone County, regardless of present political affiliation.

Firemen Respond Day or Night

During the past two weeks, the Walton Volunteer Firemen have been called out on emergencies at 2:00 or 3:00 a. m., several times. One of the first was last Tuesday as they helped extinguish a blaze on a truck load of meat on I-75 near Richmond.

Saturday morning, a frame house blaze on Mt. Zion Road, West of Verona, was at 2:15 a. m. The unoccupied house was on property owned by a Wilson family. The building was consumed by the time the volunteers arrived, but they did save a storage building and stayed around for two hours to see that none of the burning embers spread to the fields.

Saturday afternoon, a truck fire was reported near Verona, but it was put out before the unit arrived.

Monday at about 2:00 a. m., an emergency run was made on South U. S. 25, when a person was reported ill.

In all of these runs, as usual, several men responded and as many as three units were taken out. This is a good example of the fine service rendered by the local VFD, regardless of time of day or night or the nature of the emergency.

METHODIST NAME SUPT. AND CHANGE SOME APPOINTMENTS

Rev. Charles S. Perry, former pastor of First Methodist Church in Harlan, succeeds Rev. H. L. Moore in supervision of the 45 churches in the Covington District.

Local changes made were: A. E. Atkinson to Falmouth; James T. Wells to Florence; Nicholas T. Welsh to Petersburg; C. L. Neikirk to Williamstown, and Carl Townsend to Carter's Chapel.

Participate In Area 4-H Club Style Show

Seventeen Boone County 4-H young misses will be participating June 14 in the Area 4-H Style Revue at Lloyd High School in Erlanger.

This event incorporates Boone, Campbell, Kenton, Owen, Grant, Pendleton, Gallatin, and Carroll Counties. Not only do the girls from each of these counties take part, but judges are selected from each of the eight counties to view the garments.

Registration starts at 1:00 p. m. and the style show begins at 8:00 p. m.

Joy Jacobs, a 10-year-old, who lives on U. S. 25, Walton, and will model her apron. This is her first year in 4-H. Laura McMillan, also of Walton, is 10 years old and will be modeling her first year apron.

In the skirt division, Lois Frederick and Karen Slayback represent Boone County. They are both first-year 4-H members in Walton. Carol Jacobs and Mary Frederick, Walton, took top honors in Boone County's style show in the skirt and blouse class, and they will compete in the Area show.

In her first dress, Donna Tupman will parade down the runway at the style revue. She belongs to the Burlington club, and is 11 years old. The other participant in the first dress class is Peggy Bruggeman of Burlington, who is 13 years old.

Marianne Smith and Anna Marie Green will represent the play clothes division from this county. Both of the girls are active in 4-H and other activities.

Juanita Locke and Patty Tupman, both 14, will be modeling mix-match garments. This is the most versatile ensemble that a person can construct. Juanita belongs to the Hamilton club, and Patty to Conner.

Rhoda Flynn, Burlington, models a red advanced dress with black accessories, and Janelle Smith will appear in her navy dress.

In the formal class, Carol Schwenke represents Boone County. Carol is 16 and belongs to the Hamilton club.

Shelly Baute and Donna Sayre wear their tailored garments on June 14 for the show. By the time girls reach this division they are considered quite expert seamstresses.

Plan For Monthly Social

The regular monthly social, sponsored by the Holy Family Guild at All Saints Church, will be on Saturday night, June 15, at eight o'clock. You are invited for an evening of fun with your friends.

Younger Heads Boone County Auxiliary Police

John M. Younger, Jr., 47, was named by Judge Bruce Ferguson recently to head the Boone County Auxiliary Police. Mr. Younger resides with his wife on Eads Road. A former Kentucky State Trooper, Younger has actively served as a captain in the County Civil Defense Unit.

The Auxiliary serves without pay, and only when authorized by Judge Ferguson or County Patrolman Melvin Collins. The nature of the service involved will determine if the Auxiliary Police will be armed or not.

Kenton County Golf Course Is Now Open

Kenton County formally dedicated and opened for play its new 18-hole Municipal Golf Course on June 11, with ceremonies at its new clubhouse at 3908 Richardson Road.

The 6004-yard par 70 layout, designed and built by Taylor Boyd of Cincinnati, lies between Richardson Road and Independence Station Road, one-half mile off Turkeyfoot Road, and is easily accessible from Covington and Cincinnati via I-75.

A 100x40-foot ranch-type clubhouse, built by Jack Exterkamp, is air conditioned and features a 50x40-foot dining and activity room, which will seat 152 people, either for normal daily use or for special golfing groups or outings.

The lunch room and bar will offer drinks and sandwiches for normal daily patrons, including complete catered dinners for larger golfing groups or outings. It also has a Pro Shop, where all normal golfing supplies will be available. You may rent clubs and carts. Showers and lockers are available in both the men's and ladies' locker rooms.

Open to the public, fees range from week day play of $1.30 per nine holes to $2.35 for 18 holes, and on Saturday, Sunday and Holidays, $2.00 for nine holes and $3.00 for 18 holes. Charlie Ratterman is general manager of the course.

Owned and operated by the Kenton County Fiscal Court, headed by Judge James A. Dressman, Jr., a corporation was formed which bonds for its construction. The county will lease the course from this corporation. Other members of Fiscal Court are County Commissioners Robert Aldemeyer, George Steinford, Charles Summe and County Attorney John Elfers.

PLANS JUNE 22 WEDDING

Miss Glenna Spegal

Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Spegal of Demosville, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Glenna Roberta, to Mr. Irvin O'Dell Mann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Mann, also of Demosville.

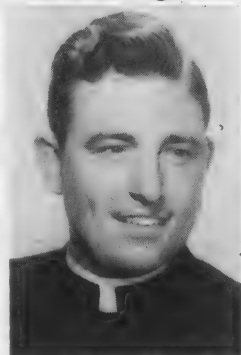

The wedding will be an event of Saturday, June 22nd at 8:00 p. m. in the Piner Baptist Church.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

BAND BOOSTERS TO MEET

The Walton-Verona Band Boosters will meet on Monday, June 17 at 7:30 p. m. in the Band Room at the local school. This is a business meeting and members are asked to attend.

Local Pastor Is Sent to Lexington

Rev. Joseph J. Rueter

Rev. Joseph J. Rueter, pastor of All Saints Church, Walton, will become pastor of Christ, the King parish, Lexington, on June 14. In his new assignment, Rev. Rueter will be assisted by two associates, Rev. Geo. Schumacher and Rev. Vincent Pulskamp, and minister to the spiritual needs of some 900 families.

Rev. Rueter, a native of Covington, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rueter. His previous assignments were St. Paul Church, Lexington; St. Joseph Church, of Cold Spring; Blessed Sacrament Church, Ft. Mitchell; Cardome, Georgetown; Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wis.; St. Catherine Church, Ft. Thomas; Sts. Peter and Paul, California, and All Saints Church, Walton. He came here in 1960.

During the eight years of his pastorate, Rev. Rueter saw the following improvements achieved at the local parish: A tithe program inaugurated; new pews in the church; the Liturgy in the vernacular; four new classrooms for the school; St. Patrick Church and property at Verona sold, new roadway and markers for graves in St. Patrick Cemetery, Verona, and 8½ acres of property on Ky. 16, Verona, deeded to the Diocese of Covington.

Rev. Rueter will continue in his assignments as a member of the Diocesan Liturgical Commission and as Treasurer of the recently formed Council of Priests.

Rev. Rueter has made many friends in this area while serving the local parish, and it with regret that we see him move on—but we wish him success.

According to reports, Father Frederick Bamberger, a native of Newport, is coming a Walton from Alexandria.

4-H's On Exchange Trip to Hays, Kansas

Eight Boone County 4-H's left Friday, June 7th to spend a week filled with fun, sights, and information in Hays, Kansas.

The Boone County 4-H Teen club sponsored an exchange trip with Ellis County in Kansas.

The teen members left by bus and arrived on the 8th, ready for an exciting week end.

Those making the trip were: Shelly Baute, Cyndi Meyers, Carolyn Doll, Sandra Burns, Carol Ferguson, Donna Sayre, Janelle Smith and Johnny Holladay.

Patient In Good Samaritan

Mrs. Lula Lovitt, mother of Mrs. Francis Kilgore of Plum St., Walton, is a patient in Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati. She has been in the hospital for several weeks, but due to the nature of her illness, will be there several weeks longer. She is in Room 5208, for those who wish to send a card.

State Aid For Boone Fair

The Boone County Fair at Burlington, slated for August 5-10, is one of 61 local agriculture fairs approved to receive State funds this year. Up to $1,500 of State aid is available on a matching dollar-for-dollar basis to all such fairs meeting minimum class requirements.

Dinner Is Enjoyed By Wa-Na Members

Members of the Wa-Na Woman's Club enjoyed a dinner meeting at Heritage Steak House, Florence, Monday evening of last week.

This closed the 1967-68 club year. Mrs. John Acree, Governor of the Fifth District, was guest speaker, and installed new officers for next year.

Mrs. Harry Henson presided during the meeting, which followed the dinner. Mrs. Clayton Jones gave the "Thought For the Day," reading an article, "A Time For New Freedom."

Mrs. Acree gave a report of the State Convention, held in Lexington in April, and installed the following officers: President, Mrs. Asa M. Rouse; First Vice President, Mrs. Robert Eisenschmidt; Second Vice President, Mrs. Nelson Popham; Secretary, Mrs. Jack Rouse; Treasurer, Mrs. Jack Norris; Parliamentarian, Mrs. Harry Henson; Mrs. Herman Slusher, not present, will serve as Historian. Mrs. Henson, as outgoing president, was presented a gift certificate.

The Wa-Na Club will continue some projects during the summer months, although they do not meet monthly again until September. On June 12, club members go to the Veterans Hospital in Fort Thomas to supervise a party for the "vets." A party with gifts and a treat will be taken to the Daniel Boone Camp for Boys as soon as a date is cleared. Again this summer, the club will have a list of boys and girls who will be available and want summer jobs to earn extra money. If anyone is in need of a yard worker or someone to mow, house clean, or do domestic chores and baby sitting, you may contact Mrs. Asa Rouse 485-7163, or Mrs. Nelson Popham 485-4270.

A committee from the club was appointed and a project selected to help with the "clean-up and beautify" program being conducted in Walton.

Members and guests present were: Mrs. John Acree, Mrs. James Lawrence, Mrs. Chester Sturgeon, Mrs. Malcolm Simpson, Mrs. Clayton Jones, Mrs. Robert Eisenschmidt, Mrs. Harry Henson, Mrs. Gayle McElroy, Mrs. Leo Flynn, Mrs. Jack Rouse, Mrs. Asa M. Rouse, Mrs. Nelson Popham, Mrs. Jack Norris, and Mrs. Dale Stephens.

FHA Meeting Is Held at Eastern

Over 800 Future Homemakers of America members and advisers focused attention on "FFA-A World of Treasures," at the 23rd annual meeting held at Eastern State University, Richmond, Ky., June 4-6.

Simon Kenton and Twenhofel Chapters were represented by four members and two advisers. Attending the conference were Lueda Cheek, 1968-69 Simon Kenton president and Northern Kentucky District Treasurer; Rhonda LaFollette, Twenhofel Chapter president and Incoming Simon Kenton Secretary; Connie Lipscomb, Incoming first vice president of the Simon Kenton Chapter, and DeLores McIntosh, Incoming corresponding secretary. Mrs. Carol Neely is adviser at Twenhofel, and Mrs. Helen McElroy for the Simon Kenton chapter.

The opening program included a welcome by John L. Vickers, Executive Assistant of Eastern University. Theme of the conference, "FFA-A World of Treasures," was presented by ten State FHA officers. "FHA Treasures With A Future," was presented by Miss Mary Belle Vaughan, State adviser, Department of Education, Frankfurt, and four former state officers.

Wednesday's program featured ideas for leadership development based on a talk by Mrs. Christine Wallace, Division of Vocational Education, State Department of Education.

Marilyn Van Derbur, United Air Lines' Youth Speaker, and a former Miss America, was the featured speaker Wednesday afternoon.

Another highlight of Wednesday included a most elegant amorgasboard supper, followed by an Honors Program. Twenty $300.00 scholarships were presented FHA members who plan to study home economics in college.

Honorary membership was conferred upon Dr. Robert Martin, president of Eastern; Mrs. Mildred Nall, adviser to a former state president, her daughter; Miss Leila Hammon, adviser to this year's state president, and Miss Donnalie Stratton, assistant

Q—I am a World War II veteran with a 20-year GI insurance endowment policy that will mature in a few months. Do I have to take the face value of the policy or can I convert this to another type of insurance?

A—You may exchange it for a policy of lesser cash value if you present evidence of good health. However, this must be done before the policy matures.

A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum

Pants are everywhere. Pantsuits, pant-dresses, pant-skirts and pants and matching coat highlight the fashion story. Although the actual construction of pants is not difficult, the fitting of pants is. The new pants look depends on perfect fit. There is a crisp, well tailored effect which must be achieved.

The first and most important step in making perfect pants is choosing a pattern in the correct size. These measurements include waist, hip, crotch length and, for long pants, length from waist to ankle. For shorts the desired finished length should be determined.

The waist is measured at the natural waistline; the hip, 7 inches below the waist or at the fullest part of the hip. The crotch length is taken with the individual sitting erect on a hard chair. This measurement extends from the waist to the seat of the chair. Total pants finished length is taken at the side seam, from the waist to the ankle.

Pant patterns are purchased according to the waist measurement. If the individual's hip measurement. Waistline adjustments are easier to make than hip-line alterations.

It is extremely important to make all major adjustments on the pattern. For example, the crotch length cannot be changed after the fabric is cut. Likewise, derrier and thigh alterations must be done on the pattern.

To make the first adjustment, which would be the crotch length, draw a line across the pattern back, at right angles to the grainline, from the side seam to the widest part of the crotch. Then at the side seam, the distance from the waistline to the drawn line is measured. This should equal the individual's crotch length measurement plus three-fourths inch for ease.

If the pattern needs to be shortened, the desired amount is tucked out using the Easy Rule guide or adjustment line on the pattern. To lengthen the pattern is slashed along the dotted line of the Easy Rule guide or adjustment line, and spread the necessary amount. On the pattern front, the pattern is lengthened or shortened between the waistline and the crotch the same amount as the back pattern piece. If further length adjustments are needed, make them in the lower part of the leg.

Waistlines may be increased or decreased at the side seams up to a total of two inches. To do this the total amount of increase or decrease is divided by four. This amount is removed or added to each side seamline, tapering to the hipline. If more than a two-inch adjustment is needed, each waistline dart may be taken in or let out up to one-fourth inch.

The sway back alteration is also handled in the same manner for pants as for a skirt. About 3 1/2 inches below the waistline, the pattern is slashed across center back to the side seamline. The slashed edges are then lapped to remove the necessary amount. The center back line is re-drawn to restore the original grainline.

50,600,000 REASONS FOR SAFE DRIVING

For heavy thighs, the front and back inside leg add extra width through the thigh by adding width to the pattern front and back at the crotch, tapering to nothing at the lower edge. For very slim leanings, the front and back inside leg seams need to be decreased. Beginning at the crotch the decrease is tapered to the lower edge.

hip. To compensate at the waistline for making the darts deeper, the necessary amount is added to the back seams.

To add fullness the back pattern is increased at the inside leg seam. This will give length and width without a baggy look.

Crime! A Record Not To Be Proud Of . . .
By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

As many of you have heard or read, the bus drivers in Washington went on strike last week and at this writing, they are refusing to drive a bus at night. They went on strike because it is no longer safe to drive a bus in America's Capital city. Now this had nothing to do with the crowded traffic conditions or reckless drivers. They went on strike because more than 200 of them had been held up, robbed and beaten so far this year—one of them was shot to death the other day. To drive a bus in Washington is like taking your life in your hands.

Things have become so bad here that many Congressmen are warning their constituents not to come sightseeing in Washington because it isn't safe. It is incredible that tourists should be afraid to visit their own Capital, to see the Lincoln Memorial, to tour the White House, to see Congress in session.

What has happened to law and order in the Nation's Capital? Across America for that matter?

Basically, I believe the fault lies in the inherent weakness in the structure of the so-called "Great Society"—a society whose public policies and attitudes have encouraged a permissiveness in the Nation in all walks of life. It has become so bad that the criminal in America no longer fears the consequences. A lawyer no longer has to search for loopholes in the law—they too often are handed to him on a silver platter by the Court decisions.

For instance, look at these recent Court decisions. In one, the Court ruled that, in a line-up confrontation between a witness and accused, the absence of a lawyer for the accused could make even a positive identification inadmissible in court.

How having a lawyer present will alter a witness' identification, I'm not sure. But this was only a beginning.

In another case, the police saw three men beating and robbing an elderly man on the streets of Washington, D. C. The muggers ran when they saw the policemen but one was caught and dragged back to the police car. Naturally, the victim, who had remained near the car, "confronted" him and positively identified him. But there was no defense lawyer present! This identification was disallowed. The mugger went free—free to commit more serious crimes!

Crime is increasing because of pity shown, not to the mugged, but to the mugger; not to the family of the murdered, but to the murderer; not to the woman who is raped, but to the rapist; not to the victim who is robbed, but to the robber. In far too many instances the rights of the victims are forgotten while the courts bend over backward to protect the "rights" of criminals.

Let's look for a moment at the crime situation in this country. Since 1960, the total volume of major crimes has risen 88 percent. Last year alone there were 8½ million serious crimes in the country and they cost Americans over $600 million.

These may be the statistics of a "great" society, but they are not the statistics of a great and free Nation. They are the statistics of lawless and chaotic conditions that are a disgrace to America.

When tobacco plants die shortly after setting out, pythium, soft rot, a fungus, may be the cause. Some years, 30 percent of the transplants may be killed. Buried leaves and stems of plants have a watery, soft rot. Usually, the disease attacks after plants are about two weeks old in the field.

There is no specific control measure against the disease, but some steps can be taken to reduce severity of the infection:

1. If plant mortality is 15 to 20 percent, or higher, disk the field and reset. Set new plants between old rows to avoid infected spots.
2. Avoid over-seeding the plant bed. Sow only two teaspoons of seed per 100 square yards of bed.
3. Avoid fertilizer injury by using the recommended rate, 30 to 40 pounds per 100 square yards of bed.
4. Plow under cover crop and manure from four to six weeks before setting out time, so the peak decay and toxicity period will gone before setting out.
5. Remove the plant bed cover about a week before plants are to be pulled. Soak the plant bed with water the day before pulling, using 300 to 500 gallons of water per 100 square yards of bed. Check transplanters to be sure no mechanical injury will be done to plants in setting out work.

Work on a "once-over" tobacco harvesting machine—a device that will require only one trip down a row to harvest the plants—continues at the University of Kentucky.

Agricultural engineers hope this year to field-test a unit that will, after many years of design, research and prototype building, be the answer.

Part of the equipment already has been field tested. J. H. Casada and E. M. Smith, engineers working on the device, say this year's tests will be on an automatic stick-dispenser and a "filled-stick, lift-out" mechanism—they already have designed and successfully field tested an automatic spearing device.

"The machine is semi-mounted to the tractor for good maneuverability. It will handle one row at a time and is designed for a capacity of five to six filled sticks a minute. Only a tractor driver is required to operate the machine, along with a man to receive the filled sticks and place them on the wagon," the engineers say.

"The University is in this design and prototype development because of the somewhat limited market potential of such a machine. It seemed necessary for U. K. to design and build a prototype which a relatively small manufacturer then could build to sell to farmers. One possibility is that the machine could be used on a custom basis (harvesting done for a price by an owner) or bought by several farmers on a pool basis."

When perfected, the machine would save many man hours of labor in tobacco work. It is estimated it takes one man about 14 to 18 hours to hand cut an acre. The machine could do it in five to six hours.

MRS. MAMIE G. BEDINGER
Mrs. Mamie Gaines Bedinger, died Monday, June 10, at Leisure Manor, St. Petersburg, Fla., where she had lived for the past six years.

Mrs. Bedinger, native of Boone County, lived in Walton until the death of her husband, Columbus C. Bedinger, in 1926. Since that time she has made her home in St. Petersburg, returning to spend part of each summer with her sister, Mrs. Ben F. Bedinger, and other Kentucky relatives and friends.

A niece, Mrs. Ashlin Logan, and a nephew, George G. Bedinger, survive her.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of St. Petersburg.

Services will be held at 10:00 a. m., Friday at Chambers and Grubbs Funeral Home, Walton, with Rev. Julian Charles, pastor of the Covington First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial will be in Richwood Cemetery.

NOTICE—
Will the person who has the transistor powered megaphone belonging to the Walton Volunteer Fire Department, please return same to the department—no questions asked. 21-24*

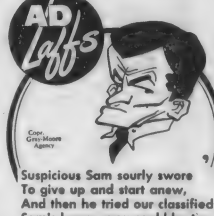

CARD OF THANKS . . .
The family of Al Martin wish to take this opportunity to thank our neighbors, friends and all those who remembered us in any way during the illness and death of our loved one. 11-24c

—THE FAMILY

—BIRTHS—
Eddie and Janice Whaley of Huey Drive, Walton, are proud parents of a baby girl, born Tuesday, June 11th at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Two little girls in the Whaley family will be at home to welcome their sister.

CARD OF THANKS . . .
I want to thank those who remembered me with calls, visits, and prayers during my long stay in the hospital. They were very greatly appreciated. May God bless all. 11-24c

Staffordsburg

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

One of the most pleasant social events was the Golden Wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Ballinger, which occurred on June 1st at the home of their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ballinger. Some 160 friends, relatives and neighbors were present. Though they requested no gifts, several were received. All wished them better luck for the next 50.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brinkley were home on a weekend pass recently.

Mrs. Adah Steinhauser visited her cousin, Mrs. Francis Keeney, a few days last week.

Mrs. Chester Rapp and Bruce spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. James Lancaster in Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Lathan Brinkley and daughters are having to make their home in Oregon. We wish them luck.

The Staffordsburg Homemakers met at the church with Mrs. Edith Ware as hostess.

Play Presented

A very engaging play, "The Wizard of Oz," was given by 7th grade pupils at St. Cecilia, Thursday, May 23.

Produced and directed by Richard McNare, a teacher in the school, he deserves much credit for his diligent efforts and patience to put on a beautiful production.

The children worked hard and the parents cooperated to make it an outstanding success. It was presented again on Wednesday, May 29. The weather was much better.

GREEN ROAD SPECIAL

The Green Road Special 4-H Club held its May meeting at the home of co-leader Barbara Simpson.

The regular business meeting was held, along with songs, recreation and refreshments. Elaine Hampton, junior leader, had the project for the month, "Working On Record Books."

Eight girls have finished their sewing projects. They were exhibited at the Courthouse, and the club received two blue ribbons, four red ribbons, and two white ribbons.

There was a fashion show May 10, where the girls from Kenton County, who had taken sewing, could model their finished projects. Those who modeled were Melanee Simpson, Margaret Collett, and Vicki Yelton.

The June meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Eve Collett. The project is, "Outdoor Cooking," and each member is asked to bring a potato, a carrot, and an onion. Meat, buns and drinks will be furnished.

One of the earliest emotions a child experiences is fear. And from the first loud noise that awakens him until the moment of his death he knows no day without the recurrence of some foreboding danger.

From the beginning of time religion has been our tested antidote to the poison of fear. In the dark forests of antiquity, on the boiling seas of exploration, in the fox-holes of modern strife, men have calmed the body's trembling with the soul's faith. We have faced the unknown, the hostile, through trust in the Known, the Faithful; we have challenged the insurmountable, confident in the power of the Almighty.

How essential, though, that each generation passes on our Faith to the next! Who dares deprive a child of the chance to conquer fear? Who would rob his son's soul of the Christian heritage martyrs died to preserve?

Bring your children to God's House every Sunday.

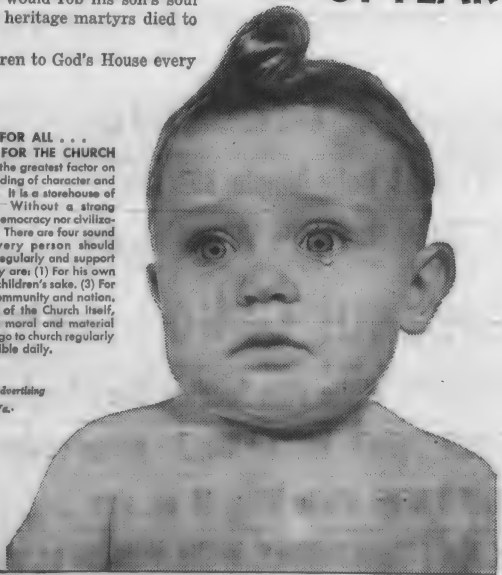

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

FAITH THAT WORKS

Lesson for June 16, 1968

Background Scriptures: James 1 through 2.

Devotional Reading: James 1:2-12.

Psychiatrist Viktor Frankl tells of an advertisement that appeared in a newspaper: Unemployed. Brilliant mind offers his services completely free; the survival of the body must be provided for by adequate salary.

Rev. Althouse major in one or the other, as if they were mutually exclusive alternatives.

Philo, the ancient interpreter of Judaism, noted that religious people may often fall into two distinct groups: the pietists and the activists.

For, being filled with a sense of piety, they have preferred that to all other interests, and devoted the whole of their lives to the service of God; while others have adhered simply to their connection with men in social zeal, affording all alike the use of their possessions, and, as far as possible, alleviating their woes. The latter you might call philanthropic persons, the former devout. For those alone are perfect who have a reputation in both departments.

The Resources To Act

Thus, as Philo put it so well, we need "a reputation in both departments." It is not enough to specialize in one to the exclusion of the other. Piety must find its expression in action; action without piety soon exhausts the resources that enable us to act.

Mark Twain wrote a satirical novel entitled, A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court. It is the chronicle of the merry adventures of a nineteenth century New Englander who was transported through time, back to the days of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table. Sir Guy, as they dubbed him, being a practical-minded Yankee, was appalled at the waste of time, energy, and motion in the elaborate ceremonies of the court of King Arthur. He felt challenged to put these wasted resources to some practical use.

Putting Faith To Work

One of his projects involved a saintly man who spent many hours on his knees in prayer. As he prayed, the man swayed backward and forward in his arduous devotions. Sir Guy was determined that so much energy should not go to waste. He devised a plan whereby he could harness the man's swaying, using a crude machine to transform the pious motion into power to work a water pump in the castle. That, in Sir Guy's estimation, was putting faith to work!

Sir Guy may have been too much the activist and appreciated too little the values of devotion, but he was not far from the truth in realizing that faith and devotion ought to produce practical results of some kind. Jesus was known for both his teachings and his acts. They were, in fact, inseparable. He not only spoke the truth, he was the truth in action. Faith and works, he demonstrated, are not alternatives; they must always go together.

Fruits Of Real Faith

We find the same sentiment in the Epistle of James. "What does it profit, my brethren, if a man says he has faith but has not works? Can his faith save him? (James 2:14 RSV). James is not indicating that a man is saved by his works, but that his works will indicate whether what he says is what he really believes. Faith, then, is not simply an idea held by the mind, but a conviction that dominates one's life. As Hartley Coleridge, the poet, puts it: It is an affirmation and an act. That bids eternal truth be present fact.

That is faith that works!

state FHA adviser. Decade of Service awards were presented to three advisers and the State Homemaker degree was conferred upon 22 members.

Ninety-one chapters were recognized as Honor Roll chapters and presented certificates in recognition of outstanding work. Simon Kenton was one of seven Honor Roll chapters in Northern Kentucky.

Thursday morning, Dr. Carl Byers, author and lecturer, from Cleveland, Ohio, talked on "Serving With Warm Hearted Courage." Though a humorist, his thorough humor, made all aware of many treasured gems.

Heading up the Kentucky Association of FHA for the coming year will be Judy Kay Hall, Bell County, president; Mary Ann McKesson, Oil Springs, first vice president; Georgia Gibbs, Heath, second vice president; Patricia Lettler, Eubank, historian; Dana Kay Scott, Mason County, reporter; Peggy Summet, Mt. Washington, parliamentarian; Barbara Bailey, Ludlow, secretary; Felicia Young, Davies County, treasurer; Judy Alderson, Lone Oak, song leader; Georgia Rhodes, Austin-Tracey, recreation leader.

In Kentucky, FHA is sponsored by the Home Economics Division of the State Department of Education, Frankfort.

The frozen food industry produced 10 billion pounds in 1966; in 1946, the total was 1.5 billion lbs.

Attorney General Praised

Carlton Anderson, president, announces that the Boone County Democrat Club, at a recent meeting, passed a resolution commending Kentucky's Attorney General John Breckinridge. Mr. Breckinridge has been diligently appealing to the state personnel board the cases of citizens dismissed improperly under the merit system.

"Boone County citizens are grateful for his helpful action," Mr. Anderson said. "Too many firings of employees have taken place and there aren't any adequate replacements. Even tri-county Republicans are becoming alarmed. Pay to fired Kentucky workers is held up because Breckinridge takes dim view of Hazelrigg's opinion," Mr. Anderson concluded.

Walton OES To Meet

Walton Chapter, No. 161, Order of Eastern Star, will hold its regular business meeting for this month on Monday, June 17 at 7:30 p. m. This will also be Friendship Night. All members are invited—all officers please be present.

3 OUT OF 10 COWS CARRY MASTITIS-PRODUCING ORGANISMS

Now Purina's California Mastitis Test Kit helps you spot "Mastitis Carriers" before they infect others! Early mastitis detection is important... the sooner mastitis is detected in a cow the sooner you can start getting her back to healthy, normal production. Purina's C. M. T. test was developed to help you maintain an "early detection" check on your herd. It is a simple test... it tells in seconds if a cow has mastitis... and it pinpoints the infected quarters. Come in and check this new money maker.

FLIES HATCH & DIE WITH PURINA CHECK-FLY CATTLE BLOCKS

Let heifers and dry cows eat Cattle Blocks with the built-in maggot killer. Fewer maggots mean fewer face and horn flies. Provide needed minerals and salt, aid in controlling worms, too. Control flies the easy way with Purina Check-Flies Cattle Blocks. Can be used with all beef cows, steers, heifers, bulls and calves. See us for special pricing.

PREVENT MILK FEVER

Now you can help your cows prevent milk fever by offering the New Purina Dairy Mineral. This no salt added mineral contains a calcium and phosphorus ration of 1:1 and is medicated with organic iodine for the control of footrot and soft tissue lumpy jaw. Along with a 1:1 calcium-phosphorus ration, Purina Dairy Mineral contains a balance of zinc, copper, organic iodine, magnesium, manganese, cobalt, sulphur and other essential trace minerals. Purina Dairy Research recommends providing plain salt, free-choice along with new Dairy Minerals. Start today to help your cows prevent costly milk fever.

$50 WORTH OF MILK EACH SUMMER

Flies can rob the average cow of $50 worth of milk each summer. Now you can get low-cost fly protection with Purina Dairy Sprays. We stock dairy sprays for face fly control, to kill all types of flies, and sprays for milking areas and loafing barns. Ask us about Purina Dairy Sprays.

All Saints Church on Verona Road, is another example of property that is well kept, and upon which improvements have been made from time to time. The grounds show that they are well cared for and the grass is mowed. New pews have been installed in the church, the section to the right has been remodeled and redecorated as a living area for the Nuns who teach in the school, the building housing four new classrooms and a large basement is located on a large area of ground behind this main church building. Also, not pictured, is the relatively new, modern home in which the Priest resides.

Vacation Church School Program and Picnic Set

Vacation Church School at Walton Christian Church will close a very successful two weeks on Friday evening with a program, presented by the classes at 7:30.

There will be an open house where parents and friends may see the projects that have been completed.

On Saturday there will be a picnic at Big Bone State Park for the children and any parents who want to attend.

Mrs. Frank Afterkirk has been the director, and the average attendance of children and workers has been around 90.

To Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Rev. and Mrs. C. G. Dearing

Rev. and Mrs. Charles G. Dearing of Erlanger, will celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary with open house Sunday, June 23, from 2:00 until 5:00 p. m., in the Social Hall of Erlanger Methodist Church, 31 Commonwealth Ave.

Rev. Dearing served Methodist churches for 41 years in the Kentucky Conference before his retirement from the Walton church in 1966. Since that time he has served as associate pastor at the Erlanger church. He has served nearly 20 years in Northern Kentucky.

The Dearing have four daughters, Mrs. Thelma Brannock of Sharonville, Ohio; Mrs. Ella Mae Sheehan of Dover, N. H.; Mrs. Ruth Johnson of Kilgore, Texas, and Mrs. Louise Hundley of Erlanger.

'69 Wool Incentive Price

The incentive price for shorn wool marketed in 1969 will be 69 cents a pound—2 cents a pound more than the 1968 level, according to ASCS.

The support price for mohair will be 77.4 cents a pound, the same as for 1968 marketing.

As in other years, the wool program payments will be equal to a percentage of each producer's returns from sales, and the percentage will be that required to raise the National average price received by all producers from shorn wool during 1969 up to the announced 69-cents-a-pound incentive price.

Band Boosters Serve Verona Alumni Din'r

Saturday evening, some forty alumni of Verona High School, and their guests assembled in the lunchroom of the Verona school to enjoy their annual alumni dinner. The Band Boosters of the Walton-Verona school served the chicken dinner to the group.

Following the dinner, the alumni association had their regular business meeting, at which time Mrs. Vernon Shetter, president, presided. The "Melotones" of Frankfort, entertained the group. The election of officers was conducted and the group enjoyed fellowship with friends.

Mrs. Clayton Jones, chairman of the dinner arrangement group, would like to thank Band Boosters for their donations of food and those who helped with the food preparation, the serving, and the cleanup. A special thanks to Mrs. Mike Ryan, Verona, who offered her services, although not a Band Booster. Band members helping as waitresses were Margie Shields, Connie Ruf, Peggy Morgan, and Sharon Elsenchmidt.

School Bus Driver Training Available

The Division of Pupil Transportation of the State Department of Education will sponsor a two-day school bus driver training course at Boone County High School in Florence, July 18-19. The Boone County School System will provide the facilities for the school. It is anticipated that school bus drivers from these school districts will attend this training school: Boone County, Campbell County, Gallatin County, Grant County, Kenton County, Pendleton County, Silver Grove Independent, Walton-Verona Independent, and Williamstown Independent. School administrators and other interested school personnel are encouraged to attend these training sessions. They will begin at 8:30 a. m. each day.

Supervisors in the Division of Pupil Transportation and instructors from the Kentucky State Police will lead discussions on defensive driving, traffic laws and accident responsibilities, student control aboard the bus, preventive maintenance, and handling emergencies. Bus procedures, first aid, emergency drills, and fire fighting will be demonstrated.

New Boone Patrolman

Florence Police Sgt. Thomas Schwartz will become the second member of the Boone County Patrol on July 1st. He will work with Melvin Collins, Boone's present one-man patrol.

Walton-Verona "A" Team Defeats Hebron, 4 to 0

The Walton-Verona "A" team defeated Hebron behind the one-hit pitching of Mike Ferguson, by a score of 4 to 0. Ferguson struck out 17 batters.

Walton-Verona scored three runs in the first inning. Ferguson had a home run and drove in the first three runs. Mike Sargent had a double and single. Crouch and Leek also had hits.

The local team is now 5-1 on the season and tied for first place in the Boone County Knott Hole League.

Boone County Democrat Convention On July 20th

The Boone County Democrat Convention will be held Saturday, July 20, at 2:00 p. m., at the Burlington Fairgrounds. Every registered Democrat voter in the county is entitled to attend. Delegates to the district and state conventions will be elected.

The District and State Conventions will be held in Louisville, on Saturday, July 27. The National Convention will be held in Chicago in August of this year.

Following the county convention the Boone County Democrat Club, Teenage Club and Young Dems will have a picnic at the fairgrounds. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish. Entertainment and installation of officers will conclude the program for the evening.

Tent Meeting at Dry Ridge

An old fashion tent meeting at Grant County High School grounds will start June 22 at 8:00 p. m., and continue through June 30.

Also in attendance from this county at the banquet were: State Representative Leo Lawson, Hebron; Otis Readmore, Walton, Boone County Republican Chairman, and Vaughn Hemphing, Constance, the Boone County Election Commissioner.

Mrs. Alan Gaines fell at her home on Alta Vista Drive, Tuesday morning and sustained a possible limb fracture.

Summer Band Practice To Start On June 26th

The Walton-Verona Summer Band program will begin Wednesday, June 26, at the music building at the Walton school.

Over 150 students will take part. It is anticipated that at least 50 will be beginning band members. Students will attend twice a week classes, suited for their advancement.

During the first part of this week, James Layne, director, visited homes of so prospective band members who took the talent tests at the Verona school in May.

If you would like your child to join the band and you were not visited, you may enroll and find out all the information on Monday, June 24, from 9:00 to 9:00 at the music building.

Wa-Na Club Report For The Past Year

Seventeen members of the Wa-Na Club recently closed an active and enjoyable year.

They would like the public to know what they have done. When the new year starts in September, new members are invited. The Wa-Na Club meets once a month on the first Thursday and the dues are $4.00.

Here are our accomplishments: Two sock hops for the teenagers, held at the Walton school gym. We charged a small amount to cover the expenses. The idea behind this project was to promote activity for the youth in the community to give them a place to go, well supervised, and the type pleasure they are seeking.

We made gift packages and mailed them to 12 Service men stationed in Vietnam. We would like to have remembered all the local boys in the service, but this was an expensive project. We sponsored contests in the local high school and gave money awards in three categories, art, speech, and sewing. We hoped to stimulate interest in these areas of study.

The club made donations of money to the Veteran's Hospital, (also supervised a weekly party for the vets), in Ft. Thomas; to Knott's baseball league; band boosters, Boone County Retarded Children, Heart Fund and CARE.

In the coming months, plans have been made for a party with gifts for the Daniel Boone Camp for Boys.

A committee is working with the clean-up and beautify program under way here in Walton.

Money making activities to carry out these mentioned projects were: a rummage sale, McCall style show, and the sock hops.

Trips and programs were enjoyed all during the year. We went to the Ohio State Fair, 50-50 Club, Calvacade of Homes, and the stage play "Mame". Ministers of the Walton Ministerial Association presented a program, "Guide- Posts in Religion" at which time we entertained the Woman's Literary Club. We learned "Safety and How to Protect Ourselves" from Capt. Richardson of the Kenton County Police. We made Christmas decorations and had other varied programs.

If anyone would like to join our club, we invite you to do so. We meet again in September to start another year of good fellowship, fun, and interesting projects and activities.—Publicity Chairman

HORSE SHOW, SUNDAY

A horse show will be held at the Boone County Fairgrounds, Burlington, on Sunday, June 23rd, starting at 10:00 a. m. The show will continue until 7 p. m. and will feature Western, Halter, and Contests, also English Pleasure. The admission will be 50 cents.

This horse show is sponsored by the Saddle Horn Riding Club of Boone County.

Verona Helicopter Pilot Is Honored

Warrant Officer J. R. Hamilton

Pilot instructor James R. Hamilton's courage and quick thinking saved his crew and an Army helicopter at Ft. Rucker, Ala., recently. His action won a citation as an example of topnotch training.

Mr. Hamilton, a chief warrant officer, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Hamilton, Verona.

As an Army helicopter instructor pilot, he teaches new students how to fly. On one night training mission, the aircraft began to deviate from its course with unusual noises coming from the engine. Hamilton grabbed the controls and began autorotation—a landing without engine power—as the blades continue turning. There were no injuries or damage to the aircraft.

For recovery of an Army aircraft, Hamilton received the Commandant's Broken Wing Safety Award. He also received a citation which read:

"In accomplishing such a feat at night, Hamilton demonstrated the highest state of training required by an instructor pilot."

Need Musical Instruments

Do you have any musical instruments gathering dust around your house? The Salvation Army (Newport Corps) is in desperate need of trumpets, clarinet, drums, etc. for its expanding summer band.

Phone Lt. Charles Kelly, 431-1063—all donations will be acknowledged for tax purposes.

SOFTBALL GAMES HERE

The Walton Fast Pitch Softball team will play in Walton, Friday and Saturday nights of this week, at the grounds at the Walton-Verona school grounds.

Friday night, June 21 at 7:30, they meet the IBM team from Lexington, in a double header.

On Saturday, June, also at 7:30 p. m., the locals will play Parkette also from Lexington.

You're invited to be present.

Rummage Sale Planned

The Boone County Association for Retarded Children will sponsor a rummage sale at the Elsmere Firehouse on Garvey Avenue, on Friday and Saturday, July 12-13. Keep these dates in mind and stop in and see what is on sale.

Named To Site Committee

Gov. Louie B. Nunn has appointed Fray Escue and Ray Ernst, both of Hebron, and Tom Utz, of Florence, members of the Site Selection Committee of Northern Kentucky State College.

The appointment was made under the requirements of House Bill 225 passed by the Kentucky General Assembly.

Coach Jim Taylor Resigns

Jim Taylor has resigned as basketball coach at Walton-Verona High School to accept a similar position at Caveanna High School near Horse Cave, Ky. Mr. Taylor has been at W-V for two years.

The Caveanna school is an independent system, larger than W-V. The fifth region teams are more balanced than those in the ninth region and Mr. Taylor is looking for some good years at his new location.

The Taylors expect to remain in Walton during most of the summer.

English Teacher Needed

According to reports from Supt. Earl Roberts of the Walton-Verona Schools, all vacancies of teachers and other personnel have been filled for the coming year except in the English Department. Please contact Mr. Roberts if you are qualified in this field of study or know of someone he might contact.

The number of people growing a few vegetables in backyard gardens has increased in recent years. Many of these people have little knowledge about growing plants, and from their experience with market produce, they are acquainted only with top quality vegetables. Damage from insects and fungus diseases often prevents the home gardener from producing top quality vegetables himself. Intelligent use of pesticides is the only way to grow high quality produce. The commercial vegetable producer must produce a high quality product: the backyard gardener would also like to do so, but it may be impractical for him.

The home gardener should be most interested in a reasonable yield of useable produce from all the crops in his garden. No single pesticide formulation should be expected to give perfect control of all destructive insects, all fungi, and all bacterial and virus diseases for all vegetable crops. However it should prevent the common pests from completely destroying any of the crops.

Mixtures of the materials are available in general purpose spray or dust forms. Those who wish to buy just one package of spray material for all-round yard and garden may do so. The spray or dust formulations usually contain malathion, methoxychlor or Sevin as an insecticide and one of the fungicides such as maneb, zineb or captan. Used every 7 to 10 days during the growing season, these all-purpose formulations will give satisfactory results. Be sure to follow the label directions. People desiring to do a more accurate job of pest control should pick up a listing of specific pesticide recommendations from their county Extension offices.

Questions and Answers Veterans Administration

Q—I was recently separated from service. During service I was treated for a condition that has now flared up again. Can I get treatment from VA?

A—In all probability you can. You should apply to the Veterans Administration for an examination and determination that your condition is service-connected. Once this has been accomplished, you should have no trouble getting treatment from VA.

Q—I am a veteran with a service-connected condition, recognized by VA as 60 percent disabling. Does this degree of disability entitle my children to any type of education assistance?

A—No. Only children whose parent is rated by VA as 100 percent service-connected disabled and who is permanently disabled is entitled to assistance. Such children—and children of veterans who died in service or from service-connected causes—are eligible for War Orphans Educational Assistance benefits.

People who value their privileges above their principles soon lose both.

A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum
 Area Extension Agent

Lazy summer days sometimes catch teen age girls secretly wishing school were in session because activities are always moving there. Don't let your summer be a dull one! Do something that is constructive and your days will be happier and lots more fun. If you know even a little bit about sewing you are off to a head start.

It's really one of the most gratifying hobbies.

What to sew? Need inspiration? That's easy, just think of your wardrobe, your own room decoration, or the party fun things. Here are three areas that can all be expressive of you and your individuality. You can make fabric, thread and needle, trimming, scissors, and a sewing machine talk to you.

Let's take your wardrobe first. There are shorts, blouses, new swinging skirts, pants dresses and even bathing suits, that you can stitch up on your sewing machine. Why, that is almost a new wardrobe. Don't let such a large project frighten you. Make only one thing at a time. There are marvelous patterns available and terrific fabrics that are easy to sew. Then, with an exciting touch of trimming such as braid, ruffles or fringe, each item you make can have an individual accent, making your project more original in style.

Your bedroom can be your very own castle. Summertime is a great time to redecorate. You can even paint your own walls, it's so easy. So decide on your color scheme and how you want it to look. Why not make it feminine and frilly. There are curtains, bedspreads, pillows, dressing table skirts, and even a covering for a boudoir chair, all of which are done with fabrics and sewing. There are many home decorating magazines for ideas and then you can visit your local library where books on sewing cover the how-to on making curtains, bedspreads, etc. Add a bouffant ruffle of nylon or batiste eyelet embroidery to each of them for a "pretty girl" room. If you prefer bright, bold colors and a tailored look use solid or vibrant printed fabric for the curtains and bedspread, then accent each in an exciting wild color in fringe, fold-over braid at the edges or even ripples of rick rack.

Party fun-things is another area that adds gaiety to your entertaining and builds you a reputation as a smart hostess. Cover a patio or picnic table with a wild printed cotton fabric to which you have stitched a fringe border or a row of giant rick rack. Make a matching chef's apron or chef's hat. For a novel idea you could make super-large napkins with rick rack at the edge into which you put wrapped sandwiches, a small bag of potato chips and an apple, then tie hobo style for individual servings.

You can be the swinging smart girl with fabric, trims and a little sewing.

A Decision On The 10 Percent Surtax

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

The Administration's 10% surtax bill has given me considerable concern—to the point where I asked the local papers to run polls in order to obtain a better understanding of how you, the people of the Fourth District, feel about the proposed tax increase.

You have responded in great numbers to the polls—here is my decision:

Secretary Fowler in his testimony before the Ways and Means Committee has talked of the seriousness of the Federal deficit and his plan to combat this with a tax increase of $10 billion. The Conferees have at this point also tied a $6 billion spending cut to the proposal.

The economists seem to be in agreement that we are currently experiencing a "cost-push" inflationary spiral. A tax increase will accelerate "costs," compounding the problem.

Nevertheless, the continuing deficit requires that the government absorb the available money in the market place. The income and outgo of our government must be brought into balance—but I have not been convinced that the imbalance is the result of a failure of the average taxpayer to bear a sufficient "load" of taxes. Tax loopholes should be closed. Congressional appropriations authorize the executive to spend but do not require it. I have and shall continue to support amendments to cut appropriations.

Further, I support expenditure cuts by the President as follows: troops in Europe, $2 billion; Foreign aid and related programs, $3.5 billion (from $5.5 to $2 billion); research and development, $3 billion (from $17 to $14 billion); space, $1.5 billion (from $5 to $3.5 billion); the Williams-Smithers amendment on Federal personnel, $1 billion; farm subsidies (for non-production) $2 billion; War on Poverty, rent subsidies, model cities, urban renewal and related programs, $3 billion (from $21.1 to $11.1 billion). These are all non-capital expenditures and will produce a savings of $1 billion per year in interest on the national debt resulting from these cuts.

If these cuts (which exceed the tax increase plus the expenditure cuts) are insufficient, one can consider capital expenditure cuts in public works, ranging up to $3 billion.

By itemizing these cuts, I do not mean that I believe these are the only cuts that can be made—there are more. The Defense budget is not free from waste, etc., but the obvious area for cuts without affecting our defense efforts needs to be spelled out and it has by the factual dissertation last May 14 in the House by Congressman Tom Curtis, senior member of the Ways and Means Committee and member of the House-Senate Joint Economic Committee.

This firm belief on my part that expenditures can be cut, without hurting the defense effort, to more than offset the revenue to be produced by the surtax—together with the overwhelming opposition to the increase by the people I represent required that I exercise what I believe is the best judgment and vote against the surtax.

Thank you for your communications. Your opinions have played an important part in my consideration of this matter.

WHO IS WISE?

Lesson for June 23, 1968

Background Scriptures: James 3:1 through 4:12. Devotional Readings: Romans 12:14-21.

Henry M. Stanley, the American journalist who went to Africa to find the famous Dr. David Livingstone, shortly after he returned from his trip was invited to make a recording of his voice upon the phonograph which

Thomas A. Edison was developing. As he contemplated the potentialities of this new invention, Mr. Stanley turned to the inventor and asked him: "Mr. Edison, if it were possible to hear the voice of any man... known in the history of the world, whose voice would you prefer to hear?" The inventor's reply was immediate: "Napoleon's." Stanley, however, said: "No, I should like to hear the voice of our Saviour." "Oh well," said Edison, "you know I like a hustler."

Two Types Of Wisdom

Edison, for all his scientific knowledge, both badly overestimated Napoleon and the "hustlers" of this world, and sadly underestimated Jesus Christ. For, though Napoleon was a military genius, his shrewdness and cleverness did not prevent him from falling victim to his own unwise ambitions. Correspondingly, though Jesus was a blundering fool in the eyes of the world, his foolishness has proven wiser than the wisdom of men.

So, who is wise? Is it the shrewd operator, the clever "wheel-dealer," the man who "plays it smart"? Actually, it all depends upon what you mean by "wisdom." In James 2 we see contrasted two different kinds of wisdom. One kind begins in meekness, the other in bitter jealousy and selfish ambition. One is characterized by purity, peaceableness, gentleness, mercy, certainty, sincerity. The other by boasting, falsehood, insincerity, covetousness, warfare, worldliness, and infidelity. One results in the "good life," righteousness, good fruits, and peace. The other produces disorder and "every vile practice," as well as enmity with God. One finds its source in God; the other in the "devilish nature of man."

A Fool For Christ's Sake

The contrast, then, is between the wisdom of God and the wisdom of men. Naturally, society embraces the wisdom of men. It is the standard by which all things are judged. Those who are selfish, calculating, clever, and shrewd are regarded as the "smart set," the "operators," the "wheel-dealers." Society admires the wisdom that produces power, money, and pleasure.

By these standards, the meek are usually judged to be the fools of this world. They are ridiculed because they seem to be no match for the cunning of the unscrupulous. Because they refuse to "get ahead" at any price, they are judged to be lacking in intelligence and good judgement.

One such "fool for Christ's sake" was Tom Dooley, the doctor who spent the best years of his life bringing medicine and hope to the destitute people of Southeast Asia. Each time he returned to the United States to raise funds, his friends tried to persuade him to forget about his project, stay home, and take up the promising medical career he had often contemplated. But Dooley knew there was a job to be done and, foolish or not, he would not give it up.

Fruits Of Wisdom

James says: "Do you not know that friendship with the world is enmity with God?" (James 4:4 RSV) This does not mean that we are to dislike the world or try to escape it, but that it cannot be the source of our values, our standards, our wisdom. The wisdom of men is often at variance with the wisdom of God. In fact, usually.

So who is wise? History and human experience indicate that the fruits of shrewdness, cleverness, and "playing it smart," are pleasurable and valuable only in the short run. In the long run it is the fruits of God's wisdom that bring the kind of lasting results that are ultimately good for both individuals and society. This is the wisdom that makes men truly wise.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...

... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Letter To The Editor:

Dear Editor:

We would appreciate having the following letter published in your reader's column. Thank you for your cooperation.

"Complaints received from many parts in Kentucky regarding cruelty to animals, most of them also asking 'isn't there a law?' impels us to offer the following information—

"In 1966, the Federation put together a bill, and thanks to humane minded Legislators, the following laws (condensed) were enacted, making Kentucky now equal to other progressive states in its protection for animals."

KRS 436.180: Cruelty to Animals. Penalty, $100 to $1000, imprisonment one year, or both.

436.580: Injuring, Poisoning or Killing Domestic Animals. Fine, $1000, imprisonment one year, or both.

436.595: Stealing Domestic Animals, Possession of Same. Fine, $50 to $500, or imprisonment one year. (Possession knowingly, the same, even the principal offender not convicted).

436.597: Abandonment of Dog or Cat. Fine, $25 to $50.

436.600: Dyeing or Selling Dyed Baby Chicks, Ducklings, Other Fowl or Rabbits. Prohibits selling or giving away same (colored or not colored) under two months of age in any quantity less than six. Fine, $100 to $500.

These statutes can be invoked by any citizen when necessary. The Federation will investigate all serious complaints any place in this State, and will be glad to help with organization of humane groups upon request. Please write for copy of entire laws.

PINER-FISKBURG AUXILIARY MEETS

The Piner and Fiskburg Ladies' Auxiliary had their monthly meeting June 11 at 8:00 p. m., in the Firehouse at Piner, with eight members present.

Mrs. Eula LaFollette, president, presided at the business session. Mrs. Letha Woods gave the secretary's report. The Auxiliary ladies are going to sell the "Community Birthday Calendars" again this year.

Plans were discussed for the Ladies' Auxiliary booth at the Kenton County Fair in August. All members of the Piner & Fiskburg Volunteer Fire Department be planning on making pillow cases, aprons and home made articles for the booth, if possible. The Ladies' Auxiliary will be getting in contact with members next month.

New officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Fay Bray; Vice President, Wilma Mullins; Secretary, Opal Allen; Treasurer, Georgia Cornelius; Reporter, Letha Woods; Chairman of Community Birthday Calendars, Eula LaFollette.

Other members present: Mrs. Ruby Worthington, Mrs. Georgia Cornelius, Mrs. Opal Allen, Mrs. Fay Bray, Mrs. Ruth Worthington, and Mrs. Goldie Glenn.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

I want to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to my relatives, neighbors and friends for prayers, visits, cards, flowers, gifts and all other acts of kindness shown me and my family while I was in the hospital. Thanks again and God bless you.

Vacation Church Schools

Brucewood Presbyterian Church and Sunny Acres United Methodist Church, both of Taylor Mill, and Runyan Memorial Christian Church of Latonia, have combined for a vacation church school this year, which is being held this week.

Mrs. Ann Mary Frank is director of the Sunny Acres section. Mrs. Pat Thompson is in charge of the Brucewood Day Camp, and ministers of the three churches—Frank Leeper, Raymond Gibson and Robert Hicks—share leadership responsibility for the Youth-Adult Dialogue at Runyan.

The University of Kentucky was the first such institution in the nation to admit a student to its governing board. A recent state law placed student members on the boards of all Kentucky state universities.

Some phase of space research at the University of Kentucky now encompasses disciplines in almost all UK colleges.

One of the business houses in Walton that has participated in the beautification program is the Dixie State Bank. Shown in the above photo, taken by Dan Roberts, are painters putting finishing touches to the outside window casings. The inside was also redecorated in a mint green. Several other places along Main Street have done painting and general sprucing-up of their property. This redecorating adds much to the general appearance of Walton's business property.

Wants Big Bone Made U. S. Shrine

Dr. C. Bertrand Schultz, a member of the staff of the University of Nebraska Natural History Museum, wants Big Bone Lick State Park made a national shrine. Dr. Schultz conducted a five-year digging at Big Bone and found it to contain many of the oldest fossils in the world.

"This is probably the most important area in the U. S. as far as paleontological diggings go," Dr. Schultz told a committee from the Covington-Kenton-Boone Chamber of Commerce, last week.

He said he had plans to meet with U. S. Park Department officials in Omaha, and propose that Big Bone be made a national shrine.

"Dr. Schultz is also going to meet with Robert Gable, state park commissioner, within the month and discuss future development of the park," Gordon Martin, president of the chamber, said.

GOSHEN LADIES MEET

The June meeting of the Goshen Missionary Ladies was held June 5, with Mrs. Goldie Glenn as hostess. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Ruby Worthington. The regular business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Hazel Mullins.

Sunshine report was as follows: 68 cards sent and four visits made to the sick. The Missionary Ladies will be in charge of refreshments for Bible School. Plans were completed for the Father-Son banquet.

The church, with the assistance of the Missionary Ladies, will again this year send donations to Camp Northward to help sponsor this Christian Camp.

Letters were read from Ralph Carter and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gulick. The president appointed her nominating committee to select new officers for the coming year. They were Mrs. Faye Bray, Mrs. Goldie Glenn and Mrs. Ruth Worthington.

A very nice luncheon was served by the hostess of the month. It was decided that during the summer months, through September, the hostess of the month with the assistance of the other members will serve a picnic lunch.

The program in the afternoon was on "Passion Week," with Mrs. Esther Glenn as program leader, with all ladies taking part. Those present were Mrs. Hazel Mullins, Mrs. Nannie Flisk, Mrs. Ruth Worthington, Mrs. Goldie Glenn, Mrs. Bea Hills and Diane, Mrs. Lillian Elliott, Mrs. Ruby Worthington, and Mrs. Esther Glenn.

Hostesses for July will be Mrs. Ruby Worthington, with Mrs. Ruth Worthington as program leader. Revival at Goshen Christian Church, July 22-27.

Kenton Fair Board to Meet

The Kenton County Fair Board will meet on Tuesday, July 2, at 7:30 p. m., in the RECC Building at Paducah.

Boone County Livestock Improvement Ass'n Dinner

Dr. Charles Easton, President of the Kentucky Livestock Improvement Association, Lexington, has announced that Dr. Monty Chapel will be the principal speaker at a dinner meeting to be held July 2 at Southern Trails Restaurant, in Florence, at 8:00 p. m.

W. M. Insko, Jr. will also be on the program, according to R. C. Crisler, president of the Boone County group.

"C" Team Wins Two

Earl Abshire's "C" team in the Knott's League, won two games last week and now have a record of 5-4. On Tuesday, they defeated Michele's Enco by a score of 3-2 in a real pitchers battle. Friday, they had to come from behind in the last inning to down Bellevue 11-9.

Joining R. P. Coleman

R. P. Coleman has announced that Broadus R. Blythe is now associated with this office as a broker-salesman. Mr. Blythe has operated his own real estate business in Covington for the past 25 years and is fully experienced in residential, commercial and farm property sales.

Local Style Show Winners

In the recent 4-H Area Style Show, held at Lloyd High School, Erlanger, the following Walton girls won ribbons:

Joy Jacobs and Laura McMillian received blue ribbons in the apron division. They are both first-year 4-H members. In the skirt and selected blouse class, Lois Frederick and Karen Slayback were awarded red ribbons.

Carol Jacobs and Marilyn Frederick modeled in the skirt and made blouse class, and they received blue ribbons.

The Walton Softball Team Breaks Even

The Walton Soft Pitch Softball team split two doubleheaders last Friday and Saturday nights.

Friday night, IBM took the first game 2-0, while Walton came out in the nightcap to win 7-5.

Saturday night, Walton blew a 3-run lead in the bottom of the seventh inning to lose 6-4 to Parkette of Lexington, in the first of two. The second game saw some excellent fielding plays and fine pitching with Walton winning 1-0.

This weekend finds the fellows meeting a very good National Cash Register team from Cincinnati on Friday night, and Mills Movers from Hamilton, Saturday night.

The games will be played at Walton each night, beginning at 7:30.

Last weekend saw a slight improvement in the attendance. The team appreciates your patronage and hope it will continue.

Plan to Beautify Boone County

Deadline is July 1 for entries in the "Beautifying Entrances to Rural Homes" contest in Boone County. Rural residents are urged to take care of and improve entrances to homes with plants and decorative structures.

Projects might include grass and ground cover, shrubs or vines, flower beds, annual or perennial flowers, fences, entrance structures and mailboxes.

The contest is sponsored by the Boone County Soil Conservation District and will be judged by the Boone County Garden Club. "This is the first year for the contest. It is a cooperative affair," according to Mrs. Roy Lutes, Community Projects Chairman for the Garden Club.

"The judging will take place after October 10, so the entrants will have several months to work on their projects," she said.

Entry blanks may be obtained at the Boone County Soil Conservation Office in Florence, the A. S. C. S. Office in Burlington, or from Mrs. Lutes, Shelby Street, Florence.

"Entries can be sent to any of the places," Mrs. Lutes added. Prizes will be announced later, she said.

PINER HOMEMAKERS

The Piner Homemakers Club met June 18 at the home of Mrs. William Wolterman, with eleven members and four visitors present. The president, Mrs. Clarence Duncan, opened the meeting with the pledge to the American flag. The devotion, given by Mrs. Marshall Hills, was taken from II Timothy, 2:15. It states that we are to "study to show thyself approved." Just as a seamstress needs the instructions which come with the pattern for Christian living. The roll call was answered by each member telling what her profession was when she married.

The club made final plans for a tour to Berea, Ky., July 16. The club members have read 28 books this year. Mrs. Marion Martin was given an award for reading the most books and she also won the door prize.

A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Wolterman, assisted by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Clayton Schulte, of Covington, Ind. They presented each lady with a wind-bow which each lady proudly modeled.

The lesson on how to make a wool yarn pillow top was given by Mrs. Frank Elliott and Mrs. Richard Colclough. Each member made a sample and is eager to get the material and make these beautiful decorative pillows.

After the lesson, members enjoyed singing some songs and playing a few games. Visitors for the day, besides Mrs. Schulte, were Mrs. Willard Benson, Mrs. Charles Gross, and Mrs. W. R. Case. Other members present were Mrs. Fred McMillan, Mrs. Charles Flynn, Mrs. Chester Mullins, Mrs. W. O. Marshall, Mrs. Louis Schlachter, and Little Diane Hills.

The club adjourned and will meet again in September. The College of Arts and Sciences encompasses most of the basic instruction and research carried on by the University of Kentucky.

At Girls' State, the girls were taught how the government performs on a city, state and national level, and it was an educational experience for the four representatives from the local school. All the girls will be seniors this fall.

Yates-Sturgeon Wedding

Mrs. Don Sturgeon

Donna Gayle Yates, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Yates of Walton, was married at 4:30 p. m., Saturday, June 15th, in the Walton Methodist Church, to Donald Paul Sturgeon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sturgeon, also of Walton.

The Rev. James Burge performed the ceremony which was followed by a reception in the Church Fellowship Hall.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin brocade empire gown with the train connected at the neckline with pearl buttons. She wore an elbow-length veil of silk illusion, caught with a Queen Anne crown and carried a cascade of white daisies atop a white Bible.

Miss Beverly Edwards of Lexington, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sharon Watkins and Judy Leathers of Jackson, Ky. Karen Yates, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Laura and Danise Chapman of Lexington, nieces of the bridegroom, were the flower girls.

They wore mint green floor-length satin brocade empire dresses. They carried cascades of white daisies. Their headpieces were mint green four-tiered illusion veils caught with white daisies. Michael Yates, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Joe Afterkirk and Rodney Coppage. The ring bearer was Jeff Simpson of Lexington, cousin of the bride.

After a honeymoon, the couple will live in Walton. The bride attended Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky. The groom attends Eastern University, Richmond, Ky.

TOP HAT 4-H CLUB

The Top Hat 4-H Club met at the home of Kathy and Dottie Dixon for the yearly musical appreciation program. Christie Sipple and Cathy Jackson each played a piano solo. Dottie Dixon and Carolyn Campbell did a musical comedy skit with the help of Sarah Dixon.

Plans were made for a picnic on July 11 at the Oak Island baseball field.

Vacationing in Oklahoma

George Ripberger, 15-year-old son of Mrs. Louis E. Penick, of Independence, left on June 11 by jet (his first airplane trip) to visit his sister, Mrs. Jerry Goettelman, in Tulsa, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Penick will motor to Tulsa, early in August for a visit with the Goettemans and both Mrs. Goettelman and George will return to Kentucky with them.

At Girls' State, the girls were taught how the government performs on a city, state and national level, and it was an educational experience for the four representatives from the local school. All the girls will be seniors this fall.

W-V KNOTHOLE TEAM NOW IN FIRST PLACE

The Walton-Verona "A" team is number one in the Boone County Knott's League.

The Walton-Verona eleven defeated Haines Marathon Gas by a score of 7 to 1, behind the three-hit pitching of Mike Ferguson.

Rodney Robinson and Mike Ferguson had two hits each for the winners. Leek, Sargent, Crouch, Still, Shields and Poole each had one hit for W-V.

The local team is now 6-1 on the season and in first place, having won their last six games.

This week they play Hebron on Wednesday at Verona and go to Ockerman to play Aero-Flo, Saturday. Try to attend these games and encourage these boys.

Don't Discharge Fireworks

According to a notice elsewhere in this issue of the Advertiser, it is against the law to discharge fireworks in the City of Walton. The mayor, Dale Stephens, says any person found guilty will be prosecuted. Don't be found guilty!

4-H Horse and Pony Show Sun., June 30

The 4-H Horse and Pony leaders in Boone County have planned a Horse and Pony Show for all 4-H boys and girls enrolled in the 4-H Horse and Pony project. The show will be held Sunday, June 30, beginning at 1:00 p. m., at the Boone County Fairgrounds in Burlington.

Jerry Klement, Area 4-H Youth Specialist, said that the purpose of the show is to prepare the 4-H members for the Area 4-H Show which will be held on July 21st. Ribbons will be awarded to class winners.

There will be 18 classes for the members and these will include leading in classes, riding classes and fun classes. The public is invited to attend. There will be no admission but contributions will be accepted at the gate.

Klement said that the horse and pony project continues to be one of the fastest growing 4-H projects across the country. In Boone County, about 125 boys and girls are enrolled for 1968. Last year, 60 members entered this practice show and about 100 are expected this year.

Leaders of the 4-H Horse and Pony Clubs in the county are: Miss Patricia Scott and Mrs. Travis Dunn with the Bit & Spur Saddle Club; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Baute with the Buckaroos; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Diemar and William Goebel with the 4-H Rebel Riders; Mr. and Mrs. James Tanner with the Hebron Colts.

Get Auto-Truck Stickers

The $5.00 sticker for cars and trucks are now on sale at the Walton City Hall, according to Clerk Daisy Hill. Don't forget to get yours before August 1.

Boone County OKs New Utility Tax

Boone County's new 3 per cent utility tax will go into effect July 1, and the county is looking into the feasibility of setting up a public health taxing district.

The Fiscal Court, last week, unanimously approved the utility tax, which will affect telephone, water, gas, electric, and telephone bills.

Kentucky law requires the court to levy the tax on request of the Board of Education, which was approved last February 7. The money will be used for school construction purposes, it is said.

County Judge Bruce Ferguson told the court that a new state law, passed by the 1968 Legislature, permits the setting up of a health taxing district. The tax could not exceed four cents per $100 valuation of property.

The Boone County Health Department is in need of larger and more private quarters, the court was told. The department will receive $28,600 in county funds this year.

Judge Ferguson informed the court that construction is scheduled to start in about a week on the county's new Home for Aged. The 100-bed facility, to cost about $1,158,000, will be built on I-75, near the Ky. 18 interchange, at Florence.

PIANO RECITAL HELD

The program, with the theme, "Music For A June Evening," on Saturday evening, June 15th, at First Baptist Church, Walton, was well attended by parents and friends of the pupils from the class of Mrs. Burdette Powers.

Those who participated were as follows: Donna Atha, John Bonar, Sandra and Wm. Berkshire, Cindy Lou Karsner, Julia and Donna Glacken Marita Humphrey, Karen Hamilton, Cynthia Moberly, Tim McCubbin, Donna Pence, Carla Prather, Rhonda Rhodes, Mary Beth Rouse, Amy and Mills Rouse, Bobby Riehmman, Beth and Lee Ann Scott, Glo Rita and Tim Searcy, Shirley, Betty and Sandra Stephenson, David Turner, and Eddie Waller.

Among those pupils not playing were Carol Roland, Mary Riehmman, and Tommy Stephenson. The Rev. Charles T. Saylor pronounced the benediction.

NEW-LAW SUMMARY FREE FOR ASKING

It is against the law in Kentucky now to discriminate racially in the sale or rental of most housing handled by real estate agents.

Rioting, unlawful assembly and interference with fire-fighting operations are prohibited under other statutes passed by the 1968 General Assembly.

These are samples of some 200 new Kentucky laws which went into effect June 13. Some laws carry emergency clauses and became effective upon enactment. Others were to be effective on specific dates.

One new law allows 18-year-old males to marry without parental consent, granting them the same privilege which 18-year-old females already enjoy. Another makes it more difficult to obtain divorces.

These are some of the new laws which now must be obeyed. These and the remainder of the 214 passed and approved by Gov. Louis B. Nunn, or allowed to become law without his signature, are summarized in an informational bulletin prepared by the Kentucky Legislative Research Commission.

It is called Information Bulletin No. 67 and may be obtained free of charge by writing to the Commission at the State Capitol in Frankfort.

James T. Flemming, commission director, said some 5,000 copies of the bulletin already have been mailed and that he expects this number to be increased by about 3,000. Those already mailed went principally to lawyers, and to county officials, libraries and courts.

Penalties for violation of the riot control laws range up to five years in jail and a $5,000 fine. Another of the new laws requires drivers accused of drunken driving to take sobriety tests or lose their licenses for up to six months. Standards for determining drunkenness by measuring the amount of alcohol in the blood are stricter.

Under one new law, the 60-day waiting period in divorce proceedings now comes at the beginning of the process, rather than after the judge issues an interlocutory decree, and involves only couples with children.

Other additions to the statutes are laws to:

Require motorcycle drivers to acquire a special operator's license and to wear safety helmets and goggles to protect their eyes and heads.

Raise the price of an auto driver's license $1.00—from $2.00 to $3.00—with 50 cents going to the circuit clerk's office and 50 cents to state driver education and county roads.

Require loan companies to disclose the cost of a loan as simple interest and in dollars and cents.

Establish standards for inspection of all meat processing plants operating within the state.

Require parents to have their children immunized against measles and smallpox before entering school.

Prohibit auto insurance companies from cancelling liability policies unless the driver fails to pay his premium or has lost his license.

Allow night racing of Thoroughbred horses and day racing of quarterhorses, with pari-mutuel betting.

Create a joint legislative committee to investigate suspected un-American activities, which Gov. Nunn did last week.

JET SET 4-H CLUB

The month of June began the first of the summer meetings of the Jet Set 4-H Club. This meeting was held at the home of Melonie Curry at 7:00 p. m. Teresa Lachmann, president, called the meeting to order. Roll call was answered by naming a favorite 4-H project. Only one member was absent. Reports made were as follows: Melonie Curry and John Richardson participated in the Memorial Day Parade. Our club had three representatives in the Area Rally Day at Carrollton, May 25. Melonie Curry got a blue ribbon on her cooking demonstration; John Richardson received blue and champion for his health demonstration, and Chela Richardson was awarded blue and champion on her home furnishings demonstration about color. Chela and John will represent Kenton County at the State Fair.

Chela also modeled her mix and match outfit in the Area Dress Revue held at Lloyd High School, Erlanger, June 14, and received a blue ribbon.

Our club is planning on a summer activity which will be discussed at the next meeting. Leader Mrs. Richardson gave several pointers on keeping records and also concerning projects in the upcoming Kenton County Fair.

After the meeting was adjourned, refreshments were served. The next meeting will be July 9th.—Reporter

A Report From Resurrection City

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

"These people don't want to work."

This was the acid comment of James H. Clark, a Negro plumbing firm owner who single-handedly tried to install a sewer pipe into Resurrection City in Washington recently.

Clark rented ditchdigging equipment, did the work free. When he asked camp officials for some help in his volunteer project, no one came forward. A crowd of tent-city residents gathered around but none would help. The sewer line was intended to prevent showers from making a quagmire of the camp grounds.

As Clark labored on, alone, he spied a Poor Marcher and offered him a shovel. "Brother, I came down here to get away from shovels," was the reply. Finally, a thunderstorm came up. Desperate, Clark sought out camp officials to get the ditch filled. A bullhorn advised residents of the need for quick action. Nobody volunteered. The rains came. The ditch banks caved in. The trench became a mudhole. Clark finally said, "I'm a dawn fool."

One of the alleged aims of Resurrection City residents is the creation of three million new jobs. One steel company offered to get one of the residents a job in an Ohio foundry. The potential employee's wife said that he should have an executive job and not have to start in the mill although the man admitted he had no skills.

What is the Poor People's March after? The Rev. James Bevel laid out the objectives of the Southern Christian Leadership Council the other day to a group of Congressmen at a meeting arranged by Senator Charles H. Percy (R., Ill.).

Bevel told the group that the first aim is "to re-distribute the wealth of the U. S. and turn the means of production over to the people." Bevel's group also wants "to eliminate all armaments." Bevel argues that the people can only get rid of their fears if the military will put down their guns and missiles. All local and State police must be "re-oriented," he says.

Another "goal" cited by Bevel is "to eliminate all violence in the world," defined by Bevel as all disciplinary relationships. Bevel amplified this statement by saying: "We do not believe in a parent making a child conform to a certain norm." Of course, if there are no rules for children, there can't be rules of adults either, which is a lawless society favored by revolutionists who like to substitute mob rule for law.

Bevel labeled conservative Congressmen "fascists" and members of the press were lumped in with them. Any liberals who fail to support the Poor People's March are labeled by Bevel as "jitter-bug fascists."

He summed up: "The whole struggle of this Poor People's campaign is economic class warfare. There must be a complete redistribution of wealth in this country." He openly admitted he has no loyalty to the U. S. when asked about his connection with Black Power. He said: "I feel no responsibility to a nation-state. I represent conscious energy, which is a universal phenomena. As a result, I don't get too excited when I see a rag on a stick called a flag."

This is the kind of "non-violent" leader that has crept into the Poor People's March. Bevel has stated: "If there is violence, we aren't going to worry about it. That's the problem of police and those in power."

Any sympathy that the Congress might have generated for the March can quickly be evaporated when evidence such as this becomes the image of the campaign. The Marchers made their point; their cause can be undermined by people like Bevel.

PINER CLEVER CLOVERS

The June meeting of the Piner Clever Closures 4-H Club was held Monday, June 17 at the home of Andrea Ballard.

A wiener roast was enjoyed by all members, then recreation followed until 8:30 p. m., when the meeting was called to order by the president, Rhonda LaFollette. Pledges to the 4-H flag and the American flag were led by Sue Fisk, followed by the singing, after which the business meeting was conducted.

Diane Whaley gave a report on the Area Dress Revue, and Andrea Ballard gave a report on Area Rally Day.

Leaders encouraged all members to work on their projects so they would be completed by fair time.

A discussion was held on taking a tour of Kentucky sometime this summer, but nothing was decided before the meeting adjourned.

Those present were: Andrea Ballard, Alinee Collins, Mike Daniels, Sue Fisk, Rhonda LaFollette, Judy Magee, Charles Norcutt, Debbie Smith, Sherry Northcutt, Diane Whaley and Sherril Bridges. Leaders present were Mrs. Ballard and Mrs. LaFollette.

The July meeting will be held at the home of Debbie Smith.

20 YEARS AGO

Thursday, June 24, 1948

The Iona Beauty Shop, closed for several months, will reopen under the name of Artistic Beauty Salon with Mrs. Helen Crutcher as the manager.

The New Bethel Missionary Society members enjoyed a discussion on the book, "Trail of the Blood," led by Rev. DeMoisey at their recent June meeting. Mrs. Lena Harris had the program, and Mrs. DeMoisey led the devotional. Others taking part on the program were Mrs. Allie Chandler, Mrs. Alice Chapman, Mrs. Mary Rector, Mrs. Blanche Ransom, Mrs. Geraldine Harris, Mrs. Ura Roberts, Mrs. Mattie Orr, and Mrs. Gertrude Brewster. Fifteen members were present.

Mrs. Mattie Griffith entertained the Ladies' Aid Society of Walton Christian Church. Those present were Mrs. Frank Penick, Mrs. Josie Cockrell, Mrs. Jim Watson, Mrs. E. F. Vallandigham, Mrs. Bertha Fisher, Mrs. Ora Fry, Mrs. Agnes Simpson, Mrs. Pascal Bush, Mrs. Lula Hume, Mrs. Stanley Bush, Mrs. Abbie Bush, Mrs. Ora

Stone, Mrs. Claude Adams, Mrs. Katie Welsh, Mrs. Fred Nichols, Mrs. Lottie Percival, Mrs. Mollie Davis, Mrs. Myrtle Fields, Miss Alicia Neumeister, and Mrs. Emily Cleek.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Vallandigham and daughter, Colleen, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Vice of Gardnersville.

The Wa-Na Club met at the home of Mrs. Clayton Jones, Wednesday evening. Mrs. Lloyd Yates, president, conducted the meeting. Miss Jane Blackburn, president of the Junior Club of Williamstown, who was a recent delegate to the National General Federation Convention in Portland, Ore., gave an interesting account of her trip.

Mrs. Vera Wright, past president of the Wa-Na Club, installed the following officers: Mrs. Clayton Renaker, President; Mrs. Fred Hamilton, Secretary; Mrs. Charles Praither, Treasurer, and Mrs. Gayle McElroy, Vice President. Members and guests in attendance were: Miss Blackburn, Mrs. G. V. Theobald, Miss Thelma Moore, Mrs. Robert Hamilton, Mrs. Ward

THE HARDEST

Lesson for June 30, 1968

Background Scriptures: James 4:13 through 8:20. Devotional Readings: Luke 18:1-8.

Someone has said that there are three keys to Christian living: worship, witness, and waiting. For me, witness usually is, but waiting, I find, is almost impossible. It seems to be my "hardest subject" in the school of learning-by-experience.

One will never get anything to grow in his garden if he persists in pulling up his plants each day. He must wait, how they are taking root.

Yet, this is precisely what many of us do with our prayers. We are impatient for obvious results and cannot bear waiting for God to answer us in his good time. Our problem is that unless we see something happening, we are sure that nothing is taking place.

Belated Miracle

A little boy was spending the summer on a farm. He was fascinated by a hen who, according to his aunt and uncle, would soon hatch the eggs upon which she was sitting. Most wonderful of all, out of each egg, promised his aunt, there would come a little yellow chick.

Thus, each morning before breakfast, the boy raced to the henhouse to see whether the miracle had taken place. As the days passed, however, and nothing seemed to happen, the boy became discouraged. The eggs had not changed at all. They looked exactly as they had when he had first seen them.

He came to the reluctant conclusion that his aunt and uncle had deceived him, that the miracle would not take place as they had promised. Out of habit, not of expectation, he continued his daily visits to the henhouse. Then, one morning, he discovered a brood of little chicks in the nest. The miracle had happened! It seemed so strange to him that all this should happen overnight, when for weeks nothing had taken place in the henhouse.

Hidden Miracle

Actually, the boy was mistaken. Though nothing had appeared to be happening during those long weeks, inside the eggs the wonderful changes were taking place all the while. The miracle was happening before his eyes, but he was not able to see it. In God's own time the miracle came to light.

This, said Jesus, is the way the kingdom of God grows before us. We may not see the evidences of its growth, but it is happening all the same and in God's own time it will be revealed. When a seed is planted in the earth, no one can see the process of germination and growth until at last it pushes to the earth's surface. Yet the growth has been taking place right along, though hidden from us.

Can we not apply this to our own lives? How often we wait impatiently for God to do what we have asked or he has promised. The little boy busily inspected the henhouse daily and nothing seemed to be taking place, so he assumed that nothing was happening. What he did not know and what we often overlook is that God's work often goes on unseen. The results and fruits of that work are not revealed until, according to his wisdom, the right time has arrived.

Miracle Fulfilled

The early church waited for what they believed would be the imminent return of Christ. Some of these became impatient, for it seemed that nothing was happening to bring that great day closer. Thus James advised: "Be patient, therefore, brethren, until the coming of the Lord" (James 5:7 RSV). James did not know when the kingdom would be given in its fullness, but he knew that it would happen when, in God's wisdom, the time was right. Thus, the counsel to be patient was the highest kind of wisdom.

As we wait for the fulfillment of the kingdom, therefore, we must worship, witness, and wait—

Love is trust. It is belief. It is faith, and like faith it is the substance of all things hoped for. Faith is a young man and woman standing before the altar to be united in holy matrimony. It is a little child holding his mother's hand. It is a patient looking into the eyes of the doctor. It is a mother or father sadly waving goodbye to a son, off to war.

Faith is all this and more! It is trust in divine providence, a belief in joyful reward. It is all mankind kneeling before God in quiet prayer... at home... in church... or under the canopy of heaven.

Church is for all of us—a place to strengthen, to increase, to confirm our faith. You can make your faith stronger by going to church this Sunday.

A STITCH IN TIME—

Live buffalo, rodeos, pre-historic fossils—all were a part of eight Boone County 4-H teen members' trip while visiting Hays, Kansas, June 7-14, on a 4-H Exchange trip. The group, accompanied by myself, left Cincinnati by Greyhound bus on Friday, June 7. We arrived in Hays, June 8, and were hustled off to a brunch of coffee cake and beverage. Since we Kentuckians were tired after a 22-hour trip, we had a free afternoon for a nice, long nap.

A hayride around two sections (1240 acres) was concluded with a wiener roast, Saturday night.

A tour of Ft. Hays, Kansas State College and Museum showed the youngsters (1) Geology, rocks, minerals and fossils; (2) Natural history, mammals, birds, reptiles, amphibians, fish and the invertebrates; (3) History and pre-history of Indian burials and artifacts, period of discovery, exploration, and the settlement of the Great Plains of Western Kansas.

A trip to Grant's farm which was settled in 1872, consisted of a yellow stone house, barns, and stone fence posts which were six feet high and 500 pounds each. A history of the settlement of Kansas first by the English and then by the German-Russians was vividly told to us by the present owner of the farm.

A tour of KAYS-TV station gave some of the members their first glance inside a television and radio station. Visits to Victoria to see a beautiful cathedral, built by the members themselves, and the Hays Auction Barn painted a picture of the hard work done by these settlers of the West.

Monday evening gave us a chance to see how the Junior 4-H Leaders in Kansas conduct a 4-H meeting. It also gave Johnny Holladay a great chance to tell them what tobacco goes through before becoming a cigarette.

A tour of the Cedar Bluff Dam spillway and fish hatchery, plus a swim, picnic and dance topped off the visit to Kansas.

Next year Boone County will be host to 4-H members from Kansas. Those visiting Kansas were: Sandra Burns, Petersburg; Carolyn Doll, Erlanger; Carol Ferguson, Union; John Holladay, Jr., Burlington; Cyndi Meyers, Burlington; Donna Sayre, Florence, and Janelle Smith, Burlington.

Family Reunion

About 75 members of the Cornelius family gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Benton on Walton-Nicholson Road, for a family reunion, Sunday, June 23.

A bountiful meal and much fun and fellowship was enjoyed by all attending.

CONCORD

Mrs. Lindsey Webster, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Webster visited Mr. and Mrs. Price Webster recently. Mr. Webster is quite ill. Others visited were Mrs. Harvey Hughes, Mrs. Mae Brown.

Mrs. Alva Speagle visited Mr. and Mrs. Price Wednesday, Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lawson had as guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Lawson and three children, Mrs. Betty Smith and two children, and two of her sisters.

Mrs. Allie Simpson visited her children and grandchildren in Covington and Cincinnati, and also a sister, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Simpson, of Falmouth.

The boys of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hutchinson got their tobacco set out on Lindsey Webster's place last Thursday.

The Vacation Bible School was held this week and there were nice crowds—closed the 21st. Commencement was Sunday night.

Mrs. Lindsey Webster visited Mrs. James Sparks, Tuesday.

Letter To The Editor:

Box 487, Route 2
Walton, Ky.
June 15, 1968

Dear Editor:

In speaking for the Boone County Democratic Club, Mr. Carlton Anderson appears to be laying the blame for lack of development of Big Bone Park at the feet of the current Republican administration in Frankfort.

Must Mr. Anderson be reminded that all these plans for the 'non-improvement' of Big Bone Park were set up by Ned Breathitt and his preceding administrations! In other words while Breathitt and his cronies were promising us all sorts of wonderful things for Big Bone Park in order to capture votes, they actually had nothing of the sort in mind. And Mr. Gable and the Republicans are vilified only because they brought the truth to light!

At least we know that state and federally appropriated funds for the improvement of Big Bone Park will now be spent for our park and not squandered elsewhere as may well have been the case if Gov. Nunn's team had not been elected.

Granted, we Republicans want improvements to move ahead on the Park as much as anyone. Perhaps things do seem to be progressing more slowly than we would like, but the new Parks Commissioner had need to give immediate attention to the many other parks in the state capable of garnering much greater tourist revenue than Big Bone Park. Why was it lodges and motels privately owned outside our parks and charging $8.00 a night for lodging were earning a profit, while state lodges charging twice as much or more were all running a deficit? Simply because of graft, common thievery, and the 'gold card' system of state employees of the past administration!

The people voted for a change last November, and the people will get one. Governor Nunn and his Commissioners are doing their utmost to bring honesty and integrity back to our state government, a couple of virtues that 24 years of Democratic Administration had forgotten about. Twenty-four years of this can not be totally undone overnight, but it is being done. The government is back in the hands of the people; the people of Kentucky will reap the benefits of such an administration rather than a handful who believed their own personal good was more important than the people who elected them.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I have a National Service Life Insurance policy that has been in force as an Ordinary Life Plan since 1945. My children are now grown and I am thinking about discontinuing the payment of premiums and taking a paid-up policy. If I do, will my dividends be discontinued?

A—No, but they will not be as large as on your existing policy. If you take a paid-up policy, the amount of insurance in force will be less than the present face value of your policy. The dividends will be computed on this reduced insurance coverage.

Q—I recently completed three years service in the Army. If I go back to school under the G. I. Bill, will I be permitted to work and still be eligible for the educational assistance allowance from the Veterans Administration?

A—Yes. The amount of G. I. Bill educational assistance allowance paid by VA is determined only by the amount of schooling or training a veteran receives (full time courses, half-time, quarter-time) and his number of dependents. Whether he works or has other income has no effect on this allowance. Of course, the veteran's school schedule, that is whether he can carry full-time courses, may be affected by an outside job.

Q—My daughter is receiving a monthly pension of $40 from the V. A. because of the death of her father, a World War II veteran. She is a student in college. She plans to work this summer and her earnings, plus her Social Security, will exceed $1,800. Will this bar her from receiving the V. A. pension?

A—No. In the case of a child receiving a pension, earned income is not considered for income limitation purposes. Since her income, less her earned income, will be under $1,800, her pension will not be affected.

Growers of staked tomatoes in Kentucky suffered a great loss from blossom end-rot in 1967. Blossom end-rot is usually associated with unfavorable moisture conditions more than any other factor. The weather conditions that bring about an excess of soluble ammonium magnesium, potassium or sodium salts, or a deficiency of calcium salts in the root zone may cause blossom end-rot.

If too little calcium is taken up by the plant, cell walls collapse on the blossom end of the tomato, making it unsalable fruit.

Soluble salts may accumulate in the upper few inches of the soil as a result of upward movement during prolonged dry periods or as a result of fertilizer side dressings. When rains come, the accumulated salts move into the immediate root zone. The increased salt concentration reduces the calcium ration. Research indicates that as these salt concentrations increase, the solubility and activity of the calcium salts decrease at a more rapid rate than that of other soluble salts.

Tomato growers may use two control measures to prevent blossom end-rot from being a serious problem in 1968. One is to maintain a more favorable calcium ratio in the soil by applying more of the relatively soluble calcium salts and avoiding excesses, as much as possible, of soluble ammonium, potassium, magnesium or sodium salts, as well as excessive total salts. Calcium applications to the soil should be put on in advance of transplanting to the field.

Applying calcium through the foliage in the form of calcium chloride sprays during the time when the plant requirements are expected to exceed the supply is another control measure for preventing blossom end-rot. Four pounds of anhydrous calcium chloride, 96 percent, in 100 gallons of water is recommended for foliage spraying. Applying the spray at the proper time is the most critical factor involved. It is recommended that calcium chloride sprays be applied:

1. Within 24 to 48 hours after rain; 2. During periods of rapid growth, and 3, as long as excess salts are thought to be a problem. Calcium chloride sprays may be applied as often as twice a week during the anticipated problem time. However, prolonged application of the sprays may cause leaf burn, which is apparent first on the outer edge of the older leaves. If this occurs, discontinue spraying.

JOSEPH R. MAUS, SR.

Joseph R. Maus, Sr., 64, of 4361 Oliver Road, Independence, died on Wednesday, June 19 in Amarillo, Texas, where he was visiting his daughter, Mrs. Katherine McDonald.

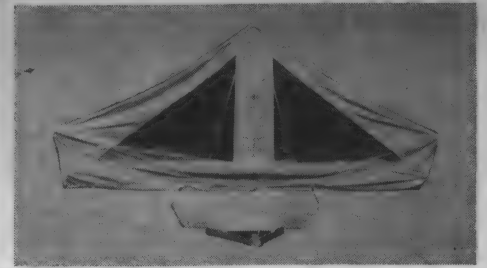

Mr. Maus was a retired letter carrier who served the Latonia area.

Other survivors include his wife, Adalade Linneman Maus, and three sons, Joseph R. Maus, Jr. of Independence, James B. Maus of New York City, and Rev. Cyran Maus, Franciscan priest, of Dayton, Ohio.

Requiem High Mass was sung at 10:00 a. m., Saturday at St. Cecilia Church, Independence, following prayers at 9:30 at the Swindler Funeral Home, Independence.

MRS. MARY H. JOHNSON

Mrs. Mary H. Johnson, 96, of 25 Peach Drive, Independence, died at 6:00 p. m., Thursday, June 20 at the Grant County Hospital at Williamstown.

LET'S GO CAMPING! Shown above is the aluminum camping trailer to be given by the Walton Firemen at their picnic July 13th. This camper sleeps four adults and is braced by two supports on each side when set up. It is ready to go, as it is equipped with a hitch-up bar and tail lights. Attend the picnic and see first hand this nice, compact two-wheeler. You may be taking it home.

Mrs. Johnson was the widow of Rev. Charles Johnson, a Baptist minister, who died in 1963.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Nellie Dixon, Independence, and a brother, Samuel Schuster, Paintsville, Ohio. Services were held at 10:30 a. m., Monday at the Swindler Funeral Home, Independence.

FLY "OLD GLORY" on the 4th and every day. We don't believe the recent statement that it's "a piece of rag tied to a stick."

One of the newest buildings in Walton is the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church, just being completed. This beautiful structure is being built at a cost of $205,000 and will have a seating capacity of 750 people. At present, the interior is being completed and decorated. Grading and landscaping is being completed around the building, which is slated for completion by August. The steeple atop the structure is 55 feet tall. This expansion and building program shows the faith of the congregation and the building committee that Walton is a growing and progressive community. This adds greatly to the looks of our town.

The Ernest Ryles Married 65 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ryle of 3809 Taylor Mill Road, Independence, were married 65 years on June 21st.

Both are natives of Boone County. Mrs. Ryle came from Bellevue, and Mr. Ryle from Rabbit Hash. They were married in Lawrenceburg, Ind., in 1903. Mr. Ryle worked for the postoffice for 35 years before his retirement in 1951. He is 87, and his wife is 84.

The Ryles have a son, Garnet (Bud) Ryle of Cincinnati; three daughters, Mrs. Charles Dorsey of Independence, Mrs. Maude Brumback of Taylor Mill, and Mrs. Mary Ward, house mother at the Covington Protestant Children's Home; nine grandchildren, and 22 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Ryle has sent news to the Advertiser for a number of years, and still sends in a few items once in a while. We congratulate them and hope they have many more wedding anniversaries.

Beechgrove Homemakers

"Cross-stitching on Canvas Pillow Tops," was the information given to Beechgrove Homemakers by Mrs. Verner Stephens and Mrs. Wilson Hall during the June meeting, which was enjoyed by members at Butler State Park, Carrollton, Ky.

A tour of the Butler Mansion, which is furnished with handmade furniture that represents the era between 1810-1850, was taken after a delightful luncheon. Members present included Mrs. Raymond McHale, Mrs. Raymond Dickson, Mrs. William Letcher, Mrs. Verner Stephens, Mrs. William Endres, Mrs. Roy Kumlir, Mrs. Erwin Dewald, Mrs. Thomas Ritchie, Mrs. Virgil Kelly, Mrs. Faye Powers, Mrs. Wilson Hall, Mrs. Tony Sterbling, Mrs. James McHale, Mrs. William Scheper and Mrs. Stanley Parker.

Birthday Celebration

Those who called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Baker, Sr., recently to help him celebrate his 51st birthday were:

Mrs. Anna Baker of Rising Sun, Ind., Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Macrander and sons of Detroit, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Baker of Warsaw, Mrs. Celine Young of Florence, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McClure of Erlanger, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Baker and family of Walton, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd C. Baker and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Baker, Jr. and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jones of Verona.

Everyone brought well filled picnic baskets and enjoyed a lovely noon meal and family reunion.

FORAGE FIELD DAY

A Forage Field Day will be held on the Eden Shale Farm in Owen County, Monday, July 8, according to J. W. Poe, Jr., Area Extension Agronomy Specialist. The program will emphasize a hay and pasture production for the Eden Shale area. It will start at 1:30 p. m. and will include tours of the forage work and discussions by Warren Thompson, Dr. Bill Tompkins and Dr. T. H. Taylor of the Agronomy Department, and Dr. Ed Smith of the Agricultural Engineering Department of the University of Kentucky.

LIVESTOCK FIELD DAY

The Annual Livestock Field Day at the University of Kentucky is to be held Wednesday, July 10th. The Field Day, at Cold Stream Farm, includes tours of beef, hog, sheep and horse facilities, where U. K. staffers will discuss research being done that is of economic importance to livestock producers.

Lunch will be available on the grounds. Gov. Louie B. Nunn will be the chief speaker at the afternoon session.

Cold Stream Farm is located immediately on the right at the first Lexington exit, - Newtown Pike, going south on I-75.

W-V Knolhole "A" Team Is A Winner

The Walton-Verona "A" team in the Boone County Knolhole Baseball League, defeated AeroFlo last week by the score of 5-4. Mike Ferguson was injured in the third inning trying to score from third base. He is now getting around on crutches.

Rodney Robinson finished the game, pitching five innings of 3-hit ball.

Loek, Sargent, Crouch, Rich, Still, Robinson, Shields and Poole had one or more hits.

The local team plays Burlington at Burlington on Wednesday at 3:00 p. m., in the last game of the regular season. A win in this game would put W-V in first place for the season.

The play-offs begin on Saturday, July 6th.

Christian Convention

The 29th North American Christian Convention will convene at the Cincinnati Convention Center from Tuesday, July 9 to Friday, July 12. Over 15,000 members of the Christian Church and Churches of Christ will attend this meeting.

Dr. Burris Butler, president, will deliver the keynote address on Tuesday evening at 8:00.

Every man is dangerous who only cares for one thing.

Boone Property Tax Rates Down

Although Boone County property keeps increasing in value, tax rates are down a little this year. Commissioner Joe Ryan has been advised from Frankfort.

Property owners will be taxed a maximum of 19.8 cents for each $100.00 in assessed valuation of their property, Mr. Ryan said.

Ryan, whose offices are in the Courthouse at Burlington, said the maximum rate last year was 20.3 cents per $100.

Boone County's total real estate assessments for 1968 amount to $137,393,995, Ryan reported.

That does not count personal property assessments, which amounted to $47,517,995.

Engagement Is Announced

Miss Carolyn Covey

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kidwell and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Covey of Independence, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Carolyn Sue Covey, to Mr. Joe Gary Norris, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cox of Walton.

The wedding will be an event of Friday, July 12th at 7:30 p. m. in the Walton United Methodist Church.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Boone GOP Executive Committee To Meet

A special session of the Boone County Republican Executive Committee will be held Monday evening, July 8, at 8:00, in Republican Headquarters, 276 Main St., Florence.

Among orders of business will be adoption of a regular meeting schedule and establishing new by-laws for the committee. Letters have been sent by the secretary to all members regarding the meeting date.

Simon Kenton FFA Holds June Meeting

On June 25, at 7:30 p. m., in the agriculture shop, the Simon Kenton Chapter of Future Farmers of America held its monthly meeting. Steve Prince, president, opened the meeting. There were 13 members and a guest present, Terry Goetler.

Discussions included Dairy Field Day, held July 2; chapter program of work; FFA tobacco crop; the softball game after the July meeting.

The group elected a Dairy Judging Team: Steve Prince, Steve Napure, and John Dillion.

The Kenton County Fair will be discussed at the July meeting. The Bank of Independence is going to sponsor calendars for the FFA. The club is going to send two members to the National Convention in October: Steve Prince and Donald Courtney.

The meeting adjourned at 8:30, and refreshments were served.—Reporter

Regents Named For New College

Gov. Louie Nunn Monday named a six-member Board of Regents for the Northern Kentucky State College to serve terms ranging from one to four years.

Those selected were: Joseph Kohler, Bellevue, for a term ending April 1, 1969; Charles O. Landrum, Park Hills, term ending on April 1, 1970; Elmer Haas of Ft. Thomas, and Kenneth Lucas of Florence, terms ending April 1, 1971; Charles Wiley, Walton, and John R. S. Brooking, Park Hills, terms ending April 1, 1972.

This is in addition to a 12-man committee which was named on June 13th.

Boone GOP Club To Meet

The regularly scheduled meeting of the Boone County Republican Club will be held Thursday, July 11 at 7:45 p. m. at Republican Headquarters, 276 Main St., Florence, according to President Ray Ernst.

The meeting is open to the public, regardless of present political affiliation.

One of the world's strangest memorials to the dead is in Mayfield. Henry G. Woolridge (1822-1899) was interred in a vault amidst the sixteen statues he designed of people, horses and dogs.

Vacationland In Kentucky

Perryville, now a peaceful Kentucky town but once a bloody battleground, still is attracting Yankees in large numbers. And Southerners too.

It was here in 1862 that Confederate forces under Gen. Braxton Bragg engaged Gen. Don C. Buell and 22,000 Union troops in one of the most devastating battles of the Civil War.

It was the confrontation which marked the end of Confederate hopes to possess Kentucky.

One Union soldier who was there described the casualties as "laid in rows." To him, "it was a ghastly sight to look upon."

Now historians and strategists—professional and amateur alike—meet periodically at Perryville Battlefield State Shrine to relive the battle and debate how it might have been conducted differently.

To lure the Civil War buffs from North and South, there is a museum which depicts the battle and contains relics of the war in Kentucky. Also on the grounds are the graves of Confederate dead and a memorial to Union soldiers killed at Perryville.

Guided tours are conducted each Tuesday, Friday and Saturday at 2:00 p. m. and on Sundays at 2:00 and 4:00 p. m. Point of departure is between the Methodist Church and Chapin River on US-68 and US-150 in Perryville. Cost of the tour is $1.00 per person.

Perryville is in central Kentucky, near Danville.

Owen County RECC To Close Saturdays

The Owen County RECC office on Walton-Nicholson Road, Independence, as well as the office in Owenton, will be closed on Saturday, July 6 and every Saturday thereafter. A five-day week will be the practice in the future.

Service and trouble calls will be handled as usual, and a depository will be available at each office for those desiring to make payments on Saturday or after regular office hours.

Kentuckian Named Queen Of Posture

Kentucky is standing tall since one of her native Misses has been named Miss World Queen of Posture and Physical Fitness.

Miss Marsha Karen Jackson, 21-year-old sociology major at the University of Kentucky, won her title at San Juan, Puerto Rico, competing against girls from the United States, Puerto Rico, Canada and other foreign countries. The pageant was conducted in conjunction with the World Chiropractic Congress.

More than good looks were required to gain the title. The contestants were judged on posture, ability to perform standard physical fitness test, beauty, poise and personality.

As World Queen, Miss Jackson received a trophy, cash awards, a scholarship, and a full year of paid travel throughout the U. S., Canada and other countries.

When she returns to Kentucky late this month, a reception will be hosted in her honor at the Continental Inn, Lexington.

Miss Jackson is the daughter of Mrs. William Wheeler, Lexington.

TWIRLING LESSONS

Lessons in baton twirling will be offered at the band room of the Walton school for girls from the 4th through the 8th grades. The lessons will cost 50 cents each and will be taught by Diane Berke-meier.

Classes will be held each Wednesday from 10:30 to 11:30 a. m., and began July 3. For additional information, call Miss Berkemeier at 485-4787.

The world's smallest package—a man all wrapped up in himself.

Big NFO Meeting In Iowa, Today

"Rural America Declaration of Independence Day," the largest public agricultural event of the year, is scheduled for Corning, Iowa, Thursday, July 4.

Planned by the Corning Chamber of Commerce and the National Farmers Organization, the project represents a new high in cooperation between farmers and the rural business community.

Starting with a fly-in breakfast at 6:00 a. m., a variety of activities are planned for the estimated crowd of more than 10,000 persons expected to attend.

Among the speakers will be Homer Jackson, Rifle, Colo., Manager of the Rifle Club; Ed Wimmer of Covington, Public Relations Director of the National Federation of Independent Businessmen; Oren L. Staley, Rea, Miss., President of the National Farmers Organization.

Square dancing is planned for late afternoon, followed by free boat rides at Lake Binder and an early evening boat show.

Open house and conducted tours will be featured at the NFO Headquarters in Corning, and will continue through July 5 and 6.

Heads Soil Conservation Chapters In Kentucky

Floyd E. Kells, Florence, a veteran of 26 years as a technician for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, will take office in January as president of the eight-chapter Kentucky Council, Soil Conservation Society of America.

Mr. Kells has spent most of his 20 years service in Kenton and Boone Counties. The past year he served as secretary-treasurer of the Northern Kentucky Chapter.

Kells was named to the presidency of the council at a two-day convention held at Morehead State University.

REBEL RIDERS MEET

The June meeting of the Rebel Riders was held at the Easterdays and there were 11 members and six adults present.

Our main topic was the 4-H Horse and Pony Show for all of the Boone County 4-H Clubs. It took place June 30 at the Boone County Fairgrounds, Burlington.

The 26th and 27th of July is the Blue Grass Fair in Lexington.

The next meeting will be held at the Zimmermans, July 11th.—Reporter

CHURCH HAS WISHING WELL

Morning View Methodist Church has a Wishing Well which houses the church bell. The MYF group took this as a project two years ago. Last December the bell rang for the first time. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Riley of Barnton, donated the bell. It is the same one that used to ring from the tower of the Carnton Methodist Church.

The MYF dedicated this Wishing well to five of the ladies of the church who have given much of their time and services to the church. The plaque seen in the picture reads: Mrs. Hazel Cross, Miss Inace Baker, Mrs. Violet Elliott, Mrs. Feryl Schadier, and Mrs. Lillian Hempling.

Now everyone is wishing for a top for the church. The basement is lovely, but there is need for more.

Bro. Isaac Gabbard became pastor of the church a year ago, and he has been pushing the building fund. It is growing and plans are being made to start construction in the next year.

The Annual Festival of the MYF will be held Saturday, July 6th, from 4:00 to 9:00 p. m. There will be a pony ride, balloon game, bumper car, surprise package, fish pond, country store, a prize every time. The menu consists of Coney Islands, Barbecue, grilled hamburgers, hot dogs, cake, pie, coffee, and soft drinks.

The church and MYF wishes to thank all those who have donated and have come out in the past to make these festivals a success.

This year, all money will go to the building fund. So, if you want an evening of good fellowship and wish to help a good cause, go to the Morning View Methodist Church, Saturday, July 6.

NOTICE TO ALL DOG OWNERS OF BOONE COUNTY!

Many of you have not as yet purchased your 1968 Dog License and as of July 1, 1968, they became past due and are now considered delinquent. Thus, the law in the State of Kentucky plainly states that all dogs will either be licensed or destroyed. Therefore, the Tax Department of the State of Kentucky along with the Boone County Fiscal Court, has ordered me, as Dog Warden of Boone County, to see that this law is complied with by all dog owners. Thus, unless you voluntarily see that your dogs are properly licensed, I am ordered to destroy same. Therefore, I am starting to make a door to door canvass of the County of Boone, to give everybody a chance to either comply with our Tax Laws or suffer the humility of being brought to Court and also of having your dog destroyed. As usual, my office will be happy to mail you your license. Just enclose the breed of your dog and the sex, along with $1.50 for your license. From one to ten dogs, a Kennel License is required, costing $10.00; ten dogs or more are $15.00. You might also purchase license at Denham's Drug Store, Florence; Hebron Drugs, Hebron; Ryan Hardware, Walton, and the Sheriff's Office, Burlington.

PROS AND CONS ON GUN CONTROL

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

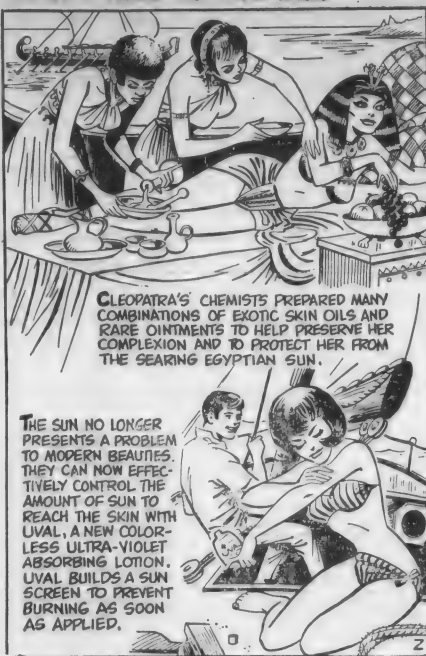

My office is being swamped with mail on gun control legislation. I thought you might be interested in some of the pro and con arguments being aired here in Washington.

Although the controversy over the firearms control section of the Anti-crime bill appears to be whether it is stringent enough, one question which always comes up with respect to Federal firearms legislation is its constitutionality. There is the contention that such a law interferes with individual rights guaranteed by the second amendment to the Constitution which provides: "A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of the free state, the right of people to bear arms, shall not be infringed."

This point was raised in the courts at the time of the enactment of the National Firearms Act of 1934 and again when the Federal Firearms Act was passed in 1938. The courts uniformly held, however, that the second amendment, unlike the first, was not adopted with individual rights in mind, but is a prohibition upon Federal action which would interfere with the organization of a militia by the States of the Union.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE POSITION: During 1937 hearings on firearms control legislation, the Department of Justice submitted a memorandum with respect to the second amendment. In essence, the opinion stated that the amendment applies only to the organized militia; that individual rights were not contemplated at the time of the adoption of the amendment; and that a ban on interstate sale of firearms to individuals is not objectionable as an infringement on the right of people to keep and bear arms because there would still be intrastate commerce in these items.

POSITION OF LEGISLATORS: The legislators who regard the second amendment as one of the great pillars in the constitutional framework say the very fact that it is second gives it a preferred status since it comes immediately after the amendment respecting religion, free speech, free press, peaceable assembly and petition for the redress of grievances.

They also propose the thesis that there is a historical basis to establish the second amendment guarantee as both an individual and collective right. They maintain the constitutions of several states prior to the adoption of the Federal Constitution contain provisions declaring that every citizen has a right to bear arms in defense of himself and the state. If the state constitutions were so explicit in this respect, they say, those states surely would not have accepted the wording of the second amendment had it at the time been intended to be more limited than their own. Therefore, it is argued, the second amendment guaranteed an already existing right in the people to possess and use firearms individually and collectively for defense of person,

He is a 1967 graduate of Boone County High School, Florence.

A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

How about a picnic for the big Fourth of July celebration?

The difference between today's picnic and those of years ago is that they are more comfortable. All the complaints that used to provide material for cartoonists and jokesters, like sand in the sandwiches, ants in the cake, soggy paper plates, and sitting in poison ivy—to say nothing of the monotony of the food—can now be eliminated. Consider lightweight folding chairs and tables, insulated jugs, coolers, portable ice chests, covered casseroles and a cake tin, and plastic containers.

property, and the commonwealth. PERHAPS A NATURAL RIGHT? Then, there are those who go beyond the Second Amendment and say the right to bear arms is a natural right, or a right stemming from a state constitution. Opponents argue that it is well settled that there is nothing inherent in any such right that renders it absolute. The big majority of state cases hold that the legislature may prescribe regulations and limitations with regard to the carrying of revolvers without a license, or forbidding possession of concealed weapons, does not violate either the Federal or that state's constitution. And, they say, it is clear also that no body of citizens other than the organized state militia, or other military organization provided for by law, may be said to have a constitutional right to bear arms.

As we get deeper into gun controls and all of the ramifications of the issue, the argument is bound to persist. The champions of individual rights will still see a threat in the limitations imposed by such controls. The constitutional purists, on the other hand, will still maintain that the court cases which have already been decided at both the state and Federal levels afford ample precedent for proceeding with this type of law. In the final analysis, there will be another ruling by the Supreme Court and such a ruling would undoubtedly open up a whole new set of arguments. Why not serve an appetizer on your picnic? Some ideas are hot and cold soups, vegetable or fruit juices, tomato wedges, olives, celery, pickles, or cold French fried onion rings.

For your main dish you don't need to stick to sandwiches or those same old standby, fried chickens. Branch out by serving chow mein, spaghetti, scalloped potatoes with ham, or meat salad. If the casserole is stored in an insulated bag it will remain hot for three or four hours.

Melon wedges, plums, fresh pineapple chunks are all good for light desserts, particularly for those who are watching their weight.

Soft drinks in their own bottles can ride in a bucket which has been lined and topped with newspapers, or better yet, an ice chest. Tea, coffee, cocoa, milk, milk shakes, lemonade or limeade carried in vacuum bottles or insulated containers are good also. After you have finished eating, cover the food so that insects can not get in and store the perishables in the cold containers, because there is nothing more painful than food poisoning!

More than 2,000 items used by Shakers, a religious sect which settled in Auburn in 1807, are now housed in a museum there, the former Shaker church.

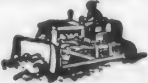

CARD OF THANKS . . .

I wish to express my thanks to all of my friends who were so thoughtful with their cards and gifts, and especially to Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Jordan, Rev. and Mrs. Charles Saylor, who looked after my son and husband during my stay in the hospital; I also wish to thank David Jarman, Jim Lawrence, and William Mastin for their task of bringing my son to see me; Rev. Yates and Rev. Saylor for their prayers. May God bless each and every one.

STANDING GUARD over the Memorial to the Confederate Dead of the Battle of Perryville is one of the cannons used in the actual battle. This scene is one of many points of interest at the Perryville Battlefield State Shrine. The shrine commemorates one of the greatest single military events in Kentucky history. The battle marked the end of serious attempts by the Confederacy to gain possession of the Commonwealth.

County Sanitarian Speaks

By Randal E. Ritchie

Our rabies clinic was very successful. We vaccinated 505 dogs. We wish to express our thanks to the good people of Boone County for their cooperation and we are looking forward to a successful clinic next year.

Now that we have the dogs taken care of, let me talk to you about another problem we have in Boone County.

This is the problem of sewage. We have a great deal of sewage running on the ground surface. Some of that problem stems from inadequate septic tank systems, some from soil problems and others where the sewage is piped to run out on the ground. Some people have a separate drain system for their dish water and bathroom. No sewage, dish water, wash water or your bathroom water should run out on the ground. Everything but surface water should go into your septic tank. This is the law according to the Kentucky Revised Statutes and the Boone County Regulations.

I think you will agree that this creates a health hazard for you and your family and for your neighbors. Your sanitarian in your local health department will be glad to assist you in any way possible if you wish to call us. We will visit your property and give you any assistance we can. It is much better for you to make the correction before your neighbors are forced to call us. When we are called, we have no choice but to ask you to correct the health hazard that exists.

Please do not wait for a county sewage system. A county-wide sewage system will not be available for years in the future and we cannot prolong work on our sewage problems waiting for a county sewage system.

We are at your service and willing to help you in any way possible, and we ask for your understanding and cooperation as we work for you, the people of Boone County.

DEATHS

OSCAR F. PEARL

Oscar F. Pearl, 67, was found dead of an apparent heart attack at 7:00 p. m., June 24, at his home, 714 Harris Pike, Independence. He was a retired maintenance man for Ashland Oil Co., Covington. A native of Bullitt County, he was a member of the Hickory Grove Baptist Church at Nicholson.

Survivors include his wife, Margaret James Pearl; two sons, John Pearl of Denver, Colo., and Gene Pearl of Prescott, Ariz.; a daughter, Mrs. Kathleen Boehler, Louisville, and two brothers, Quinn Pearl of Lebanon, and Frank Pearl of Louisville.

Services were held at 10:00 a. m., Thursday, June 27, at the Chambers & Grubbs Funeral Home at Independence, and at 2:00 p. m., Saturday at the Shearer Funeral Home, Brownsville.

MARY LOUISE WRIGHT

Services for Mary Louise Wright, 11, who was thrown to her death from a train trestle near Demossville, Tuesday, June 25, were held last Friday at 2:00 p. m., in the Hamilton Funeral Home, Verona.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wright, Covington, but made her home with a great-uncle, Howard P. Morris, 56, R-1, Morning View. Mr. Morris was seriously injured in the mishap when hurled 12 feet onto a concrete ledge as an L&N freight train bore down on them. Another girl jumped to safety onto the foundation of a former bridge.

Mary Louise was a pupil at the Piner Elementary School.

Other survivors include a sister, Linda, and three brothers, Glenn, Philip and Michael Wright, all of Covington, and her grandfather, Kirtley Wright, Falmouth.

IT'S A FACT!

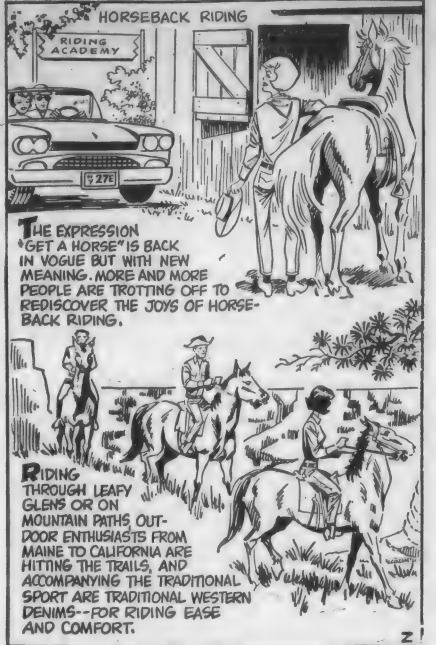

In ancient Greece, anyone who wanted to know the future—whether politician, military leader or priest—consulted the oracle at Delphi. While the god Apollo "spoke" through an entranced priestess, members of the Greek elite "interpreted" the answers for the people.

Those searching for the secrets of the future during the Middle Ages turned to the works of astrologer Nostradamus. His book of predictions—"Centuries"—intrigued such notables as Catherine de Medici and King Charles IX of France.

Today, most people don't seriously believe in fortune-telling, but they still find it a great family pastime. Parker Brothers' Quia talking board is enjoying tremendous popularity because it gives a fun look at the future.

THE PATRIOT

Lesson for July 7, 1968

Background Scripture: Jeremiah 38 and 39.
Devotional Readings: Psalms 14.

My dictionary defines a patriot as "a person who loves his country, zealously supporting and defending it and its interests." That, however, still leaves a lot of room for definition, for men do not always agree on the methods by which a man may best support and defend "it and its interests."

There are those, for example, who unthinkingly say: "My country, right or wrong—my country!" They will support it and its policies even when they are unjust, false, and immoral. For them, duty to country is the highest duty, the greatest allegiance. At the Nuremberg War Trials following the close of the Second World War this was the defense of many of those who were judged to be "war criminals." They obeyed the authorities of their country even when their duties involved acts that their consciences recognized as immoral.

To be made right!

There are others, however, whose sense of patriotism is summed up in the affirmation by John Sutherland Bonnell: "My country, when wrong, to be made right; when right, to be kept right." These men also love their country, but they see their highest duty and allegiance belonging to God alone. They believe that they may best defend and support their country by remaining obedient to Him. To unreservedly support their country's policies when they judge them to be immoral seems to them the worst of all subversions.

We all know that a patriot best serves his country when he puts obedience to God first, yet we seem to forget it when we see this principle in action. A recent opinion poll indicated that a majority of church people believed their pastors should "speak out as the moral conscience of the nation," yet most of these same people seemed to object when their clergymen spoke out on specific moral issues.

"Betraying our soldiers!"

Jeremiah, one of Judah's greatest prophets, was so despised for his "unpatriotic" prophecies that he was thrown into a deep cistern and left there to die. Why? Because he foretold the destruction of Jerusalem by the Chaldeans and actually counseled his fellow citizens to surrender in order to avoid this catastrophe. The advisors of the king's court were enraged: "Let this man be put to death, for he is weakening the hands of the soldiers who are left in this city, and the hands of all the people" (Jeremiah 38:4 RSV).

Today one can hear echoes of these words on radio, television, in newspapers and in private discussions. A well-known university chaplain who has spoken out against America's policy in the Viet Nam War as immoral has been stridently derided as one who is "betraying our soldiers and undermining the morale of the nation with his treason." "Throw him in jail!" "Ship him to Russia!" are the angry responses of some of those who seem to approve of prophecy in general, but not in particular.

A higher patriotism

Jeremiah did not counsel surrender to the Chaldeans because he did not love or was not loyal to his country. Actually, he was passionately dedicated to Judah, despite its faults. Nor was his counsel based upon admiration of the Chaldeans. Rather, it was because Judah, like Israel before it, had become disloyal to God, had become corrupt within, and would have to suffer the consequences of her infidelity. This was not the judgment of Jeremiah, but of God himself.

The true patriot may be more concerned with his nation's righteousness than her "honor." If he criticizes his country, it is not because he does not love her or lacks loyalty to her. He knows that he does the most for her welfare by remaining true to his conscience. Perhaps this is the highest form of patriotism.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

harvest for the best results. The usual procedure is to narrow down the old picking row to a width of 18 to 24 inches by destroying the excess plants between the row with a cultivator, hoe, rototiller or some other device. A good fertilizer application amounting to 400 to 600 pounds of a 10-10-10 mixture per acre, spread broadcast over the row has given good results at this renovation time. Cultivation of the middles should be continued until fall. Mowing and destruction of the foliage after harvest is not now considered as beneficial as previously. If mowing is done however, to remove serious leaf disease problems, it should be done immediately after harvest is completed. For information on growing strawberries, see U. of K. Coop. Ext. Ser. Circular 524-B, "Strawberry Production in Kentucky."

ORANGE RUST ON BLACK-BERRIES: Orange rust, a serious disease on wild and some cultivated blackberries, shows up early in the spring. The leaves on infected plants are narrow, with yellow spores covering the whole plant, giving it a sickly appearance. Infected plants do not bear and never recover. They should be removed, roots and all, from the planting as soon as they are seen and should be burned.

BERRIES, BERRIES: In March of 1968, there were 101 million pounds of frozen strawberries in storage, 29 million pounds of blueberries, and 17 million pounds of blackberries. In addition to 14 million pounds of red raspberries and two million pounds of black raspberries. Thus, we note that our Kentucky berry types, strawberries rate first nationwide and the blackberries third at this time.

All the previously mentioned berries are well adapted to freezing storage, both commercially and at home. Very little extra work is needed to prepare these berries for freezing after they have been harvested.

With the ease that strawberries and blackberries are grown in Kentucky, many more of them should be grown, both for sale and for home use. Raspberries and blueberries can also be grown well in Kentucky, but with a little more detail than is generally required for strawberries and blackberries. The University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service has publications written to help with the growing of all these berries, so write for this information to your county extension office or call.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

L. J. Rapp celebrated his 91st birthday on June 28. His children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, all who live in this area, gathered in the evening to extend their good wishes and congratulations. Delicious refreshments were enjoyed. Many friends and other relatives join in wishing him the best years of his life are yet to be.

Mrs. Howard Willoughby and daughter arrived on Thursday from Florida, to spend their vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Binder, and family.

Miss Helen Richardson and Mrs. R. C. Hinsdale returned from a trip to Houston, Texas, where they visited Miss Hope Keeney. They visited quite a few points of interest, including Johnson City and the Hemisfair. The Astrodome was not the least of the sights.

The Death Angel visited and released Charles Pruett on Thursday morning from months of illness and the frustration of increasing helplessness. He was well known in this neighborhood, having married a local girl, Miss Lena Hoffman, some 57 or 58 years ago. They were the parents of two daughters, Mary Elizabeth, who died at an early age, and Virginia, who is now Mrs. Shirley Moffett; also three grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

Had a letter recently from Thelma Keeney Miller, telling that her mother, Mrs. Ida Keeney, is not as well since a fall earlier in the spring. She has moved to another nursing home where a different care is provided. I'll include her new address at a later date. Like most of us away from home, she adores cards.

You haven't seen my news column recently. I've been visiting my daughter's family near Providence, R. I. Haven't had time to write the story of my trip. I'll try to get that ready for next week. For now, I'll say, I enjoyed my trip and visit very much. Ruth sends greetings to her friends back here.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I receive a monthly compensation check from the Veterans Administration. I have recently had a change of address. Should I report the change to the VA or the Treasury Department?

A—Your change of address should always be reported to the VA Regional Office where your records are located.

Q—I am interested in the new Modified Life plan of government insurance I have been reading about. I now hold $10,000 of government insurance. Where can I get more specific information about the Modified Life plan?

A—Write to the Veterans Administration Regional Office where your records are held or to the VA insurance office, Philadelphia or St. Paul, where your premiums are paid. Ask for a copy of VA Pamphlet 29-22 which discusses the details of this plan.

FROST-FREE REFRIGERATION

SUPERMARKET

It may look like a combination refrigerator-freezer but it's really your own private supermarket, a convenient store which is open to you 24-hours a day, 7-days a week.

Yet an electric refrigerator-freezer is much more than a place to store perishables. It also helps make your food budget go further. Buy seasonal specials when prices are low. Store them in your freezer. Serve later when the same food may cost twice as much!

Or, keep those vegetables and fruit garden-fresh by freezing them. So much easier and less messy than old-fashioned canning methods. And frozen foods taste better because they retain that wonderful garden-fresh flavor.

For real convenience, consider getting a frost-free refrigerator-freezer. You'll never have the inconvenience or mess of defrosting because frost never accumulates.

See those new refrigerators and freezers at your favorite appliance dealer. Electric refrigeration is another good way you live better, thanks to low-cost rural electric power.

The Walton-Verona School, located at the end of Alta Vista Drive on School Road, serves the Walton and Verona communities. All children, except those in the 4th, 5th and 6th grades, attend school here, and a building at Verona houses these classrooms. The main building was constructed in 1955 and the addition (to the left) was erected in 1963. A new building program to facilitate rooms for all the grades and a new gymnasium is under consideration. A progressive community must maintain good schools to continue its growth. Every effort is made to keep the school building and surrounding grounds in good condition. A lighted ball field and playground facilities, behind the school are available for community use during the summer months.

Boone County 4-H Horse Show Results

The Boone County 4-H Horse Show, held June 30 at the Boone County Fairgrounds, Burlington, featured 63 entries. The entries were limited strictly to Boone County 4-H members, enrolled in the horse project.

'68 Wheat Certificate Value

Wheat certificate payments to farmers participating in the 1968 Wheat Program will have a value of $1.38 per bushel, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced. Payments are based on the difference between the July 1, 1968 wheat parity price of $2.63 per bushel and the 1968-crop national average loan rate of $1.25 per bushel. The 1967 value was $1.38 per bushel.

STATE POLICE TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE

It has been decided at Post 6 to hold Open House to celebrate the 20th Anniversary of the Kentucky State Police, which will be held on Saturday, July 13, 1968, between the hours of 9:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m.

A supervisor will be on the Post to conduct visitors and answer any questions that may be asked. There will be a 1968 Ford cruiser on display along with the equipment carried in it, also a display of the weapons used by Kentucky State Police.

Democratic Women Meet

The June meeting of the Boone County Democratic Women's Club was held at the home of Mrs. Lil Davis, Richwood Road, Walton. Members and guests enjoyed a delicious covered dish dinner. After a short business session, conducted by Mrs. Davis, a Stanley party was given by Alma Hamilton.

Those present were: Mrs. Sandy Davis, Mrs. Opal Robinson, Mrs. Bonnie Shields, Mrs. Ruby Woods, Mrs. Mandy Hutton, Mrs. Dorothy Ryan, and the hostess, Mrs. Davis. Guests were: Miss Sandy Shields, Miss Nancy Hamilton, and Mrs. Sue Seng.

The July meeting will be a dinner affair on the 22nd at Jim's Steak House.

United Appeal Goal Set

The goal for the 1968 United Appeal is $9,241,420.

UA officials said last week that the goal is $360,076 more than the $8,881,344 raised in the 1967 campaign. The figure reflects the need to maintain vital services in the face of inflation, an unusual burden of domestic disasters, assistance to men in the armed forces, and demonstrated need for new services.

Three new Community Chest agencies will benefit from the 1968 campaign. They are: Lincoln Heights Neighborhood Services, Northern Kentucky Legal Aid Society, and Talbert House—a "half-way house" for men released from prison.

2 Local Men Injured In Truck-Auto Mishap

Two local men were injured recently in a truck-auto accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ramsey and Randall Martin, all of South Walton, were enroute to Burlington, when an empty gravel truck reportedly struck the rear of the Ramsey auto.

Mr. Martin received a broken leg, and Mr. Ramsey sustained back injuries. Mrs. Ramsey was shaken up but did not require hospitalization.

Martin returned home late last week, but Ramsey remains in St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington.

The accident occurred about midday near the new county club entrance on Kentucky Highway 18.

Aid For Elderly Poor

Boone, Kenton and Campbell Counties have received a federal grant of $30,000 for a 12-month Community Action Program for the Elderly Poor. The announcement was made by Leveo Sanchez, Director, Middle Atlantic Region, OEO. The applicant agency was the Northern Kentucky Community Action Council, Jack Blumenthal, Executive Director.

Designed to benefit some 400 elderly, low-income persons, this component will enable the CAA to help initiate and supply guidance for community organization among the elderly poor.

A newspaper and microtext reading room housing current issues of Kentucky, U. S. and foreign newspapers, together with back files on microfilm, will be opened this fall in the University of Kentucky Library.

INTERVIEWING HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

Earl Roberts, Superintendent of Walton-Verona Schools, was recently contacted by one of the companies in the Industrial Foundation, Florence, and advised that the company was interviewing high school graduates for jobs.

Any high school graduate who has had vocational training, industrial arts or who has a mechanical aptitude is eligible to apply.

For further information, contact Mr. Roberts, or call 371-0100 to arrange an interview.

CAC Neighborhood Services Meeting

CAC Neighborhood Services met at 8:00 p. m., June 25, at the Court House in Burlington. There were reports of various government grants available for use in Boone County. Anyone wishing to take an active interest in Community Action activities is cordially invited to attend these monthly meetings.

Charles Holloway, chairman of the advisory committee, will appoint a committee to revise the existing constitution.

The committee extends thanks for the excellent work done by Mrs. Foltz, Mrs. Malapelli and Mrs. Holloway concerning the dance June 1 from which a substantial profit was realized. Father Hering kindly donated the use of Immaculate Heart of Mary School Hall, and was presented a gift from the CAC Neighborhood Services.

Mrs. Evelyn Cain is chairman of the bake sale being planned for election day. Judge Ferguson has given permission for the welfare committee to dispense refreshments in the Boone County Court House. These proceeds will also go into the emergency fund.

Judge Ferguson explained that Boone County is first on next year's waiting list for the Food Stamp Program. Stanley Shane of CAC reported on the availability of the Comprehensive Care Work team, family planning, emergency fund and medical aid programs. Jim Burkart of CAC spoke about on-the-job training now available. Salaries range from $1.60 to $1.96 per hour. There are positions as welders, packagers, cashiers, etc. James Setters reported on the garden and tobacco crops being raised by the Burlington Youth Group.

Transportation problems involved in the Head Start program were discussed. Older brothers and sisters of Head Start children, Neighborhood Youth Corps people and others are now being transported along with Head Start children for recreation programs, under the supervision of Miss Kay Witaker, physical education director, at Burlington, Conner, and Lincoln Woods Parks.

The committee assigned to study welfare needs in Boone County reported plans for a long range county welfare system. Past histories will be kept to justify the need for a county system, a county welfare worker, and to establish communication and make clear Boone County needs for additional Community Chest services.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

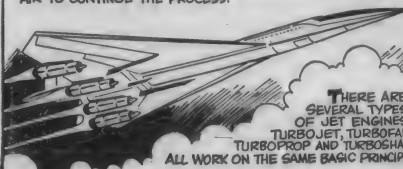

A JET ENGINE

IN 1942, AMERICA'S FIRST JET, THE P-59, FLEW 450 MPH. TODAY, JET AIRCRAFT CAN FLY AT 2000 MPH—THREE TIMES THE SPEED OF SOUND.

A JET ENGINE WORKS ON THE SAME PRINCIPLE AS AIR ESCAPING FROM A TOY BALLOON. THE ESCAPING AIR CAUSES AN EQUAL REACTION IN THE OPPOSITE DIRECTION, THIS IS THE "PUSH" THAT THRUSTS THE AIRCRAFT FORWARD.

AIR TAKEN INTO THE ENGINE IS COMPRESSED TO MANY TIMES ITS NORMAL DENSITY. IN THE COMBUSTION CHAMBER FUEL IS SPRAYED INTO THE COMPRESSED AIR AND IGNITED. THE BURNING GASES BLAST PAST A TURBINE WHEEL AND OUT THE EXHAUST AT MORE THAN 1500 MPH. THE TURBINE WHEEL TURNS A SHAFT OPERATING THE COMPRESSOR WHICH SUCKS IN MORE FRESH AIR TO CONTINUE THE PROCESS.

THERE ARE SEVERAL TYPES OF JET ENGINES: TURBOJET, TURBOFAN, TURBOPROP AND TURBOHAFT. ALL WORK ON THE SAME BASIC PRINCIPLE.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—Occasionally I see a Veterans Administration repossessed home advertised for sale. Does a prospective buyer have to be a veteran to qualify as a purchaser? Does a person deal with VA or with a real estate firm? Is there any saving by dealing directly with the VA?

A—in answer to your first question, a person need not be a veteran to buy a VA-repossessed home. Such homes are generally sold through real estate brokers approved by VA. The VA does not reduce its list sale price when it is approached directly by a prospective purchaser. So there is no saving to be made by not contacting a sales broker. You may obtain a list of approved local sales brokers and further information about VA repossessed homes from your nearest VA regional office.

Q—Is it true that a recent law passed by Congress provides for a burial allowance for veterans who have been honorably discharged since January 31, 1955?

A—Not exactly. The law provides that the Veterans Administration may pay up to $250 toward the cost of burial for a veteran who was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, if he served during wartime or after Aug. 4, 1964, the "Vietnam era." For the veteran who served after Jan. 31, 1955, but prior to Aug. 5, 1964, VA may pay up to $250 for burial expenses if he was receiving compensation for a service-connected disability at the time of his death, if he was discharged from service for a disability incurred in line of duty, or if he died of a service-connected disability. The claim must be filed with VA within two years of the veteran's burial or cremation.

Winter is a long way off, but beef cattle producers ought to think about winter operations now. Number of cattle to be on hand, whether they are to be cows or stocker steers, whether dry cows or in-milk cows, labor availability, silage or hay to be main feed, handfeeding or mechanical facilities, how much needed feed can be grown on farm this season, and how much feed will be bought—are items to consider.

The winter feeding period in Kentucky is usually about 120 days. A dry cow needs about 20 pounds of grass hay per day; an in-milk cow needs 28 to 30 pounds of hay of good quality a day. If corn silage is to be fed instead of hay, about 40 pounds of high quality silage is needed each day for each animal.

If 35 to 40 percent of the forage fed in winter is a good legume hay, you can eliminate the supplemental protein, as four pounds of legume hay will give protein equal to one pound of the 40 percent supplement.

Young cattle and in-milk cows should get the best feed. And be sure you can store enough feed to supply the winter herd.

It's a tossup this year whether the sod webworm, a major lawn pest, is doing much damage. But control measures may be needed in some areas. This nuisance starts with flights of tan, cigar-shaped moths about a half inch long. They fly at night or when kicked up in lawns during the day. Time to act is 10 to 14 days after the moths begin to disappear. This means they have completed their egg laying and are dying. Their larvae (hatching from the eggs) do the damage to the lawns.

These larvae live in silken tunnels at the ground line and eat grass close to that line. In heavy infestations, they can turn a yard brown within a week or two.

Control: Use one of two materials. They are Carbaryl (Sevin) or Diazinon (Spectracide). These are sprayed on lawns, and mixed either emulsion concentrate or wettable powder materials. Carbaryl has been available in 50% strength wettable powder, 80% WP, four-pound "flowable" or the five-pound "aqua." Diazinon has been available in "25-E" or "AG 500" form. The sod webworm usually is not as big a pest in wet weather as during dry spells or droughts.

Ankle Injured by Rock

It is reported that Gilbert W. (Mitch) Napier was injured when a power lawn mower, used by a boy mowing his lawn, threw a rock and injured his ankle badly. He was treated by Dr. Huey, and is recovering nicely.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

Clyde Richardson, who is spending his vacation in Kentucky and Tennessee, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Richardson, and other relatives here this week. His wife, Pauline, is visiting her family in Frankfort. They will shortly return to Laos, where he is an agriculture specialist.

Howard K. Loomis, a native of this community, passed away on July 4th, at the Baptist Home in Newport. His wife, Jessie Stephens Loomis, preceded him by eight months, having died Nov. 4, 1967. They left no immediate descendants, the nearest relative, a grand-niece, Miss Jane Vest, of Crestview Heights, some cousins, and many friends. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at Allison and Rose Funeral Home with interment at Independence.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Keeney and sons, Clayton and Stephen, J. B. Loeys, and Mrs. Francys Keeney spent Sunday visiting Mrs. J. W. Parish in Eminence, Ky. Her two daughters and families, Mr.

and Mrs. Merle Powell and Mark, and Mrs. Dorothy Ricketts and David came to spend the afternoon with us. All of them seemed well, but were much concerned for Stephen Ricketts, who was recently injured in Vietnam. As soon as able he will be returned to a hospital in the U. S., which all hope will be Ft. Knox.

William Goedker of Hollywood, Fla., is as usual, spending his vacation in Kentucky. We miss Myrtle, but not half as much as he does. He has made a good recovery from his recent illness, and we were very glad to see him as he called on many of his old friends and neighbors.

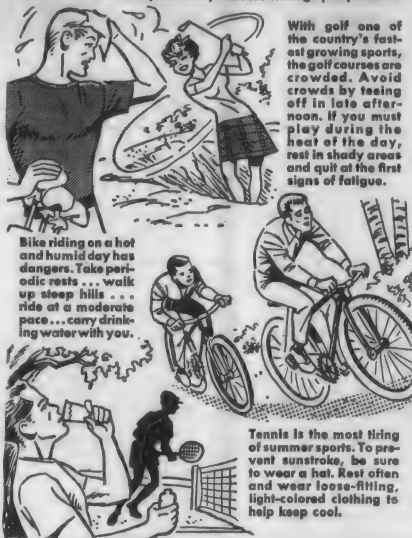

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Rapp and Bruce spent the past weekend at Rough River Camp, where they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Buck Craigmyle of Louisville, and Mr. and Mrs. James Lancaster of Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brinkley are spending a short leave with their parents.

Our neighborhood was shocked to learn that Charles Dorsey of White's Tower, was found dead in his garden at noon on Friday.

What's Your Sport?

The mid-day sun has been known to do more damage to sports-minded people than actual mishaps while playing a game. Since illnesses caused by heat can be serious and at times fatal, the following tips from the Quinton Company might help prevent such accidents. Whatever your summer sport, be sure to drink plenty of water and take Thermatabs before salt tablets to replace body salts lost through perspiration.

Bike riding on a hot and humid day has dangers. Take periodic rests... walk up steep hills... ride at a moderate pace... carry drinking water with you.

With golf one of the country's fastest growing sports, the golf courses are crowded. Avoid crowds by teeing off in late afternoon. If you must play during the heat of the day, rest in shady areas and quit at the first signs of fatigue.

Tennis is the most tiring of summer sports. To prevent sunstroke, be sure to wear a hat. Rest often and wear loose-fitting, light-colored clothing to help keep cool.

As a member of the Swindler Funeral Home, Independence and Latonia, he was widely known and liked by many friends. He leaves his wife, Agnes Ryle Dorsey; one son, Richard Dorsey; and a granddaughter. Richard was soon to return from a tour of duty in Vietnam. Our sympathy goes out to his family.

DEATHS

CHARLIE DORSEY

A veteran partner in the Swindler Funeral Homes, Latonia and Independence, was found dead at 12:30 p. m., Friday, July 5 in a field on his farm at White's Tower. Charlie Dorsey, 68, who had suffered a heart attack three years ago, probably was stricken once again with a heart seizure.

He had gone to the field to work at 10:30 a. m. and his wife, Agnes Ryle Dorsey, discovered his body after becoming alarmed because he failed to return for lunch.

The Dorsey home was located at 6813 Taylor Mill Road, Independence.

Mr. Dorsey had been associated with the funeral homes 44 years. He and Thomas Quigley became partners in the firm in 1950. He operated the Independence funeral home, and was a past president of the Independence and Community Volunteer Fire Department. He was also a member of Amity Baptist Church, Taylor Mill Road; Bradford Lodge, No. 123, F&AM, Independence, and Indra Consistory, Scottish Rite, of Covington.

A son, Air Force Major Richard Dorsey, is a pilot with the 6250th Support Squadron, Tan Son Nhut Air Force Base, Saigon, Vietnam. Services were held Wednesday at 10:00 a. m., in the Swindler Funeral Home, Independence.

MRS. PEARL ALLPHIN

Mrs. Pearl Allphin, 89, died at 5:45 p. m., Monday, July 1, at the home of a daughter, Mrs.

Mary Sisson, Priscilla Drive, Florence, with whom she resided.

Mrs. Allphin formerly worked at the Covington Protestant Children's Home in Devou Park.

Another survivor is a son, George Allphin, Route 1, Verona.

Services were held at 2:00 p. m. on Thursday, July 4 at the Hamilton Funeral Home, Verona.

THE LESSON

Lesson for July 14, 1968

Background Scriptures: Lamentations 5; Psalms 130, 137.
Devotional Readings: Psalms 137:1-4.

Several years ago as I was driving through East Berlin, I saw a block after block of war-ravaged buildings, many of them still recognizable as churches, museums, and other public structures. I could not help but ponder the terrible price men pay for their folly. One often wonders why men must always learn such bitter lessons. Isn't there some other way? Must there always be such terrible waste, so human suffering and misery?

In love with our sin

The answer, of course, is that there is another, easier way, but man is usually reluctant to choose it. When we are in the midst of our folly, we are like young lovers, completely unable to see things as they are. We are so head-over-heels in love with our sin that we will not listen to those who can see things clearly. Something inside us keeps us from recognizing what should be quite obvious to us. Not only do we refuse to listen, we bristle at those who try to tell us for our own good.

This is what Jeremiah had encountered. He had tried desperately to lead the people of Judah to acknowledge their sin and corruption and repent of it. But the people, complacent in their respectability, had been indignant that he should even suggest these things. Could he not see how regularly they attended to worship, how faithfully they kept the feast and holy days, and performed the required rites and rituals?

The prophet, however, was not concerned with their obvious piety, not the trappings of their religion, but the core of it: their relationships with one another. He did not question their regularity in worship, but the effect that worship had upon their honesty, their integrity, their concern for the needs and rights of others. Their ardent churchmanship mattered little if they were not equally ardent in brotherhood and justice. And this, of course, is where they failed so miserably.

The result was disaster. While there had yet been time to repent, the arrogant Judeans had refused to listen to Jeremiah, subjecting him to humiliation and abuse. Now, their country was in ruins, the people carried off into captivity, the temple desecrated and destroyed. It is a long way to fall from arrogance to humiliation.

In the Book of Lamentations we see these once-proud people after the destruction of their nation by the armies of Babylon in 587 B. C. They are a different people now: "Remember, O Lord, what has befallen us; behold and see our disgrace! Our inheritance has been turned over to strangers, our homes to aliens. We have become orphans, fatherless; our mothers are like widows..." (Lamentations 5:1-4 RSV)

Now they have begun to see what they should have seen before: "Our fathers sinned, and are no more; and we bear their iniquities..." (Lamentations 5:7) They have learned that when a generation becomes corrupt, subsequent generations must often help to bear the consequences. They could not shrug off the corrosive sins of their fathers nor claim that they were none of their responsibility. Today, for example, you and I still bear the guilt of what our forefathers did to the Indians and we are still paying the price of Negro slavery.

We have sinned!

Even more, however, they learned to acknowledge their own sins, the hardest of all lessons. Not just their fathers, but "we" to us, for we have sinned" (Lamentations 5:16). What they had arrogantly refused to accept from Jeremiah, they now learned through the bitterness of disaster. If only it had not cost all that to learn the lesson!

How easy it is for us to see what they should have done, for us to understand what the prophet tried to teach them. But we are not asked to judge them. We need to learn from their mistake and, judging ourselves, learn the lesson that Jeremiah and today's prophets would teach us.

Answer to crisis: Run away from home!

Run away from love to a world where hate often prevails. Run away from understanding to a city that seldom understands. Run from tomorrow's hopes into a desolate and hopeless today.

Sure, Son, there's something wrong at home—something more spiritual than physical would be our guess!

To live as a family we need foundation—something firm and sure—to be confident of when nothing is going our way. To live as a family we need meaning in our relationships; meaning that cannot be eclipsed by the emotions of the moment.

When church bells ring on Sunday morning, they are calling families to worship! Faith is the foundation of love, and understanding and hope. The teachings of Christ give deeper meaning to all relationships.

Can't guarantee you won't get a kickin' for running away. Can't guarantee you won't feel like running away again sometime.

But can guarantee this: When there's the religious foundation and meaning we're talking about, any crisis can be seen in clearer perspective... and solved more sensibly.

Wrap-Up Report On Resurrection City

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

The arrest of Rev. Ralph Abernathy fulfills a goal of the poor marchers—the end to a campaign that paraded under non-violent wraps, but was full of violence, threats and often repeated aim of civil disobedience. The poor encampment was treated with unusual forbearance, from the issuing of a questionable permit, to the allowing of its operation without hooking up to sewer lines, and overlooking of depredations by its residents on Washington.

At least 20 visitors have been beaten or stabbed. Camp "marshals," many with criminal records, could not keep order. Alvin Jackson, who quit as a marshal, said: "There are rape, robbery, and cuttings every day, and there is nothing we can do about it, even when we catch the guys who did it." He said march leaders

"just won't allow any kind of discipline in the camp."

The marchers harassed Rep. Wilber D. Mills, walked out on a $292 check at the Department of Agriculture and a $390 check at a Washington hotel. One was later repaid and the other settled for half price. They pelted passing cars with rocks, blocked traffic, broke windows at the Supreme Court building—all while the Rev. Abernathy kept decrying police brutality—and repeating over and over that the march just couldn't stay non-violent because of "persecution."

Abernathy said at a June 19 rally: "Today is really a beginning. We are only just beginning to fight." Claiming a "permit from God," Abernathy said the marchers would not voluntarily vacate shantytown on the mall.

Reports are that Abernathy deliberately suppressed news of the violent intentions of the Poor Marchers to lure moderate into participating in the June 19 rally, but once the rally was over the violence was turned loose. Abernathy displayed shock when police used tear gas—apparently believing that the Poor Marchers were totally immune from law enforcement.

From the beginning, the Poor Marchers' statements have exuded the threat of violence. Abernathy said, "We will have to engage in what some people call civil disobedience." Why? The group had been given every break in the book. Mules were allowed to tear up park ground, fed by park police at taxpayer expense. Thousands of dollars worth of materials and food were donated—but Abernathy insisted that violence had to come.

A STITCH IN TIME—

How many of you use maraschino cherries other than garnishing chocolate sundies? Have you ever even thought about how this variety of cherry originated? The maraschino cherry is a skillfully processed fruit that is manufactured from a sweet variety of cherry, the Royal Anne, which is carefully grown in the rich valleys of the Pacific Northwest, California and Michigan. After picking the cherries are processed to remove the color and strengthen the tissue. The next step is to soak the cherries in a syrup consisting of sugar and water, subtly flavored with oil of bitter almond. Then they are colored, using coloring approved by the Food and Drug Administration, bottled, pasteurized and sent to market.

This is a far cry from the way maraschino cherries came into being 300 years ago. The natives of the mountainous areas of Dalmatia and the Adriatic coastal regions of Northern Italy discovered a small, bitter, reddish brown cherry growing wild. They called the cherry the marasca from the Latin word "amarus," meaning bitter. From this cherry the enterprising Italians made a delicious liqueur they named maraschino. Then they found another cherry, one that was white and sweeter. In preserving this cherry, maraschino liqueur was often added to give color and flavor. As the resulting cherry became popular the final manufacturing process took place in the French seaports of Marseilles and Bordeaux. Before long the French started experimenting with one of their native cherries, similar to the Italian variety. It was brined, colored, flavored and then put into a sugar syrup and called a maraschino. In the 1890's the maraschino cherry was exported to America, where it was regarded as a delicacy and found only in the finest hotels and restaurants. Around 1896 manufacturers in this country started experimenting for themselves with an American bred cherry—the Royal Anne. So successful were they, that by 1930 the home product maraschino cherry took the place of the foreign variety.

Use these to brighten up everyday foods in recipes ranging from soups, salads, meats, poultry, puddings, cakes, pies, cookies, breads, biscuits, muffins, waffles, pancakes, candy, ice cream and sherbert, to beverages of all kinds.

VERONA

Florence Edgington, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bob Hamilton and two little daughters of Fort Rucker, Ala., are spending their vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hamilton, and children of Verona, and Mr. and Mrs. Ogden and children of Lantonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sturgeon and children spent last Sunday with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Curry were calling on Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Edgington, Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Zuma Dyer and daughter, Sheila, were calling on the Edgingtons, Sunday evening.

We extend sympathy to the Price Webster family in the passing of Mr. Webster, and extend our sympathy, also to the Pearl Allphin family in the passing of Mrs. Allphin.

Mrs. May Wilson of Florence, spent a few days last week with Mrs. Allie Chandler.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kemper and Mrs. Florence Edgington were calling at the rest home at Dry Ridge, one afternoon last week to see Mrs. Lena Harris and Mrs. Alice Atha.

GREEN ROAD SPECIAL

The Green Road Special has been given the green light once again to come to Barbara Simpson's home for the regular 4-H meeting on Thursday, July 11, from 1:00 to 2:30 p. m.

Bring any fair project, even if it's in poor shape, and we'll all help you get it in good shape to win a ribbon of one color or the other on August 1-2-3.

At our June meeting at Eve Collett's home, all the members enjoyed a cookout. Everyone left full of food and fun—would you believe we had ground beef, carrot, potato and onion sandwiches?

We're all looking forward to share the experiences of the gang that were fortunate enough to have spent the wonderful week at camp in June.—Lisa Bush

CARD OF THANKS . . .

ATTEND PILGRIMAGE

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Burgers and son, Tim, attended a pilgrimage last week, sponsored by Stanley Home Products. The pilgrimage was held in Westfield, Mass., at the beautiful Stanley Park. The Burgers' stayed at the Hartford-Hilton Hotel in Hartford, Conn. While enroute, they visited Washington, D. C., Niagara Falls, and many other places of interest. They report a wonderful time, but glad to be back home.

Staffordsburg

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

A well known person said recently that he had never watched a bad movie on television. He could still turn it off when and if it became objectionable. So, if I am tiresome, just lay the paper down.

Having planned for several months to visit my daughter's family this summer, I was suddenly faced with the possibility that June was the only time that I was sure that I could get away. So on Thursday afternoon I decided to go and left home Friday morning before seven.

The flight was very pleasant. I had thought of going by bus, but finding that 36 hours would be required for the trip and a small difference in the fare, it was easy to convince myself that flying was preferable.

My granddaughter was to graduate from Barrington High School on Tuesday. The Baccalaureate was on Sunday afternoon. Susan had made her dress for the prom. It was very pretty. One thing which surprised me was several boys in the procession with beautiful long hair. It was so well done that I can't think it was not arranged by a hair dresser. Had the robes been the same color, one could not have told the boys from the girls. There were 274 graduates. Three were exchange students, a young lady from Thailand, a young man from Venezuela, and a young man from Finland.

Among the interesting places I saw were Bunker Hill Monument, the buildings of Harvard University at Lexington, Paul Revere's home, Old Ironsides, the Concord Bridge. In another direction, we visited Brown University and Pembroke College in Providence. We went shopping in Fall River, which at one time was a center of the textile industry. New Bedford was quite interesting for that was the principal port of the whaling boats. There is a museum containing boats, iron cauldrons which were used to render the whale oil, lamps and lanterns which burned the oil and many antique household articles of the period.

I visited the WSCS of the West Barrington Methodist Church where Ruth and her family are members. They have built new S. S. rooms since I was there three years ago. Three of the Fryer young folks are in college: Edward at Georgia Tech, Alan at Brown, and Sue will enroll at Agnes Scott in September. Kenneth is in Junior High and Julia will be in the third grade. Ruth will teach Home Ec at W. Barrington this coming year.

On Monday before coming home I attended a picnic on Buzzard's Bay. I didn't swim but hunted clams and mussels and got a beautiful sunburn. On my way home, at Kennedy Airport, I met a lady who left Glasgow, Scotland at 6:00 a. m. and would be in Chicago to visit her sister by 5:00 p. m. One meets interesting people.

BOONE COUNTY DEMOCRAT CLUB MEETS AT BURLINGTON

The June meeting of the Boone County Democrat Club was held at the Court House in Burlington, with Carlton Anderson, president, presiding. Plans were made to hold a picnic supper at the Boone County Fair Grounds, Burlington, Saturday, July 20, following a meeting of the Boone County Executive Committee at the Court House. Since the Executive Committee meeting will be at 2:00 p. m., the picnic meal at the Fair Grounds will start at 5:00 p. m.

Officers elected for the coming year were: President, Francis Dooley; Vice President, Carlton Anderson; Secretary, Mrs. Selma Aiken; Treasurer, Burman Roberts. These officers will be installed by Judge Bruce Ferguson at the picnic meeting July 20.

Guest speaker was Gus Sheehan, candidate for Congress, who gave a detailed talk on national and international situations with his views on policies and platform.

It's the hard tasks that make us.

The Battle of Blue Licks was the last major engagement against the Indians on Kentucky soil. The site is Blue Licks Battlefield, now established as a state park and shrine, near Mt. Olivet. A pioneer museum is maintained at the park.

Kentucky encompasses 40,395 square miles, ranking 37th among the states in area.

The Spotswood Home at Glasgow was built in 1800 from plans drawn by Thomas Jefferson.

HOLD THE PRICE OF YOUR DAIRY RATION

We can book your dairy feed needs for 90 to 120 days. With old corn running out and picking of new corn still not in full swing prices could be unstable. But we can hold the price of Dairy 16% Checkers and other Purina Dairy Products for 90 to 120 days. Just let us know the amount you want to book.

DAIRYMEN . . . CAN YOU AFFORD FLIES

Tests prove that flies can cost $42.00 per season per cow in reduced milk production. In a 20-cow herd, that adds up to $840 loss, if flies are not controlled. Fly-treated dairy cows produce 10% to 20% more than untreated ones. Fly-treated fresh cows remain at higher production levels than untreated ones. Fly-treated dairy herds suffer less from fly-carrying dysentery and pinkeye than untreated ones. We certainly would like to recommend using Purina Dairy Spray Special which contains Clostrin and Vapona. This is a ready to use spray for horn flies, stable flies, face flies and house flies. It has a quick knock down and kill and one spraying protects all day, in doors and out. Check with us for all your fly control needs.

THE SYSTEMIC FLY MAGGOT KILLER CATTLE EAT

That is a good description of Purina Check-Fly Cattle Block containing phenothiazine. When cattle lick Check-Fly Cattle Block containing phenothiazine, this potent insecticide passes through their system, kills horn fly and face fly maggot while still in fresh droppings. Besides helping to control flies, Purina Check-Fly Cattle Block helps reduce soil infestations, controls worms, prevents foot rot, humpy jaw, and mineral deficiency. No other salt and mineral need be fed. Stop flies now, before that increase...use Purina Check-Fly Cattle Blocks.

WALTON, KENTUCKY — THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1968

Volume 53—Number 29

Walton's Post Office building was dedicated on Saturday, March 2, 1963. The new building is a great help in the service rendered to 1,300 families, including nearly 5,000 persons. As a second class post office, it offers service to two rural routes and motorized city delivery. The premises are neat and clean with nice landscaping. Mildred Cleek, a long-time post office clerk, is the new postmistress at the local office, having received her permanent appointment on June 27, 1968.

NFO FISH FRY FRIDAY NIGHT

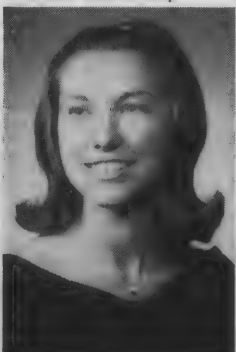

The Kenton County N. F. O. is sponsoring a fish fry at Wilmington Masonic Lodge Hall, on L.L. Highway at Fiskburg, Friday, July 19. Serving will begin at 5:30 p. m. and continue until 9:00 p. m.

A complete dinner will be served for $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for children. Besides the dinner, sandwiches and dessert will be available. There will also be a booth where cakes, pies and other bakery goods will be on sale.

Immediately following the serving hour, there will be an area meeting to establish a collecting point for this area. It is very important that all N. F. O. members attend this business session.

The dinner is open to the public as well as N. F. O. members and friends. A large crowd is expected to be on hand.

Awarded Scholarship

Diana Lee Breeden

Miss Diana Lee Breeden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Breeden, Route 1, Walton, has been awarded a scholarship to Georgetown College.

A graduate of Simon Kenton High School, Independence, Diana plans a major in biology and to eventually become a medical technologist.

At Simon Kenton, she was active in the Beta Club, Pep Club, Latin Club, Y-Teens, National Thespians Club, and participated in her junior and senior plays.

Is Your Fire Protection Paid

The first of January the Piner-Fiskburg volunteer fire department sent out 200 dues cards to property owners. They have received dues from 121 members. Did you forget to send your $10.00 dues? The department needs every property owner's support. Attend the business meetings the first Monday of each month.

N. Ky. Horse and Pony Show July 21

The Northern Kentucky Horse and Pony Show will be held at the 4-H and Utopia Fairgrounds in Burlington, on Sunday, July 21, beginning at 2:30 p. m. (EDST). All 4-H Club members enrolled in the 4-H Horse and Pony project have the opportunity to exhibit their animal and to compete to qualify for the State 4-H Horse Show, to be held later, at the Kentucky State Fair.

Twenty-six classes are being offered in this show, giving the club members who have either the Hunter-Hack, English Pleasure, Walking, American Saddle Horse or Western type horse opportunities to enter and compete. These classes are divided into size of animal, age of rider and animal use categories. These classes will be judged in the Danish System and all Blue Ribbon animals will be eligible to compete in the State 4-H Horse and Pony Show.

There will be refreshments available on the grounds for the participants and spectators. No admission will be charged for the viewing spectators.

Participants will be from Boone, Carroll, Campbell, Gallatin, Grant, Kenton, Owen and Pendleton Counties. The public is invited to attend, plenty of free parking available on the fairgrounds.

Contact local extension office for entry blanks.

LOCAL SOFTBALLERS WIN TWO GAMES

The Walton Fast Pitch Softball team took a double-header last Saturday night from the Shelbyville Jets.

The first game saw Walton win by a score of 4 to 1, behind the pitching of George Anderson.

The second game was won by a 3 to 0 margin, with Deane Poore being the winning hurler.

This weekend finds Walton at home both Friday and Saturday nights. Friday they will play the Mills Movers from Hamilton, Ohio, and on Saturday evening they will meet Brownstown, Ind. Game time is 7:30. A double-header each evening. Come out!

Monthly Social at All Saints

The regular monthly social as sponsored by the Holy Family Guild will be Saturday, July 20, at 8:00 p. m., in the All Saints School Hall, Walton.

You are invited to spend an evening of fun with friends.

Masons Meet Tonight

Work in the Entered Apprentice degree will be conducted in addition to the regular monthly meeting of the Walton Masonic Lodge tonight (July 18) at 8:00.

BARN SOCIAL AT VERONA, JULY 19

The newly-formed Verona Volunteer Fire Department is sponsoring a Barn Social, Friday, July 19, beginning at 7:30 p. m., at the James Rice farm at the I-71 exit on Route 14.

There will be door prizes, a fish pond, "white elephant" sale, modern and square dancing to a live band, sandwiches, soft drinks, pies, cakes, and coffee. In fact, there will be fun for the whole family.

Admission for adults will be $1.00 and children, under 12 years, will be admitted free.

You are invited to attend.

Community College Head Asks For Help

A. J. Hauselman, acting director of the University of Kentucky Northern Community College, Covington, is conducting his own campaign among business men and employers in area cities and towns to "find out what kind of training their employees need."

Hauselman said "courses in physical and biological sciences, expanded engineering courses, a new art and drama program, and an amateur theatre—if we have to sit on the floor of the lobby—have been added." His outlook for the future of higher education is bright.

"In an area of 250,000 people there are only about 5,000 to 7,000 enrolled in some form of higher education," he said. "We haven't come close to providing the opportunities needed."

In his spare moments, Hauselman looks for a new assistant, recruits faculty members and putters around in his flower garden—"my only hobby." Before becoming acting director of the college, he was administrative assistant in the UK Community College System offices on the Lexington campus.

LIONS AUXILIARY MEETS

The Walton Lions Auxiliary held its monthly meeting on Tuesday evening of last week at Heritage Steak House, Florence.

Mrs. Olive Johnson gave a delightful program on each member's horoscope.

Members present were: Ruth Davis, Lillian Davis, Olive Johnson, Ruth Masters, Marcella Messingschlager, Gloria Parker, Eloise Ryan, and Wanda Daxon.

"D" Knotters Win Two

The Sizemore Class "D" Knotters baseball team defeated Dixie State Bank on July 2 by a score of 19-16, and on July 9 won over Mary Queen of Heaven to the tune of 14-4. Their coaches are Bill Leicht and Paul Ryan.

Visit Daniel Boone Camp For Boys

Six members of the Wa-Na Woman's Club visited the Daniel Boone Camp for Boys at Bellevue last Friday.

Members of the Walton Literary Club and the Wa-Na Club had prepared individual gifts for the 32 boys at the home and the Wa-Na Club gave some recreation equipment for the entertainment of all the lads.

Mrs. Asa M. Rouse, Mrs. Jack Rouse, Mrs. Nelson Popham, Mrs. Clayton Jones, Mrs. Chester Sturgeon, and Mrs. Robert Eisen-schmidt enjoyed having lunch in the dining area and met and talked personally with many of the boys. After lunch the women were taken on a tour of the facilities and grounds and met several of the instructors and counselors.

Mrs. Clayton Jones said, "This is a wonderful place for these boys, 8 thru 13, who are sent here from all over the state for correction and to be given a few advantages denied them by their own parents for one reason or another. It would be well for any individual or organization to visit and find out what assistance could be given this organization. Although a state operated institution, outside help and interest is appreciated by the counselors and directors in charge."

LOCAL SCHOOL GETS THE RATE INCREASE

With your last telephone bill was a statement notifying you of a "rate increase for school tax." The notice stated that "the entire amount of the tax which the company collects will be sent to the Boone County Financial Officer for the schools of Boone County, Ky."

Although the Walton-Verona Board of Education refused to jointly endorse this request with the Boone County Board of Education, this district will receive its share of the tax, according to Supt. Earl Roberts. The tax collected is to be divided between the two boards on a per-pupil basis.

REVIVAL AT GOSHEN

There will be revival services at the Goshen Christian Church, on the Piner-Bracht Road, beginning Sunday evening, July 21 and continuing through July 26.

Brother Donald R. Baker, minister of the Alexandria Church of Christ, will be the evangelist at the 8:00 p. m. services.

The public is invited to attend these services and hear God's Word proclaimed in message and song, according to Marshall L. Hills, the local minister.

Kenton Farm Agency Pioneers Honored

Pioneer Agriculture of Stabilization and Conservation Service workers were honored at a 9:00 a. m. breakfast Thursday, July 11 by the Kenton County ASCS at the Owen County RECC Building on Walton-Nicholson Road.

The Oak Island Homemakers Club served the meal, according to Russell Rector, chairman of the Kenton County group.

Among those given homage were S. W. Durr, 7330 Walton-Nicholson Road, and Mose L. Black, 702 Erlanger Road, Erlanger, who have served as Community and County Committeemen longer than any other elected officials.

Mrs. Julia Wicklund, 28 McCullum Road, Independence, was also honored as being the first clerk for all programs, beginning in 1933 and continuing through 1945. Others were W. C. Brown, Elmer Webster, C. D. McDannold and Fred Neihoff, in the Corn-Hog Program; Jess Sebre, L. J. Rapp, Ed Bach, John W. Shaw, Joseph Neumeister, Howard Clinkensbeard, Mildred R. Mayer, Lloyd Baldwin, Stanley Hergott, Leslie Feebles, William R. Brown, R. C. Hinesdale, Chester Rapp, C. A. Richardson, Elizabeth Jackson, and Willard V. Hinesdale.

Democrat Party County Convention at Burlington

A Democrat Party County Convention will be held on Saturday, July 20th at 2:00 p. m., in the Boone County Courthouse, Burlington.

Delegates and alternates for the District and State Democrat Conventions will be elected. This is the first step in the process of the selection of a Democrat Party Platform and Presidential and Vice Presidential nominees. All registered Democrats in Boone County are urged to attend.

After the convention, the Boone County Democrat Club, the Young Democrat Club, and the Teen-Age Democrat Club will have a picnic at the Burlington Fairgrounds.

Everyone will bring a covered dish. Entertainment will be by the Boone County Band.

Want Facts On the New County Home

At a meeting held Monday night the Boone County Republican Executive Committee appointed a sub-committee to bring the true facts to light on the proposed new county home. Members agreed that many false rumors were flying—both pro and con—regarding the project, yet felt the people of the county actually knew very little. With the exceptionally large debt the county would assume in building the home, the GOP Committee considered itself obligated to get the true facts and publish them for the people. It was noted that the Fiscal Court had not done so.

At the same meeting, a candidate procurement committee was appointed, as well as one to write new by-laws for the Executive Committee.

Additionally the Committee voted their backing of Congressman Gene Snyder for re-election to Congress, and Marlow Cook for election to the U. S. Senate.

All measures brought before the Committee, which recorded its largest turnout in history, were unanimously approved, according to publicist Charles Wiley.

Social at St. Cecilia Church

The Altar Society of St. Cecilia Church, Independence, is sponsoring its regular monthly card party and social on Wednesday, July 24, at 1:30 p. m., in the school basement. The public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale E. Gadd

A candlelight, double ring ceremony united in marriage Miss Stella Marie Baker and Mr. Dale E. Gadd on Saturday, June 22, at 7:30 p. m., in First Baptist Church of Walton. Rev. Charles T. Saylor officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Baker of Walton. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gadd, also of Walton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown of lace over satin with a detachable train. She carried a bouquet of orchids and carnations on a white ribbon.

Miss Linda Mastin sang, "I Love You Truly." Mr. James Drury sang, "The Lord's Prayer." They were accompanied on the organ

Southern States Meeting July 23

Election of local Advisory Board members, Farm Home Advisory Committee members, and operations reports will highlight the Southern States Cooperative's 45th Anniversary Annual membership meeting for the Walton area on July 23, 1968, at Walton-Verona High School. The meeting will be held at 9:00 p. m.

Donnie Rosenstiel of Verona, is to serve as chairman of the local meeting. Rev. Charles T. Saylor of First Baptist Church, will give the invocation.

Local operations and services will be discussed by Christopher C. Combs, manager of Boone County Farm Supply, Walton.

H. E. Lindley of Lexington, a member of the cooperative's regional staff, will report on the overall Southern States operations for the past fiscal year.

One of the 45th anniversary features of the session will be special recognition of all former local board and Farm Advisory Committee members. There will also be a ceremony honoring new Advisory Board members at which they will receive lapel pins. Retiring board members will be presented the cooperative's Leadership Award in recognition of their service.

Nominees for the local Southern States Advisory Board for this area are: Gene Evans, Crittenden; Herbert Hoffman, Independence; Denny Jones, and Lawrence Lawson, both of Walton.

Ladies nominated for the Farm Home Advisory Committee are: Mrs. Marvin Foenash, Walton; Mrs. Caesar Arnett, Mrs. Ernest Haddix, and Mrs. James Messmer, all of Verona.

Other highlights of the meeting will be the cutting of the 45th anniversary birthday cake, and a discussion period.

The following committee chairmen will assist with the local session: Attendance, Kendall Hand, Burlington; Greeting, K. F. Ballard, Jr., Crittenden; Ribbons, Mrs. Donnie Rosenstiel, Verona; Decorating, Mrs. Arnold Alford, Verona.

Entertainment will be provided by the Walters Gospel Singers of Williamstown.

Nothing Definite On Sewer System

It seems a number of different stories have been making the rounds in Walton regarding the sewer system. In fact, we had a call from a resident last week, asking if we could find out what was going on.

Jim Lawrence, our assistant editor, contact Mayor Dale Stephens and the mayor told him that no report had been received from the Atlanta H. U. D. office. He said as soon as any report is received, it will be made available to the public.

This may or may not answer your questions, but it's the best we could do.

Happy Helpers Meet

The Happy Helpers Class of the Walton United Methodist Church held its regular meeting on Tuesday evening at seven with a ham dinner at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Morgan.

The dinner was served out on the lawn. The picnic tables were filled with lots of food, as there were 30 members and guests present.

Mrs. Mary Stephenson had a short business session. Rev. Robert Yates had charge of the devotion. He also introduced the guest speaker, Rev. Gayle Steward, pastor of Big Bone Methodist Church. He spoke on youth and the old. It was a very inspiring talk. Mrs. Morgan invited the group into her home where she played several selections on the organ, and she and her daughter, Mrs. Don Allen, sang several duets, which were enjoyed by all.

The August meeting will be at the church with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wallace as hosts.

Those present were: Rev. and Mrs. Robert Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hetzel, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wallace, Rev. A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

When "outdoor fever," warm days and balmy nights take their toll, and eyes gaze dreamily out of windows, let wanderlust work for you. Take a gastronomic tour of the United States. Improved commercial transportation and food preservation techniques tend to make us forget that many foods and indigenous to limited areas.

Our first American settlers, when reaching American shores after a three month journey, were ravenously hungry for fresh foods. Their long voyage was made to seem even longer by the ship's limited menu or their own stores. The Pilgrims numbered 102—50 men, 20 women, and 32 children. Not until their feet touched American soil could they enjoy relief from the monotonous menu of hardtack, dried beef and cheese — usually served cold.

History reports that shellfish were one of the first meals on the new land and seafood became a staple for many months to come. But the Pilgrims, landlubbers to a man, found great difficulty in realizing sustenance from the sea. In fact, one of the most exciting moments in the early days of settlement was when a man trapped a live cod near shore.

Clam was the first food to welcome the Pilgrims. You might follow their example and prepare clam chowder for your family soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Callen and Elbert Callen spent last Thursday in Covington.

Many teen-agers today go ahead and marry, expecting their parents to be good supports about it.

Notes of Servicemen

Seaman Apprentice Terry W. Noe, USCGR, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Noe, Jr., of Route 1, Walton, has graduated from basic training at the Coast Guard Recruit Training Center at Cape May, N. J., after a period of eight weeks.

As a graduate, he may apply, if eligible, for advanced training in one of the many occupational fields required by the Coast Guard or he may be assigned to a Coast Guard unit operating in the U. S. or overseas.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

We would like to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the relatives and friends of Charlie H. Dorsey for their many deeds of kindness and expressions of sympathy rendered us after his recent death. We especially thank the Independence Life Squad for their prompt service; Pastors Branham, Curry and Maners for their consoling words and prayers; Mrs. Warren Weirbs, pianist, and Brother Bob Montgomery, vocalist, for their beautiful musical selections; his associates at Swindler Funeral Homes, and Don Stiff for his efficiency in conducting the funeral services.

Rev. and Mrs. Phillips and two children, Cathy and Gary, left immediately following the Sunday evening service to go to summer school at Durham, N. C. Of course Rev. Phillips will have a working vacation, but Mrs. Phillips and the young people plan to have fun.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brinkley are busy getting her apartment in order before he departs for Camp Dix, soon, and will later go to Vietnam. We wish him every good luck and our prayers follow him.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Parsons and Jeff and Sharon enjoyed a trip to the New England states and, I believe, Canada.

I have been visiting with my cousin, Mrs. Adah Steinhauer, at Morning View, for several days.

July 18. It was later rescheduled for July 25. The August meeting is planned as a luncheon meeting at Butler Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Losey and sons, Jeffrey and John, visited her parents on Sunday. John remained to spend the week, but became lonesome and Mr. and Mrs. Sayle brought him home Wednesday.

Questions and Answers Veterans Administration

Q—I have received a widow's pension providing benefits for myself and two minor children for several years. This VA award is based upon my husband's military service. I have just remarried. Will my children still be eligible to receive benefits from the VA?

A—Yes. Your children will continue to receive pension benefits from the VA as long as their unearned income is less than $1,800 a year for each child. These benefits will be paid until they reach age 18, or age 23 if they are in college. You should report promptly to the Veterans Administration your remarriage to prevent an overpayment of pension benefits.

Q—I will not be released from active duty until late this summer, just in time to enroll in college for the fall semester. Can I get a certificate of eligibility from the Veterans Administration now so that I can present it to the school when I enroll?

A—No. In applying to the VA for a Certificate of Eligibility for G. I. Bill educational benefits, you must furnish a copy of your Report of Separation (DD Form 214) with the application. And you cannot obtain this necessary form until you are actually separated from the Armed Forces. However, this should present no problem. Your application will be handled without delay by the VA regional office where your records will be maintained. And you will receive an educational assistance allowance dating back to the time you started school.

The More Costly War

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

My mail indicates that more and more Americans are beginning to suspect that the President has been taken in by the Reds in the Paris "peace" talks. Shrewdly evaluating the mood of America, the Communists lured him into what has become a lot of "sound and fury signifying nothing." There was the scrap over the site for the talks. Since then, the subject of peace has been buried under an avalanche of meaningless rhetoric. The idea of setting a deadline for the Reds to talk sense, with the threat of a stepped up conflict if they refuse, is gaining currency in many quarters.

As peace hopes fade, the intensity of the war increases. U. S. casualties are escalating. The casualty rate since January 1 totals 8,722 dead and 53,209 wounded. This is more than the South Vietnamese losses which total total 8,500 dead and 25,000 wounded for the same period.

The war's toll has mounted steadily under this Administration's policy of gradualism. In 1964, the U. S. averaged four dead and 20 wounded a week. By 1965, it had increased to 26 dead and 118 wounded per week. In 1966, it jumped to 96 killed and 579 wounded weekly. During 1967, the deaths doubled to 180 and so did wounded to 1,190. But, in 1968, with less than half the year gone, the figures already have more than doubled — deaths have averaged 379 a week, and wounded 2,313. The war is becoming more costly in American lives as it continues to eat up nearly $600 million a week in expenditures. Through June 8, total casualties were 24,774 Americans killed, 152,972 wounded. Vietnam has become a major U. S. war — with no clear goal in sight, having been fought under restrictive "ground rules" that prevented us from hitting strategic targets. Graft and corruption have diverted U. S. supplies to the Viet Cong, who admit they depend on us for the weapons and supplies of war. The pacification program has been a flop.

Now comes Gen. William C. Westmoreland, who has issued rosy statements about U. S. gains during his tenure as field commander there. On leaving Vietnam, however, Gen. Westmoreland said, when asked if the war could be won: "Not in a classic sense — because of our national policy of not expanding the war." Then he went on to describe U. S. losses as "relative light" and said the war could go on a "long time" at the present rate—a dismal turnabout for the General who has heretofore been optimistic, perhaps falsely so on orders from the Commander in Chief.

Vietnam is turning into a no win, no purpose, bloody, costly experiment in time-measured response" which military men have warned cannot produce victory for the U. S.

One point of interest in the Louisville area is a buffalo farm. A 24-acre fenced enclosure on the C. D. Hargadon farm, 13808 Shelbyville Road, is range for a buffalo herd in the making. Purchased at public auction in the West, these animals are wild. Viewing and photographing are permitted.

AREA AGENT'S 1/2 ACRE

...by...
JOE CLAYSON

World population may double in the next 35 years. Whether world food production also can double, remains to be seen. Here, with most of the readily available land under cultivation, per acre yields have been increased through liberal use of fertilizers, pest control, improved seeds, and better farm management. In much of Asia, Africa, and Latin America, fertilizers are used very sparingly, yet they need an amount equivalent to the world's present annual production.

In America, one-third of the human diet is of animal origin. This means that about 11,000 calories are consumed by livestock to produce about 3,150 for human use. Many less fortunate countries cannot afford this luxury. In India, less than five percent of the diet comes from animal products. The people eat the grains and other plant foods directly.

Modern technology is being applied to production of exotic foods, such as bacteria grown on petroleum and algae fattened in local sewage disposal facilities. However, the human palate can be very selective, even when the owner is very hungry. Have you tried to get children to eat their greens or other vegetables? As long as we can afford it, it is quite likely that there will be a demand for meat, milk, eggs, ice cream and other animal food products.

Dairy cattle rank high among all species of livestock in efficiency of food production. What is more, they can utilize grazing land, much of which is unsuitable for the plow. The bacteria in the stomachs of cattle can utilize feed stuffs that cannot be digested by people. For example, corn stalks, corn cobs, straw, soybean vines, etc., all can be utilized by ruminants with perhaps a urea and molasses supplement.

In recent years much has been written about air pollution. Our automobiles, factories, heating systems, and even our bodies produce various carbon monoxides in large quantities. Green plants utilize carbon monoxide in the synthesis of glucose (sugar) among other steps. Without plants, it is certain that our air pollution problems would be much larger than at present.

To be sure economic pressures have been and will continue to modify agriculture and livestock production. However, it appears very likely that ruminants and particularly dairy cattle will play essential roles in world food production and air pollution reduction for many years to come.

Fionnie Edrington, Reporter

Joe Perkins, Jr. left July 5th for Ft. Benning, Ga., where he will take his basic training. We wish Joe the best of luck.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Washum of Norfolk, Va., are visiting his mother, Mrs. Cecil Washum, and sons. Claude has been in the Navy for 20 years and has retired now and is moving back to Kentucky, where he can be with old friends. He said he was tired of Navy life.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blythe and daughter, Stephanie, of Maryville, Tenn., have been visiting his aunt, Mrs. Frances Wilson, of Verona, and her sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Grubbs, and other relatives of Walton.

Dr. and Mrs. William Waller went to Texas last week for a few days vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lindsey are visiting her mother, Mrs. Lillie Cooke, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Omer Lindsey of Walton. John is in the Army and stationed in Virginia.

Mrs. Mabel Stevens of West Palm Beach, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Price Watkins of Smithfield, Ky., were recent guests of Mrs. Frances Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bob Hamilton and two daughters left Friday evening for their home at Fort Rucker, Ala., where he is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman German and two small daughters at Atlanta, Ga., spent from July 3 to July 7th with her aunt, Mrs. Frances Wilson.

Mrs. Queenie Blackwell is visiting Mrs. Allie Chandler for a few days.

Mrs. Lindsey Webster, Reporter

Richard Hutchinson's boys and Eddie Brashear have been helping L. E. Webster fix a culvert. Eddie is also helping Mr. Webster and Mr. Hutchinson in the hay.

Mrs. Vernon Franks is in the Convalescent Rest Home at Dry Ridge. Send her a card. The people get lonesome in a place like this and like to get letters and cards. They also like for people to visit them.

Ben Kannady is in the hospital. He had a stroke.

The Concord Baptist Church is having a revival the first week in August. Bro. Breck Shinkle is going to be the speaker. Come and hear some good sermons, and hear how the children sing.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lawson and two children spent from Thursday until Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lawson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Webster visited Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chapman on Tuesday.

Mrs. Webster spent Monday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rudd and children.

A HEART TRANSPLANT
Lesson for July 21, 1968

Background Scripture: Ezekiel 18:31-32
Devotional Reading: Psalms 51:10-17

Several years ago on one of those Sunday afternoon panel-interview television programs, a newsmen asked a physician if he thought it would ever be possible to transplant the human heart. The unequivocal answer he received was "No, definitely not!"

Today, of course, there is no longer a question of impossibility. It has already been done and is likely to be done again and again.

Rev. Althouse

A new spirit

It is wonderful that today the human physical heart can be replaced by a transplant. How much more wonderful if we could transplant the spiritual heart as well. Just as that amazing muscular pump transplanted from one body to another can bring it new life, so new life could enter the soul of man if he could find the means of getting himself a new spiritual heart.

This is precisely what Ezekiel proposed to the people of Judah in their Chaldean exile: "Cast away from you all the transgressions which you have committed against me, and get yourselves a new heart and a new spirit." The people of Judah are like a pile of whitened bones, but if they will get themselves a new heart, the dry bones can live and rise again. "Why will you die, O house of Israel? For I have no pleasure in the death of anyone, says the Lord God: so turn and live" (Ezekiel 18:31, 31b, 32 RSV).

There is the key: "... so turn and live!" The people of Judah needed to change. This is what Jesus told Nicodemus: that he and all men would have to be born anew. There are frequent New Testament references to the need for rebirth, renewal, and conversion. There is, also Paul, telling the Corinthians: "Therefore, if any one is in Christ, he is a new creation" (2 Corinthians 5:17 RSV).

Quarrelsome ape

But is it possible? Can men "get a new heart" or is this merely some misty ideal? "No!" say those who have observed that people seldom change, that even their own attempts to change have been fruitless exercises in futility. These are the people who "give up smoking forever" at least once a month, who have despaired of bathroom scales that keep going up and never down. Like H. G. Wells, they have observed that, though man is an animal who can jump a hundred miles, see through brick walls, bombard the atom and analyze the stars, he nevertheless continues to "behave like the quarrelsome ape he used to be."

Yet people can change; Ezekiel himself experienced that. A priest in the Jerusalem temple, he had had to re-evaluate his vocation when he arrived a captive in Chaldea. What would a Hebrew priest do there? The function of a priest is to serve in the temple, but it had been destroyed and there was nothing to replace it. We do not know what he did at first, but at the end of five years there he embarked upon an entirely new vocation as a prophet. It was a difficult change to make, but he made it.

Bill Sands was a prisoner in San Quentin some years ago. He was marked as an "incorrigible" and no one thought he would ever change. No one, but Warden Clinton Duffy who managed to communicate to Bill that he cared what happened to him. Today Bill Sands is a free man, a respected citizen, who is spending his life helping other convicts to "get a new heart." One of the things he teaches them is that when they return to the outside world, "it will be the same tough world they left behind. If they are going to find a place in it, they are the ones who will have to do the changing."

We might wish that the world were different, but it isn't. If it is ever to be improved, we must change first and then the world may begin to change too. It begins in us with a new heart!

Who keeps the roof on ... (when everyone is raising it?)

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ...

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

With all the theological ferment these days there is more unrest in our churches than we have known in many years. Issues divide the congregations and sometimes the whole debate seems endless. It would be easier to stay home in bed on Sunday mornings.

But through it all, the houses of God stand, because regular churchgoers know that men are inconstant, that they are subject to numerous temptations and influences. They also know that God is omnipotent, is omniscient. His care is constant. His creative spirit continually sustains the earth, and His love is always sensitive to the plight of man.

It is not easy to be a Christian; it never was. Houses of God stand because there are those who are willing to be channels of God's care—who assume responsibility for church schools, missions, social justice, and—oh yes—that roof.

MONEY TO BE MADE WITH HOGS

From all indications the hog market will continue to be strong with prices at Cincinnati averaging 21-23 cents during August and up into September. You can get your hogs to market fast and at low cost per pound of gain by feeding them complete Purina Hog Chows. Use Purina Growers from 50 to 85 lbs., and then switch to Purina Hi-Protein until pigs reach 125 lbs. From 125 lbs. to market, we recommend using Purina Commercial Hog Finisher. From 25 lbs. to 225 lbs. you should be able to produce a pound of pork on less than 3.4 lbs. of feed. Check with us today on the new Purina Complete Hog Chow Program.

A REAL MILK BOOSTER FOR YOUR COWS

With old man weather giving us hot and humid days your cows may have slipped a little in milk production and body conditioning. In fact you might even wish there was a tonic you could give them. Purina Golden Bulky can act as a real tonic for your cows during this hot weather. Just add a gallon at each milking on top of your regular milking ration. Cows love Golden Bulky. It is sweet and bulky with more than six bushels per 100 lbs. It is loaded with important milk producing vitamins and minerals cows need to keep milk production climbing.

COWS AND HOT WEATHER

With the hot, humid weather we have been having it sure has been a problem to get cows to eat enough pasture to keep milk production up. In some areas of the county pastures have started to lose their feed value due to the dry weather. One sure way to get your cows to milking at full capacity is to feed Purina Checkerboard Dairy 16% milking ration. Checkerboard Dairy is fortified with extra vitamins and minerals that cows may fail to get by not grazing as long as they should. Checkerboard Dairy is also a high energy, all grain ration that cows love. They will clean it up. By switching your cows to Purina Checkerboard Dairy 16% you can save time by not having to grind or scoop corn. Come in and let's try and work out the most economical way to supply your herd with Purina Checkerboard Dairy 16%.

MORE THAN 14 DIFFERENT FLY KILLERS AVAILABLE

We carry more than 14 different types of fly killers at our store. Purina Dairy Cattle Dust, Purina Dairy Spray Special, Purina Dairy Spray Concentrate, Purina Vapona Strips, Purina Fly Bait and many more. MAKE OUR STORE YOUR FLY CONTROL HEADQUARTERS. We have Purina products for face flies!

OK Given Banklick Watershed Study

Kenton and Boone County soil and water conservationists will be authorized this month to survey and plan the Banklick Creek watershed project, Congressman Gene Snyder announced recently.

Snyder explained that the survey could not be done until the U. S. Department of Agriculture approved and the USDA was to announce approval July 20.

35,728 Acres Included
The watershed project encompasses 35,728 acres in Kenton and Boone counties and is expected to require construction of three dams.

Snyder said money for construction would have to be approved and authorized after the survey has been completed and submitted. Cost of the survey will come out of regular agriculture and Kentucky Natural Resources Department operating funds, he said.

The Banklick watershed, originated and called the "greenbelt plan" by the Covington-Kenton-Boone Chamber of Commerce, was applied for by Kenton County Soil Conservation District, Kenton County Fiscal Court and the city of Covington.

A WINNING PIANIST

Miss Ellen Benson, 19, daughter of Mrs. Charles N. Benson, Florence, and Boone County Circuit Court Clerk, was a winning pianist at the Interlochen, Mich., Arts Academy National Music Camp. She was also a dinner guest of world-famed pianist, Van Cliburn.

BOONE DELEGATES ATTEND CONVENTION

Boone County delegates will attend the Saturday morning district Democratic convention and the Saturday afternoon state convention in Louisville on July 27.

Boone county delegates were selected in the county convention last Saturday in Burlington.

They are: Wm. P. McEvoy, Bruce Ferguson, Robert Eades, R. V. Lents, Ab Ryan, Gil Clifton, Harold Rogers, June Rouse, James Conner, Burman Roberts, Ruby Wood, John Akin, Susan McNeely, Francis Dooley, Irene Patrick, Nellie McCarty, and Charles Carpenter.

State delegates to the national convention in August will be elected. Also the state Democratic central committee will be chosen.

Baby Contest Registration

The committee in charge of the baby show at the Kenton County Fair announces that registration for the contest will be held at 1:00 p. m., Saturday, August 3, in the Simon Kenton High School cafeteria. The judging will begin at 2:00 p. m.

The same rules and regulations as appear in the current Fair Catalog will govern the selection by the judges, who will be secured by the committee.

Miss Benson was a church organist in Erlanger and Florence while she attended Boone County High School. She is a student at Converse College, Spartanburg, South Carolina.

CHARLES HOLDER INJURED AT WORK

Charles "Hunky" Holder of Chambers St., Walton, was injured early last Friday morning when a light pole on which he was working broke causing him to fall about 15 feet.

Holder, who works for The Union Light, Heat & Power Company, was called out due to a severe storm last Thursday night. The accident occurred at 2:00 a. m., on River Road, near Taylorsport, Boone County. He fell on his back with the pole on top of him. He was alone, so after freeing himself, he called for his truck for assistance.

Holder is a patient in Bethesda Hospital, Cincinnati, where he is suffering from a fracture in the spinal area of his back. He will be fitted with a back brace and expects to be home later this week.

Republican Fund-Raising

Republican Senator Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska will be the principal speaker at the Republican fund raising dinner, Friday, July 26 at the White House Inn. The funds are for Marlow Cook in his Senate race and for M. Gene Snyder who is seeking reelection to congress from the fourth dist.

The dinner is sponsored by the combined Republican organizations of northern Kentucky from Kenton, Campbell, Boone, Grant, Gallatin and Pendleton counties. Master of ceremonies is to be John R. S. Brooking.

Changes Announced in Local Postal Service

A cut-back in postal services will become effective Saturday, July 27, 1968. All postal patrons of Walton and Independence will be affected by the change. Rural and city delivery will continue, at least for the immediate present, and lock box patrons will still be able to get their mail. Most noticeable will be the inability to purchase stamps and mail letters explanation from each postoffice.

AT WALTON

Postmaster Mildred Y. Cleek announced today that certain changes in postal service in Walton, Ky. will be effective Saturday, July 27. Window service on Saturday will be discontinued, except general delivery or call service will be available from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. (Postoffice in Florence, Burlington and Hebron will observe the same hours.)

The Post Office lobby hours will remain the same and stamps may be purchased from the stamp machine, hours 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

There is no change in the Rural Routes and City Delivery.

Mail will continue to be received at 6 a. m. and dispatched at 5 p. m. Patrons are encouraged to deposit mail early so that employees can make the dispatch on schedule.

These changes are to comply with directives issued by the Postmaster General Watson in the cut-back required by Congress under the recently enacted Public Law 90-364.

Walton-Verona Schools to Open August 26

The 1968-1969 school term for Walton-Verona will begin Monday, August 26. Students will report for a one-half day morning session and return home. The school district will operate on the prevailing time with bus schedules and school hours being the same as last year. Superintendent Earl C. Roberts said most of the areas of employment had been filled with only minor exceptions.

A list of the personnel includes:

Ernest Hahn, elementary principal; Mrs. Lillian Acree, Mrs. Earl Roberts, and Mrs. Linda Crutcher, teachers for the first grade; Mrs. Betty Roter and Mrs. Sarah Sleet, second grade; Mrs. Pauline Gardner, third grade; Mrs. Elizabeth Kemper and Mrs. Leota Mathis, fourth grade; Mrs. Ruth Layne and William Mathis, fifth grade; Mrs. Francis Wilson and Mrs. Dorothy Porter, sixth grade; there is a vacancy for a third grade teacher.

In the upper six grades, Billy E. Prewitt will return as principal. Seventh grade teachers are Mrs. Bernice Gill and Reed Tyler. Mr. Tylor will also serve as head coach of basketball. Mrs. Cattie Stephenson, Gary Stephenson, and Marilyn Spicer will teach the eighth grade.

In the high school there are two new teachers: Terry Estep of Piner, will teach in the science department and Donald Reecever, Jr., from Louisville will be in the English department. Other teachers are Mrs. Katherine Baker, James Smith, Lloyd Franks, Mrs. Betty Combs, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Tillery, (he will be assistant basketball coach), Grant Thorpe, Glenn Adams, James Layne, Mrs. Leona Douglas, Mrs. Georgia Conrad and Mrs. Woodrow McKay. Secretaries are Mrs. Lois McElroy and Mrs. Jan Ryan.

There is expected to be no changes in custodians, bus drivers or lunchroom cooks.

Ice Cream Social Saturday At Walton Christian Church

The Bykota Sunday School Class of Walton Christian Church will hold its annual ice cream social on the lawn of the church on Saturday, July 27.

Everything will be homemade. They will serve homebaked ham and homemade pimento cheese sandwiches, a variety of home-made cakes and plenty of good homemade ice cream, the kind this class has been famous for serving for a number of years. There will also be soft drinks.

You're invited. Have supper and enjoy the evening with friends. Serving will start at 5:00 p. m. and continue until the ice cream is gone. Remember the date—Saturday, July 27, 5:00 p. m. In case of rain, serving will be done in Fellowship Hall.

of northern Kentucky from Kenton, Campbell, Boone, Grant, Gallatin and Pendleton counties. Master of ceremonies is to be John R. S. Brooking.

Miss Boone County Fair Pageant

The annual Miss Boone County Fair Pageant will be held August 6, at 8 p. m. in the grandstand at the Boone County Fairgrounds in Burlington, according to John B. Walton, Jr., President.

In the past years the pageant has been one of the fair's most colorful events in its many activities, according to Robert Matheny, director of the pageant. The winner of the pageant will represent Boone County in January at the State Beauty Pageant of the Kentucky Fair and Horse Show Association, in Louisville.

Mrs. Kathryn Rudicill will assist Mr. Matheny in directing the pageant. Girls that are interested in participating should call Mr. Matheny at 586-6234 or Mrs. Rudicill at 586-6142 or 586-6748.

All entries must be single girls between 15 and 22 years of age. Previous winners are not eligible.

There will be trophies for the first four places. The Queen will receive $50 and an all expense trip for the contestant and chaperone to Louisville for the State Pageant. The first runner-up will receive $50 cash, Mr. Walton said.

GULLION-SMITH

Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Gullion announce the marriage of their daughter, Jennie Marian to Roger Leland Smith, on Saturday, July 6, 1968 in Old St. Mary's Church, San Francisco, California.

Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Walton-Verona High School and attended Cumberland College at Williamsburg and the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

Mr. Smith received his BA degree in English and Literature from California State College, San Francisco.

The couple now reside at 500 Fillmore Street, Apt. 28, San Francisco, but will move to their home in Vallejo in the near future. He is employed there in social work.

GOLDEN WEDDING SET

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller of Warsaw, Kentucky, will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary July 28, 1968 at their home. Mr. Miller is a retired farmer. They have two daughters, Mrs. Whitney Gross and Mrs. Grover McMichael both of Warsaw. They also have five grandchildren.

Friends are invited to call in the afternoon between two and five o'clock.

Home for Aged Will Not Cost Taxpayer

At the Fiscal Court meeting last Tuesday, Boone County Judge Bruce Ferguson stated that the new home, for the aged will not cost Boone county taxpayers.

He said that the new home would be operated after the pattern of Lakeside Place of Campbell county. The fiscal court will spend a total of $15,000 annually if necessary to care for the Boone County indigent patients. This is an increase of $5,000 what is now spent in operating the present county infirmary.

The title to the home is vested with a holding company comprised of fiscal court members as individuals. Operation of the home is to be in charge of a 15-member operating committee consisting of doctors, nurses, a pharmacist, and other business and professional people. They would serve without pay. Charles Conrad of Burlington has been listed as committee chairman.

Only one person at the county infirmary can qualify for federal or state aid. But if they were in the new home all of them could qualify for assistance because the new facility would qualify. It was noted that the new facility will offer extended care.

Record Weekend For Ky. Parks

State parks commissioner Robt. E. Gable says an estimated 754,400 persons visited Kentucky's 35 state parks and shrines during the four-day Fourth of July weekend. This is the biggest holiday week end in the department's history.

Miss Carol Schwenke, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Schwenke, Union, was named Miss Owen County RECC, on Tuesday night, July 16, at Grant County High School, Dry Ridge. The contest was held as a part of the Owen County RECC annual membership meeting.

Second place honors went to Miss Vicki Lynn Craig, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Craig of Ghent. A total of ten contestants were entered in the contest.

By winning the local pageant, Miss Schwenke won the right to represent Owen County RECC in the state contest to be held as a part of the State Fair in Louisville in August. She was crowned by Miss Becky Bourne, last year's beauty contest winner.

An estimated 2,500 persons were on hand for the meeting. Drawings were held for major attendance prizes and the winners included Ted Sebastian, Route 1, Dry Ridge, who was presented a 2-door, 14 cu. ft. frigidaire refrigerator.

During the business session, three directors were re-elected to the Owen County RECC Board of Directors. They were: Robert Arthur, District 2; Roy Gray, District 8, and Howard Green, District 9.

Presentations were made by Cooperative President Rev. William M. Smith; Manager Marvin Keith, and acting Secretary-Treasurer Robert Arthur. In their reports, the three Cooperative officers outlined some of the activities of the Cooperative as well as giving a report on the growth of rural electrification.

RESOLUTION NO. 1968-7

WHEREAS, it appears to the members of the City Council of Walton, Kentucky, that Edwards Avenue and Johnson Street are contiguous and in the same subdivision; that Johnson Street from Edwards Avenue S 11 - 30 W 460 feet, more or less, to the South property line of Clark's Subdivision (addition) to the City of Walton, Kentucky, and Edwards Avenue Southwesterly from the edge of the pavement on Main Street (U. S. 25) to Johnson Street, a distance of 850 feet, more or less, and Park Avenue from L. & N. Railroad property Westerly and Northwesterly to Alta Vista Drive, a distance of 1,150 feet, more or less, are in a bad state of repairs and needs to be improved by the construction of a new macadam and bituminous concrete surface;

WHEREAS, it has been determined by the City Council of the City of Walton, Kentucky, that it is necessary and proper for the safety and convenience to the citizens and residents of the area of Johnson Street, Edwards Avenue, and Park Avenue to reconstruct and resurface said Johnson Street, Edwards Avenue, and Park Avenue;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CITY OF WALTON, KENTUCKY:

1. That said route of said improvement on Edwards Avenue shall be from its intersection with the edge of the pavement on Main Street (U. S. 25) in a Southwesterly direction to Johnson Street, a distance of 850 feet, more or less; that said route of said improvement on Johnson Street shall be from its intersection with Edwards Avenue S 11 - 30 W 460 feet, more or less, to the south property line of Clark's Addition in the City of Walton, Kentucky; that said route of said improvement on Park Avenue shall be from its intersection with the L. & N. Railroad property westerly and northwesterly to Alta Vista Drive, a distance of 1,150 feet, more or less.

2. Said improvement shall consist of the construction of a 20 foot wide Bituminous Concrete Paving 8 inches thick with Portland Cement concrete curbs and gutters with all necessary supporting facilities, or an alternate of 20 foot wide bituminous concrete paving without curb and with all necessary supporting facilities and/or 20 foot wide 6 inches thick Portland concrete street with rolled curb and gutters and all necessary supporting facilities.

3. Said improvement is hereby declared to be a necessity.

4. Said improvement is to be a stage improvement.

5. Said improvement is to be paid for by the benefited property owners.

Passed, approved by the vote of 5 members of the City Council, and ordered published by said Council of the City of Walton, Kentucky, as provided by law, this 16th day of July, 1968.

It was decided that a reunion would be held every since the family is collecting history and tracing the family tree.

JET SET 4-H CLUB

The July meeting of the Jet Set 4-H Club held at the home of Vicki Mastin was a pleasant one. The meeting was conducted by vice-president Vicki Mastin because several of the members were absent. Those present were Dean and David Lockard, Melonie Currey, Chela and John Richardson, hostess Vicki, leader Mrs. Richardson and guests, Mrs. Mastin and Mrs. Currey.

Dean, David and Melonie attended 4-H camp June 24-28 at Carlisle and they reported on their activities. All of them got seals (the highest award in their age group) in handicrafts, swimming, archery, nature, casting, and electric. The boys also received seals in boating and gun safety.

The club discussed the upcoming Kenton county 4-H picnic which is to be held at Campbell County Park, July 27th. It is for all the county 4-H members, leaders and parents. All members of the Jet Set Club hope to attend.

August 1, 2 and 3 are the dates for the Kenton County Fair. Two members plan to enter the 4-H Prince and Princess contest and several will have exhibits in both the 4-H and open classes.

August 13th is the date set for the next meeting.

Take that small step—the one that involves practicing safety, says the UK cooperative extension service.

This is Farm Safety Week—and the observance once again emphasizes that the 'small step' eaves lives or limbs.

For instance: You have only one pair of eyes—and it takes just a second to put on protective goggles or glasses when doing the kind of work where flying fragments can damage your eyes.

When you have a jam in power operated equipment, stop the power at the source before you clear the jam. NEVER try to clear a jam while the equipment is still running.

If you work on a vehicle, be sure the wheels are blocked to prevent rolling or that the vehicle is safely propped up with sturdy materials.

It takes only a second to read the label on a chemical container. Take that second, you may save the lives of humans or livestock.

Don't take Joy-riders on tractors or other farm equipment. Simply carry the crew for which equipment is designed—and no more.

Put roll bars or overhead protective devices on tractors. Once these big machines start to roll over, there isn't any protection for the trapped driver. And never start equipment till you get the all-clear sign that all persons are off, or out of the way.

Hang up your tools when you are through. Ever step on a rake or hoe? You can get a good belt.

Look fast and anticipate the unexpected, too.

Be alert today—alive tomorrow.

AN AMAZING FORGETTERY

Lesson for July 28, 1968

Background Scripture: Daniel 9:1-23.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 12.

People today, particularly, youth, have little inclination to study history. "I'm alive now," they say, "why study about what people did in the 'old days'?" This same reaction is likely to occur in response to the Bible, especially the Old Testament. People feel that they have enough of their own problems without concerning themselves with those of a bygone age.

Rev. Althouse age

What they do not realize, of course, is that it is precisely because of our current problems that we turn to the Old Testament. Philosopher George Santayana has said that "Those who do not remember the past are condemned to repeat it." William L. Shirer quotes these words in the beginning of his book, The Rise and Fall of The Third Reich, indicating that the tragedy of Nazi oppression could occur because people in the 1930's had forgotten the lessons of the past and that something of a similar nature could happen again if we fail to learn anything significant from World War Two.

We find this true of the Bible. It has something to teach us that is just as vital to us today as it was to the people of God centuries ago. This is demonstrated again and again in the history of the Hebrew people. Failing to remember and learn from the mistakes of the past, they were compelled to relive them again and again. Their problem was not in failing to grasp some new lesson, but in their refusal to learn an old one.

Something present

Biblical scholars today believe that the Book of Daniel was written to remind the Jews of an important lesson from the past. It recalled those hard days of their captivity in Chaldea when the faith of Daniel had brought much-needed encouragement and hope to the captive Jews. The writer of Daniel recalled these events, not for the sake of history itself, but to help them remember what this particular event of the past had to say about the present situation in which they found themselves.

The people for whom the Book of Daniel was written were no longer captives in Chaldea. Their fathers had returned to Judea when Cyrus the Persian had defeated Chaldea and taken its place. Now, centuries later, it was the Macedonians who were in control. Under Antiochus Epiphanes, they persecuted the Jews, profaning the temple and forbidding them to worship there. The Jews resisted this persecution as best they could, but they were beginning to lose hope and despair as becoming the popular mood.

Beyond Daniel

Thus, Daniel was written to remind the despondent nation of another day of persecution and encourage them with the inspiring story of how God had sustained his people in that dark hour. Although Daniel had been dead for several centuries, he could still serve as an inspiration to a people who were losing hope. He should be no less inspiring to us too. He was only one man, yet this one man was able to rally a whole nation by his example. But the story of Daniel points beyond the pious and courageous Jew of the Babylonian exile; it directs our attention to the real source of Judah's hope: God. It was God who worked through men like Daniel to sustain the Jews during their exile and eventually restore the nation. He had done it before and he would do it again. He could sustain the Jews during their persecution by the Macedonians, just as he will sustain us in periods of trial today. The Book of Daniel calls men to remember the past, and thus gain strength for the present and hope for the future.

Several years ago, Senator McClelland chided a witness before a congressional committee for his "amazing forgettery." The people of Israel constantly needed to be reminded of God's saving acts in the past. Perhaps our "forgettery" is no less "amazing."

source of beauty

When we look upon the grandeur of nature—when we gaze with awe at a masterpiece of art—when we are thrilled with the sounds of great music—then we often wonder about the source of all this beauty.

Undoubtedly, our energy and ability is God. It is He who is the real source of beauty in our culture. Human spirits, touched with divine inspiration have given the world treasures untold.

Consider Da Vinci's The Last Supper. Consider Handel's Messiah. Consider the marvelous literature of the Holy Bible. Truly some of the very finest of man's creations have come as the result of an awareness of God.

Indeed today our culture continues to be enriched by the expression of man's faith in the Eternal. Our churches bring us faith in God which is still a vital source of inspiration and beauty. Let the church enrich your life. Attend this Sunday and every Sunday.

Sewage Treatment Is A County Problem

The Boone County, Building Inspector and the Boone County Health Department are working together in controlling the health problem of sewage treatment in the county. No building permit will be issued until Burnam Roberts, the building inspector, 332 Bullittsville road, Hebron receives a copy of the percolation test approved by the Boone County Health Department. Therefore "Percolation Test Records" should be made in triplicate, signed by the engineer and his seal placed on same. This would be in relationship to a septic tank sewage treatment. All other sewage treatment systems must be approved through the local health department before Mr. Roberts will issue a building permit.

Anyone with need of additional information may call Mr. Roberts by dialing 689-7316.

BOONE SCHOOL TAX RATE IS TO BE 69.4

The Board of Education has recommended a tax rate of 69.4 cents per $100 valuation this year as compared with 71 cents last year.

The new is expected to become official following a special Fiscal court meeting set for July 23.

Boone County's general tax rate will be 19.8 cents for each $100 this year compared with 20.3 last year.

TWO YOUTHS INJURED IN A STOLEN TRUCK

Two Ohio youths were seriously injured one day last week on the Walton-Nicholson road as the pickup truck in which they were riding wrecked.

The truck was reportedly stolen and contained a large number of tools.

The Independence Life Squad took the injured to a Covington hospital where they were treated for numerous fractures and other injuries.

TIME, LABOR AND EXPENSES

What is your time worth as manager of your dairy operation? One good way to answer this question is, ask yourself what would it cost to hire a man to replace you. This would include a man that could make decisions which are profitable besides doing the physical labor. A recent survey revealed that this man would cost between $8,000 and $12,000 a year. If the man worked sixty hours a week and fifty weeks a year, his hourly wage would be between $3.00 and $4.00 an hour. Can you afford to buy corn and grind your dairy feed when we can bring you Purina Checkboard Dairy 16% Checkers in bulk at approximately the same cost as the corn and supplement? COME IN AND LET'S FIGURE HOW LITTLE IT WILL COST TO SWITCH TO PURINA CHECKBOARD DAIRY 16% AND SAVE TIME, LABOR AND MONEY.

FACE FLY KILLERS AVAILABLE

Purina Dairy Spray Concentrate and Purina Dairy Spray Special have been doing an outstanding job of controlling face flies on dairy cows. These two products also KILL house flies, horn flies, stable flies and the "ole horse" fly. We also recommend that barns be sprayed with Purina Cygon 2E. This is a residual spray that lasts up to eight weeks. We also carry a complete line of dairy dust as well as face fly killers for beef cattle, horses, swine and poultry. COME IN AND LET'S TALK OVER YOUR FLY CONTROL NEEDS.

ATTENTION BROOD COW AND BABY BEEF OPERATORS

Want more for your feeder calves this fall? Have you heard about Pre-conditioned calves and how they are bringing $2.00 to $3.00 more per hundred? We have a pre-conditioning program that we would like to explain to you. GIVE US A CALL.

Two Locals Receive High Scholastic Achievements

The University of Kentucky Alumni Association has announced that 296 senior high school students in 97 counties received the association's 1968 award for "high scholastic achievement."

The scholastic achievement award winners in this area are: Vernon McGloose, Walton-Verona High School and Brenda Speagle, Simon Kenton High School.

Granted Route Between Erlanger and Airport

An order has been issued by the department of motor transportation granting Greyhound Lines, Inc., of Lexington, temporary authority to operate a regular route common carrier of passengers over a route from Erlanger to the Greater Cincinnati Airport.

Commissioner Alex McIntyre Jr. stated the route will operate from the junction of U. S. Highway 25 and Ky Highway 236 at Erlanger; over Kentucky Highway 236 to the airport, with entrance and exit at

I-75. The return will be over the same route with service at all intermediate points.

Transportation of persons to or from the airport is restricted if the entire ride is within a radius of 25 airline miles of the Kentucky-Ohio state line at Covington.

Greyhound Bus Lines May Discontinue Route

Department of Motor Transportation commissioner Alex McIntyre Jr. announces a hearing will be conducted in the matter of the application of Greyhound Lines, Inc., Lexington, on Aug. 19 at 10 a. m. (EDT), in the Department of Motor Transportation, Frankfort.

The application seeks to abandon the operation of regular route common carrier bus, Certificate No. 72, between Walton and Covington, serving all intermediate points.

Anyone having further interest may contact the Department of Motor Transportation.

WALTON, KENTUCKY -- THURSDAY, AUGUST 1, 1968

Volume 53—Number 31

The Walton City Building was completed in 1952, with Geo. P. Nicholson & Son, local contractors, doing the work. The brick structure houses City offices, the Volunteer Fire Department, and the jail. The building has been well kept and the grounds are attractive. It was built with money from the General Fund, and there was no increase in taxes. We feel that it is still a credit to a City of size of Walton.

Voters May Register In Walton, Aug. 10

Boone County Clerk Jerry Rouse has announced that a representative from his office will be in Walton on Saturday, August 10, to register voters for the general election in November.

Voters may register at the Walton City Building on the above date between the hours of 9:00 a. m. and 2:00 p. m.

This service is for the convenience of residents of Walton, Verona, Beaver and surrounding areas.

New Railroad Engineers

Two Walton men were among 17 who joined the Louisville and Nashville Railroad's new "youthful breed" of railroad engineers at a special graduation held in Covington, Monday night, July 29th. Included were Robert L. Wood of Jones Road, and Wayne Denny of 50 High Street.

The need for an engineer training program developed when Congress passed a law requiring firemen for only ten percent of the nation's freight trains. Under the L&N's present program, studies usually last eight to twelve weeks and are taught by some of the L&N's most competent engineers.

Boone County Fair Starts August 5th

The 36th annual Boone County Fair will be held at the Fairgrounds in Burlington, August 5 through August 10. This will be six nights and four days, according to John B. Walton, Jr., President. The following is the schedule of activities through the week:

Monday, August 5—8:00 p. m., horse pulling contest.
Tuesday, August 6—2:00 to 7:00 p. m., registration of all exhibits in Home Economics, Field Crops, Garden, Fruits, Tobacco, Corn; 7:00 p. m., 4-H Clothing Style Show; 8:00 p. m., Beauty Pageant.

Wednesday, August 7—9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., Judging of Exhibits; 1:00 p. m., 4-H Tractor Driving Contest; 3:30 p. m., Exhibits open to the public; 8:00 p. m., Western Horse Show.

Thursday, August 8—10:00 a. m., Dairy Show begins; 7:00 p. m., Boone County High School Band; 8:00 p. m., Pony Show; 10:00 p. m., Pig Scramble.

Friday, August 9—10:00 a. m., 4-H Dog Show; 1:00 p. m., Beef Show; 8:00 p. m., Horse Show.

Saturday August 10—9:00 a. m., Tractor Pulling Contest; 1:30 p. m., Baby Show, boys; 2:30 p. m., Baby Show, girls; 1:30 p. m., 4-H Horse Show; 1:30 p. m., Pet Parade; 8:00 p. m., Horse Show.

Exhibits will be released Saturday from 8:30 to 8:00 p. m.

Boone Democrat Picnic A Success

The Boone County Democrat picnic was a tremendous success, and an enjoyable time was had by all. So much enthusiasm was evidenced that a complete Democrat victory was predicted for the Fall.

President Francis Dooley, Vice-President Carlton Anderson, Secretary Roscoe Akin, and Treasurer Burnam Roberts were installed by County Judge Bruce Ferguson.

A new County Democrat Newsletter, called "Boone County Democrat," will feature news of the Boone County Democrat Women's Club, Young Democrat Club of Boone County, Teenage Democrat Club of Boone County, and Boone County Democrat Club.

It was brought to the attention of the group that September is the last day to register to vote in the Fall General Election.

The Boone County High School Band provided the afternoon's entertainment.

Judge Ferguson and Gil Clifton gave rousing campaign talks. R. V. Lents brought to the attention of the group the Democrat ad in the Boone County Fair catalog.

In a resolution, the club expressed deep sympathy to the Kennedy family in the loss of two leaders and great citizens by political assassination, and resolved to do all in their power to help stop all kinds of violence in Boone County and the United States. The club also wished speedy success from the President's Commission on Violence.

SPORTSMEN'S FAIR AT CRITTENDEN, AUG. 4

The Fifth District Federation of Kentucky Sportsmen will hold a fair on Sunday, August 4, at the Curtis Gates Lloyd Wildlife and Recreation Area, just off I-75 at the junction of U. S. 25 and Ky. 491, at Crittenden.

Events for the day include trap shooting, rifle, archery, moose-ket, and casting; exhibition shooting by the Muzzle Loaders at 10:00 a. m., dog show for children under 15 years at 3:00 p. m.

Register at Exhibitor's Booths for free prizes. There will be food, refreshments and entertainment. See you at the fair!

Alternate date, Sunday, Aug. 11.

LETTER NOT SIGNED

We are in receipt of a letter, postmarked in Walton, July 18, and the writer speaks his mind about Walton and some of the goings on here. We DO NOT publish any letters sent to us unless they are signed. We have said this before and we say it again—if you want us to print a letter for you, sign your name.

ANNUAL ALL SAINTS SCHOOL FESTIVAL

The annual All Saints School Festival will be held in Walton, Saturday, August 3.

Bill Krekeier and Ken O'Hara, co-chairmen, report there will be delicious chicken and roast beef dinners served in the school cafeteria from 4:00 until 8:30 p. m., at $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. Five cash prizes will be awarded at the end of the day. There will also be rides for the children, various number of booths for entertainment and ample parking area.

Rev. Fred Bamberger, pastor, said, "Have a good time with us on Saturday."

HORSE SHOW WINNER

Miss Paula Dunn, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Dunn, Verona, won championship in the showmanship class at the area 4-H horse and pony show over 52 other horses in the class. Paula will show Honey Gold in the State 4-H Horse Show, Louisville, August 14.

ATTENDS IRS SCHOOL

Clinton Wright, Route 1, Walton, an employee of the Internal Revenue Service in Cincinnati, spent two weeks recently in Homestead, Fla., attending school.

He was at Homestead Facilities, Inc., which makes mechanized mail handlers for the IRS. Two machines are in use at the service center. One sorts and opens envelopes containing tax forms. The other machine checks the emptied envelopes for overlooked checks.

The sorter can operate at a speed of 500 envelopes per minute. The other machine, called a candler, then inspects envelopes and kicks out any that may still have something inside. Thousands of dollars in overlooked tax payments have been saved from the trash pile by the candler.

The Boone County Health Department announces that the TB Chest X-Ray Unit, sponsored by the Kentucky Elks Association and the State Department of Health, will be at the Boone County Health Department on Friday, August 9th at 257 Main St., Florence.

The hours are from 10:00 to 12:00 noon and 1:00 to 3:00 p. m. Persons eligible for chest x-rays include those 18 years of age and over, pregnant women only if referred by a physician. Those persons under 18 years of age must also be referred by a physician.

A historical marker on the courthouse lawn at Sandy Hook, Elliott County seat, shows the county was named in 1869 for John M. Elliott.

Farm Bureau-RECC Day at Ky. State Fair

Wednesday, August 21, 1968, is Farm Bureau-RECC day at the Kentucky state fair. This day is set aside to give Farm Bureau members an opportunity to attend the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center, participate in the various activities sponsored by the Farm Bureau, and to see the exhibits of agriculture and industry in the state.

Rural Gospel Quartet Contest
The Rural Gospel Quartet contest is one of the highlights of the program. Eliminations are scheduled for Wednesday morning, with the finals being held in the Stadium later in the day.

Attendance Prizes
All farm Bureau members registering in front of the coliseum and in attendance that day will be eligible to participate in the drawing of an outstanding array of prizes which have been made available by various segments of industry interested in the welfare of agriculture. This event will be conducted in the stadium.

RECC PAGEANT
Immediately following the drawing of the prizes, the RECC beauty pageant will be held. This is always an added attraction for both young and old—so plan to be on hand for the crowning of a queen.

Some other special interest features for those attending are the general exhibits, a Ky. country ham breakfast, 4-H and FFA beef judging, woodland exposition, the presentation of a blue ribbon family, Gentle Ben, a circus, a horse show and, the ever present midway.

For the early birds, 7 a. m. to 10 a. m., admission is $1.00 per car, bus or truck load. Plan now to attend with your friends.

BABY SHOW AT THE KENTON COUNTY FAIR

The Kenton County Fair Baby Show, which will be held August 3, at the Simon Kenton High School cafeteria, will be sponsored by the following: Kenton County National Farmers Organization, Kenton County Parks, Playground and Recreation Board, and the Piner-Fisk-Burg Volunteer Fire Department and Ladies' Auxiliary.

Registration will be at 1:00 p. m. and judging at 2:00 p. m. in the cafeteria.

Registration fee will be the same as admission to the fair. Be sure and keep your tricket stubs for the door prizes.

The Post and Times-Star will try to be on hand for pictures of the winners, it is reported.

Contracts Are Awarded

The Walton-Verona Board of Education recently awarded a contract to Standard Oil Company for supplying gasoline to the schools for .2399 cents per gallon. At the same time the board gave Roadrun Coal & Feed the contract for supplying stoker coal for $12.50 per ton.

2 Northern Kentucky United Appeal Heads

Two northern Kentucky business and civic leaders were named last week to division leadership posts in the geographic phase of the '68 United Appeal.

L. A. Chrouch and Tom Keuper, both of the R. A. Jones & Co., Inc., were appointed vice chairmen for business and special gift solicitations, respectively, in the Boone, Campbell and Kenton counties area.

In addition to their administrative duties, the newly appointed leaders will be responsible for the recruitment, organization and the training of volunteers who will solicit fair share contributions from neighborhood businesses and professional men and women, special givers and area residents.

This year's five-county, two-state campaign will involve some 30,000 volunteers campaigning who will be working to raise $9,241,420 for the support of 127 health, welfare and character-building agencies. The kickoff for the drive is September 5.

Florence Man Sells Million In Life Insurance In Year

David L. Tanner

David L. Tanner, of Florence, a Regional Sales Manager for Western Pioneer Life Insurance Company, Harrodsburg, Ky., attended the 41st annual meeting of the Million Dollar Round Table held in San Francisco, Calif. June 24-29. Approximately 2,000 members, representing some 300 companies, participated in the week-long educational program of lectures, panels and workshops designed to help them improve their knowledge and understanding of human problems.

The MDRT is the Life Insurance Industry's most distinguished international organization of top salesmen. At present there are about 6,500 members which represent fewer than two percent of the world's life insurance agents.

In order to become a certified member of the MDRT, a life underwriter must place in force at least $1 million in new paid up business within a calendar year, and meet other strict business and ethical requirements. In addition to qualifying as a certified member of the MDRT, Mr. Tanner was also awarded the National Quality Award by the National Association of Life Underwriters for the year 1967.

The MDRT meeting was opened by President Sadler Hayes who urged the Round Table members to help solve the industry's most pressing problem—that of recruiting and retaining efficient young agents.

VISITATION MEETINGS

Lodges of the 27th Masonic District of Carroll, Gallatin, Grant, and Owen Counties, are having a series of visitation meetings. The first will be held at Jonesville, on August 5, at 7:30 p. m.

All Master Masons are asked to especially attend this first meeting. Brother Albert Weaver, 32nd degree K.C.C.H., Burlington, will be the guest speaker.

City Has New Policeman

The City of Walton has hired a second full time policeman in the person of James Lovell, according to Mayor Dale Stephens.

The City was fortunate in obtaining the services of Mr. Lovell in that he comes here with 11 years of Marine Corps service much of which time was related to Military Police matters.

Mr. Lovell is 29 years old and resides with his wife at 120 South Main Street.

Democrat Booth at Fair

The Boone County Democrats will sponsor a Democrat Booth at the County Fair in Burlington. You are invited to visit the booth and register for door prizes, and learn why the Democrat party is best for America and Kentucky. The Democrat party is the party of the many—not the few. The Democrat party has more members than any political party in the United States...these are the words of the publicity chairman.

Wall Street in New York City owes its name to Peter Stuyvesant who, as governor of New Amsterdam, in 1652, ordered a palisade built on the site to protect the town from an English invasion.

There is a career in Home Ec for almost everyone.

Southern States Has Annual Meet Here

Dennie Jones and Lawrence Lawson, both of Walton, were elected to the local Southern States Advisory Board at the 45th anniversary membership meeting held in Walton, July 23. Over 90 stockholder-members and their families attended the session.

Donnie Rosenstiel of Verona, was named chairman of the board, while Marvin Fornash, Walton, was selected vice-chairman.

Elected to the local Southern States Farm Home Advisory Committee were: Mrs. James Messmer and Mrs. Ernest Haddix, both of Verona. Mrs. Albert Baumgartner of Crittenden was chosen chairman of the Farm Home Advisory Committee, while Mrs. Delbert Messmer, Verona, was named secretary.

K. F. Ballard, Morning View, was chosen as a delegate to represent the local membership at the Southern States Cooperative's 45th Anniversary Annual Stockholders meeting in Richmond, Va., November 14-15. Marvin Fornash, Walton, was named alternate.

One of the highlights of the meeting was the financial report of Southern States Cooperative given by H. E. Lindley of Lexington, a regional representative of the organization. According to the report, the cooperative will pay a 3.2% patronage refund to its farmer-members this year, the largest refund it has paid in 11 years. Total volume for the year ended June 30, was over $113,000,000, up about one percent over the previous year.

Chris Combs, manager of Boone County Farm Supply, gave a report on local operations and services, and showed color slides of local patron farming activities.

Other features of the session included recognition of all former board members and Farm Home Advisory Committee members. Each former board member present was given a rain gauge, and each former FHAC present received a S. S. cook book.

There was also the presentation of lapel pins to newly-elected board members, while retiring board members were given the cooperative's Leadership Award in recognition of their service.

Payment for Garbage Pickup Stays Same

As most of the citizens of Walton are aware, upon recommendation of Mayor Dale Stephens, City Council amended the Waste Collection Fee Ordinance in May of this year, which declared that the fee of $6.00 a year was due July 1st for the coming year.

The reason for this change was due, the mayor said, due to the fact that under the terms of the original ordinance, which stated that the fee was payable monthly, semi-annually or annually, and the bookkeeping was a laborious task, with considerable opportunity for error.

However, Mr. Stephens said, he failed to realize that he was possibly creating a hardship for some citizens, and he remarked at the July meeting, "It is not our purpose here to create a hardship for anyone if there is any way to prevent it."

As a result, the amendment to the original ordinance has been rescinded and the method of payment is as it was prior to the amendment—you may pay monthly, semi-annually or annually.

REAL ESTATE TAX STAYS AT 22 CENTS

The Kenton county tax on real estate for the fiscal year starting July 1 will be 22 cents on each $100 valuation, the same as last year.

County Judge James Dressman, Jr., said the tax rate had been certified by D. M. Magill, state local finance officer of Frankfort, and that the Fiscal Court would also approve the rate.

The tax rate for the $1,479,072 budget was submitted to the state by the Fiscal Court about a month ago.

The county tax by departments includes: General fund, 9.1 cents; road and bridge fund, 7.1 cents; health, 1 cent; sinking fund, 1.6 cents; and Covington-Kenton Co. Tuberculosis Sanatorium, 3.2 cents.

Homecoming August 4th

Sunday, August 4th will be homecoming day at the Beaverlick Christian Church on Route 42.

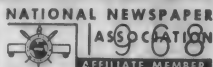

Following the regular morning services, there will be a basket dinner. All members, former members, and friends are cordially invited.

Willing Workers Meet

The regular meeting of the Willing Workers Class was held in Fellowship Hall of Walton Christian Church, Thursday, July 25.

After a delightful supper, the regular business session followed. At the last meeting there was a unanimous vote for the re-election of all present officers for another year.

J. B. Doan, Superintendent of the Church School, made an appeal for better attendance in the Sunday School, and thus become better acquainted with the Bible.

Mrs. Lillian Acree gave a very interesting devotional by comparing the problems and discontent of today with reading from Lamentations of Jeremiah. She stressed the need of prayer for the conditions today just as in the early days of the Bible.

Those present were: Mrs. Lillian Acree, Miss Rachel Acree, Miss Mary Beth Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fulton, Miss Mary Rensler, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Doan, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Rouse, Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Russell, Mrs. Jane Sleet, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whitson, and Miss Mary West.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Groger, Mr. and Mrs. John Wood and Elbert Callen were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Callen the past week.

Pfc. Stevie Collins, now stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., spent a two-week furlough in Walton with relatives and friends.

Willana Kilgore and daughter, Joyce, have been touring the South on vacation for several days. They visited many points of interest in Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa M. Rouse and family of Plum Street, spent the weekend with Mrs. Rouse's aunt and family, Mrs. Joseph Eldridge, in South Point, Ohio.

Mrs. Guy St. Clair is a patient in St. Elizabeth Hospital, where she is having tests. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Campbell are staying at the St. Clair home while she is confined to the hospital.

Mrs. Vera Wright, Mrs. Merrill Scroggins and daughter, Lisa, attended the wedding of Miss Beverly Ann Burton of Hebron, to Gary Jet of Walton, at Erlanger Methodist Church last Friday evening. Mrs. Scroggins was soloist for the wedding ceremony.

Mrs. Harry Henson, Route 2, returned last Wednesday from Columbus, Mo., where she had attended the National Workshop for choir directors in the Christian Churches. Mrs. Henson and a choir director from a Lexington church were the only two from Kentucky to attend the workshop. Mrs. Henson reports a very interesting and informative experience. She directs the choir and is the organist at the Walton Christian Church.

Mrs. Blaine Daniels of Erlanger, spent last Thursday in Walton, with Mrs. Gertrude Daniels.

A STITCH IN TIME

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

The return of the waistline has brought the return of the separates look and extra importance of blouses. Though there are many different moods and silhouettes to choose from, most new blouses have one quality in common: fabrics which are super-easy to keep clean, requiring only a swish thru soap or detergent suds or a gentle cycle in a washer. Most of them should be tumble dried since durable press finishes are so extremely popular. The romantic look is probably the single most important influence in the blouse field. Ruffles are everywhere, billowing at the neck and cascading at the sleeves. There are blouses with bows and blouses with high-riding ascots; blouses with demure rounded collars and blouses with slashed surplice cuts reminiscent of the 1930's.

Most surprising is attention being given to sleeves, which formerly came in two versions, long and short. Sleeves in current collections are sometimes high-buttoned with leg-o-mutton tops, like Gibson Girls of the 1910 era. Sometimes they start narrow at the shoulder to reach a full lantern silhouette at the wrist before narrowing sharply into a trim cuff; sometimes sleeves are long and slim, ending in a fluff of delicate ruffles.

Two skirt fashions are frankly provocative — the body shirt is tailored enough, but cut in a clinging, feminine fabric so it hugs every contour. The see-through shirt, in voile or even chiffon, is usually worn over a pretty chemise style top. Novelty pockets abound, placed high on the shoulders or low at the midriff. There is fabric news too, riding with the tide of the 1930's, crepe is returning, now woven with synthetic fibre yarns for safer washability. Soft, clinging jerseys and limp sheers are used in the body shirts; white on white looks astonishingly soft and feminine in the Gibson girl designs. Prints are disciplined, tiny florals or mini-plaids.

With so much lavish detail, it is fortunate that these blouses are so easy to keep crisp and pretty with the easiest of laundry techniques. Ruffles, though lovely and feminine and romantic when clean, attract make-up smudges at the neck and ordinary soil at the wrist, so it is obvious the new styles have to be practical. Therefore if you go in for a new look in blouses, be sure to lay in a good supply of soap or detergent as well. You will be using it often!

Willing Workers Meet

The regular meeting of the Willing Workers Class was held in Fellowship Hall of Walton Christian Church, Thursday, July 25.

After a delightful supper, the regular business session followed. At the last meeting there was a unanimous vote for the re-election of all present officers for another year.

J. B. Doan, Superintendent of the Church School, made an appeal for better attendance in the Sunday School, and thus become better acquainted with the Bible.

Mrs. Lillian Acree gave a very interesting devotional by comparing the problems and discontent of today with reading from Lamentations of Jeremiah. She stressed the need of prayer for the conditions today just as in the early days of the Bible.

Those present were: Mrs. Lillian Acree, Miss Rachel Acree, Miss Mary Beth Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fulton, Miss Mary Rensler, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Doan, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Rouse, Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Russell, Mrs. Jane Sleet, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whitson, and Miss Mary West.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Groger, Mr. and Mrs. John Wood and Elbert Callen were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Callen the past week.

Pfc. Stevie Collins, now stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., spent a two-week furlough in Walton with relatives and friends.

Willana Kilgore and daughter, Joyce, have been touring the South on vacation for several days. They visited many points of interest in Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa M. Rouse and family of Plum Street, spent the weekend with Mrs. Rouse's aunt and family, Mrs. Joseph Eldridge, in South Point, Ohio.

Mrs. Guy St. Clair is a patient in St. Elizabeth Hospital, where she is having tests. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Campbell are staying at the St. Clair home while she is confined to the hospital.

Mrs. Vera Wright, Mrs. Merrill Scroggins and daughter, Lisa, attended the wedding of Miss Beverly Ann Burton of Hebron, to Gary Jeff of Walton, at Erlanger Methodist Church last Friday evening. Mrs. Scroggins was soloist for the wedding ceremony.

Mrs. Harry Henson, Route 2, returned last Wednesday from Columbus, Mo., where she had attended the National Workshop for choir directors in the Christian Churches. Mrs. Henson and a choir director from a Lexington church were the only two from Kentucky to attend the workshop. Mrs. Henson reports a very interesting and informative experience. She directs the choir and is the organist at the Walton Christian Church.

Mrs. Blaine Daniels of Erlanger, spent last Thursday in Walton, with Mrs. Gertrude Daniels.

A STITCH IN TIME

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

The return of the waistline has brought the return of the separette look and extra importance of blouses. Though there are many different moods and silhouettes to choose from, most new blouses have one quality in common: fabrics which are super-easy to keep clean, requiring only a swish thru soap or detergent suds or a gentle cycle in a washer. Most of them should be tumble dried since durable press finishes are so extremely popular. The romantic look is probably the single most important influence in the blouse field. Ruffles are everywhere, billowing at the neck and cascading at the sleeves. There are blouses with bows and blouses with high-riding ascots; blouses with demure rounded collars and blouses with slashed surplice cuts reminiscent of the 1930's.

Most surprising is attention being given to sleeves, which formerly came in two versions, long and short. Sleeves in current collections are sometimes high-buttoned with leg-o-mutton tops, like Gibson Girls of the 1910 era. Sometimes they start narrow at the shoulder to reach a full lantern silhouette at the wrist before narrowing sharply into a trim cuff; sometimes sleeves are long and slim, ending in a fluff of delicate ruffles.

Two skirt fashions are frankly provocative — the body shirt is tailored enough, but cut in a clinging, feminine fabric so it hugs every contour. The see-through shirt, in voile or even chiffon, is usually worn over a pretty chemise style top. Novelty pockets abound, placed high on the shoulders or low at the midriff. There is fabric news too, riding with the tide of the 1930's, crepe is returning, now woven with synthetic fibre yarns for safer washability. Soft, clinging jerseys and limp sheers are used in the body shirts; white on white looks astonishingly soft and feminine in the Gibson girl designs. Prints are disciplined, tiny florals or mini-plaids.

With so much lavish detail, it is fortunate that these blouses are so easy to keep crisp and pretty with the easiest of laundry techniques. Ruffles, though lovely and feminine and romantic when clean, attract make-up smudges at the neck and ordinary soil at the wrist, so it is obvious the new styles have to be practical. Therefore if you go in for a new look in blouses, be sure to lay in a good supply of soap or detergent as well. You will be using it often!

Recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence of Park Ave. were Cpl. Richard Lawrence of Ft. Benning, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lawrence, Miss Karen Underwood of Monterey, and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Harrod and daughter, Debbie, of Louisville.

David Mason of Bedinger Ave., left last Friday for Naples, Fla., where he has accepted a position of Guidance Counselor in a school there for the fall school term. When Mr. Mason locates a home or apartment, he will be joined by his wife and two sons who, at present, are living with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan, on Bedinger Ave.

Alicia Gary Simpson returned to his Air Force base in Dover, Del., after spending a leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Opal (Dude)

Simpson, Route 1, Crittenden, and other relatives.

Charles (Hunky) Holder returned to his home on Chambers St., last Thursday from Bethesda Hospital, where he had been a patient suffering from a fall from an electric pole while at work. He is much improved but will have to wear a back brace for several months.

Johnny Gault, III, a guidance counselor at Boys Ranch, Lexington, was a guest of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gault, of Walton-Nicholson Road, Tuesday night of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norris and sons of High School Court, returned home last Thursday after enjoying a vacation at Beech Bend on Kentucky Lake, near Bowling Green. Enroute back they stopped and took the four-hour tour of Mammoth Cave.

Mrs. Martha Kelly, sister of Mrs. Ed Jones of North Main, returned to her home in East Liverpool, Ohio, Monday, after a two weeks stay here. On Sunday, Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Jones enjoyed a motor trip to Frankfort and Lexington, with Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jones. They stopped for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones in Lexington.

Miss Cherri Miller of New Jersey, formerly of Walton, flew in for the weekend and was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Lonnie Hensley, and Mr. Hensley of Verona Road. She attended the wedding of her cousin, Gary Jett. While in Walton, Miss Miller visited many of her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Smith of Needmore St., attended the wedding of their niece, Miss Linda Smith, to Mr. Charles N. Benson at the First Baptist Church, Florence, Saturday evening, July 27.

Mrs. Paul Ramsey of South Main has returned from the hospital to her home and is doing nicely.

Mrs. Malcolm Simpson, Mrs. Wayne Trego and children, Suzanne and Steve, and Mrs. Chester Sturgeon spent last Wednesday in Lexington, enjoying the day with Mrs. Danny Chapman and two daughters.

Mrs. Woodrow Greene of South Main, and grandchildren, Ricky and Ronda Robison, of Erlanger, spent last Thursday in Warsaw, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Henry.

Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Russell had as a guest for the weekend, their son, Mike, who has been spending his summer vacation in Kirkwood, Mo.

DEATHS

ERNEST M. CHEEK

Ernest M. Cheek, 49, was pronounced dead at St. Elizabeth Hospital early last Saturday shortly after he was unexpectedly stricken at his home, 364 Pelly Road, Independence. A farmer, Mr. Cheek also had driven buses for the Kenton County schools for more than ten years.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Hanna Chamberlain Cheek; two daughters, Miss Naomi Cheek at home, and Mrs. Betty Newby of Covington; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Geneva Lunsford of Morning View; a stepson, L. C. Tudor of Richmond, Ky.; two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Powell of Independence, and Mrs. Bessie Horn of Lancaster, and two brothers, James Cheek of Richmond, and Chester Cheek of Walton.

Services were held at 10:00 a. m., Tuesday at the Swindler Funeral Home, Independence.

DEWITT RANSOM

DeWitt Ransom, 72, of 314 East 39th St., Covington, died at 10:00 p. m., last Friday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, after a short illness. He was a retired carpenter.

His wife, Kathleen Ransom, died in March of 1968.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. James Glacken and Mrs. Richard Everson, both of Covington, and a sister, Mrs. Stella Carlisle of Independence.

Services were held at 11:00 a. m., Tuesday at Latonia Christian Church. Conley Bros. Funeral Home had charge of arrangements.

INJURED WHEN MOWING

Alan Knocheiman is recuperating at his home on Hemphill Road, following a recent injury. He was mowing the St. Cecilia Church Cemetery, Independence, July 3, when a foreign object entered his leg from the mower. Infection set in before they were able to operate. However, surgery was performed and a piece of wire was removed from the leg. He is still under the care of a doctor.

The gusty shifting political winds this election year have put many a voter up a tree.

Staffordsburg

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Barnett spent several days this week attending the camp meeting at Wilmore. They saw many friends and enjoyed the services. They called on their son, Howard, in Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brannock of Kelat, Ky., visited her brother, Dawson Ballinger, and family. Her sister, Mrs. J. B. Richardson and family, and another sister, Mrs. Walter Maddox and family. On Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Ballinger took the Brannocks to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Carsee Brinkley are enjoying two weeks of their vacation. A little too much excitement was theirs when his tractor caught fire. Luckily a neighbor had a fire extinguisher which soon brought the fire under control. A fire extinguisher is not needed very often but in emergencies is valuable.

In the absence of our minister, the morning worship at Staffordsburg United Methodist Church was conducted by J. Snowden, who is lay leader. He did well indeed.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lancaster of Lexington, spent last weekend with their families here.

John Wolke, who has served his quota of time in Vietnam, but has a few more weeks to serve in the Army, enjoys several weekends at home.

Miss Helen Richardson visited with the Giles sisters in Lexington on last weekend.

Rev. Phillips and family are expected back this coming week. The attendance has held up well in their absence. Let's all be present to greet them Aug. 4th.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Petrie spent several days of their vacation at their camp near Morning View. They spent one day with her mother, Mrs. Caroline Armstrong, and Harry.

Kenton County Garden Club

In spite of the inclement weather the Garden Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rohe on Apple Drive, for a picnic, July 25. Luckily the rain ceased long enough for us to have our luncheon out doors. Mr. Rohe and Timothy took care of the cooking of the meat on the grill. They are really good cooks (for hamburgers and wieners). Each guest brought a covered dish. All-in-all it was an occasion to remember. At the finish of the dinner, Mr. Rohe brought out a number of potted plants from which each guest might choose one as a gift. Also, Mrs. Rohe drew a number for presenting an arrangement of daisies which she had on the table.

Our president, Miss Taylor, opened the business meeting and asked for the reports of the secretary and treasurer. Following these reports, the year books were distributed. They are quite well done and worth preserving. Motion was made by Mrs. Keeney, seconded by Mrs. Damon, that the cost of the year books be paid when the bill is presented. The ever present problem of the triangle was discussed. A donation of $2 was requested to the World Garden Program. This was approved.

Mrs. Inez Straw gave the moment of meditation, reading James 5:11, and a poem "Time," by Alice Schorheide. In the poem the author claims that time is the most precious thing we have, so let us make the most of it while we have it. Once wasted it is gone forever.

Sympathy cards were signed to Mrs. Clifford Northcutt and to Mrs. A. J. Rutter. Mrs. Straw gave a demonstration on preparing wisteria curls to use in decorative arrangements. Mrs. Hall used the pearl spray on some flowers. Among those enjoying the hospitality of the Rohe family and Elsie Hiteman; Mmes. E. Damon, L. Douge and granddaughter, W. Straw, F. Popp, O. Palmer, W. Guttridge, L. Stephens, W. Hall, J. Ginn and F. Keeney.

Misses Elma Taylor, Elaine Hall

The August meeting is planned as a luncheon at Butler State Park on August 22. Hope you can come.

PINER CLEVER COVERS

The July meeting of the Piner Clever Covers 4-H Club was held Monday, July 15 at the home of Debbie Smith.

Recreation and refreshments were enjoyed by all members until 8:30 p. m., when the meeting was called to order by the president, Rhonda LaFollette.

Pledges to the 4-H flag and the American flag were led by Debbie Smith, followed by the singing, after which the business session was conducted.

Andrea Ballard gave a report on 4-H Camp.

Leaders encouraged all members to work on their projects so they would be completed by the fair. Newsletters were then passed out. The club then discussed taking a tour of Kentucky.

Those present were: Andrea Ballard, Judy Bray, Aimee Collins, Betty Cooke, Mike Daniels, Sue Fisk, Rhonda LaFollette, Charles Northcutt, Trudy Northcutt, Debbie Smith, and leaders, Mrs. Bray, Mrs. Ballard and Mrs. LaFollette, and a guest, Georgia Cooke.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Charles and Trudy Northcutt, August 19.

Home Economics education lays the foundation for a profession as well as an avocation.

On August 27, class work for the fall semester begins in the University of Kentucky community colleges.

GOSHEN LADIES MEET

The monthly meeting of Goshen Christian Missionary Ladies was held July 3 with all officers present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Hazel Mullins, asking all to stand for a moment of prayer, given by Mrs. Bea Hills.

Roll call was asked by the secretary, Mrs. Esther Glenn, with all members answering by reading a Bible verse with foundation in it. This was followed with minutes of the June meeting. The treasurer, Mrs. Goldie Glenn, gave her report.

The Sunshine Report showed that 91 cards had been sent out, and 12 visits made to the sick.

New officers elected for the coming year are: President, Mrs. Lillian Elliott; Vice President, Mrs. Ruth Worthington; Secretary, Mrs. Ruth LaFollette; Treasurer, Mrs. Bea Hills; Ways & Means Assistant, Mrs. Frances Good; Ways & Means Assistant, Mrs. Ruby Worthington; Sunshine Reporter, Mrs. Nannie Cliff Fisk, and Reporter, Mrs. Esther Glenn.

Discussion and plans were made for the revival which was held July 21-28.

The lesson in the afternoon was on "The Betrayal, Trail and Crucifixion," with Mrs. Ruby Worthington as program leader, and all ladies taking part.

Others present were: Mrs. Nannie Fisk, Mrs. Ruth Worthington, Mrs. Janet Burns, Mrs. Frances Good, Mrs. Georgia Cornelius, Mrs. Eula LaFollette, Mrs. Ruby Worthington, Anna Burns, Diane Hills and Sue Fisk.

The program leader for August will be Mrs. Lillian Elliott with Mrs. Ruby Worthington as hostess.

Flonnie Edrington, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Price Stephenson of Angola, N. Y., came in to attend the Stephenson reunion. They attended church at New Bethel. This reporter and Mrs. Stephenson were old schoolmates years ago and it was nice seeing each other again.

Mrs. Allie Chandler attended the Jones reunion at Burlington Fairgrounds recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rouse, who had been visiting relatives here for a few days, have returned to their home in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hughes, Mrs. Flonnie Edrington, Mrs. Elena Hamilton and Freddie Hamilton, Jr., and Karen Hamilton, and Mrs. Flossie Greenwell attended the Webster reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gordon of Glencoe.

Jeff Burden of Cincinnati, was visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Allie Chandler.

We are glad to see Kenneth Akins and Bobby Burgess back home from the hospital. They are getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Edwards spent the weekend with relatives in the mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Renaker and children of Tip City, Ohio, were visiting her mother, Mrs. Cecil Washum, and sons and other relatives here recently.

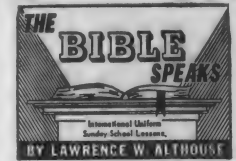

We were glad to see Tony Richards in from the Navy for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Richards and children and other relatives.

The Wyona King Circle met at the church for the July meeting. The session was called to order by Mrs. Alice Smith. Those on the program were Flonnie Edrington, Theora Locke, Adeline Reed, Alice Smith. The next meeting will be in August at the home of Adeline Reed. Let all members be present.

We were glad to see Don and Charlotte Kemper at church Sunday. They came in to attend the funeral of Mr. Kemper's aunt at Georgetown. Don is stationed in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Lillie Cook returned home last week after a ten-day visit with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Lindsey of Woodbridge, Va., where John is stationed in service.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chapman were calling on Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Edrington on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Chapman will be entering St. Elizabeth Hospital the first of August for a checkup.

THE ANNOINTED
Lesson for August 4, 1968

Background Scriptures Isaiah 45.
Devotional Readings Psalm 47.

It seems strange to think of God working in the world through ungodly men. That he should use men like Abraham, Moses, Joshua, Samuel, David, etc., is entirely understandable. Though they were not perfect, they were still men who acknowledged and tried to serve the Lord. They were sometimes spoken of as "anointed," meaning that God had set them apart for some special task.

Rev. Althouse talks.

Lord's Instrument

How then could the writer of Isaiah 45 say, "Thus says the Lord to his anointed, to Cyrus . . . ?" (Isaiah 45:1) For this Cyrus was a Gentile, an idolater. Not only was he not one of the people of God, but he neither tried to serve or believed in the Lord. How could such a man be called "God's anointed"?

Cyrus was the great emperor-general of Persia, the rising power that eventually toppled the Chaldean empire. From the far reaches of that empire, the Jews had heard of this man and his armies that were swiftly crumbling the Chaldean might. They need not fear this man, the prophet is saying, for he is actually the chosen or "anointed" instrument of the Lord.

Yet, shocking as this idea may have seemed to the Jews, it was not the first time that God has used an ungodly man or nation to accomplish his purpose. Even though the Pharaohs of Egypt had not acknowledged him, nevertheless, God used them to shelter his people in time of famine, and, later, to expel the Twelve Tribes and get them started on their way to the Promised Land. Though men and nations might not co-operate with him, God used even their evil to work out his will in the world.

Unfolding purpose

This would be the case with Cyrus. He did not know God, but the Lord saw in him the potentialities to accomplish his will. Cyrus worshipped Marduk, the Persian deity, and attributed his successes to him. This did not matter to the Lord so long as Cyrus performed his task. For a time, God had used the Assyrians, then the Chaldeans (Babylonians). Now he would use the rising Persian Empire for a while. Later it would be the Macedonians, the Romans, etc. None of these people acknowledged God, but he used them all the same. Nor did they survive, for when their usefulness was ended, they were replaced with others.

The prophet tries to explain precisely what God will do with this man whom he has chosen. He will subdue the nations, depose kings, and change the existing world order. (Isaiah 45:1) And the purpose of this upheaval is not to exalt or reward the Persians for their idolatry, but to bring out of captivity the people of God and move history toward the purposes of the Lord's master plan. Thus, the people of Israel were not to resist Cyrus's appointment, but accept it as the way God works in the world.

That men may know

Once again, you and I, with the advantage of time and hindsight, have no difficulty in appreciating what the prophet is saying to Israel. It does not bother us that God should use a pagan to accomplish his will. That is, it does not bother us until we face the prospect of God doing the very same thing in our world today.

It is not very pleasant to think of God "anointing" and using a man like Charles DeGaulle, Fidel Castro, Premier Kosygin, Chairman Mao, or Ho Chi Minh. Yet, as the Jews had to learn repeatedly, that is how God works in the affairs of men and nations. He might just as easily say to the "villains" of today as he did to Cyrus: "I gird you, though you do not know me . . . Why? So that men may know, from the rising of the sun, and from the west, that there is none beside me; I am the Lord and there is no other." (Isaiah 45:6 RSV)

Mrs. Pearl Lamm is visiting Mrs. Grace Baker of Walton.

We are sorry to hear of Clifford Stephenson getting his foot and leg burned last Sunday morning by grease from a skillet which caught fire. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Helen Farrell, who has been quite sick, is feeling some better. We hope for her a speedy recovery, and that she will not have to go to the hospital.

To Train
A Child

Mommy, I love you.
I'm glad I'm alive.
It's fun to run and play and laugh and dance.
It's hard to stand still and listen.
Mommy, I love you.
Thank you for taking care of me. Thank you for cookies and milk and bread.
Please give me a time for Sunday School. I like Sunday School. We sing and laugh and learn about God.
Mommy, I love you.

And so on and on she prattles in her own innocent and naive way. Soon, however, her questions will become more complex and her parents will need all the love and wisdom they can obtain.

Fortunately, we as parents are not alone in this endeavor. The Church stands ready and anxious to help us train our children. Through worship, study and meditation we can learn to know what God requires of us. Come to the church of your choice this Sunday and every Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

LATONIA AND INDEPENDENCE

Staffordsburg

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

We regretted to hear that Omer Lucas was in Booth Hospital suffering from pneumonia.

Mrs. Stella Richardson is spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Hazel Dryden. She is quite well, we are glad to hear.

We at the United Methodist Church experienced a thrill when several of the young ladies, assisted by one young man, took charge of the worship service July 14. Among those having part in the program were Misses Barbara and Beverly Carlisle, Laine Marshall, Sharon Parsons, Neva Jo Finnell, and Marsha Brock. J. B. Losey assisted also. The message was by Miss Karen Brueggem. The sermon was well prepared and given with such sincerity as to make a lasting impression on many, if not all, of the listeners. Karen, who works in the office at Our Lady of Cincinnati College, had as guests at church and later at her home, two of the Sisters from the college. We were glad to have them with us.

Rev. James Averitt, Superintendent of the Children's Home at Versailles, was the guest speaker at Morning View, Sunday morning. Then he and his mother, Mrs. Jessie Wright Averitt, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Giles. Callers in the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Richardson, Mrs. Francys Keeney, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Ballinger, and Miss Helen Richardson. Rev. Averitt spoke at the Staffordsburg United Methodist Church in the evening, and he told of the work being done at the home.

Jeff Losey spent a week recently with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sayle, of Owenton.

Miss Mary Stephens and Mrs. Francys Keeney called on Mrs. Clifford Northcutt, one day recently.

A number of people from this locality visited the funeral home in honor of Miss Nellie Neihoff. Having known her all of my life, my thought when her name was mentioned was of her sweet smile and gentle disposition.

W. S. C. S. Meets

The W. S. C. S. met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Finnell, Jr., July 16. Mrs. Keeney was in charge of the program, "Japanese Youth," comparing the changes since World War II. As usual, most everyone present took part in the discussion. The 121st Psalm was read. Mrs. Jean Nunery read "Recipe For A Happy Life," and it was good advice. Mrs. Nunery was welcomed as a new member of the group.

The president, Mrs. Reva Finnell, conducted the business session.

Among those present were: Alberta Ballinger, Wavy Parsons, Francys Keeney, Shirley Losey, Frances Losey, Jean Nunery, Helen Richardson, Neva Jo Finnell and Sharon Parsons.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

A delicious birthday dinner, in honor of the 74th birthday of Albert Rosenstiel, was held Sunday, July 21, at Big Bone Lick State Park.

Those present included Mrs. Albert Rosenstiel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rosenstiel and Paul of Dudley Pike, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rosenstiel, Patty, David and Jeff, of Florence, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Robinson and Pam, of Florence, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stephenson, Sandy, Betty, Shirley and Clint, of Union, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Robinson, Troy and Paula, of Union, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Rosenstiel and Shannon, of Lexington, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Eubank and Robbie, of Erlanger, Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Wolfe, of Florence, and Louise Cope, of Walton.

Everyone enjoyed the day and all wished Mr. Rosenstiel many more birthdays.

KLIP KLOP KLUB

Many members of the Klip Klop Klub participated in the Area 4-H Horse and Pony Show. They all did very well and are proud of their achievements.

All blue ribbon winners plan to participate in the State Fair Horse Show in Louisville, in August.—Reporter

A lot of petrified thinking gets by as crystallized opinion.

GLACKING REUNION

Descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Glacking, Demossville, held a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Whaley, Bracht-Piner Road, Piner, Sunday, July 14.

A covered dish dinner was enjoyed by the following: Mrs. Lillian Mullins, Demossville; Mr. and Mrs. Marion Fields of Ft. Wright; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Mullins of Fiskburg; Larry Mullins, Robbie, Chris and Melissa, of Taylor Mill; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Glacking, Willard Glacking, Mary Violet, Leon and Darlene, of Gardnersville; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wells and Jimmy, of Phoenix, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Artie Tungate, of Piner; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Beasley, Terry, Kevin and Cindy, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Rea, Mary Elaine, Dennis and Linda, of Florence; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Boden, Sherry, Ronnie and Debbie, of California, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Campbell and Kim, of Butler; Diane, Janice, Jeffrey and Dawn Ann Whaley. Afternoon, callers were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mullins, Regina, Gene, Jr., Renee, Daryl and Billy, of Demossville, and Lonnie Gregg, of Falmouth.

Some people reach the top of the ladder only to find it is leaning against the wrong wall.

You can't fool all of the people all the time, but those interchange signs on expressways come pretty close to doing it.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

I wish to express my thanks to all of my relatives and friends who were so thoughtful with their visits, cards, flowers, prayers, and especially Mr. & Mrs. Edgar Brinkman, Mr. & Mrs. Bernard Walsh, and Mr. & Mrs. Joe Maylor, who looked after our children during my stay in the hospital. I also wish to thank my neighbors for cleaning my house. May God bless each and every one.

Pruning shrubs is an operation which most home owners get involved with at least once a year. There are several reasons why shrubs should be pruned; the most one is to restrict the size of plants so they will be in scale with structures and other features in a landscape.

Many shrubs which have only a few long shoots develop in attractive, compact plants with a limited amount of pruning. Removing the ends of shoots induces several of the remaining lateral buds to develop into shoots. The practice of removing dead or diseased wood from shrubs will produce healthier, more attractive plants. In some instances, it is necessary to lightly thin the tops of shrubs to reduce the shading of lower foliage. If insufficient light is allowed to penetrate the upper foliage, leaves on the lower portion of the shrubs will become rather sparse.

Except in instances where very formal shapes are indicated for use, the natural form and texture of shrubs is most desirable, assuming the plants were properly selected for their particular position in the landscape. To maintain the natural characteristics of the shrub requires a little more thought and time than the other alternative—shearing.

Shearing specimen shrubs, the shrubs in foundation plantings, and shrubs in mixed shrub borders develops very formal shapes which are not compatible with the architecture of many homes being built today.

Early spring, before the new growth begins is often the recommended time to prune shrubs. Plants pruned at that time soon grow and fill the voids created by the removal of shoots. Early spring pruning is especially desirable when dealing with overgrown evergreens which need heavy pruning. In the case of spring flowering shrubs, most gardeners prefer to allow the plants to flower before pruning them. Only a minimum number of flowers are sacrificed in this way. Light pruning, which may be done at any time, often eliminates the need for severe pruning.

The technique used to prune shrubs depends on the plant species and the desired effect. In general, properly pruned plants do not look pruned immediately after the work is done. The informal appearance of carefully pruned plants is achieved by selectively removing portions of branches at different depths in the canopy of foliage.

A preferred method to the hard cutback is a gradual renewal process. Using the system, approximately 1/3 of the longer stems are cut back each year to within a few inches of the soil level. If the shrub tops are lightly pruned at the time the large stems are removed, there should be no need for a hard cutback.

Tornado Carries The Mail

Delivery of a card written to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Fields of Broad St., Falmouth, by Mrs. John Hetterman of near Walton, April 18 was recently made.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hetterman of Route 1, Crittenden, had attended the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. Hetterman's aunt and uncle on April 18 and Mrs. Hetterman was writing to tell them what a pleasant event it was. The card was found on a farm 20 miles East of Chillicothe, Ohio, at a place called Londonderry, by Mrs. Herman Himson and two daughters who were mushroom hunting up a hollow near their home.

Notice of the finding of the card which had been carried by the tornado winds that struck Falmouth on April 23 was written in a recent issue of the Falmouth Outlook. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fields was heavily damaged by the storm. Mrs. Fields is a sister of Mrs. Robert Hetterman, Crittenden.

Immunization For Children

In April, 1968, a case of paralytic poliomyelitis was reported in Kentucky. This represents the first proven case since 1965, and the first paralytic since 1962.

Unfortunately, many persons have been lulled into a false sense of security because of the rarity of polio cases in recent years. The Boone County Health Department urges all parents to see that their children receive polio immunizations, as well as that for measles, diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough.

Contact your family doctor for these immunizations. If, for some reason, you have no family doctor, contact the Health Department.

IS YOUR SUBSCRIPTION PAID?

Taxpayer's Money Used to Subsidize Criminals . . .

M. Gene Snyder
U. S. Congressman
Fourth District of Kentucky

The sordid serial story of the Office of Economic Opportunity's "subsidies" to the Black Mafia in Chicago should bring home to each American the need for a drastic change in Government attitude. When the poverty war ends up subsidizing crime, when a minister is the front man for hoods, and when the whole process is defended as a 'new' and daring approach to solving the poverty situation, it's time for a return to reason.

Planners at the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington had approved the grant, no strings attached, so gang member participants certainly were under no constraint about the manner in which funds were to be used. They set up a so called school, hired high-school drop-outs as instructors at salaries of up to $6,500.00 a year, and offered $45 a week stipends to enrollees. Those living more than three blocks from the school were given "travel allowances." The director of the school, a high school graduate, was paid $12,000.

And what was this training school's curriculum? A witness testified that enrollees played cards, shot craps and drank beer. After a year's time, only 84 trainees had succeeded in getting jobs, and only 53 of those kept working. Most of the trainees and gang members were busy with other things such as rape, murder, shakedown rackets and narcotics traffic. They also benefited from kickbacks demanded from new enrollees in the program. While the program was in operation 37 instructors or trainees wound up in jail on various charges, most of them felonies. In other words, it was business as usual for the two gangs, except that they had a million dollar bank roll, courtesy of OEO.

One of the gangs, the Blackstone Rangers, found a sympathetic ally in the Rev. John Fry of the First Presbyterian Church in Chicago. Police found 58 guns in his church. Members of the gang used the church for marijuana parties and sex initiation ceremonies for female gang recruits. The Rev. Fry called these "broadly humanitarian purposes."

But the crowning, almost unbelievable statement of all was by Jerome Bernstein, an OEO manpower official. He "justified" turning over a million dollars of the taxpayers' money to known criminals by saying: "For the first time in their lives, these guys were given a stake in their destiny. For the first time they had something to lose." This was the strange theory that padded the pockets of Chicago's underworld characters: Give them enough money and maybe they'll go straight.

Perhaps it is not society that is sick after all—just government bureaucrats!

Ben K. Hall, Contact Representative for the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board, will be at the Courthouse in Burlington, August 7 from 9:00 to 11:30 a. m. He will assist veterans and their dependents with claims for benefits due them as a result of their military service.

That afternoon, from 1:00 to 3:00 p. m., Mr. Hall will be at the Courthouse in Warsaw.

THANKS EXPRESSED

The Kenton County N. F. O. wishes to thank each and every one for their support and cooperation at their recent fish fry.

The supper was a great success, even though some had to stand in line for the fish to fry.

The N. F. O. needs every able bodied farmer to help and support this organization.

"We get out of any organization only what we put into it," a spokesman said.

The N. F. O. meets the third Tuesday of each month at the R. E. C. C. building, Nicholson.

CROSS FAMILY REUNION

The Cross family reunion is to be held Sunday, August 4th at Stroer's or Taylor Mill Inn picnic area, located about 7 miles South of Riffe's Corner, Latonia. The picnic will begin at 12:00 noon. Everyone bring a well-filled picnic basket.

The Lloyd A. Tichenor family, Spencer county, has been selected as Kentucky's top safe farm family for 1968.

BIT AND SPUR CLUB WINNERS AT SHOW

The Northern Kentucky Area Horse and Pony Show was held at the Burlington Fairgrounds, July 21st.

HOW TO PREVENT PINKEYE

Pinkeye, or infectious Keratitis, is one of the most troublesome diseases of cattle and sheep. It usually occurs this time of the year. Flies are the prime source of the infection and carry it from animal to animal. Infected animals lose weight, may become blind. Milk cows may drop 50% in production. Weed pollen, sunlight, dust, wind, eye injuries are conditions for pinkeye, all complicated by various bacteria and viruses that can cause the infection, and flies spread it. Take these measures to help prevent pinkeye: Use PURINA CATTLE AND BUILDING INSECTICIDES for effective control of flies. Clip pastures and cut weeds in fence rows to reduce weed pollen. Treat promptly with NEW PURINA PINKEYE SPRAY. Purina Pinkeye Spray has a 100% active formula containing Neomycin, Tetracycline, Methylene Blue, Boric Acid, Propylene Glycol. It's in a ready-to-use aerosol can for easy treatment with a touch of the finger.

CONTROL FLIES IN BUILDINGS FOR EIGHT WEEKS

Purina Cygon 2E Insecticide will help control flies in buildings for up to eight weeks. Just mix with water and spray all walls until the liquid starts to run off. Watch the flies drop DEAD. We also carry Purina products to control flies on dairy cows, beef cows, hogs, calves, and horses. See us for all your fly control products. A GOOD FLY IS A DEAD FLY!

Walton Post Office Robbed Saturday Night

It was reported to this newspaper Monday morning that the Walton Post Office had been robbed Saturday night or Sunday morning. The burglary was discovered at 9:30 a. m., Sunday by Postmistress Mildred Cleek when she went to the office.

Entry had been gained by prying open two steel doors in the rear of the Post Office, and bars and possibly a torch had been used on the safe to get it open. Aside from this, all drawers had been ransacked and things strewn all over the floor.

According to James R. Tapp, Postal Inspector, who arrived on the scene Monday, less than $100 in money was taken, and an undisclosed amount of stamps taken. Rumor has the figure going as high as $1,000.

The Post Office at Butler was recently robbed and the manner was much the same as the job here, according to reports.

Prints may be found which might lead to the apprehension of the thugs.

Donations Needed For Wa-Na Rummage Sale

The Wa-Na Woman's Club is making plans for another rummage sale, to be held in the near future.

The location and the time will be announced later. But anyone who has clothing (wearable), or small household items, dishes, glassware, and other nic-nacs they would like to donate, please contact Mrs. Jack Norris, 485-7149, or Mrs. Clayton Jones, 485-4571, and arrangements will be made for collection.

The club was very successful in past rummage sales and will greatly appreciate your cooperation in planning for this one.

ON DEAN'S LIST AT MSU

Miss Judith Ann Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Shields, Jones Road, Walton, made the Dean's List at Morehead State University for the spring term. She had a 3.0 point average. 2 Miss Shields will be a sophomore when she returns to college this fall.

COVEY-NORRIS WEDDING

Mrs. Joe Norris

On July 12th, the marriage of Miss Carolyn Sue Covey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kidwell of Independence, and Mr. Joe Norris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Norris of Walton, was performed in the Walton United Methodist Church, Walton. The Rev. Robert Yates presided.

The bride's dress was floor length, long sleeve and was made of satin with lace on top. Her train consisted of lace. She carried a bouquet of an orchid with ivy leaves trailing on a stem.

Best man was Marvin Hudson. Ushers were Larry Allphin and Ronald Covey, brother of the bride.

Maid of honor was Mary Brown and the bridesmaid was Kathy Corbin. Both wore floor length gowns of pink crepe with velvet bows. They carried white carnations tipped lightly with pink.

The flower girl was Miss Kimberly Humphrey, and the ring-bearer was David Kidwell.

A reception was held at the Crescent Springs Firehouse. After a short honeymoon, the couple will reside at 8484 Dixie Highway, Florence.

WOUNDED IN VIETNAM

Pfc. Ernie Rich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rich of Alta Vista Drive, Walton, was wounded June 30, while on duty with the Military Police in Vietnam. Ernie received the wound in his left hand, damaging the little finger and crushing some bones.

He has been released from the hospital but still has a cast on his hand. Rich has been in Vietnam four months and is stationed at Nhatrang.

Physical Exam Required For First Grade Students

With the Walton-Verona Schools opening on August 26, Supt. Earl Roberts makes the following announcement:

"All first grade pupils entering school for the first time are required by law to have a physical examination. This examination and certification may be made by the family physician or by the Boone County Health Department in Florence. The services at the Health Department are without charge."

More information concerning the school opening will be published later this month.

Given $100,000.00 For Banklick Plan

A $100,000 appropriation to conduct the final feasibility study on the Banklick Creek flood control project has been approved.

Homer Taff, state conservationist with the U. S. Department of Soil Conservation, Lexington, notified the Covington-Kenton-Boone Chamber of Commerce of the decision last week.

"This is the official test forward," said Robert Reilly, executive vice president of the chamber. "One year from now we'll be worrying how to raise the money to make it a reality," Mr. Reilly added.

The Banklick Creek project encompasses three dams and four lakes along the often flood-swollen stream. Engineers have already begun field studies, according to Mr. Reilly.

Two of the lakes will be used for recreational purposes, the third by the Kenton County Water District, and the fourth as a catch basin for Bullock Pen creek. The dams will eliminate the costly flooding of an area between Covington and Falmouth.

Boone County Republican Women to Meet Aug. 13

The Boone County Republican Women's Club will meet Tuesday, August 13, at 8:00 p. m., in Republican Headquarters, Florence.

Mrs. Harvey Pelley, club president, has announced that this meeting is being held a week later than the usual date to the Boone County Fair. All interested Boone County women are cordially invited to attend. Plans will be made for observance of the club's anniversary in September.

Northern Kentuckians are asked to mark the dates of the Boone County Fair—this week. The Republican Club will sponsor a booth at the fair and will give out lots of interesting literature, including a letter from Congressman Gene Snyder. Congressman Snyder is donating an inflatable elephant for the club to give away each evening through a drawing. Republican women will be working in the booth nightly.

Data Processing School

A Kentucky business college to teach data processing and computer programming techniques has been formed in Louisville. The school will open classes on the Ursuline Campus, 3105 Lexington Road, in September.

The college, called the National Institute of Technology, will occupy Ursuline's Bréscia Hall. Co-educational and non-sectarian, the school will provide campus dormitory and recreational facilities.

Kenton County Fair Is Quite Successful

Miss Gwen Jobe, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Jobe, 2806 Villia Marie Drive, Villa Hills, is the new Miss Kenton County Fair. She was crowned last Thursday night as the fair opened at the Simon Kenton High School grounds at Independence.

A 1968 graduate of Dixie Heights School, Miss Jobe plans to attend the University of Kentucky Northern Community College this fall. She will major in public relations or education. She will also represent Kenton County in the Miss Kentucky State Fair Pageant in Louisville, in January. She received a trophy and a $100 gift certificate from the Copping Department Store, Covington.

Friday was a big day at the fair. Cecil Cummins, fair association president, said it looked like the biggest yet in attendance.

On display were fine dairy cattle, 4-H displays of vegetables, fruits, handicrafts and other home and farm projects, as well as to-bacco.

Allen Wolsing, a 4-H member, won championship on his home-made calculating machine capable of adding, subtracting, multiplying and dividing.

Bryan Armstrong had a fine display of fresh vegetables, etc. He was the only adult farmer to have a display.

In the Baby Contest, held Saturday afternoon, winners in the girls division were: Angelle Hoskins, 11 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hoskins, up to one year; Jennifer Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Jackson, 18 months, one to two years; and Amy Due, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Due, 2½ years, two to four years old.

In the boys division, Jimmy Grubbs, six months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Grubbs, in infant to one year division; Mike Watson, one to two years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watson, and Chip Hamling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hamling, 2½, in the two to four years division. Mike Watson was named the grand winner of the contest. There were 62 entries.

Attend Democratic Convention July 27

The 17-man Boone County Democratic delegation attended the District and State Conventions on Saturday, July 27.

Elected to the State Central Committee were William P. McEvoy, County Attorney, and Mrs. Sara Harris, wife of State Senator Tom Harris.

Elected as alternates to the National Democrat Convention in Chicago, were Judge Bruce Ferguson, County Judge, and Carlton Anderson, Hebron.

In other action, the Young Democrat Clubs of Kentucky will elect representatives under 35 from each of the congressional districts who will be members of the State Central Committee. Unit rule was abolished, and the activities of the Un-American Activities Committee which operates through the General Assembly was denounced.

State Senator Tom Harris was elected Fourth District Convention Chairman.

It has a lot of brass, four separate cylinders, exposed valves, and fly wheel with the transmission swung on the differential. The driver occupies the right front seat. Its wooden wheels are 36 inches tall overall. Being one of the first cars with an electric starter, it also has electric headlights, but the tail light is powered by kerosene. There is a top for use in bad weather. It took some time to get it in running condition.

SIMON KENTON FHA ALUMNI MEETING

The July meeting of the Simon Kenton F. H. A. Alumni was held at the R. E. C. C. Building, Thursday, July 18, at 7:30 p. m.

There were 11 members present. The program for the month was a record of Mrs. Helen McElroy. It was, "The Wonder of Sex—How to Teach Children," by Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilke. Since most of the members are faced with this problem at one time or another, this was a very helpful and interesting record for everyone.

The program for August will be a "Feather Flower Arrangement" demonstration.

The meeting was adjourned and delicious refreshments were enjoyed by all.

Boone County Circuit Court Opened Mon.

The August term of Boone County Circuit Court opened Monday at Burlington, with Judge James R. Ford, Owenton, presiding.

Full dockets of both civil and criminal cases are assured for the three-week term, with a good many cases held over, we imagine. Criminal cases will be prosecuted by Commonwealth Attorney Otis Lanter of Williamstown.

The just list contained names of 16 persons from the Walton-Verona area: Mrs. Janice Ryan, Verona; Louis Schwab, Walton; W. H. Presser, Walton; H. P. Baker, Verona; Stanley Bush, Walton; Mrs. Evelyn Rouse, Walton; Chas. Steers, Walton; Walter Seet, Walton; Edward Hetzel, Verona; Mrs. Dorothy Ryan, Walton; Mrs. Roberta Duchemin, Walton; Richard W. Gerth, Walton; James W. Lawrence, Walton; Gayle McElroy, Walton, and Carl Alexander, Walton.

It appears to us that cases keep piling up in Circuit Court, and we wonder when Boone County will be able to have a Circuit Court and judge of its own. It should come soon, for the best interests of all concerned.

Plan Expansion For The I-75 Rest Stops

The rest stop and tourist information centers on I-75, just North of Richmond, opened only a short time are scheduled for expansion.

Public information commissioner, W. James Host has announced that $64,000 had been set aside for construction of patios for the picnic areas at the rest stops and for other improvements. One stop is for the South-bound lane and the other for the North-bound lane.

Ralph (Skip) Bultman, Elsmere, supervisor of the center, said 200 persons a day have been stopping since the information booth was added. "On weekends," Bultman said, "attendance jumps to between 6,000 and 9,000."

There are two hostesses at the center. They are Norma Fightmaster of Walton, and Kay Thompson of Cordova.

The tourist center, already visited by people from all 50 states, is open from 8:00 a. m. until 8:00 p. m. Maps, outlining of routes and supplying of brochures and pamphlets about tourist attractions in the Commonwealth are distributed.

A Danger Area That Is Supposed To Be Fixed

On Walton-Beaver Road

The above is the scene at the water table on Walton-Beaver Road a dangerous spot which should have been rebuilt many years ago.

In our May 2nd issue, we ran a story, released from Frankfort, which said Boone County would get funds this year to construct a new bridge on the rural road connecting U. S. 42 with Walton.

This road not only connects U. S. 42 with Walton, but also connects U. S. 42 with I-75 and I-71.

Last Saturday we received another release from Frankfort stating that the Highway Department will receive bids for a bridge and approaches over Ky. 1292 (the same road) in Boone County, on August 30.

SPORTSHORTS

A special "George Culver Night" in honor of Cincinnati's no-hit pitcher, has been scheduled for Friday evening, August 9th.

Culver will be honored in pre-game ceremonies. Each fan attending will receive a handsome $11 photo, detailing Culver's no-hit performance.

The 24-year-old righthander tossed a 6-to-1 no-hitter against Philadelphia, July 29, allowing an unearned run in the second inning. He struck out four and walked five, boosting his record to 9-9 for the season.

Notes Of Servicemen

AREA AGENT'S 1/2 ACRE

...by...
JOE CLAXON

Amount of agricultural limestone needed on farm fields will vary. Degrees of soil acidity and crop being grown are two important factors. Soil acidity levels vary from what the scientists call "near neutral," a pH (acidity level index) of 6.7 or above, down to a strongly acid soil of pH 5.3 or below. Near neutral soils usually do not require limestone for almost any crop, but strongly acid soils will need from two to five tons per acre, depending on the crop grown.

If tobacco is to be grown on strongly acid soils, two to three tons per acre of limestone are needed. For corn, clover or grass on strongly acid soil, three to four tons an acre; for alfalfa on strongly acid soil four to five tons an acre. Amounts of lime needed are cut down as the soil acidity (pH level) drops to moderately or slightly acid.

Soil tests are the only way a farmer can know the degree of soil acidity in a field. Have your soil tested now for all seeding.

If you are a grower of Irish potatoes take care in digging and handling. Mechanical injuries to the potatoes cause high losses when rot organisms enter the wounds. Throwing potatoes into baskets or boxes, or injuring in the digging with the equipment are frequent causes of losses.

Potatoes should not be allowed to lie in the sun for extended periods while digging. Sun scald will result.

Longer storage life can be obtained by letting potatoes cure in the shade for several hours before sorting and storing. This helps "set" the skins of the potatoes.

Potatoes should not be exposed to light after digging. This causes greening, and lowers the quality of the potato.

Good air circulation is needed for best results. Prevent stacking potatoes. Potatoes dug in early summer may heat up in storage if stacked five or six deep.

Storage temperature of 55 to 60 degrees F, and a relative humidity (air moisture content) of 80 percent is most desirable for potatoes. Such storage conditions provide a minimum of shrinkage. A cellar or cave can most nearly meet these needs.

Sprouting can become a serious problem under such storage conditions. Sprout inhibiting chemicals are available to reduce the sprouting.

Auburn University accepts 14 students from the University of Kentucky each year to its veterinary medicine school. The state pays a stipulated amount each year to the school through the Southern Regional Education Bd.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

I would like to take this opportunity to thank my good friends and neighbors for their assistance in saving the house occupied by the Sparks family when a tent near the house caught fire and burned.

Looking to Future U. S. Food Needs

Kentucky is traditionally a land of meat, cattle, lush pastures and fast horses. It is a fine sight. And, in future years, the state may have a lot more meat cattle and top pasture for important reasons connected with the world population explosion.

Dr. W. P. Garrigus, chairman of the University of Kentucky animal sciences department, says, "Kentucky's future agricultural system seems destined for livestock production, forage and grain crops. This is not to discount the importance of many other farm enterprises now in Kentucky, nor the work of other departments here in the University and the Agricultural Experiment Station. But, Kentucky seems suited by its type of land for an expanded animal agriculture. Much of the land is hilly and rolling, too much so for the traditional row crops. This land is excellent for pasture and forage and, in some cases, grain production. By climate, the state is well suited for livestock enterprises."

The world's population by 2000 probably will be double what it is now, he thinks. Presently it is near 3.5 billion persons. Thus, by the end of this century, it may be about 7 billion.

A good deal of the food for these extra mouths will come from animal production, grains and, indirectly, forages.

Three undergraduate degrees are offered by the University of Kentucky Department of Music: Bachelor of Arts with concentration in music; Bachelor of Music in Music Education; and the Bachelor of Music with concentration in voice, piano, organ or an instrument.

The University of Kentucky community colleges offer transfer curricula for those who wish to complete two years of a baccalaureate program.

A STITCH IN TIME—
By Linda Tatum

Freezer fresh peaches enjoyed on a cold, dreary winter day can be the result of a 4-H food preservation project. Using top quality fruit, fully ripe and sound, just as you would prepare for immediate serving, is the secret of successfully freezing peaches.

Picking or buying more fruit than can be frozen at one time results in loss of quality or even spoilage if you overload your freezer with more than it can safely accommodate. Check your freezer booklet and follow the manufacturer's directions carefully.

Three methods recommended for freezing fruit are: with syrup or dry sugar and without sugar or syrup. Peaches are best when prepared quickly and frozen in syrup or sugar because this helps develop flavor and holds the natural color.

A special treatment to prevent discoloring of the cut surface is the addition of ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) or other anti-browning agents before freezing. Ascorbic acid prevents the darkening of the fruit, keeps it bright without loss of flavor, helps insure texture, and protects the original Vitamin C value. Peaches so treated will hold their color longer after thawing.

Use 1/2 tsp. ascorbic acid for each quart of sugar syrup or each cup of dry sugar. This may be purchased at a reliable drugstore.

Peaches being prepared for freezing should be handled gently and in small amounts, washed in cold water and drained thoroughly. Fill pint freezing containers 1/4 full of cold ascorbic acid syrup, then peel and slice each peach directly into container.

Fill container 1/2 full with fruit, shake lightly to pack fruit closely but without crushing; finish filling the container, add enough syrup to cover the fruit leaving 1/2 inch head space. Place a piece of crumpled wax paper on the fruit to hold it under the syrup. Cover, label with fruit name, date, way it is to be used and percentage of sugar or syrup, and freeze immediately.

In addition to freezing peaches, consider freezing some peach pies—one to be baked and served now and two to freeze unbaked for future enjoyment. Or if your family includes young children, freeze fruit pops for snacks.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I served four years in the Navy from January 1961 through December 1964. Am I a veteran of the Vietnam era?

A—Yes. All service after Aug. 4, 1964, other than active duty for training as a reservist, is considered Vietnam era service.

Q—I plan to enter college under the G.I. Bill in September and intend to take one three-semester-hour course. With a wife and three children, I must also work. Will I receive extra training allowance for my dependents?

A—No. A veteran enrolled for less than half time can be paid the cost of the course only but not to exceed $30. Three semester hours are one quarter time for an undergraduate student. Thus you will not receive additional training allowance for your dependents.

Q—I am a World War II veteran receiving VA service-connected disability compensation for blindness of both eyes. I have never received the $1,600 automobile allowance. Is it possible to receive this benefit now?

A—You may now be eligible for this benefit. You should file a claim with the Veterans Administration regional office which maintains your records. The "Veterans Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967," signed into law last Aug. 31, removes the time limit in which eligible veterans can apply for this benefit.

Q—I am thinking of selling my home which I bought with a GI loan. The loan has not been paid in full. If the prospective buyer defaults, will I be liable to the VA for the unpaid amount of the loan? Is there any way I can be released from this liability?

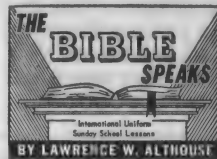

A—The answer to both questions is yes. If you sell your home, which has not been paid for, and the buyer defaults on the GI loan, you will be liable to VA for any amount VA must pay the lender under the loan guaranty contract.

However, the VA generally will release you from all further liability to the Government if the buyer of your home will assume full liability for the repayment of the loan in a written agreement required by VA.

You should write the VA office that guaranteed your loan before you sign a sales contract and ask for the necessary forms and instructions on how you can be released from personal liability on your loan.

THE DAY AFTER "THE DAY"
Lesson for August 11, 1968

Background Scriptures: Ezra 1 through 3.
Devotional Readings: Psalms 95:1-7c.

A concert pianist was playing a concert in a Midwestern city. It was the last number on his program and he was playing the dramatic "Revolutionary Etude" by Chopin. Just as he came to those last great, crashing chords, a tornado swept through the section of the city in which the concert hall was located. The pianist struck the last chord just as the tornado brushed by the building, shaking it and smashing its large windows. In the stunned silence that ensued, one man who apparently did not know what had happened was heard to exclaim: Great Scott! What does he do for an encore?

From old to new

This is often the kind of question with which we are confronted when some dramatic event takes place in our lives, particularly if it is something to which we have looked forward with great anticipation. We look forward to these "Days" with the expectation that they will put an end to something old that we are eager to have behind us. Yes, they often signify the beginning of something new as well. For example, when the day of high school graduation finally dawns, after what has seemed to be an eternity, we find ourselves confronted with new challenges: college, our first job, the armed forces. Having reached the end of waiting for the big "Day," we begin a new period of working toward the coming of another one.

Thus the days of graduation are called "commencements," for they are really both the end of something and the commencement of something else. So it is that when a child or youth is confirmed or accepted into membership of the church, we say that, though their period of catechism is over, it is just the beginning of their life of discipleship in Jesus Christ.

End of the beginning

Hanson Baldwin's Battles Lost and Won, Harper & Row, is a study of some of the major battles of World War Two. One of the chapters describes the Allied invasion of Sicily. I was surprised to find it entitled, "The end of the beginning." For surely, I thought, he means the beginning of the end! As I read this chapter, however, I found him saying that the invasion of Sicily marked the end of the first phase of the war. I suspect that it is common for us to think that we have reached the beginning of the end when, in reality, it is merely the end of the beginning.

This must certainly have been the attitude of the exiled Jews when, after so many years of waiting, the promise was fulfilled and Cyrus, King of Persia, did as the prophets had foretold. He made a proclamation informing the exiles that they would be permitted to return to Jerusalem. How they had waited and longed for this day. It had seemed as if the great "Day" would never come!

Some rose up

But now it was here and they had to face the challenges that confronted them on the day after the "Day." It was one thing to await the end of exile, but something else to contemplate what they would do when it came. For they had been in Chaldea for a long time. Only the elderly remembered Jerusalem. Most of them had been born in exile and Chaldea had become "home" to them, the place of their roots, their livelihood, Jerusalem, on the other hand, lay in ruins. It would have to be rebuilt. The trip back alone would take four months of hazardous journey. When the great "Day" had come, all rejoiced. In the days that followed, however, only some of the exiled Jews decided to meet the challenges. When at last they got to Jerusalem, it was, perhaps, an even more sorry sight than expected. But they rose to the task and in time the people gathered as one man to Jerusalem and began the job of rebuilding with a new goal, a new "Day" stretching into the future.

Staffordsburg

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

As the last of our special worship services here at the United Methodist Church, in the absence of our pastor, the Jack Green family had charge of the program. Since the Greens are a musical family or maybe I should say a family of musicians, the service was "music." Of course the invocation, collection and benediction had their place. Otherwise solos, duets, quartets, choir specials were enjoyed. But I think also much enjoyed were the congregational hymns that many have known from childhood. Rev. Phillips is expected back for Aug. 4. We will be glad to see him.

Omer Lucas of Hemphill Road, who has been a patient for several weeks in Booth Hospital, is still in a critical condition.

Mrs. L. J. Rapp and Mrs. Francys Keeney attended the leaders class for Homemakers at the R. E. C. auditorium, Friday morning. The lesson was given by Mrs. Alza Hentschel, a well known artist, assisted by Mrs. Gertrude Paprotta, who had charge of the projection. Several of the class doubted their ability to make it an interesting lesson to the clubs but I think all enjoyed it and found many points for meditation. Since art is history portrayed it is interesting to all of us in some form.

Ed Jones, who has been ill for some time, went to the Baptist Home early this week. We was so lonely that when Mrs. Jones visited him the next day, he persuaded her to bring him home. However, he was no better and on Friday was taken to the hospital.

I was glad indeed to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Giles, who called Sunday evening.

We regret to hear that Mrs. Bernice Brunst is critically ill.

a real VACATION

They had waited for this real vacation—this long trip—for years. But this time it was different, this time he wouldn't be going back to his job.

At first, retirement seemed frightening, like being shut off from the mainstream of life. He had seen too many men age beyond their years, after their career ended. He had no wish to be on the sidelines. He and his wife could have moved to a warmer climate and just have taken it easy. He didn't want that. So, before he left home, he had a long talk with his minister.

He found that there was plenty a man his age could do. Financially secure, he could afford to volunteer for a job. In fact, through the Church there was work he could do that would spread to the farthest corners of the world.

Right now, he is enjoying this vacation. He is savoring every moment of it. Because, when he gets home, he's going to lead a full and useful life. And that's the way he wants it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ELECTRIC WATER SYSTEM

PIPED PLEASURE!

An electric water system does much more than providing a welcomed shower on a hot day. It also opens a whole new world of comfort and convenience for your family.

Household chores are so much easier and quicker when water is as handy as the nearest tap. Dishes, laundry and other jobs are almost fun!

An electric water system can help you earn more, too. Tests prove that live stock and poultry produce better when water is always readily available. An electric water system also enables you to irrigate crops and increase yields.

Yet an electric water system costs only pennies to operate, thanks to low-cost rural electric power.

Ask for free information about installing an electric water system for your home or farm. No cost or obligation, of course.

GREEN ROAD SPECIAL

When it rained, it poured on Green Road after our regular July meeting of the Green Road Special 4-H meeting. We were lucky though. The downpour started right after the last drop of beverage and crumb of cupcake had been devoured by eight members, two leaders and three visitors.

Elaine Hampton, bubbling over with camp experiences as an assistant counselor, presided. Melanie Simpson brought the devotion, and other reports were given, and the business taken care of quickly so Elaine Hampton, Melanie Simpson, Margaret Collett and Stanley Collett could bring us an eye witness report on what's going on at Carlisle, Ky. Wow! We're not letting them leave us behind next year.

Part of our time was spent on last minute details of the Kenton County Fair matters. To top it all though was plans to make our August meeting one of the best during our summer months. A special committee is working even now on a fun day picnic at Campbell County Park on Thursday, August 15. You will be contacted by the committee to let you know what refreshments that you are expected to bring.

In closing, I want to thank everyone that was responsible for making the 4-H Family and Member picnic such a success on July 29. —Reporter

Survivors include two sons, Clifford Farwell of Walton, and James Farwell of Dayton; five daughters, Mrs. Anna Hall of Erlanger, Mrs. Lillian Plummer of Cincinnati, Mrs. Ada Verkamp and Mrs. Irene Fesler of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Edna Ballard of Dayton; a sister, Mrs. Powell Shanks; and two brothers, Len and Polk Markham, all of Morganfield.

Services were held at 2:00 p. m. last Friday at the Chambers and Grubbs Funeral Home, Walton.

JOHN G. ATKINS

John G. (Ted) Atkins, 60, former resident of Walton, died Saturday, August 3rd, in the Richmond (Va.) VA Hospital. He lived in Lynchburg, Va., and was a World War II veteran.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Schwartz of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Virginia Paige of Lynchburg.

Services were held at 10:30 a. m., Tuesday at the Chambers and Grubbs Funeral Home, Walton, with burial in Richwood Cemetery.

FOREIGN AID

M. Gene Snyder
U. S. Congressman
Fourth District of Kentucky

The annual foreign aid authorization bill passed the House of Representatives and carried a cost tag of $1,993,925,000.

Let no one be deceived by the newspaper, radio and television news stories that this was a cut of $1 billion. It was a reduction by that amount only from the bloated $2.9 billion President Johnson had requested in his budget.

It was a cut of only approximately $300 million from the $2.3 billion actually appropriated last year. The claim that a substantial cut was made in the foreign giveaway program is as counterfeit as a $3 bill.

At a time when this country faces financial peril, when federal taxes have just been increased from 10 to 12 billion dollars a year and the President and Congress promised a $6 billion cut in spending, this ploy cut of $300 million in foreign handout funds is almost a betrayal of the American people.

H. R. Gross, a member of the House of Representatives, offered an amendment to provide for a one year moratorium on any new money for foreign aid, insisting that the $5 billion now in the pipeline was far more than enough to fund the program for the next year. I voted for this amendment. However, it was defeated as were others which would cut deeply into the money figures.

The case of Nigeria is only one glaring example of the ineffectiveness and futility of this program. Since Nigeria became an independent nation in 1960, the United States has lavished no less than $204,000,000 on its government. We also have maintained in Nigeria one of the biggest Peace Corps delegations of those spread around the world.

All of this was designed to make Nigeria a "showcase" of democracy in Africa—a shining example of what can be accomplished with American foreign aid dollars. Just what has been accomplished?

The government upon which we have lavished so much aid has, for more than a year, been at war with the inhabitants of Eastern Nigeria (principally the Ibo people), who in May of 1967 declared their independence, and established the nation of Biafra.

By conservative estimates, 200,000 or more persons have been killed in the war. In addition, countless thousands have died from starvation and disease. As waged by British armed troops of the government of Nigeria, it has become a war of genocide against the Ibo. Ibo prisoners have been slaughtered. The civilian inhabitants of many Ibo villages have been massacred.

It represents one of the most heinous crimes ever perpetrated against a people anywhere in the world. Yet prior to recent reports of mass starvation among the Biafrans, it is a war which has been scarcely mentioned by the news media.

And where is that great "peace-loving" United Nations? The U. N. General Assembly and Security Council constantly pass resolutions denouncing the governments of South Africa, Angola and Rhodesia but for some strange reason the war in Nigeria is strictly taboo as far as the U. N. is concerned.

You will recall that it was at the insistence of Great Britain, the United States joined in an economic boycott of anti-Communist Rhodesia, whose only crime has been to declare its independence from British rule. Neither country will sell a thing to Rhodesia—let alone arms—even though Rhodesia is at war with no one. But it is not a matter of record that the present administration has criticized the British for selling arms which permit the killing of more Biafrans.

Be alert today—alive tomorrow.

Big Bone To Have A Trailer Museum

Big Bone Lick State Park is to have a trailer as a temporary national history museum to serve until a permanent museum building can be erected.

Arrangements for the trailer were made last week in Frankfort in a conference between Dr. C. B. Schultz, University of Nebraska paleontologist; Ellis Crawford, curator of the Behringer Natural History Museum in Devou Park; Robert E. Reilly, executive vice president, and Wallace M. Lucas, director of the Covington-Kenton-Boone Chamber of Commerce; Robert E. Gable, Kentucky Parks Commissioner, and staff members Edward Fox and Don Pennington.

Dr. Schultz and Mr. Crawford agreed to contribute labor to set up the display. The two scientists will commence their work as soon as the parks department moves the trailer to Big Bone.

In the matter of park development, staff member Pennington said it had been decided to move the proposed camping area to the top of the highest hill in the park.

Revival Services At Big Bone Methodist

Revival services will be conducted at the Big Bone United Methodist Church, August 19-24, with the Rev. Gayle Stewart leading the services each evening.

The evangelist for this series of meetings will be the Rev. Raymond Gibson, Jr., pastor of Sunny Acres United Methodist Church on Taylor Mill Road. Rev. Gibson was employed 14 years as a mining engineer before surrendering himself to God and entering the ministry.

Special music each evening will be provided by such guests as Ada Broome, Mary Rankin and the Gibson Family.

Everyone is welcome and extended a cordial invitation to attend these services.

Entertain At Dinner

Rebecca Jones Bride of Charles W. Riley

Miss Rebecca Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones, Independence, and Charles William Riley, son of Dr. and Mrs. George Riley, Edgewood, were united in marriage on Saturday evening, July 27th, at Immanuel United Methodist Church, Lakeside Park.

The Reverend Kenneth Clay officiated at the lovely double-ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Michael Sullivan.

The sanctuary was beautifully decorated with arrangements of white gladiolus and chrysanthemums, potted ferns, and candelabra with white tapers festooned with plumosa and ivy.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of Italian silk, coachman style, with a chantilly lace bodice, long tapered sleeves, and a subreana neckline trimmed with tiny seed pearls. Her detachable train, fastened at the shoulders with minute bows, was trimmed with tiers of chantilly lace and seed pearls. She wore a matching pearl crown lined with lace and a bouffant veil of silk illusion. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of white roses, stephanotis, and lilies-of-the-valley centered with a white orchid.

Miss Sharon Riley, sister of the groom, served as maid of honor. She wore a full length, empire gown of yellow crepe fashioned with a subreana neckline, elbow length sleeves and a satin train. Her headpiece was a flowerlet of matching organza encrusted with seed pearls and attached to a short bouffant veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of cymbidium orchids surrounded by yellow roses, lilies-of-the-valley and yellow daisies.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sandy Dotier of Independence, Miss Carol Furnish of Covington, and Mrs. Harold Roberts of Erlanger. They wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor in pastel shades of blue, orchid and pink with matching headpieces. They carried

LABOR DAY PICNIC

Plans have been made by the Verona Volunteer Fire Department to hold a Labor Day Picnic, Monday, September 2, at the farm of James Rice on Route 14, near the Verona exit of I-71.

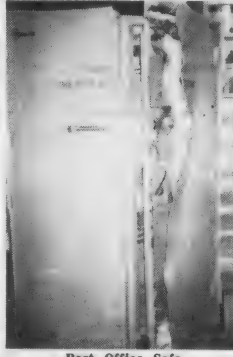

The action starts at 6:00 p. m., and will last until midnight. Admission is 25 cents for all ages. There will be food and soft drinks.

Musical will be presented, live, by the Swinging Doors, the hottest sensation to break into country and western music.

There will be both square and modern dancing to popular music by another group of local musicians.

Keep this date in mind. Come, help this fire department get organized, and this takes money!

SAFE DOOR SPLIT

Thieves who entered the Walton Post Office last week ripped open the large safe. The right door was split, permitting entrance to the money and stamps which were taken.

Murray, Ky., a fishing and vacation town, is also the site of one of the world's largest dark-fired tobacco markets. Ten percent of the U. S. popcorn supply is processed here also.

carried cascade bouquets of matching flowers.

The flower girl was Miss Kathy Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Coleman of Edgewood. She wore a full length floor length pink gown fashioned to match those of the bridesmaids, and a headband of pink sweetheart roses. She scattered rose petals from a tiny white wicker basket tied with pink and white ribbons and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mr. Philip Jones, brother of the bride, was the best man. Ushers were Mr. Harold Roberts of Erlanger, Mr. Ronald Lillard of Park Hills, and Mr. William Kleier of Fort Mitchell. The ring bearer was Master Randy Gouge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gouge of Independence.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jones chose a dress of blue lace with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The groom's mother was attired in a turquoise ensemble of silk faille with harmonizing accessories and a white orchid.

A reception followed in the dining hall of the church, after which

Benefit Knithole Baseball Games

An evening of baseball will be provided by the Walton Knithole Leaguers for the benefit of the Walton-Verona Band Booster uniform fund on Saturday, August 17, starting at 5:00 p. m., at the Walton school ball field.

The following games have been scheduled and will provide a full evening of exciting entertainment: Walton D League will play the Florence Optimists; the C League meets a team sponsored by Roberts and Hudson, Florence; the B League team will meet a B team from Hebron, and the A teams of Walton and Columbia Federal will conclude the schedule for the evening.

The band from Walton-Verona will entertain for a period midway between the games.

Everyone come out and watch the ball games, listen to the band, and have refreshments from the concession stands. The Band Boosters will serve fish sandwiches and hot dogs, soft drinks and coffee, as well as candy bars.

Admission is 25 cents for adults and children. The entire proceeds from the gate and from the concession stands go to the Band Boosters for band uniforms.

A HAPPY REUNION

All ten children of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Feagan of Beaver Road, Walton, spent a pleasant evening with their parents on July 10, at a private party in the Music Room at the Lookout House. This was the first time in ten years that the brothers and sisters and their parents had shared such a happy occasion.

In the order of their ages, the children are: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Feagan of Bowling Green; Jill, Mr. and Mrs. Don Stephenson of Norwood; Judy, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mara of San Diego, Calif.; Joy, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mulligan of Lexington; Miss Janelle Feagan of Memphis, Tenn.; Jaynee, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sleet of Lexington; Miss Janice Feagan, and sons, Jerry, Julian and James Feagan, all at home.

Jack and his wife came from Bowling Green to see that his parents actually got started on their trip to California the following day. The Feagans went by car to California with their daughter, Judy, and Mr. Mara, and returned by plane. They were in 13 states during their two-week trip and visit in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Feagan said it was indeed a memorable occasion and vacation for them.

Wilmington Baptist Church on Highway 17 at Fiskburg, is having a Homecoming on August 25th. Members and friends will be enjoying a day of fellowship and worship.

Services for the day include Sunday School at 10:00 a. m., Morning Worship at 11:00 a. m.; Picnic basket lunch from 12:00 to 2:00 p. m., and Homecoming service at 2:00 p. m.

The afternoon service will feature Dr. Roy Boatwright, Sunday School Secretary for Kentucky Baptists, as guest speaker. There will also be special music from Landmark Temple, Cincinnati.

All members and friends are invited to be present and share in this great day, said the pastor, William F. Barnard.

Huge Baby Show at Boone County Fair

Despite the rain, the Boone County Fair Baby Show exceeded all previous shows at the fair. Last year 124 babies entered the show which was a record up to that time—131 babies were entered this year. The winners were:

Six months to one year, boys: First, Mr. and Mrs. John Reynolds' son, Jonathan, Florence; second, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Code's son, Kevin, Erlanger; third, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Elliott's son, Todd, Erlanger.

Six months to one year, girls: First, Mr. and Mrs. Larry McBee's daughter, Tammy Sue, Hebron; second, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bohler's daughter, Martha Ann, Erlanger; third, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Randall's daughter, Sonia, Burlington.

One year old to two years old, boys: First, Mr. and Mrs. James Gallenstein's son, Doug, Erlanger; second, Mr. and Mrs. Orb Heddin's son, Bryan, of Burlington; third, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sebree's son, Rodney, Burlington.

One year to two years old, girls: First, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Rockney's daughter, Michele, Florence; second, Mr. and Mrs. Don Valentine's daughter, Kimberly, Florence; third, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis' daughter, Michele, Hebron.

R. V. Lentz, conductor of the Baby Show, anticipates that there will be 150 babies in the show next year, as plans call for a larger and better show stage, and the premiums will be increased.

Attend GOP Convention

Otis Readnour, local business man, attended the GOP National Convention, in Miami Beach, Fla., as an alternate delegate from Kentucky. He had quite a time and got his man nominated.

Mr. Readnour was accompanied by Kyle Nicholson, who also attended the convention, but as a spectator. He also enjoyed the trip.

The Jefferson Davis monument, Fairview, towers 351 feet and is the fourth highest monument in the United States, and the tallest concrete-cast obelisk in the world.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I am rated 80 percent disabled from a service-connected disability. Since I am unable to work because of this disability, am I not entitled to a 100 percent disability rating?

A—If your service-connected disability causes you to be unemployed you may be entitled to a 100 percent disability rating from the Veterans Administration. Contact the VA regional office where your records are on file for information as to the evidence needed to support your claim.

Q—I am the widow of a World War II veteran currently receiving a widow's pension from the Veterans Administration. How may I be considered for an aid and attendance allowance now provided for widows?

A—You should have your private physician submit statement to the VA giving a complete account of your physical condition at present.

If you are a patient in a nursing home you can qualify under the law without a medical statement. A statement from the nursing home showing that you are a patient will usually be sufficient.

Generally, widows are eligible for an extra $50 a month aid and attendance allowance in addition to their pension if they are unable to care for themselves.

BIRTHS

FRIDAY, AUGUST 30th

6:00 P. M.

FINAL NOTICE TO ALL DOG OWNERS OF BOONE COUNTY

Your Dog Licenses for the year of 1969 are past due, and many of you have not come forward of your own accord and free will, to pay the same. Thus, as Dog Warden of Boone County, I am ordered by both the State and the Boone County officials to see to it that the laws of this great Commonwealth of Kentucky concerning the dog population are obeyed to their fullest extent. So, this notification will appear for the next two weeks, hoping that the dog owners of Boone County will take fair warning and voluntarily pay the fair tax that is due without other means having to be taken in order to enforce this issue.

If not done on a voluntary basis, you will be called on by my office for same, and a collection fee will be added on to the tax. If then you refuse to pay, you will be cited into the Boone County Court, and this will be most embarrassing and costly to you. This is your final warning!

For your convenience, you can pay these taxes to: Ryan's Hardware, Walton, Ky. - Denham's Drug Store, Florence, Ky. - Hebron Pharmacy, Hebron, Ky. - Smitty's Grocery, Union, Ky. - the Boone County Sheriff's Office, or you may contact me by mail and I will send you the license. License fees are: $1.50 for one dog; $10.00 for kennel license, up to 10 dogs, and $15.00 for over 10 dogs.

We regret to hear that Albert Gilligan of Batavia, Ohio, is in the hospital suffering with pneumonia. We sincerely hope he is at home again by this time.

Friends and neighbors of Mrs. L. M. Deuser were shocked to hear that she fell down the steps on Monday, Aug. 5, fracturing her hip. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she had surgery on Wednesday to insert a pin. On Friday she was up in a wheel chair. We trust she will not have to stay long in the hospital.

Rev. Frank Phillips and family are expecting his mother from Brooklyn, to spend a few days with them. She is arriving on Saturday. We hope she will like our community.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Losey and J. B. Losey visited several places of interest in central Kentucky on Monday of this week. They made a stop at Frankfort, where they visited the old Capitol and the museum there. After visiting several other places, they went to Cynthiana for dinner. There they saw Earl Hanna, who was quite well and very glad to see any friends from this area.

Mrs. Stanley Swinford spent a few days this week with Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw. They canned quite a few cans of beans.

The last report from Ed Jones is that he has pneumonia at Booth Hospital.

Omer Lucas, after improving for a couple of days, was not so well on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Rapp and Bruce are returning this weekend from Florida, where they spent the last two weeks visiting relatives and friends near Miami.

Most of us having spent several hours at the convention last week, we can now rest until the next one in a couple of weeks. Whatever your political views, let us pray that God's choice may win.

Bro. and Mrs. Lewis Searcy and two children moved Tuesday to Campbellsville, Ky., where he has been called to preach at a church near there. We wish him the best of luck in his new field.

Mr. and Mrs. Truett Searcy and baby of California, where he is stationed, are spending a vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Scott.

Mrs. Allie Chandler was calling in Erlanger, last Sunday to see her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ruth Jones, who is very ill. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Josephine Robinson and daughter, Lisa, were visiting relatives in the mountains over the weekend.

We extend our sympathy to Mrs. Ray Webster in the death of her brother, Bud Ryan, who passed away last week. Hamilton Funeral Home was in charge.

Miss Catherine Carr was calling on Mrs. Flonnie Edgington one day last week.

Clifford Stephenson's foot is better but he is not able to get around very well yet. Hope he is soon OK.

Reneg On Spending Cuts After 10 Percent Surtax Hike.....

M. Gene Snyder
 U. S. Congressman
 Fourth District of Kentucky

Today, I call attention to the indefensible manner in which the Johnson-Humphrey administration deliberately padded the public payroll by adding over 95,000 extra employees in the 30-day period immediately prior to his signing the tax increase legislation, which also embraced a mandatory reduction in both expenditures and Federal civilian employment.

During the 30 days in June, while this bill was held in abeyance, the administration added 95,350 additional employees to the public payroll with practically every agency of the Government except the Treasury Department joining the stampede.

This spectacular increase in employment for the month of June brings the total number of employees on the Federal payroll as of July 1 to 3,026,376, the highest since 1945.

From the very beginning the administration had been fighting the two sections of that bill which would have reduced expenditures.

The President violently opposed the $6 billion mandatory expenditure reduction for fiscal 1969, and the administration also resented section 201, which required a rollback in Federal civilian employment to the July 1, 1966 level.

The rollback would have been achieved without firing a single employee by merely limiting the ability to replace three out of every four normal resignations or retirements.

This opposition has developed into nothing short of blackmail threats to stop the mail services, curtail air safety, et cetera, despite the fact that the Director of the Budget, as the representative of the President, had agreed to both these sections in conference as a part of the tax increase bill. It was unanimously agreed by the conferees, with the Director of the Budget concurring, that there would be no exemptions for any agency from section 201 but that he, the Director of the Budget, would least disrupt the public service.

Now we find that during the 30 day interval after the conferees and the administration had agreed on the package but prior to its actual signing into law, the agencies were already circumventing the intent by adding a total of over 95,000 extra employees.

The Post Office Department was recently threatening to curtail the most essential mail service, but it actually added 20,358 employees during the month of June above the number that were needed to handle the mail in the preceding month. It is understood that during the rush of the Christmas holidays the Post Office Department needs additional temporary personnel; but during the month of June why would they need these extra 20,000 except that they were padding the payrolls?

These can be no justification for this spectacular increase in Federal employment during a period when we were agreeing on economy, and I can think of but two explanations. First, and more likely, these agencies were padding their payrolls in advance of the effective date of the expenditure control legislation, or second, and an equally reprehensible excuse, the administration was deliberately padding the public payroll as a preliminary step to buying the 1968 election.

These 95,000 employees that were put on the payroll during the 30-day period—using a figure of $8,000 per employee—will cost the taxpayers approximately $760 million a year, or over $60 million per month.

The American taxpayers, who are now being asked to pay an extra 10 percent income tax, have a right to be indignant over the manner in which the administration and the Congress have reneged on their promises to curtail Government expenditures.

During June, 3,173 persons were added to the Federal payrolls for every single day of the month. This wild hiring spree is shocking at a time when our Nation's economy is still reeling from the $25-billion-plus deficit suffered during the fiscal year just concluded, and as our Nation faces the gloomy prospects of another deficit in fiscal 1969.

The 95,350 jobs added in June represent hiring 132 persons every hour around the clock or hiring more than two new employees every minute in the 30-day period.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

Dear Friends and Neighbors,
 I want to express my appreciation to you for the cards I received while I was in the hospital, also for the beautiful planter I received from the Crusaders Class and the planter I received from the girls I work with. It's always good to know you have wonderful friends when you are sick; also Rev. Russell's visits and prayers while I was in the hospital. May God bless each one of you and I shall always remember your kindness.

By Clark Webster,
Remington Wild Life Expert

Let's Do Something!
Perhaps the saddest sight in the world is that of a bored youngster. Faced with the problem of what to do with his leisure time—and unable to come up with an answer—he becomes moody, morose, even surly. Because the problem is widespread, many parents are trying to solve it on a community-wide basis. They've found that one of the finest recreational activities a town or neighborhood can provide is a supervised range-firing program for its youth.

Rifle ranges are sponsored by such concerned groups as the Boy Scouts, the YMCA, PAL or 4-H; and there, a father can start his son—or daughter—on the fundamentals of safe gun handling. With a good single shot 22 caliber rifle, such as Remington's Model 580 bolt action rifle, the youngster starts gaining skill in a sport that will provide satisfaction throughout his life, from childhood, into adolescence and his adult years.

Shooting is especially suitable for a growing youngster because it instills a tremendous sense of responsibility. Saving for his first gun, for example, is an excellent lesson in handling money, and joining a rifle club will build a youngster's understanding of what makes for good sportsmanship.

If your town does not already have a junior shooting program, consider the possibility of starting one now. Check with your community's recreation supervisor, the school's education director, a scoutmaster, or any leader of your local youth organizations.

But most important of all, start talking to the town's youngsters about the project, and you'll find out how a group of bored kids can turn into the most enthusiastic bunch of young people you've ever seen!

Wilmington W. M. S. Meets

The Wilmington Baptist W. M. S. met Thursday, August 1, at the home of Mrs. Edriola Goshorn with 10 members and three visitors present.

After the opening prayer by the prayer chairman, roll call was held, and minutes from the last meeting read, and the treasurer's report given. Each of the committee chairmen made their reports for the month.

The following items of new business were discussed and voted upon: To observe State Mission Week, Sept. 5-11—September 5 and 11 will be night sessions, and the 6th, 8th and 10th will be daytime sessions. The week will be under the direction of the prayer chairman, Naomi Spegal.

The group will observe Christmas in August this year for home missions. The society will prepare a box to be sent to each of the three missionaries listed in Royal Service magazine. Preparing of Christmas boxes for servicemen is to begin this month. Last year the WMS sent 15 boxes. A mission study book, "Spiritual Life Development," was taught Monday, August 12 at 7:00 p. m., by the president, Pat Burkhardt.

At the close of the business session, the program, dealing with two groups of Indians, was presented.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Goshorn, to the following: Mrs. Gwen Taylor, Mrs. Lola Barnard, Mrs. Lillian Bridges, Mrs. Naomi Spegal, Mrs. Billie Bridges, Miss Nancy Culbertson, Mrs. Janet Cooper, Mrs. Minnie Mann, Mrs. Rhoda Martin, Mrs. Pat Burkhardt, Mrs. Marietta Wilson, and Mrs. Wilma Collins.

THE "RIGHT TIME"
Lesson for August 18, 1968

Background Scriptures: Ezra 4 through 6; Haggai 1 and 2; Zechariah 1 through 8. Devotional Readings: Psalm 135.

A boy was working on a model airplane in his home. A friend of the family visiting there saw him and asked, "Oh! You're a model airplane fan?" "Sure," said the youth. "This must be the tenth one I've begun this year."

"You've begun" said the visitor, uncertain of the boy's choice of words. "How many have you finished?" "None," said the boy. "I'm not so good at that part of it."

The hard part

It seems that it is human nature to be "not so good at that part of it." We have a way of beginning all sorts of projects and completing far fewer than we have begun. I once saw a strange-looking building that in some ways looked like a church and in other ways like a gas station and garage. I learned that I was correct on both counts, for the building was begun as a church, but the congregation ran out of money and purpose. It was then sold to a man who converted the partly-completed structure into a gas station. There are many such monuments throughout the world to projects that have begun with great expectations and ended in despair. This is what happened in Jerusalem when the exiles returned from captivity in Chaldea. With great emotion they laid the foundations for the restoration of the temple. Yet in the book of Haggai we find that eighteen years later and the temple is still not much further along. For the most part it still lies in ruins. They had made an exciting beginning in restoring the altar and commencing the twice-daily offering of sacrifices there. But then things had bogged down. The only evident in the people when they arrived in Jerusalem from Chaldea began to disintegrate. Zerubbabel and Joshua (same as "Joshua" in Ezra 5:2) had probably become discouraged and were no longer able to give people the unifying and motivating leadership they needed.

Time is not yet
It is in times like these that God raises up someone to bring people the leadership required for the situation. Again and again in the Old Testament we see this principle at work. Men like Moses, Gideon, Samuel, David, etc., are introduced by God when the time is ripe. This is what he does for the people of Jerusalem, sending a prophet named Haggai to both condemn the people's failure and inspire them to complete the task.

The people have ready a reason for their delay. Haggai hears and repeats it: "This people say the time has not yet come to rebuild the house of the Lord." (Haggai 1:2 RSV) Notice how this ancient book contains a most modern alibi. It is not this reason advanced for failing to press today some of the most vital projects confronting us. "The Negro is not ready yet for full and equal rights!" "The nation is not ready yet for full integration!" "I am not ready yet to live in full and complete commitment to God's will!" We are like the house of clocks in one of James Thurber's stories: the time they told was always "then," never "now."

It never comes

The prophet, however, was not moved by the people's alibi, though the time may not be "right" to rebuild the temple, then why are they building elaborate, paneled houses? If money is the problem, then why do they satisfy them as with what they have. There never seems to be enough. Their desires and hungers seem insatiable. It is like putting their money in a bag with holes. They are only fooling themselves for them the "right time" will never come.

of heroes

It's pretty exhausting to have two big brothers that excel in everything!

Of course, there are advantages. Like the time a bully beat me up—my brothers followed me to school for two weeks. They wouldn't have fought him, but he didn't know that. Every night they worked out with me. Finally, I took him on and won.

My brothers are first-rate in everything—studies and athletics. There's nothing wishy-washy about them—if they don't think something's right, they say so. When there was a "walk-out" at school, they squashed it, practically single-handed.

Because our parents have always taken us to church and taught us God's way, my brothers are strong-principled and good. I aim to be like them.

Your church is a training ground for integrity!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

What's so big about "Big John"?
The BIG new industry it helped create in the South.

"Big John" is a huge covered hopper car designed and built by Southern Railway specifically to slash the cost of shipping grain. And it did just that—by some 60%! These drastically reduced grain freight rates are helping create a predicted billion-dollar-a-year livestock-raising industry in the Southeast. Since our "Big John" rates went into effect in May, 1963, nearly 800 new and enlarged agribusiness developments—feed lots, feed mills, grain elevators, packing houses—have been established along our lines.

"Big John"—such an important innovation in transportation that a model "Big John" is now on display at the Smithsonian Institution—is one important reason for this billion-dollar-a-year boost to the economy of the South. Our "Big John" cars—more than 1,000 are at work on Southern today—save shippers money and make it profitable to haul grain from the grain-surplus Midwest to the grain-deficit Southeast to feed and fatten livestock there, saving consumers millions of dollars annually.

"Big John" is one of many Southern Railway innovations that are squeezing the waste out of distribution, benefiting all who live in the Southern-served South. By reducing total cost of transportation they help combat today's trend of steadily rising consumer prices.

They attract new industries into the South and help industries already located along our lines to grow and expand, providing more and better hometown job opportunities. All of us benefit!

Don't whistle at that food bill next time you go through the supermarket — consumer services are adding to that tab a bit more than you would think.

These added services—preparing, packaging, maintaining quality, check-cashing, parking fees, grocery loading into cars—all add their bit to the food tab.

In fact the added services cost in marketing has doubled since 1940. Food volume has increased only 73 percent, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Many consumers are willing to pay for these extras. But the prediction is the services demand will tend to increase. Rising consumer income increases such demands three to four times as fast as the demand for basic farm foods. As a consequence, retail food prices move upward.

Before you criticize the farmer for higher food prices, remember these facts: (1) The average U. S. farmer can now produce as much before breakfast as he did in a full day 30 years ago; (2) Less than 6 percent of our people live on the farms today, but produce all that we eat, nearly; (3) The farmers' increased efficiency has sharply lowered food costs relative to income and (4) Last year, U. S. consumers spent only 17.7 percent of their disposable income for food and marketing services, while the farmer received only 5 percent of that income.

If you want high and economical crop yields, one of the first steps is an adequate and adjusted liming program.

Lime applied to acid soils not only reduces soil acidity but adds calcium and magnesium, both of which are needed by growing plants. Also, other plant nutrients, including nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, are made more available to crops if acidity is reduced. At the same time, availability of toxic elements such as manganese, aluminum and iron can be reduced to a level where crops will not be injured.

Soil tests are used to see if lime is needed, and how much. The amounts needed can vary from none to five tons an acre, depending on the degree of soil acidity and the crop being grown.

Tests should be made on representative samples by reliable soil test laboratories.

TIME, LABOR AND EXPENSES

What is your time worth as manager of your dairy operation? One good way to answer this question is ask yourself what would it cost to hire a man to replace you. This would include a man that could make decisions which are profitable besides doing the physical labor. A recent survey revealed that this man would cost between $8,000 and $12,000 a year. If the man worked 60 hours a week and fifty weeks a year, his hourly wage would be between $3.00 and $4.00 an hour. Can you afford to buy corn and grind your dairy feed when we can bring you Purina Checkerboard Dairy 16% Checkers in bulk at approximately the same cost as the corn and supplement? If you have corn and have to take the time to load it, drive to town, grind it, and take it back home we will welcome the chance to try and trade with you for Purina Checkerboard Dairy 16% Pellets. COME IN AND LET'S FIGURE HOW LITTLE IT WILL COST TO SWITCH TO PURINA CHECKERBOARD DAIRY 16% AND SAVE TIME, LABOR AND MONEY.

FACE FLY KILLERS AVAILABLE

Purina Dairy Spray Concentrate and Purina Dairy Spray Special have been doing an outstanding job of controlling face flies on dairy cows. These two products also KILL house flies, horn flies, stable flies, and the "ole horse" fly. We also recommend that barns be sprayed with Purina Cygon 2E. This is a residual spray that lasts up to eight weeks. We also carry a complete line of dairy dust as well as face fly killers for beef cattle, horses, swine and poultry. COME IN AND LET'S TALK OVER YOUR FLY CONTROL NEEDS.

ATTENTION BROOD COW AND BABY BEEF OPERATORS

Special Tax Levy Decision Is Made

A special meeting of the Walton-Verona Board of Education was held at the Walton building, Saturday evening, August 17. By a roll call vote, members voted unanimously "not to ask for the 55-cent Special Voted Tax Increase for an indefinite period."

School board members met with the Boone County Fiscal Court on Tuesday afternoon to relate this decision to the Magistrates and County Judge. The Fiscal Court had twice before failed to vote approval of the proposed Walton-Verona budget which included the 55-cent increase.

School board chairman, Arthur Doggett, spoke with a reporter of the Advertiser early this week explaining some of the contributing factors which brought about the decision not to receive the special voted 55-cent tax increase for an indefinite period.

Mr. Doggett's statement follows: "The board members of Walton-Verona Independent School District have met several times to discuss and try to reach a satisfactory decision regarding the proposed tax increase. Some of these meetings lasted for many hours and it was not until Saturday night that the final decision was agreed upon.

"We want to be fair to all the taxpayers of the school district, and we realize that the tax will put a burden on some of our people who are on a fixed income.

"Construction costs have risen considerably since the voters passed the special tax measure which, at that time, would have been adequate to construct the proposed new elementary building, gymnasium and swimming pool. This delay in beginning construction has been costly in the amount of facilities available for the anticipated revenue received through the additional tax.

"We have not been influenced to make this decision by any individual or group. There are many persons who differ on just what should be done in order that all children of the district receive the best education possible. Each taxpayer and/or parent has a right to his own interpretation.

"The population growth has not been as great as was anticipated. Our school buildings are crowded but we feel that we can give each child an opportunity for an excellent education by using the facilities we now have. It will be impossible to do any building with the present tax rate of 71.5 cents, but we will be able to operate with a standard rating.

"Several times the question of merging with the Boone County system has arisen. The board members wish to remain as an independent district. If sometime in the future, circumstances were such as to warrant serious consideration, the opinion of the voters of the district would be asked."

The Advertiser wishes to thank Mr. Doggett and the Board of Education for allowing the local newspaper to have this first-hand information on the above story. This is a very important community question.

UK Frosh Rate High

Entering freshmen at the University of Kentucky's Lexington campus have been called intellectually and academically equal to freshmen at such large Mid-Western universities as Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana. This statement was made by Keller Dunn, UK assistant dean of admissions, based on research and studies carried out by the American College Testing Program.

This places UK freshmen in the highest category of those schools requiring ACT tests for admission. It was also said that over 28,000 students are expected to enroll at the several University of Kentucky campuses this fall. The figure includes 15,670 students on the Lexington campus, 8,500 in the 15 community colleges, and 2,000 in the extension and evening class programs.

LOG HOUSE BURNS SATURDAY MORNING

One of the few remaining relics of Boone County frontier life was destroyed by fire Saturday morning. It was a two-story log house on the Leo Flynn property, off Beaver Lick Road.

The house was built in the early 1800's and has been in the possession of the Flynn family for over 60 years. Leo Flynn's parents purchased the property from a Littrell family. D. K. Johnson, 88, is reported to have been born in this structure.

It was not until after the completion of I-71 that the log house was visible to the general public. The highway passes between it and the present Flynn home.

The Walton Volunteer Fire Department responded to the scene about 1:45 a. m. They remained until 4:30 to prevent the fire from spreading to a nearby barn where hay and farm machinery were stored. The house had not been used for a dwelling for several years and was full of baled hay cut from the meadows of the Flynn farm.

Cause of the fire is as yet undetermined.

Piner-Fiskburg Ladies' Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The regular meeting of the Piner-Fiskburg Ladies' Auxiliary was held at the Fire House on August 13, at 8:00 p. m. Members thank everyone in the community for donations and gifts for the booth at the Kenton County Fair.

Members present were: President Faye Bray, Treasurer Georgia Cornelius, Ruth Worthington, Ruby Worthington, Esther Glenn, Goldie Glenn, and Leatha Woods.

Please look forward to a visit from these ladies, as they are taking listings for the Birthday Calendar for 1968.

If you are a property owner and have not paid your dues for 1968 fire protection, these dues are past due. Your fire department needs your support.

Band Boosters Meeting

The Walton-Verona Band Boosters will have their August meeting in the Band Room at the local high school on Monday, Aug. 26 at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Joseph Sargent, president, invites all parents of band members to this meeting. A special invitation to parents of students entering band for the first time is extended. All parents are needed to make a good Band Booster organization.

Feeder Calf Sale Monday, Oct. 7th

The Northern Kentucky Feeder Calf Sale will be held Monday, October 7th, at 7:00 p. m., at the Sparta Livestock Sales Yards at Sparta, Ky., according to Wayne Sminger, Area Extension Specialist in Livestock for Northern Kentucky.

Cattle will be received on the morning of October 7 and will be vaccinated at the yards.

All breeds of beef stock, including cross breeds of beef, will be sold. These cattle must be steers or heifers. No bulls will be included. Cattle will be graded by an authorized grader and sold in pen lots, according to grade, breed, and size.

Mr. Sminger said that all beef producers are eligible to sell, and that this is a cooperative sale sponsored by beef producers of Northern Kentucky.

If you plan to sell, contact your local director of the feeder calf sales association in your county. They are Beckham Shields, Boone; K. F. Ballard, Kenton; Joe Arrasmith, Gallatin; Marshall Kinsey, Grant; Bill True, Owen; and Al Richardson, Carroll County.

Surprise Birthday Dinner

A surprise birthday dinner was given in honor of Mrs. William Fryman, Sunday, at their home on Percival Road, Walton.

Those present to enjoy a delightful dinner, were: Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Piercefield, Jo Ann and Helen of Latonia; Mrs. Johnny Fryman and daughter, Teresa, of Covington; Mrs. Ross E. Howard, William and Kelly, of Covington.

The dinner was prepared and served by their daughter, Linda.

All left wishing Mrs. Fryman many more birthdays.

The Brown-Pusey Community House in Elizabethtown is a historic structure which was formerly a stage coach inn. Lt. Col. Custer resided here from 1871-1873. The structure was built in 1818, and now serves as the community center and library.

Democrat Booth At Fair Well Attended

The Boone County Democrat party appreciated the visits of friends at their booth at the 1968 Boone County Fair.

Donating prizes were: Lents Income Tax Service, Forman's Variety Store, Bailey's Village Shop, Rink's Discount Store, Ryan Hdw. and Implement Co., and Dixie Lee.

Fair booth winners were: Kathy Bain, Erlanger; Melissa Burns, Petersburg; Mrs. Thomas Clifford, Florence; Gert Webster, Crittenden; Elaine Petty, Florence; Mrs. Alice Scott, Burlington; Sis Craddock, Hebron; Nick Furnish, Hebron; J. J. Barnes, Hebron; Norman Craddock, Hebron; William Burns, Petersburg; Howard Stephenson, Union; and Ernestine Miller, Florence.

F. N. Dooley, Joe Hammel, Gil Clifton, Dennis McEvoy, Jeff Niblack, Charlie Carpenter, R. V. Lents, and Carlton Anderson were hosts for the booth. Mrs. Jackie Whalen served as hostess for one night.

Gus Sheehan, Democrat nominee for Congress from the Fourth U. S. Congressional District, was a frequent visitor at the booth.

Dairy Referendum Set For Sept. 21st

Kentucky Commissioner of Agriculture J. Robert Miller has called a referendum September 21 among Kentucky dairy farmers on the question of an assessment on milk produced for commercial sale. Enabling legislation for the measure was passed by the 1968 General Assembly.

According to Commissioner Miller, all Boone County dairymen who produce milk for sale to a commercial firm and those who share in the proceeds will be eligible to vote in the referendum. Voting time will be between the hours of 9:00 a. m. and 4:00 p. m., at the Boone County Court-house, Burlington.

The balloting will be under the supervision of personnel of the Kentucky Department of Agriculture. A simple majority is required for passage of the referendum.

Funds collected under the assessment will be administered by the American Dairy Association of Kentucky. The ADA has been certified by the Kentucky State Board of Agriculture as the agency to handle the program.

The assessment funds are to be used to promote the sale and use of milk and dairy products through advertising and promotion. They will be levied at the rate of four cents per hundred for Grade A milk and three cents per hundred for Grade C milk. The checkoff will be collected by the dairy plants and remitted to the ADA of Kentucky.

Miller urged all dairymen to participate in the referendum saying, "This is an important question for all dairymen to consider."

St. Cecilia Monthly Social

The Altar Society of St. Cecilia Church, Independence, is sponsoring its monthly card party and social on Wednesday, August 28, at 1:30 p. m., in the school basement. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

Record Enrollment Expected At Opening Of Walton-Verona Schools, August 26th

A record enrollment is expected when the Walton-Verona Schools open on Monday, August 26, at 8:30 a. m., according to E. C. Roberts, Superintendent. As has been a custom in the past, grades one, two, three, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven and twelve will attend the Walton building, and grades four, five and six will attend the Verona building. School will be dismissed at 11:30 the first day. School lunches will be served on Tuesday and all students are expected to attend all day.

All bus drivers and bus runs are the same as last year and will be at your bus stop as near the same time as last year. Mr. Ryan will be driving a new bus, No. 8, and Mr. Flynn will be driving No. 6, instead of No. 2. This makes three new busses put on the road since Mr. Roberts came here two years ago. The oldest bus is the International and is due for retirement in 1970. Barring any unforeseen accident, we should have the best and cheapest year in pupil transportation in many years, Mr. Roberts said. "I would caution all parents," Mr. Roberts continued, "to lecture your children about noise and horseplay on the busses which could result in a regrettable accident." School officials and drivers are going to work hard on good bus discipline and need the support of all parents.

Tentative School Calendar

Tentative school calendar for the year is as follows: September 2, holiday; September 27, in-service for teachers; November 28 and 29, Thanksgiving holidays; December 23 through January 3, Christmas holidays; January 10, in-service for teachers; March 20 and 21, State Basketball Tournament; April 7 through 11, Spring Vacation and KEA; May 29, school ends.

Teachers and Employees

Teachers and employees: Mrs. Acree, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Roter, Mrs. Crutcher, Mrs. Sleet, Mrs.

GLENCOE FARMER MADE AREA N.F.O. SUPERVISOR

LaMotte L. Anderson, owner and manager of a Polled Hereford farm, Glencoe, has been appointed NFO area supervisor over zones two and three by the organization's head office in Iowa. Twenty counties are included in these two zones.

Mr. Anderson says he is a firm believer in young people staying on the farm and living close to nature. He notes that parents will have to begin getting a better return for their labors before young folks develop a desire to farm for a living.

Mr. Anderson also announced that the NFO had leased Walton Sales Barn on Verona Road, for the purpose of selling slaughter hogs and slaughter cattle for the NFO members.

U. A. LEADERS NAMED

Three area Northern Kentucky business residents were named the past week to district leadership posts in the geographic phase of the 1968 United Appeal by North-Kentucky Co-Chairman Wickliffe Jones and Arthur Motch.

Larry Scholl, Ft. Wright, was appointed district chairman for North Covington; John Orphan, of Covington, will lead the campaign in South Covington, Forest Hills and Latonia, while Marshall H. Thomas, of Florence, was named district chairman for Boone County. These men will recruit, organize and train volunteer workers who will solicit contributions from neighborhood business and professional men and women, special givers and area residents.

Lithograph Prints Become Best Sellers

"America the Beautiful" lithographs at 10 cents each have become the best seller series ever produced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This was revealed last week by Floyd E. Kells, Soil Conservation Service field agent for Kenton and Boone counties. During the past two years Americans have bought more than 2.8 million prints, including prints of Kentucky's famed Bluegrass, part of the 52-print set. The series is in its second printing and was developed by the S. C. S.

Each print, in natural color, is 15x20 inches on 20x25 inch paper suitable for framing. They may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402. Cost of the complete set is $5.00.

Gardner, Mrs. Kemper, Mr. and Mrs. Mathis, Mrs. Layne, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Gill, Mr. Tyler, Mrs. Stephenson, Mrs. Stephenson, Mrs. Spicer, Mrs. Baker, Mr. Smith, Mr. Franks, Mr. Estep, Mr. and Mrs. Tillery, Mrs. Combs, Mr. Thorpe, Mr. Saylor, Mr. Layne, Mr. Receiver, Mr. Hodge, Mr. Hahn (elementary principal), Mr. Prewitt (high school principal), Mrs. McKay (counselor), Mrs. Conrad (director of pupil personnel), Mrs. McElroy (secretary to Supt. Roberts), Mrs. Ryan (principal's aide), Mr. Carpenter and Mr. Vest (custodians), bus drivers, Mr. Vest, Mr. Carey, Mr. Gibson, Mr. Ryan, Mr. Flynn; cooks, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Hammond, Mrs. Brewster, Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. Humphrey, Mrs. Hopper, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Cook.

Teachers and Board members will be attending a "Get Acquainted Dinner Meeting," on Saturday, August 24, at 7:00 p. m., in the high school cafeteria, after which the teachers will have a meeting with their respective principals, and the board will have its regular monthly business meeting.

Mr. Roberts concluded, "We are hoping to have one of the best school years in history and earnestly solicit the help and cooperation of all parents in attaining this goal. We have appreciated your efforts in the past."

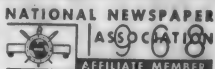

Colombian Visitors Here
The Independence-Taylor Mill Girl Scout group entertained two Colombian visitors, 16-year-old Ligia M. Borrero and 16-year-old Helena Rodriguez (at their annual Day Camp). The camp program centered around an Indian theme and the local Girl Scouts made souvenir gifts for the international visitors to keep as a remembrance of their visit to Northern Kentucky. The Colombian girls are spending three weeks in the Licking Valley Council's 21-county area.

FINAL NOTICE TO ALL DOG OWNERS OF BOONE COUNTY

Your Dog Licenses for the year of 1969 are past due, and many of you have not come forward of your own accord and free will, to pay the same. Thus, as Dog Warden of Boone County, I am ordered by both the State and the Boone County officials to see to it that the laws of this great Commonwealth of Kentucky concerning the dog population are obeyed to their fullest extent. So, this notification will appear for the next two weeks, hoping that the dog owners of Boone County will take fair warning and voluntarily pay the fair tax that is due without other means having to be taken in order to enforce this issue.

If not done on a voluntary basis, you will be called on by my office for same, and a collection fee will be added on to the tax. If then you refuse to pay, you will be cited into the Boone County Court, and this will be most embarrassing and costly to you. This is your final warning!

For your convenience, you can pay these taxes to: Ryan's Hardware, Walton, Ky. - Denham's Drug Store, Florence, Ky. - Hebron Pharmacy, Hebron, Ky. - Smit's Grocery, Union, Ky. - the Boone County Sheriff's Office, or you may contact me by mail and I will send you the license. License fees are: $1.50 for one dog; $10.00 for kennel license, up to 10 dogs, and $15.00 for over 10 dogs.

Kentucky's fertilizer use continues to increase, a survey of tonnages sold in the last five years discloses.

The 1967 total, says Bruce Poundstone, director of the University of Kentucky Regulatory Services Division, was 746,640 tons. This figure was for mixed and straight material sales, he said. It was about 20,000 tons above the 1966 figure.

Total mixed fertilizers bought in 1967 amounted to 543,822 tons, the division's report showed. Total "straight material" (nitrogen, potash or phosphate ingredients) was 202,818 tons.

In the mixed fertilizer field, highest seller was the 5-10-15 analysis, with 102,202 tons in 1967. Second was the 10-10-10 analysis, 97,377 tons; third was 5-20-20 analysis, 82,211 tons; fourth was the 6-12-12 analysis, 50,917 tons, and fifth was the 4-12-18 analysis, with 26,929 tons.

In the nitrogen only materials, ammonium nitrate was tops with 68,096 tons; in phosphate materials, triple superphosphate, 22,000 tons, and in potash materials, muriate of potash, 24,089 tons.

From 60 to 70 categories of mixed or straight, material sales were used in the compilation, carried back through 1963. The 1963 total was 647,545 tons; 1964, 670,376 tons; 1965, 684,977 tons, and 1966, 726,193 tons.

Americans last year ate more per person—and upped personal calorie and nutrient intake.

The U. S. Cooperative Extension Service, noting a report from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, says food consumption amounted to about 1,434 pounds per person on a retail weight-equivalent basis. This was about 12 pounds a person higher than the 1966 level.

The report said more beef, pork, poultry, eggs, citrus fruits, potatoes and fresh vegetables were eaten. Lower consumption was reported for dairy products, veal, lamb, deciduous fruits and melons. Prediction for 1968 is that consumption for all these items, except chicken, will continue at about the same levels or possibly lower this year.

The increase in 1967 caused an increase in number of calories per person. Total calorie intake (food energy) per person averaged about 3,180 per day for 1967. This was slightly up from 1966. Nutrient intake increased too, about three percent for Vitamin A, and five percent for Vitamin C.

"...and the comfort is total-electric!"

It isn't surprising why total electric comfort systems are finding their way into more and more new homes.

Just imagine gently circulating cool or warm air . . . to suit the season . . . filling a home with a refreshing springtime kind of comfort month after month after month.

This conditioned air is cleansed of dust, pollen and other air-borne irritants for a cleaner, quieter home . . . with windows closed to dirt and noise.

You really ought to know more about total electric comfort conditioning and its many other wonderful benefits.

And, the very best time to find out is while your home is still in the planning stage.

SIGHTLINES

If your eyes are tired, what's the first thing you do? Rub them? That's the last thing you should do, says the Better Vision Institute—unless you rub them with your elbow. Impossible, of course. But that's the point—never rub your eyes with anything. Fingers and knuckles carry germs and dirt, so hands off, elbows only!

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I have been on active duty for 25 months. Am I eligible to attend school under the GI Bill?

A—Yes. You must have had two years of active duty service to qualify for training under the GI Bill.

Q—I have just completed four years of active military service. Am I eligible for flight training? I have had no previous flight training of any kind.

A—In order to qualify for flight training, a veteran, regardless of how long he was in active military service, must have a private pilot's license or be eligible for one.

Q—I am receiving military retirement pay for disability. I would be entitled to disability compensation from the Veterans Administration but don't want to waive my military retirement. However, I would like to pursue a program of education as a disabled veteran. Am I eligible for vocational rehabilitation training assistance from the VA?

A—You certainly may be eligible. It is not necessary that you waive your military retirement pay to qualify for VA vocational rehabilitation. Check with your nearest VA office for information and assistance.

Q—I am drawing Social Security. Am I also entitled to a pension from VA? My husband was a World War I veteran. I have no dependents.

A—You may be if your income is not more than $1,800 a year. Your VA pension eligibility is based upon all income, not just Social Security. Visit or write your nearest Veterans Administration office for information and assistance in applying for a pension.

—BIRTHS—

Born to Robert and Lillian Hall of 14 Sycamore Drive, Florence, a daughter, at 9:31 a. m.; August 13, at St. Elizabeth Hospital. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hall, Walton.

Three miles north of Henderson, where Kentucky's Green River flows into the Ohio, is one of the world's most famous migratory bird routes. Artist-naturalist John James Audubon spent a decade observing the more than 200 species of birds known to frequent the area now known as the John J. Audubon State Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Taylor and son moved this week to Horse Cave, Ky. Mr. Taylor, coach at Walton-Verona High School for the past two years, will be assuming duties as coach in the Caverna school system this fall.

Kaintuck Territory, near Kentucky Dam Village, is a complete, historically accurate reproduction of an 1880's frontiers settlement. An old steam engine carried passengers to a gold mine, and a stage coach travels through hill country. Outlaws attack the stage and have gun battles in the street. The settlement has an authentic jail, a general store and trading post.

The fall concert for the University of Kentucky Symphony Orchestra is set for Oct. 3.

LEGAL NOTICE ...

DAIRY REFERENDUM

Pursuant to the authority invested in me by KRS 247.450 to 247.505, I, J. Robert Miller, Commissioner of Agriculture, Commonwealth of Kentucky, do hereby call for a referendum to be held September 21, 1968, among Boone County milk producers and those who share in the proceeds of the same. Voting time shall be between the hours of 9:00 a. m. and 4:00 p. m., at the Boone County Courthouse.

Producers will be asked to vote on the question of whether or not to levy an assessment on milk sold to any commercial firm at the rate of four cents per hundred for Grade A milk and three cents per hundred for Grade C milk. The assessment shall be deducted from the seller's check by the buyer. All funds collected are to be administered by the American Dairy Association of Kentucky for research, advertising and promotion of milk and dairy products.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE DILEMMA
Lesson for August 25, 1968

Background Scriptures: Exo 7 through 10. Devotional Reading: Psalm 1.

People may encounter a book like Exra and put it aside with the assumption that its day and its problems have nothing to do with our own. There may even be some disdain for a man like Exra whose major concern seems to be that of preventing the Jews from intermarrying with pagans who live in the vicinity of Jerusalem. He may too easily be written-off as a narrow, prejudiced man.

Rev. Althouse

Who will influence who?

Yet the situation that so aroused Exra is not very different from some concerns that occupy us today. As parents we may find our son or daughter associating with youth of dubious moral standards. We do not want them to be harmfully influenced, yet when our children remind us that our attitude may be judgmental and unchristian, we find it difficult to give them a satisfactory rebuttal. How do we answer when our teenager says, "Dad, I won't let them influence me, I'm going to influence them?"

The same dilemma confronts us when we find someone contemplating a marriage in which the bride and groom are of divergent religions. Our objection need not be motivated by prejudice or lack of Christian charity. We may be concerned solely because we know that mixed marriages subject couples to far greater problems and pressures. A parent may likewise be distressed to find his son or daughter marrying someone with no interest in the Christian faith. His or her concern for the offspring's religious welfare does not necessarily point to mistrust or bias.

No idle fear

These dilemmas are not easily solved. On the one hand, we may read Exra's condemnation of mixed marriages and conclude that his motive is racial and spiritual arrogance. "After all," says the modern, "if these men and women love each other, what does it matter if they are not of the same religion?"

On the other hand, however, we may understand, as Exra does, the danger of losing one's spiritual distinctiveness. Jewish men who married pagan wives were often encouraged to adopt some of the idolatrous practices of their pagan mates. Exra is afraid that the Jew will let his own religious life be tainted by these pagan ideas. This was not some idle speculation, for it had happened again and again in Hebrew history.

It wasn't the pagan women themselves that bothered Exra, but the "abominations" (idolatry) they practiced: "... shall we break thy commandments again and intermarry with the people who practice these abominations?" (Exra 9:14 RSV) Exra may not have hated the pagan wives, but he did hate the pagan religion they brought with them.

Fattening or immoral?

He might have taken the position that perhaps the Jewish men would influence their pagan wives to live and worship as Jews. Why didn't he? We can only surmise, but it is quite probable that he believed that it is always easier to pull someone down than to lift someone up. The pagan practices were appealing to human nature. They sanctioned the excesses of bodily appetites that people find hard to overcome. The downward pull is always stronger, it seems, because it finds a natural response within us. "Why is it," we ask only half in jest, "that everything I like is either fattening or immoral?"

Still it must be obvious that we cannot go through life frantically wrapped in a cocoon of self-preservation against contamination from without. Jesus said that we are the salt of the earth and the world needs our saltiness, not safe in the shaker, but in the midst of life. The Christian, then, must always be in creative tension between the temptation to stay out of the world and the danger of losing his saltiness. The ancient dilemma is still with us.

It's Such a Big World

Some folks say that as we grow older the world grows smaller. Is that because of the wonders of modern communication and transportation? Or is it because when some folks grow older they become preoccupied with their own little orbit of life?

Junior certainly enters life completely preoccupied with himself. But once he begins to walk and talk—gosh how his world balloons!

That's why he needs the religious training our churches provide. His faith must keep pace with his burgeoning world.

And as grown-ups, in worship and Christian devotion, we need likewise the spiritual gifts our churches offer. For it really is a big world. Full of challenges, opportunities, and promising tomorrows. It always looks that way to a growing soul.

Purina Checkboard Dairy 16% is a high efficiency ration with a balance of vitamins, minerals and protein cows need for top performance. It's a complete milking ration, high in molasses for added palatability and pelleted for easy handling and feeding. Just give us a call and we will fill your bin...no need to take time to haul corn...grind feed...hope it is the right protein level (corn varies) and blended right. Put your herd on Checkboard Dairy. See us today...and let Checkboard Dairy help your cows produce all the milk that's bred into them!

KILL EVEN THE "SUPER" FLIES

It might be said that flies are flies. But there are strains of "super" flies that have developed an immunity to older insecticides. PURINA FLY BAITS are highly effective against "super" flies as well as the ordinary kind. They contain two remarkable insect-killers that kill flies outright...plus "come-and-get-it" attractants that lure flies, then kill 'em in bunches. Control flies this summer with powerful, low cost Purina Fly Bait...available at our store.

ATTENTION BROOD COW AND BABY BEEF OPERATORS

Want more for your feeder calves this fall? Have you heard about pre-conditioned calves and how they are bringing $2.00 to $3.00 more per hundred? Calves that are weighing 40 to 50 pounds heavier? Calves that have been up graded several dollars per hundred? We have a pre-conditioning program that we would like to explain to you. GIVE US A CALL and we will have someone explain this valuable program to you.

BUILD QUALITY SILAGE THIS FALL

Just two bags of new Purina Golden Bulky are all it takes to preserve a ton of palatable, sweet-tasting silage. Molasses and other fermentable carbohydrates plus Vitamins A and D and minerals in Golden Bulky add extra nutrients to silage. Golden Bulky helps prevent spoilage, guards against strong odors and absorbs seepage that may carry away up to 10 percent of the nutrients in your silage. First Baptist Church of Walton to Dedicate New Sanctuary On Sunday, September 1st

Dr. Harold Sanders

First Baptist Church of Walton approaches this coming Sunday expecting it to be one of the greatest days in its long history. The congregation will worship in their new sanctuary for the first time.

Ground was broken for this building last September, after many years of planning and working toward this goal.

The dedication service will be at 2:30 p. m. The principal speaker will be Dr. Harold Sanders, executive secretary-treasurer of Kentucky Baptists. The Rev. J. R. Tackett of Grace Baptist Church, Lexington, will be on the program. The music will be under the direction of James G. Drury, minister of music at the local church.

The pastor, Rev. Charles T. Saylor, speaking in behalf of the entire congregation, invites the entire churches and the public to attend and share in this great thing God has done.

Wa-Na Club's First Meeting Sept. 5th

The Wa-Na Woman's Club will hold its first meeting of the new club year on Thursday, Sept. 5th, at the home of Mrs. Clayton Jones, North Main St., Walton, with Mrs. Herman Slusher as co-hostess.

Mrs. Asa M. Rouse, newly installed president, will conduct the meeting. The program for the evening is "Boone County, Past, Present, and Future," and will be presented by Jack Rouse, Asa M. Rouse, and Judge Bruce Ferguson.

Members of the club voted to change their regular meeting night from the first Monday to the first Thursday night of the month, with the thought that there might be some women who could better attend on a Thursday evening. If you would like to become a member, please call the membership chairman, Mrs. Nelson Popham, 485-4270.

The Wa-Na Club is planning several activities this year, such as sock hops for the teenagers, packages to servicemen in Vietnam at Christmas time, a McCall style show, and others which will be planned later in the year. The club is a civic organization and tries to plan projects and do services that will include many people outside the membership of the club. Members enjoy good programs and fellowship.—Pub. Chm.

FREE NURSING COURSES

The Cincinnati Area Red Cross announces a series of seven, free Nursing courses scheduled to begin in September offering training for expectant parents and others with responsibility of caring for infants, as well as homemakers interested in learning to care for family members ill at home. All classes will meet in two-hour sessions once a week for six weeks at the Red Cross Memorial Building, 720 Sycamore St., Cincinnati. Area residents are invited to call 721-2665 and register for any of the classes offered.

Speaker at New Bethel Baptist Church, Verona

George W. Redding will be the guest speaker in the pulpit of New Bethel Baptist Church, Verona, on Sunday, September 1st.

Dr. Redding who, for the past 25 years has been chairman of the department of Bible and philosophy at Georgetown College, is a native Kentuckian, born and reared in Grant and Owen counties.

Having made two trips to the Holy Land, Dr. Redding will show slides on these trips at the Sunday evening service.

To Hold Call Meeting

Walton Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, No. 161, will hold a call meeting tonight (Thursday) to initiate five candidates.

All officers and members are urged to attend, and visitors are welcome. Refreshments will be served.

VERONA FIREMEN PLAN A LABOR DAY PICNIC

Monday, Sept. 2, the Verona Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor a Labor Day Picnic, and there will be food, soft drinks and plenty of entertainment.

The picnic will be held at the barn and farm of James Rice on Route 14. Turn left off I-71 at Verona exit and it is the first large barn on the left as you drive toward Verona.

The Swinging Doors, the hottest sensation to break into country and western music, will be on hand. There will also be music by another group of locals. There will be square dancing and modern dancing.

The action starts at 6:00 p. m. and continues until 12:00 p. m. Admission is 25c for all ages.

SNYDER NAMES WILEY PUBLICITY CHAIRMAN

Charles Wiley, Box 487, Route 2, Walton, has been named publicity chairman for the Snyder-For-Congress 1968 campaign. He also served in this capacity in 1966.

Mr. Wiley has been active in GOP public relations circles since 1962, having worked as publicity director for the Middleton campaigns of 1962 and 1964, as well as other political races in the area. He spent much time in promotional work for Gov. Louis B. Nunn in 1963 and 1967.

In addition to public relations for Snyder, Mr. Wiley will also coordinate the Snyder advertising campaign through his agency, Wilbe, Inc., Walton and Cincinnati.

Mr. Wiley will direct the work from offices both in Northern Kentucky and in St. Matthews at 140 Chenoweth.

Girls' Fast Pitch Softball All-Star Game Saturday

The Boone County Girls Fast Pitch Softball league will play an all star game at 8 o'clock Saturday, August 31st, under the lights at the Walton school.

New Haven, managed by Bertha May Black, and Big Bone, managed by Betty Ryle, will play the three teams managed by the men. Walton Rebels are coached by Ed Liney; Burlington by David Franks and Walton-Verona by M. Crouch. This game will be worth your while to see, Boone County's best girls.

Standings—New Haven, 4-0; Walton Rebels, 2-2; Big Bone, 1-2; Burlington, 1-2; Walton-Verona, 0-2. Big Bone won the regular season and New Haven won the playoff.

Attention Knotholers

All Knothole baseball players are requested to please turn in their baseball suits to their respective managers by August 31.

A Record Low Tuesday

A new record low of 49 degrees was recorded Tuesday morning. The previous low for this date was 50 degrees, set in 1945. Only last Saturday the temperature was in the 90's. Quite a sudden change.

STATE FAIR WINNER

Jim Houston, 15, of Walton, and his 4-H project animal, "Nero Gal," won the Western Horsemanship class of animals under 56 inches at the 4-H Horse and Pony Show, held Wednesday, August 14, at the Kentucky State Fair.

Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Houston, and will be a junior this year at Walton-Verona High School.

Sheehan Speaks To Local Democrat Club

Gus Sheehan, Democrat nominee for Congress from the 4th Congressional District, spoke to the Boone County Democrat Club fall campaign organizational meeting.

Emphasized by Mr. Sheehan was the real need of metropolitan Northern Kentucky having a representative in the U. S. Congress. He included in his remarks important points of the county campaign organization.

Gil Clifton said that Mr. Sheehan has been in the Kentucky General Assembly since 1950. Therefore he is qualified to be a member of the U. S. Congress. Judge Bruce Ferguson related the problems caused by the Nunn administration.

A tasty lunch was served by the Sheehan for Congress Committee. Mr. Sheehan and Mr. Clifton personally prepared the food and acted as hosts for the buffet style lunch.

Many prominent Boone Countians attended the meeting. Mr. Sheehan stated it was a record audience for such a hot night.—Pub. Chm.

Literary Club To Meet

The Walton Woman's Literary Club will hold its first meeting of the year on September 4 at 2:00 p. m., in the R. E. C. C. Building on Walton-Nicholson Road.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. W. H. Presser, Mrs. Zayda Clore, and Mrs. D. L. Lusby.

SIMON KENTON FHA ALUMNI MEETING HELD

The Simon Kenton FHA Alumni held its regular meeting August 15 at the R. E. C. C. Building on Walton-Nicholson Road. There were 13 members and a guest present.

The program for the month was on "How to Make and Arrange Feather Flowers." Mrs. Maureen Vaughn gave the demonstration, which was enjoyed by all.

It was decided to go out to dinner and to a show in Cincinnati, instead of the next regular meeting. Those wishing to attend, who have not made reservations, may contact Judy New at 291-8098 before September 16.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday evening, October 17 at the R. E. C. C. Building, Walton-Nicholson Road, at 7:30.

Following adjournment, refreshments were enjoyed by all.

Walton Kindergarten To Start Sept. 3rd

The Walton Kindergarten of the Walton Baptist Church will begin its school session on September 3rd. The kindergarten will have 20 new children this year and each one has been notified regarding opening procedure.

The children are accepted on a first come or call basis up to the number 20. This registration takes place in spring of the school session.

The teacher will again be Mrs. Gene Roland.

Boone and Kenton Entries Are Invited

All Boone and Kenton County amateurs interested in horticulture or flower arranging are invited to place their entries in the annual Flower Show given by the Boone County Garden Club on Saturday, September 14th at Ockerman Junior High School, U. S. 42, Florence. Entries will be received between 9:00 and 10:30 a. m. on the day of the show.

Entries will be divided into two divisions—

Horticulture Division: Specimens. All specimens must have been grown by the exhibitor and must be accompanied by an index card stating the exhibitor's name and variety and name of specimen. Exhibitor must furnish a Coca-Cola bottle for a fresh cut specimen and a flat plate for fruit and vegetable specimens.

Artistic Division—Arrangements: Plant material need not be grown by exhibitor. Dried or otherwise preserved material is permitted, but must be used with fresh cut material. No artificial flowers or foliage permitted.

There will be a Junior Division for young amateurs wishing to participate in the show. Junior exhibitors for the Horticulture Division must be between the ages of 6-17. Juniors in the Artistic Division must be between the ages of 10-17.

Detailed scheduled may be obtained at the Florence Beauty Salon, 256 Main St., Florence, and at the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co., 9 North Jefferson St., Burlington. Start planning now for that blue ribbon in September.

Contracts Signed For Home For The Aged

Members of Boone Fiscal Court signed contracts last week opening the way for the Boone County Home for the Aged.

Court members acted as incorporators of Boone Public Properties Corporation, a non-profit holding company, which will own the 100-bed center.

The corporation contracted with Centurian Corp., Cincinnati developers, to handle construction of the $860,065 building.

The corporation also authorized issuance of a $1208,000 bond issue to finance the venture. Bonds will be paid off over a 40-year period with revenue from the center.

When the bonds are paid off, the center becomes the property of Boone County under terms of the contract.

U. S. Steel Corporation will construct the building, starting next month, according to A. J. Tarley, Centurian Corp. president. Completion is expected within a year.

The three-wing structure will be built on a tract of about 20 acres along the western side of I-75, just North of the Burlington Pike Interchange.

School Tax Rate Set At 76.8 Cents Per $100

The Boone County Fiscal Court has approved a 76.8-cent per $100 real estate tax for the Walton-Verona school district. This action was taken August 20, following a decision by the local school board to drop, indefinitely, the special voted tax increase of 55c. The approved budget was for $372,161.

Enjoys European Tour

Jeff McKay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow McKay, Route 2, Walton, was among 34 Kentuckians who returned recently from a tour of Europe. Jeff is a junior at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond.

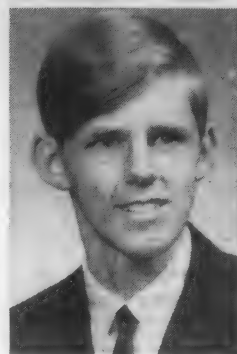

The group was made up of 4-H Club members and former members from Kentucky. They visited nine countries on the tour.

Engagement Is Announced

The engagement of Frances Willoughby of Covington, to Charlie Woods of 80 High St., Walton, has been announced.

A fall wedding is planned.

An Aeronautical Student

William Clinkenbeard

William L. Clinkenbeard has been accepted at the Embry Riddle Aeronautical Institute, Daytona Beach, Fla. He will be studying Aeronautical Maintenance Engineering. Classes will begin Sept. 3.

Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Clinkenbeard of Walton; Nicholson Road, and a graduate of Walton-Verona High School in 1967.

Republican Picnic Sunday, Sept. 8th

The annual Boone County Republican picnic will be held this year on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 8, at Big Bone Lick State Park.

Both Congressman Gene Snyder and Senatorial candidate Marlow Cook will be on hand to meet the picnicers. The affair is generally acknowledged as the "kick-off" for the campaign of the Republican party in Northern Kentucky.

Normally the picnic is held the first weekend in August, but was postponed this year because of candidates attending the national convention.

This year's picnic chairman will be Mrs. Frances Clements, Union, and Mrs. Ethel Daugherty, Union. Plans call for picnicers to gather between 2:00 and 3:00 p. m., with talks around 4:00, and the covered dish meal to follow about 5:00. Drinks and table service will be furnished by the Boone County Republican Club. Those families attending are expected to bring a covered dish.

Invitations have been extended to Governor Louie Nunn, and to Senators Cooper and Morton, and many other State GOP officials.

The picnic is open to everyone in Northern Kentucky.—Pub. Chm.

Walton Firemen Make Run

Walton Firemen made a run last Thursday night to a truck fire on the Northbound lane of I-75 at Eads Road. It was reported that a loose manifold caught some material on fire inside the cab. Damage was confined to the cab, which was a total loss.

United Appeal Drive To Start Thursday, Sept. 5

Greater Cincinnati's biggest annual civic endeavor—The United Appeal drive—starts on Thursday, September 5.

Some 30,000 volunteers begin solicitations to raise a minimum of $9,241,420 in Hamilton and Clermont counties in Ohio, and Boone, Campbell and Kenton counties in Kentucky.

Money contributed will be used in 1969 for the support in whole or part, of 128 health, welfare and character-building agencies in the five-county, two-state area.

The drive, continuing through October 24, is conducted jointly by the Community Chest and Council and the Cincinnati Area Chapter of the American National Red Cross. House-to-house canvassing, to reach those persons who are retired, self-employed or have no other opportunity to give, starts October 4.

Local RECC Has Runner-up

Miss Carol Schwenke was named second runner-up at the Kentucky RECC Beauty Pageant last week at the Kentucky State Fair. Gayle Cecelia Sheets, of Henderson, was crowned Miss Kentucky RECC, with Miss Vicki Murphy, of Shelby County, as first runner-up. There were 21 contestants representing 21 of the 28 rural electric cooperatives across the state.

Miss Schwenke was crowned Miss Owen County RECC in July at the annual membership meeting which entitled her to enter the statewide contest. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Schwenke of the Big Bone community.

Love at first sight is often cured by the second look.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—My sister is married to a World War I veteran who draws 100 percent service-connected disability compensation. As his health is extremely bad and he is in his 70's, I am concerned about her financial welfare in the event of his death. Will she be entitled to any benefits as the widow of a disabled veteran?

A—Possibly. If a veteran dies as a result of a service-connected disability, his widow is eligible for death compensation. This amounts to $120 monthly, plus 12 percent of the monthly basic pay now being received by a serviceman whose rank and years of service are the same as those of the deceased veteran.

If the veteran's death is not the result of a service-connected disability, the widow may be eligible for a pension from the Veterans Administration. Detailed information may be obtained from the VA regional office where her husband's veteran records are kept.

Q—I am a war veteran but have never asked for any benefits from the Veterans Administration. Can I get a free medical examination?

A—Medical examinations are made by VA only in connection with an application for some sort of benefit, such as hospitalization, or to determine if a condition is service-connected. The VA is not permitted to give a veteran a free examination for some private purpose of his own.

To the many wonders of the age such as throw-away dishes, dresses, draperies, and diapers, all made of paper, I suppose we must now add the dollar which inflation has made almost completely disposable.

Roses have been a popular garden flower for centuries. Garden roses are effective landscape plants and have attractive blooms for cutting.

Unfortunately, as many gardeners know, roses are high maintenance plants. If they are to be grown successfully, several factors must be considered. These include soil conditions, location with respect to exposure and air, drainage, pruning practices, fertilization, and control of pests and diseases. The first two points are especially important at the time of planting because they are difficult to modify later.

Good pruning practices improve the performances of roses in several ways. After an early spring pruning (to remove all the weak and diseased wood, periodic pruning through the summer is necessary to maintain an open plant which will allow air movement through this plant.

Cutting flowers for use in the home is another form of pruning which influences plant vigor. We recommend that flowers from young plants be cut with relatively short stems to encourage plant growth early in the season. Flowers with longer stems may be cut from vigorous plants as long as two leaves are left between the cut and the main shoot.

Removal of faded flowers improves plant appearance and sends a substantial amount of plant food to shoot growth instead of fruit development.

Rose plants respond well to fertilization. In garden soil of average fertility, periodic applications of a 5-5-5 or a 3-10-5 fertilizer (at the rate of two to three pounds per 100 square feet) from early April through late July will give an adequate supply of nutrients. Since roses grow best in soils which are slightly acid (pH 5.5 to 6.5), it may be necessary to raise the pH by adding a liming material or "acidify" the soil with sulphur depending upon the local situation.

A regular spray program to control pests and diseases is an important step often overlooked. Leaves are the food manufacturing organs of the plant, so they ought to be protected from the elements which reduce their capacity to synthesize food materials. Several pests (aphids, mites, thrips and Japanese beetles) and diseases (powdery mildew and black spot) are serious threats to plant vigor. Most of the rose dusts or sprays have insecticides and fungicides to control these problems.

Black spot usually is regarded as the most serious disease of garden roses. It defoliates many rose varieties if not controlled. The villain of black spot, a fungus, needs standing water for the spores to germinate. If effective fungicides are on the foliage at the time of a rain, the chance of the black spot fungus developing is much reduced. You must spray or dust once a week, or after each rain, to control this disease effectively.

It is much easier to make promises than to carry them out.

Notes of Servicemen

Army Private Woodrow R. Treadway, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow W. Treadway, Route 1, Walton, was assigned as a jeep driver in the 19th Engineer Battalion near Tam Quan, Vietnam, on July 30.

DEATHS

MRS. MAMIE LINDSEY

Mrs. Mamie Lindsey, 64, of 74 High St., Walton, died at 1:10 a. m., last Friday, in Booth Hospital where she had been a patient for two days.

Mrs. Lindsey was a retired package wrapper for Shillito's, Cincinnati.

Her husband, Omer Lindsey, is a retired service employee of the Loods Furniture Co., Cincinnati. Other survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Virginia Merrell of Florence, and Mrs. Anna Ruth Harris of Atwater, Calif., and three sons, Roy Lindsey of Irvine, Ky., Tommy Lindsey with the Army in Thailand, and Johnny Lindsey of Ft. Belvoir, Va.; two brothers, Truman Lucas of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and Clifford Lucas of Covington, and a sister, Mrs. Sylvia Wilson of Independence.

Services were held at 2:00 p. m. Monday at Pleasant Ridge Baptist Church, Pendleton County. Hamilton Funeral Home, Verona, had charge of arrangements.

EDWARD H. JONES

Edward H. Jones, 76, of Visalia, a Kenton County farmer, died at 10:00 a. m., Wednesday, August 21, in Booth Hospital, where he had been a patient for three weeks. Survivors include his wife, Ida Cummins Jones; two sons, Leland Jones of Covington, and Kenzie Jones of Cynthia, and three daughters, Mrs. Helen Homes and Mrs. Mabel Reinhardt of Taylor Mill, and Mrs. Hazel Zitt of Covington.

Services were held at 10:00 a. m., last Saturday at the Swindler Funeral Home, Latonia.

S/SGT. RONALD W. KING

Army Staff Sergeant Ronald W. King, 29, died in a Ft. Knox Hospital, Saturday morning following an auto accident last Friday night. He is survived by his wife, Carol Puckett King, formerly of Walton; his parents, a sister, and two brothers.

Sgt. King had received the Bronze Star, Purple Heart, and Combat Infantryman's Badge when serving in Vietnam.

JET SET 4-H CLUB

The Jet Set 4-H Club really took off during the month of August. The club members participated in two fairs with winning results—August 1-2-3 was the Kenton County Fair in which six members entered exhibits and won prizes.

David Lockard exhibited a birdhouse for his wood working project. For his bird project Dean Lockard also showed a birdhouse. Both boys received a red ribbon on their entries. Two entries were shown by Melonie Curry—an apron for clothing and brownies for food. She received red and blue ribbons, respectively. Vicki Mastin did well on her exhibits—a shoe shine kit for good grooming and brownies for food, and both won blue ribbons. Her apron was awarded a red ribbon. The secretary of the club, John Richardson, showed the secretary-treasurer's record book and received a blue ribbon. A shoe shine kit and photography picture also shown by John received championship and a health poster got a red ribbon. John represented the club in the 4-H Prince and Princess contest and the fair. He was named first runner-up in the Prince contest. Chela Richardson received championship on her three 4-H exhibits and a red on an open class exhibit. They were as follows: 4-H mix and match outfit, knitting, and desk set for home furnishings, and in open class, weaving in handicraft.

The Kentucky State Fair was the next big event. Most of the championship entries went to the State Fair. John received a white ribbon on his photography, and a blue and third place on his Junior Health demonstration. At State, Chela was awarded blue ribbons on her desk set and knitting, and a red ribbon on her mix and match outfit. A senior home furnishings demonstration on color given by Chela won a blue ribbon and third place.

August 14 was the date for a meeting at the Lockard home, and seven members were present. The fair was discussed and other events, including the Kenton County 4-H picnic at Campbell County Park which nine members and friends of the club attended. Recreation and refreshments followed adjournment. The next meeting will be in October.—Reporter

PINER CLEVER CLOVERS

The August meeting of the Piner Clever Clovers 4-H Club was held at the home of Trudy and Charles Northcutt on August 19.

The meeting was called to order by President Rhonda LaFollette. Pledges were led by Mae Barnard. The song leader, Mae Barnard, then led in two songs.

Secretary Aimee Collins read the minutes of the previous meeting. Old business was discussed and included what was entered at the fair and what was received.

New business was about where and when we should go on our trip. We decided to go to Berea College, Saturday, Sept. 7.

Members present were: Andrea Ballard, Mae Barnard, Betty and Georgia Cook, Rhonda LaFollette, Judy Bray, Judy Magee, Sherril Bridges, Aimee Collins, Sue Fisk, Mike Daniels, and the host and hostess, Trudy and Charles Northcutt. Leaders present were Mrs. LaFollette and Mrs. Ballard. The meeting was adjourned and a cookout followed.

The next meeting will be held at the Firehouse, September 16, with Betty Cooke as hostess.

The first basketball game in the University of Kentucky's 1968-1969 season is Nov. 30 when UK meets Xavier at Lexington.

"THE DIRTY DOZEN"

Needed: A Return To Greatness . . .

M. Gene Snyder
U. S. Congressman
Fourth District, Kentucky

There was a time, not so long ago, when Americans took pride in their great cities. Especially did they take pride in their magnificent Capital city of Washington. They flocked by the millions to see it. They brought their children to admire it. The Capitol, the White House, the Lincoln memorial. It was considered a gala day when a man and his family came to look at these shrines.

What a tragic change has swept over the country. People are beginning to shun their national Capital, their great cities—to move away from them. They are considered unsafe, their air is polluted and great sections of them have been looted and burnt.

Visitors from abroad who have heard so much about "America the Beautiful," are getting fewer and fewer. Our tourist trade is grinding to a halt.

We may have a "Great Society," but it lives in continual fear and in continual danger of violence—in an atmosphere of fog and smog and crime.

What has been done about this tragic state of affairs? So far, only words and promises! And "commitments to consider," to study the problems, are sprouting like dandelions on the White House lawn. The country has been drugged with smiling promises. Almost every week it seems the Administration announces with pride the formation of another commission to consider and to suggest.

Although it is impossible to cure these deep rooted urban ills overnight, we must begin. I am going to suggest two types of programs that we've got to adopt—an immediate one and a long range one.

For the immediate program, I suggest a complete change in our political thinking. We've got to realize that the Federal Government can't do everything, that the local communities must have a close and direct hand in all planning and in all carrying-out of plans.

We've got to stop making fantastic promises that we cannot possibly fulfill and pouring out money in vain attempts to buy Utopia. And we've got to have a program of decisive action to stop the present lawlessness and disorder.

For the long range, we must improve educational opportunities and provide more job training. Our welfare programs have to be based on the premise that the hardships are temporary, not permanent and will not continue from generation to generation. We've got to have trust and belief and hope in our future or we will be bogged down in a permanent dole and the frustrations that go with it.

We've got to encourage and help private programs that are constructive. We've got to bring private enterprise strongly into the urban picture. As much as possible, we've got to encourage private resources to invest in urban renewal by offering tax benefits to participants.

And, above all, we've got to strengthen our State and local governments to deal with what is a local situation with local angles.

Certainly, this cannot be done overnight but action must be started now to meet the crisis of our country.

One of the great mysteries of life is how the idiot your daughter married can be the father of the smartest grandchildren in the whole world.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Union
Sunday School Lesson
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE IMPOSSIBLE

Lesson for September 1, 1968

Background Scripture: Nehemiah 1 through 6.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 122.

It would be interesting some time to go through the history books and make a list of the things that "can't be done" but were done! History has often turned on the accomplishment of what someone has called "impossible."

"Abraham, you're not going to leave the security of your home for some half-baked vision of a Promised Land at the other end of the world? Impossible!"

"Lead the Israelites out of Egypt and through the wilderness to Canaan? Impossible!"

"Unite the twelve tribes of Israel into one nation? Impossible!"

"Carry the Christian Gospel beyond Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria, and into the rest of the world? Impossible!"

"Print the Bible in the languages of the common people so that all may read it? Impossible!"

"Raise millions of dollars for missions? Impossible!"

An Inspiring heritage

Christianity, it seems, has been the story of "impossibles." It has thrived on tasks too difficult for the capacities of mere men. Perhaps when we throw up our hands in the face of "impossible" tasks that confront the church today, we ought to recall Christianity's great heritage of "impossible" accomplishments.

Nor is this heritage limited to the New Testament. The returned exiles from Chaldea were confronted with such a situation. Their neighbors, the people of Samaria under Sanballat, saw how weak was the position of Jerusalem. There had long been hostility between these two peoples and now that the defenses of Jerusalem were so weak, they intended to take advantage of the situation. Even when Nehemiah, the former cupbearer (a position of great trust) to the King of Persia, arrived in Jerusalem to rebuild the walls, Sanballat was confident. The Jews would never be able to rebuild the walls, of that he was quite confident.

What a joke!

Why was he so confident? For one thing, the Jewish community was too weak ("these feeble Jews," Ezra 4:2). For another, the wall was broken beyond repair ("Will they restore things?"). Furthermore, the job would require more work and time than the Jews could give ("Will they finish up in a day?"). Besides, the materials they needed, the huge stones, were unobtainable in the quantity needed ("Will they revive the stones..."). Even if they did get the wall rebuilt, it would be so weak that prowling animals would knock it over in their curiosity. What a joke!

The laughter, however, faded into undisguised anger when the reports of Nehemiah's progress began to come back. The work had progressed much faster than they had imagined possible and the large, gaping holes in the wall were being closed up. So Sanballat went into action: they would prevent the Jews from completing the wall by constantly harassing the work.

A mind to work

It was a good plan but it overlooked some factors. It failed to take into account the strong leadership of Nehemiah, who not only was backed by the authority of the King of Persia, but who also had a way of inspiring men to try the "impossible." Then too, Sanballat had failed to consider the ready response of the people of Jerusalem: "So we built the wall. For the people had a mind to work." (Nehemiah 4:6 RSV) He had forgotten also that they were a praying people: "And we prayed to our God..." (Nehemiah 4:9)

A leadership to challenge us, a people who will respond and accept the challenge, and recourse to the power of God with whom everything is possible: Combine these and it will be amazing how the "impossible" tasks fall before us!

Seeing is Believing

Can you always believe what your eyes tell you? An American tourist in a foreign country boasted of the wonders of his own land: "Why, we have telescopes that let us see millions of stars!"

He was jolted by the native's reply, "Maybe you see millions of stars and nothing beyond. We see only a few stars and God."

Are you looking for the stars and missing God . . . or harnessing the atom and losing your security . . . or chasing rainbows and missing the gold?

All of us need to look for what the heart can feel, not just what the eyes can see. We need to find God.

Why not look for Him in church Sunday? He is waiting for you.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Don Keeney and sons spent last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keeney in Lake Bluff, Ill. They were accompanied on the way home by Miss Crystal Keeney, to spend several days with her grandmother.

Omer Lucas, who has been in the hospital several weeks, is to come home today (Aug. 24). We hope he recuperates swiftly.

Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Souder and Mrs. D. Losey visited Albert Gilligan of Batavia, Ohio, who is in the hospital there.

Mrs. Hazel Pickett and Miss Marie Armstrong called on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Losey, Thursday afternoon.

Jerry Barnett, home after an extended tour of duty in the Philippines, visited with his uncle, J. J. Barnett, and Mrs. Barnett, one day recently.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Barnett had as guests for a week recently, their granddaughter, Miss Janet Barnett, and her friend, Miss Mary Cantrell, of Lexington.

Our sympathy is with the Ed Jones family in their loss. Mr. Jones passed away following extended illness on Aug. 21. A good neighbor and friend, he was much respected because of his gallant fight to make his way in spite of a physical handicap.

Miss Elsie Hiteman and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hiteman of Waynesworth, Ohio, spent a recent Sunday with Mrs. Ralph Hiteman.

For several reasons, the girls campout was turned into a picnic on Saturday evening at the Spurlock home.

Carsee Brinkley is driving a new truck.

A number of boys in this community enjoyed a few days of camping on the Shaler Marshall farm recently. Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Spurlock were in charge. They have a gift for seeing that young folk have a good time.

Two sisters and a niece of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Deuser visited him on Saturday of last week, helped him with his housekeeping chores and visited Mrs. Deuser at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where she is still a patient.

The Staffordsburg Homemakers Club had planned to hold their September meeting at the cottage on Williamstown Lake with Mrs. Lathan Wayman. That has been changed, and will be here in the Staffordsburg Methodist Church dining room September 10.

Mrs. Robert Brinkley was the weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carsee Brinkley. Their thoughts are constantly with Bob, who at last report, was on top of Hill 24 in Vietnam. Our prayers are with the men over there—friends or strangers. May God's peace come in the earth!

We had a letter from my daughter, Mrs. J. W. Fryer, to the effect that Mr. Fryer is returning to Dallas, Texas, to work for the Texas Instrument Co. He has worked for quite a few years with this company and is transferring from the plant in Attleboro, Mass., where he has been for seven years. They hope to get moved to Dallas in time for the opening of school.

Wayne and Glenna Bridges are the proud parents of a 9½-lb. son, whom they have named Gregory. They have one daughter and two other sons.

Ed Jones remains in a critical condition at Booth Hospital.

Mrs. Bluch Rich called on Mrs. Emil Stein, who has been not up to par for several months.

sons are visiting his brother and family this weekend.

I enjoyed it very much when Mr. and Mrs. Charles Losey and J. B. Losey were my guests Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Rapp and daughter, Mrs. Denver Binder, visited Mrs. Rapp's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Stephens, of North Vernon, Ind., Thursday of last week. Mr. Stephens has been an invalid for several years. They found him about as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Carsee Brinkley had as Sunday afternoon guests, Mrs. Evelyn Edwards and children. The children enjoyed very much riding and driving the pony.

Mrs. R. R. Rector, Misses Jane Mackie and Mary Stephens, Mrs. Donald Russell and son, Kevin, and Mrs. Francis Keeney drove to Berea, Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. L. M. Deuser, who is in St. Elizabeth Hospital with a fractured hip, reports she has had many friends and neighbors calling or sending cards. On Wednesday, Mr. Deuser, Mrs. Joe Goedde and Janet, Mrs. Charles Deuser and daughter, and Mrs. Francis Keeney visited her.

Albert Gilligan, who was released from the hospital recently, has been returned to the hospital.

We are glad to hear that Omer Lucas, who has been very ill, is noticeably improved. We hope he can come home soon.

Friends and relatives of Mrs. Bernice Brunst regret her passing

CARD OF THANKS . . .

We wish to thank the folks who were so nice to Katie McCabe in her long, last illness and death; Dr. Daugherty for his cheerful visits, the nurse at St. Elizabeth Hospital for their loving care, the excellent and efficient service at Dry Ridge Rest Home, Father Bamberger, the pallbearers for their willing services, donors of the beautiful flowers and spiritual bouquets; William McEvoy, her administrator, for his extensive contribution to her peace of mind; Mr. Stith for his helpfulness.

Florence Edgington, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Truett Searcy and little son, who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Scott, left Saturday morning for Campbellsville, to visit his parents, Bro. and Mrs. Louis Searcy, and children a few days before returning to their home in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hamilton and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Atwood Greenwell. They surprised Mr. Greenwell with a birthday dinner.

We were sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. Omer Lindsey of Walton, Thursday night. We extend sympathy to all the family.

James Whitson of Covington, was calling on the Edgingtons, Thursday afternoon.

We were sorry to hear of Don Murray and Chink Vest getting hurt Thursday morning. They were on a tractor going squirrel hunting and Edd Rudd was in his car going to work and hit the tractor and threw the men off and broke Mr. Murray's shoulder and cut Mr. Vest up pretty badly. We hope for their speedy recovery. It doesn't pay to be running so fast for you never know what is going to happen.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Edwards and Mrs. Mae Sturgeon were recent guests of relatives near London.

Mrs. Ellena Hamilton and daughter, Karen, and Mrs. Allie Chandler and grandson, Russell Burden, went to Coney Island, Friday to celebrate Karen's birthday.

Before marriage, a man spends most of his time spooning around; after marriage, however, he is forking over.

The Big Bone Methodist Church had a revival last week with Rev. Gibson of Sunny Acres Methodist Church, doing the preaching.

BEAVER

Mrs. Eugene Stephenson, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ayers and family of Carrollton, Ga., have spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stephenson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hallau have been visiting his son in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Al Crouch attended a family reunion last Sunday at Holbrook, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roter and his cousin, Mr. and Mrs. William Kidd, toured to Berea, Ky., Sunday and enjoyed dinner at Boone Tavern.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stephenson and daughter, Laura, have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Patterson, of near Barbourville, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Reed and family and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Gene Evans and family have recently moved into their new homes—both on Cleek Lane.

David Arnold of Florence, spent last Friday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Schneider and sons, Mark, Chris and Eric, of Medway, Ohio, spent last weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kenney.

Miss Janelle Feagan of Memphis, Tenn., has recently been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Feagan, and family.

Miss Sandy Stephenson attended the Kentucky State Fair last Thursday with the Boone County Band.

Rev. and Mrs. Roy Cuntingham entertained his sister and family from Columbus, Ohio, last weekend.

Mrs. Charles Wiley and sons, and her aunt, Miss Effie Chandler, attended a concert at Eastern University last Monday night. The concert was given by John Jacobs Niles, a famous folk singer who collected music from the Appalachian Mountains.

Sanford Collins and children spent a few days last week with relatives in Royal Oak, Mich.

Mrs. Bill Webb and children spent last week in Danville, Ky., visiting an aunt, Mrs. Gladys Hyden.

Mrs. Melvin Stratton and family recently sold their house and moved to Garvey Ave., Elsmere.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Carroll and daughters, Colleen, Candy and Becky enjoyed a day at the Ky. State Fair last week. The girls were honored by a handshake from "Little Joe."

GREEN ROAD SPECIAL

Choo-choo-choo! All aboard for the Green Road Special 4-H members. Thursday, after school, on September 12, we've scheduled a non-stop run to Eve Catlett's residence for a special Achievement Day program.

The formula for a happy splash at our August meeting was accomplished by the combination of H2O plus plenty of food at just the right temperature—a hot summer day at Campbell County Park. In fact everything was about perfect except for some uninvited "fish" guests that considered us the intruder because they were there first and nibbled at us.

It's been a too short summer. We've tucked away fair ribbons and used the 4-H checks, but plan a bigger showing next year. We'll sew a neater stitch, hope our brownies won't fall next year, because we had to doctor them up with icing, and even start practicing for our Spring Talent Show, right now, at fall time, so we'll be ready for opening night this time. Like we said, though we're not even a year old as yet, but wait until next year.—Lisa Bush.

GOSHEN LADIES MEET

The Goshen Christian Missionary Ladies held their regular meeting Wednesday, Aug. 7 in the church basement with Mrs. Ruby Worthington as hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Hazel Mullins. The secretary, Mrs. Esther Glenn, asked all members to answer roll call by reading a Bible verse with resurrection in it. This was followed with minutes of the July meeting. The treasurer, Mrs. Goldie Glenn, gave her report.

The Sunshine report showed that 48 cards had been sent out, and nine visits made to the sick.

After the meeting adjourned, a nice luncheon was served by the hostess.

The lesson in the afternoon was on "The Resurrection," with Mrs. Lillian Elliott as program leader and all ladies taking part.

The program leader for September will be Mrs. Eula LaFollette, and the hostess will be Hazel Mullins.

Others present were Mrs. Ruth

Worthington, Mrs. Frances Good, Mrs. Nannie Cliff Fisk, Mrs. Bea Hills, Mrs. Eula LaFollette, Mrs. Alice Glenn, Sue Fisk and Diane Hills.

Future Farmers Attend Kentucky State Fair

On August 19 at 8:00 a. m., at Simon Kenton High, three Future Farmers and Mr. Gray and son, Dennis, left for the Kentucky State Fair. At 11:00 a. m., we arrived at the fair grounds. We registered for rooms near the fair grounds. Next we went to the FFA headquarters to register for the FFA Dairy judging team. The members are: Steve Napier, John Dillion and Ed Cummins. After registering, we had all day to visit the fair. First, we visited the dairy barns and the horse show. Later we had a small lunch and went to the Army exhibits to look at some of the equipment they use.

There were all kinds of games at the fair. That evening there was a Country and Western music show. At 11:30, we started back for the dormitory to go to bed. When we got there, we found out that everyone had moved down stairs to a much cooler place to sleep. At 6:00 a. m., everyone was up. We ate breakfast and started for the dairy barns, to start judging. We left the fair at 11:00 a. m. and reached home at 2:30 p. m. We all had a good time at the fair.—John Dillion

Mrs. Lindsey Webster, Reporter Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Webster visited Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chapman, Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Chapman had returned home from the hospital on Saturday. She is better.

Mrs. Lindsey Webster visited Mrs. James Sparks, Tuesday.

The WMS met at the church at 7:30 p. m., August 21. Mrs. Lipscomb was there.

Rev. and Mrs. Lipscomb and two children, Carol and Wayne, are on vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Webster visited Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baker, Saturday afternoon; also Elbert McCormick and son.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

The family of Mrs. Hazel McElroy appreciates, more than words can express, the many kindnesses of our neighbors and friends. Your visits, prayers, flowers and food will long be remembered by each of us. We sincerely THANK YOU.

40 STATE AND NATIONAL PARKS
The finest in the nation.

By Jean Kingsley, Women's Consultant,
The Travelers Insurance Companies
On the Move

If you're going to move soon, you're in good company. More than 40 million Americans will change their home address this year, mostly during July, August and September when the children are out of school.

Actually, families—about two-thirds—stay fairly close to their old addresses. Those who do move out of state favor California, Florida and Texas—in that order.

Whether you're moving across the street or across the country, moving is a hectic experience. However, with a little careful planning, women in the know can minimize the fuss and bother. A pocketful of lists is common to any moving family, but these handy reminders really do the job. Tack one up and assign each family member a set of chores. As each is completed, check it off.

One mistake common to moving families is that they do more than is necessary. For example, most moving companies are happy to roll up rugs and mattresses free of charge. Families who sling their clothes loosely over boxes or tuck clothing into odd corners usually end up paying double—once for the moving, once for the cleaning bills. It's so much easier to inform your moving man in advance to bring cardboard wardrobes so you can hang clothing neatly.

Too often in the hustle-bustle it's easy to forget all those who should be notified of your new address. Besides the utility companies, magazines, stores and the post office, you should also tell your Traveler's Insurance agent.

Whether you're moving to larger or smaller quarters—whether your new address is more plush than the old—a re-examination of your insurance program should be a consideration of any move. Your Traveler's agent will be delighted to help you determine if you have the proper coverage at your new address.

Some say the younger generation is in revolt; others say it is revolting.

Walton to Speak at Boone Fund Raiser

Congressman Albert W. Watson, Representative from the Second Congressional District of South Carolina, will be the major speaker at a fund-raising dinner for Congressman Gene Snyder and Judge Marlow Cook, to be held Friday night, September 20 at the Boone-Aire Country Club, West of Florence, on Burlington Pike.

Tickets at $10.00 per person are available from members of the Boone County Republican Executive Committee or from Dinner Chairwomen, Mrs. Lucy Alphin, 28 Alta Vista Drive, Walton, and Mrs. Ethel Daugherty, U. S. Highway 42, Union.

Congressman Watson is considered by many to be the finest speaker in the House of Representatives. A capacity crowd is expected. Money raised will go exclusively to the Snyder-Cook campaign.

Covington Lodge To Raise Walton Member

Covington Lodge, No. 109, which meets in the Scottish Rite Temple, 1553 Madison Avenue, will have the Master Degree conferred on candidates from the Covington Lodge, and one from the Walton Lodge, No. 719, (Ronald D. May) as a courtesy to the Walton Lodge on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 7th, starting at 4:15 p. m.

The first session will be under the direction of Irle R. Hicks, Sr., Master of Covington Lodge, and Senior Warden of Walton Lodge.

Dinner will follow at six o'clock, after which the dramatization of the legend of the Temple will be portrayed under the direction of John H. Martin, Master of Walton Lodge.

All Master Masons are invited to attend, and especially those from Boone County to assist in the conferring of this degree on a candidate from Boone County.

New Hours For Church

A new departure in services at the United Methodist Church at Staffordburg will be tried, beginning September 8th.

Normally most of the pews are filled on Sunday morning, and Rev. Phillips has thought for some time some people who find the eleven o'clock service not convenient, would be able to come earlier.

Accordingly, he has planned services from 9:00 to 9:45 a. m., followed by Sunday School at 10:00 and the 11 o'clock service as usual.

It is hoped you can attend one of these services.

A picnic dinner has been planned on the lawn for Sunday, if the weather permits. In case of rain, the dinner will be in the dining room. You are invited to bring your lunch and enjoy the fellowship.

Most people want to be friendly, yet some lack the personality to demonstrate it.

SIXTH DISTRICT ENGINEER

Harold Hale, 52, of Williamstown, began his duties September 1 as District Engineer of the Northern Kentucky 11-County Sixth Highway District. He succeeds Carl Yochum, who retired after 44 years of service.

Mr. Hale was born in Owen County and has lived in Grant County for some 30 years. He is a World War II veteran who began work with the Highway Department at the age of 22 as a chairman with surveyors. There are nearly 600 employees in the district.

NEW BETHEL SPEAKER

Thomas E. Cortis, assistant to the president at Georgetown College, will be the guest speaker at New Bethel Baptist Church at Verona, Sunday, September 8.

Mr. Cortis resides in Georgetown with his wife and daughter. He is a member of Faith Baptist Church, Georgetown.

You are invited to attend these services and hear this man speak.

Snyder and Cook to Attend Boone Picnic

Both Congressman Gene Snyder and Senatorial candidate Marlow Cook will put in appearances at the annual Boone County Republican picnic next Sunday, Sept. 8, at Big Bone Lick State Park.

The picnic, annually serving as the "kick-off" for the GOP campaigns in Northern Kentucky, is normally one of the largest in this area and is open to all voters, regardless of political affiliation, and their family and friends.

Each family attending is asked to bring a covered dish. Drinks and table service will be furnished, according to the picnic chairman and chairwomen.

Festivities will begin at the park about 2:00 or 3:00 p. m. with the planned for about 4:00 and the picnic dinner about 5:00.

With Snyder and Cook on hand, the event promises to be one to be remembered for a long time.

THREE INJURED IN TWO-CAR COLLISION

A two-car collision on Brown Road, Verona, sent three persons to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Tuesday evening of last week. Injured were Mrs. Richard Brinkman, Verona; Richard Hutchinson, Verona; and Wesley Rich, of Walton.

The accident took place at 9:21 p. m., about 1.6 miles from Kentucky Highway 14, on Brown Road. The Hutchinson vehicle reportedly skidded on loose gravel and collided head-on with the Brinkman car.

The injured were taken to the hospital by the Verona Volunteer Fire Department and the Hamilton Funeral Home ambulance. All were released after treatment.

INDEPENDENCE FIRM GETS BRIDGE JOB

D&D Concrete Construction Co., Independence, was low bidder for the construction of a Boone County bridge.

The firm bid $84,189 to build a bridge spanning Mud Lick Creek on the Beaver Lick-Walton Road. The bid also included improvement of approaches.

D&D's bid was just $182 under that of a Corbin firm. Highest of four bids was $137,480 from a Lexington firm.

ON STAND-BY RUN

The Walton Volunteer Fire Department went on a stand-by run at 1:30 a. m., Tuesday morning, for the Independence firemen.

Both Independence and Taylor Mill Fire Departments were fighting the fire at a house near Pleasure Isle.

I like to think of middle age as the second youth of life, a cheerful interlude after work, spent with old friends, and followed by a long, quiet evening at home.

Two-Way Radio Base Bids Sought

Bids for a two-way radio base station for the county police are being sought by Kenton County Fiscal Court. The bids are to be filed in the office of the county auditor in the Covington City Bldg. not later than 3:30 p. m., Sept. 18.

The bids are to be opened at the meeting of Fiscal Court at Independence, Sept. 19.

County Police Chief James Callahan, Jr. said bids are being sought to replace the temporary unit now being used by the county.

"The county set up its own police radio system about two months ago and has been experimenting with leased units. We wanted to know what best fitted our needs before buying the equipment," Chief Callahan said.

County officials in voting for its own station said it would provide better service for the county police and police agencies of a number of small cities in the county.

Attends Make-Up Academy

Mr. and Mrs. Lonzo Gadd of Independence, just returned from a week in Atlanta, Ga., where they attended the Viviane Woodard Make-Up Academy.

Carol Gadd has been a cosmetic consultant with Viviane Woodard for almost a year. While attending the academy, they learned advanced professional techniques from Mr. Ben Benson, Hollywood make-up artist, and details on how to run a business.

Upon graduation from the academy, Carol and Lonzo were granted a franchise to sell Viviane Woodard cosmetics. They are the newest distributors in Northern Kentucky.

CAR HITS HOME ON SOUTH MAIN STREET

Sunday morning, between 10:00 and 11:00, a car driven by Jerry Robinson of South Main St., Walton, ran across the lawn of George Anderson and into the porch of the Luther Stephens home, on South Main, and completely demolished the porch and shrubbery.

The Stephens family was attending church services and were called home by a neighbor, Mrs. Chas. Worthington.

Police charged young Robinson with reckless driving, and there was no insurance, according to reports. Robinson escaped injury but there was considerable damage to the Stephens property.

Black-Mulford Wedding, Event of Aug. 17

Miss Lana Jane Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Black, 23 Bedinger Ave., Walton, became the bride of Mr. Dewey Lynn Mulford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gamble of High St., Walton, in a double ring candlelight ceremony at First Baptist Church, Walton, on Saturday evening, August 17.

Rev. Charles T. Saylor was the officiating minister.

Mrs. William Riddell, Belleview, a cousin of the bride, was the soloist before and during the ceremony. Mrs. Bryan Rector was at the organ. The sanctuary was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and mums, palms, and candelabra of white tapers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organza over satin, styled with an empire waistline and A-line skirt, the bodice being trimmed with lace and seed pearls. The skirt and chapel-length train was appliqued with lace and seed pearls. Her veil was elbow length illusion, held in place with a tiara of seed pearls, and her bouquet was baby mums and roses clustered around a lavender throated white orchid stop a white Bible.

Serving as maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Lila Black. Bridesmaids were Misses Cindy Kathleen, Charlotte Taylor and Kathleen Flynn. Junior bridesmaid was Dawn Cleet, and the flower girl was Julie Popham.

The maid of honor and flower girl wore floor length gowns of pale yellow crepe organza, styled with an empire waistline, accented with a daisy trim and the bodice was of lace over crepe. The

Sept. 7th Last Day To Register to Vote

Saturday, September 7 is the last day to register to vote in this year's national election of a President and a Vice President, and the Kentucky election of a United States Senator and seven U. S. Representatives.

This deadline applies only to unregistered eligible persons because once a person is registered to vote in Kentucky, he does not have to re-register unless he moves to another precinct, changes his name by marriage or other legal process, or is removed from the registration books for failure to vote for two consecutive years.

To be eligible to vote, a citizen must be 18 years of age by Nov. 5th, election day, and must have lived in the state one year, the county six months, and the precinct 60 days. Prospective voters may register at any time except for periods of 59 days before and five days after a general election or primary.

Polls on election day are open from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m.

COMMISSION WANTS BIG BONE PARK COMPLETED

A resolution calling for full implementation of the master plan for Big Bone Lick State Park was passed unanimously recently by the Boone County Planning Commission.

The resolution was forwarded to Gov. Louie B. Nunn.

At stake is the $1,048 million which the state says is to be allocated for development of the park. About half of this is Federal money, not yet received. The Federal government requires the state to put up half of the money before the grant is made.

The state parks commissioner, Robert E. Gable, has indicated a lack of funds at the present time for the parks department's share of the funds.

Fish Fry Friday Night

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Walton Fire Department is having a fish fry September 6th at the firemen's picnic grounds on High School Court, Walton, starting at 5:00 p. m. You are cordially invited to be present.

The ladies will be serving fish sandwiches or supper, hot dogs, french fries, coffee or soft drinks. A social will also be held if the weather is nice.

gowns of the bridesmaids were styled the same as the other two dresses, but were of a light avocado green. All of her attendants carried baskets of daisies and mums.

Mr. Jim Robinson, cousin of the groom, served as best man, and the ushers were Russell Burgess, David Gamble, and William Gamble.

A reception followed the wedding, in Fellowship Hall, with former school friends, Linda Grant, Judy Shields, Candy Thornton and Carol Groger assisting with the serving.

The bride and groom, left by plane for a honeymoon in Miami Beach, Florida. They are now residing at 3825 Lrri Drive, Erlanger.

RESERVE CHAMPION

Above is a junior division show-manship champion in the 4-H Club dog show at the Kentucky State Fair. She is Miss Ceryle Henson, 13, of Walton, reserve champion, and her French poodle.

Pioneers Tounce Wildcats, 34 to 7

Charlie Siffel, a young 5-6, 155-lb. tailback, ripped off runs of three, seven and nine yards and two conversion bulls, to lead the Simon Kenton High School Pioneers to a 34 to 7 triumph over Newport High, last Friday.

Simon Kenton quarterbacks, Dave Obel and Chuck Tolliver, mixed up the offense that opened up the enthusiastic, but at times inept, Newport defense.

Other Pioneer scoring came on a four-yard run by Tolliver, and an 18-yard power push by Ray Siffel. Obel connected with Jay Lehman for the other extra point.

Tolliver worked three quarters of the game and had his passing game working to perfection with Lehman and Jerry Jacobs.

Coach Jenkins was high on the work of guards Jerry Harris and Don Marsh and the defensive game was especially tough around the tackle position of Randy Landrum. These three opened up the holes for the collection of fine Pioneer backs.

Simon Kenton displayed a fine running game and this was the payoff. The Pioneers collected 225 yards on the ground.

This Friday evening, the Simon Kenton plays its first home game of the season when the meet the Camels from Campbell County High. A large crowd is expected to be on hand.

Boone County Republican Club Meets On Thursday

Due to the pressure of business regarding the up-coming Boone County Republican Picnic, the regular meeting of the Boone County Republican Club has been moved up to Thursday (tonight), Sept. 5 at 7:45 p. m.

The meeting will be held at the GOP Headquarters at 275 Main St., Florence. Club members are urged to attend this important picnic planning meeting.

Boone County Garden Club

The Boone County Garden Club will meet on Tuesday, Sept. 10th at 1:00 p. m., at the YMCA, 212 Main St., Florence. This is an important meeting.

Mrs. Jerry Biedenbarn is to be the hostess and the program is a tour of the Ammon Nursery and Rock Garden at 459 Burlington Pike, Florence.

The University of Kentucky will meet the University of Tennessee in its traditional annual football game Nov. 23 in Knoxville.

Police Numbers

To get in touch with Walton police by phone, you may call Patrolman Jim Lovell, 485-4592, or the new listing on the cruiser phone, 282-8725, which is a local call. Call day or night for police assistance.

Lillard DAR Meets At the Harp House

The Capt. John Lillard Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met at Harp House Restaurant, Williamstown, August 22, for the first meeting of the year. The hostesses were Mesdames Charles Z. Alphin, Lloyd Watson, Lee Trapp, Otis Readnour, and Zayda Clore.

A delicious salad course was served prior to the meeting.

Mrs. Charles Alphin, Regent, introduced the speaker, Rev. Chas. T. Saylor, pastor of First Baptist Church, Walton, who spoke on National Defense. He said, "There is a great need for God to bless America. Our government has let its people set their own standards of living. This is a country where each citizen can make the best of his opportunities. We need to move God back into our lives, our government, our schools, and our business. All must be centered around God if we keep our great heritage."

The treasurer's report was given by Miss Martha Blaine.

Mrs. Alphin quoted from the President General's recent message, "As we face the critical National Election erid, we must endeavor to keep one country, one constitution, one destiny."

Reporting for the membership committee, Mrs. Kirtley Points said, "Mrs. Kate Barnes and Mrs. Robert Darsey of Sparta, are returning their membership to this chapter." The following names were presented for membership: Mrs. Ruth Mason, Mrs. Frances Clements and Mrs. Joella Bramble.

Miss Laura Dickerson, State Vice-Regent, reported on plans for the district meeting Sept. 14 at Imperial House, Lexington. Capt. John Lillard will be one of the Fifth District chapters to serve as hostess for the meeting. Registration will begin at 9:00 a. m.

Members and guests attending the meeting were: Mesdames Chas. Z. Alphin, J. W. Bennett, Zayda Clore, Kenneth Green, Abram Hedges, Robert C. Hume, Kirtley Points, K. H. Smith, Lee Trapp, Winston Mason, Frances Clements, Earl Jones, Joella Bramel, Dr. Lenore Chipman, Misses Martha M. Blaine, Laura Dickerson, Elizabeth Flege, Louise Flege, and Mary Kenney Shipp.

Chrysler Dealer Showing

On September 5, the Chrysler-Plymouth dealer in Walton will get a look at the new lines of 1969 Plymouths, Chryslers and Imperials at a preview meeting in Cincinnati.

Invited to the preview are sales and management personnel from the local Walton Garage.

Boone Democrats to Meet

The second organizational meeting of the Boone County Democrat Fall Campaign Committee will be held at the Courthouse in Burlington, Tuesday, September 10th at 7:30 p. m., according to Carlton Anderson.

Ladies' Auxiliary "Thanks"

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Walton Fire Departments wishes to thank all those who helped them in any way during the firemen's picnic this year. They also want to thank each and every one for their help in supporting the group. It was greatly appreciated. Congratulations to Mrs. Caldwell of North Main Street, who received the Motorola portable television.

Dinner, Baptismal Services At Big Bone Methodist

A basket lunch will be spread Sunday at Big Bone United Methodist Church following the morning worship service. At 2:45 p. m., a baptismal service will be held at the creek for five candidates.

Pastor Gayle Stewart invites all interested persons to these, and all services of the church.

St. Joseph's Proto-Cathedral of Bardonia, is the first Catholic church west of the Alleghenies.

The church contains a million dollar collection of 17th century paintings donated by exiled King Louis Philippe of France.

If the world were without partisans, fanatics, and eccentrics, life might be dull.

The Nation's output of goods and services, employment and consumer income will increase more rapidly in 1968 than in 1967.

Gross National Product (value of goods and services) in 1967 increased to about $785 billion compared with $743 billion in 1966. Preliminary estimates indicate the Gross National Product in 1968 will be from about $832 to $840 billion, up about 6 or 7 percent above last year. Because prices advanced nearly 4 percent during the last quarter of 1967 and have continued to increase, the real rate of growth in GNP in 1968 will be from 2 to 3.5 percent for the year as a whole. Therefore the real rate of growth in the economy in 1968 will be the same or slightly higher than that of last year, and if additional measures to control inflation are not initiated soon, the real rate of growth in 1968 may not be much different than that in 1967. The impact of deflationary measures taken now will not have a significant impact on the economy until 1969.

If the proposed tax increase and cut in spending were initiated now, this impact might begin to slow the economy in late 1968, but the major impact would come in 1969. Inflation will likely continue on into 1969, but with wage settlements at a high level and contracts generally running for a period of several years, if we get some combination of fiscal and monetary policies to reduce the current "demand pull" inflation we may encounter a problem of "cost pull" inflation in 1969 and later.

With a high level of employment in 1968 and rising consumer incomes, food expenditures will increase around 4 percent, the same as 1967. Consumers spent $96.5 billion for food in 1967, up 4 percent from 1966, but disposable income from spent for food declined to 17.7 percent, down from 18.3 percent in 1966. Retail food prices increased less than 1 percent in 1967, and all of the increase was for food away from home. The larger supplies of food products and lower farm product prices last year were responsible for the small price increase. Per capita food consumption in 1967 increased 2 percent with some gain in respect to all foods except dairy products, fresh noncitrus fruits, sweetpotatoes, sugar, coffee, and tea.

With rising disposable incomes in 1968, expenditures for food will continue to increase, but the percentage of the consumers' income spent for food will hold steady at about 17.7 percent.

The per capita food supply in 1968 is estimated at about the 1967 level; however, retail price of food will increase about 2 or 3 percent compared with less than 1 percent in 1967. This reflects increased demand and a relatively stable total supply.

20 YEARS AGO

Thursday, September 2, 1948

The Walton Baptist softball team has enjoyed a successful season and are leaders in their league with 11 wins and only two losses. Members of the team are: L. Cheesman, W. Robinson, W. Wynn, S. Howard, "Dude" Simpson, J. Berkshire, L. Yates, J. Meador, R. Groger, J. Rouse, D. Vest, C. Shields, V. Shields, D. Rice and C. Osborn. "Deac" Taylor managed the team.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Johnson-McElroy Post, 277, was organized at a meeting held Monday night in the Walton Garage. The temporary officers are: Mrs. William Cluser, president; Mrs. Lloyd Yates, vice president; Miss Peggy Veeneman, secretary; Mrs. Morgan Campbell, treasurer; Mrs. Don Stephenson, historian; Mrs. Joe Veeneman, chaplain, and Miss Dorothy Veeneman, sergeant-at-arms.

About 27 ladies were present and a sufficient number made application for membership for the group to secure a temporary charter. Mrs. Kordenbrock of Erlanger, the District president, aided in the organizing.

According to Supt. H. P. Baker, the Walton-Verona schools will open Monday, Sept. 13. The Walton High School faculty will be Mrs. H. P. Baker, Mrs. J. A. Meador, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Jack, and Charles Hayes. Grade school, James Smith, Miss Mary Jane Readnour, Miss Effie Chandler, and Mrs. Zella Walton. Verona grade school, Ed Chipman, Miss Judy Deatherage, Mrs. Joe Rouse, and Mrs. Ed Chipman. One more teacher is yet to be added to the Walton grades.

Miss Bernice Conley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Conley of Elliston, and Mr. Harry E. Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Walker of Crittenden, were married Saturday, Aug. 21, at the Ten Mile Baptist Church with Rev. Raymond Lawrence of Crittenden Baptist Church, a cousin of the bride, officiating.

H. D. Edgington and Ben Kandy of Concord Road, took a motor boat trip to Rising Sun, Ind., Sunday, and visited Mr. Edgington's sister, Mrs. Jake Miller, and Mr. Miller.

Betty and Billie Bob Shearer of Lawrenceburg, Ind., are spending a week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts, while their mother, Mrs. Harold Shearer, is a patient in Christ Hospital.

Miss Rose Marie Petty of Richmond, Ind., is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stone. Sunday dinner guests last Sunday in the Stone home included Mrs. Leo Flynn and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Summey of Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Epping, Mrs. C. T. Pickett and Lloyd Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cooke of Morning View, spent Sunday with his father, W. R. Cooke, of Crittenden, who is confined at home, suffering from a broken rib.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ballinger left Friday for their home in Arizona, after spending several weeks with friends and friends in the Indianapolis area.

Charles Klein and family of Dayton, Ohio, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John Riggs, Route 1, Independence.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Morris and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Tatum of New Hope, Nelson County, visited Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Ballard over the weekend. Mrs. Morris is Mrs. Ballard's sister.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hanks and family have been Mr. and Mrs. William Smallwood and son of Burlington, Mr. and Mrs. William Clantz of London, Ky., and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hanks of Mt. Zion.

Mr. and Mrs. Singer of Lexington, were Monday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Breeden. Bob and Franklin were overseas together.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Harris Moore were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Amil Beckman of Ft. Thomas.

Billy Wynn and James T. Vest left Sunday for Norfolk, Va., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beach. They will also visit Washington, D. C. before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hall and son, Bobby, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Johnson and son, Tommy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finnell, and Mr. and Mrs. Powers Conrad returned home Saturday after spending a week at Franklin, N. C.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Huey are vacationing at Indian Lake, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Groger had as weekend guests, her sister and children, Mrs. Bob DeGrummond of Pleasant Ridge, Ohio.

Miss Carol Kendall returned to Washington, D. C., Saturday evening after spending a few days here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kendall, and her sister, Donna.

Communist Russia ... Deadly Foe of The Free World—

M. Gene Snyder
U. S. Congressman
Fourth District, Kentucky

Once again, we have witnessed an act of blatant aggression against a sovereign country. Even though aggression has long been a basic part of Soviet foreign policy, the world is still shocked by an act of Soviet aggression against an independent nation, whether it be friend or foe. The invasion of Czechoslovakia brings to mind Hungary in 1956, when 25,000 men, women, and children were slaughtered.

Shortly after the first reports of Soviet troops moving across the border, the world knew that six Czech leaders had been seized, that Russian tanks were rolling through the streets of Prague, that Czech citizens had been brutally murdered, and that once again an independent country was occupied by more than 200,00 Warsaw Pact troops.

While it must be left to history to reveal the real motives for the Soviet invasion, it is clear even to the most casual observer that Czechoslovakia was exerting its sovereignty and "not towing the line" as Moscow wanted. Recent months have shown the fires of freedom burning ever brighter in Czechoslovakia as many restrictions were relaxed and President Dubeck gained great popular support.

The effects of this Soviet act, which many world leaders have denounced as "bestial imperialism," will surely be great. A hard line towards Eastern Europe will most probably emerge. Many, especially the underdeveloped nations should be more wary of offers of aid which have a hidden price tag of eventual Soviet domination and enslavement.

Many people in America, including a great number of government officials have adopted the belief that the Soviet dictatorship was softening both domestically and in dealings with other countries. I like many of you have not adopted this philosophy. The Soviets again revealing themselves as foes not only of other states, but of fundamental human rights and aspirations clearly shows that Communist Russia is now and always has been the deadly enemy of freedom loving people.

Some clever revamping of U. S. policy is indeed required. While the invasion does not mean that the U. S. can never negotiate an agreement with the U. S. S. R., it does indicate that future agreements must be based on the most hard lined considerations and backed by appropriate strength. The Free World cannot lose sight of the fact that it is still engaged in a power struggle with Communism.

Recent Administrations seem to view the Soviets as reasonable peace loving men. Future foreign policy and agreements cannot be based on this philosophy of the past. For, once again, history has demonstrated that the Soviet Union is an imperialistic power which looks upon its neighbors as stepping stones to world conquest.

ELECTRIC HEAT

BAREFOOT COMFORT

Electric heat is for families who want total-comfort; ceiling-to-floor warmth without muss and bother.

Yet electric heat is so economical; costs less to install than most old-fashioned systems. It's safe because it's flameless. That makes it extra clean, too, as there can be no soot or smoke to dirty your home.

Let our heating experts give you free information about electric heat.

Bell's Tavern, Park City, was erected by William Bell, 1830, as a stage coach stop for his lines bringing visitors to Mammoth Cave. Famed in the U. S. and Europe for excellent cuisine and magic peach and honey brandy for "Joy before the journey's end," the tavern burned in 1860. The Civil War doomed the completion of a new tavern, and the remainder of the original structure is still standing.

One of the greatest single military events in the history of Kentucky was the battle of Perryville, fought on October 8, 1862. It marked the end of any serious attempt by the Confederates to gain possession of Kentucky. A newly constructed museum on the site depicts the battle.

Local & Society

On Sunday, the Clayton Jones family enjoyed a full day together. They had their noon meal at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jones and in the evening enjoyed a cook-out at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kerry Vest of Verona. Enjoying the day together were Mr. and Mrs. Vest, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Slusher, Miss Helen E. Jones, Miss Evelyn Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jones. Mrs. Ed Jones joined them in the evening cook-out.

Al Martin of Catalina Drive, is resting well after suffering a heart attack on Monday of last week. He is in Booth Hospital.

Mrs. Fon Childers and sons, Fonso and David, have returned to their home in Ft. Pierce, Fla., after spending several weeks with her mother, Mrs. Eva Brittenhelm, of South Main Street.

Dr. and Mrs. Gayle Roberts and two daughters of Birmingham, Ala., were the weekend guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Roberts, of North Main. Dr. Roberts will leave in October for a stay in Korea, where he will be stationed with the Army. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts and children, Jeff, Karl and Troy, of Warsaw, and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Lipscomb of Devon, were also guests of their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Yates returned to Youngwood, Pa., after spending a week at Verona.

Miss Helen E. Jones returned to Landover, Md., Monday, after spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jones. Miss Jones will resume her studies at the University of Maryland where she is in her second year of graduate school.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gault returned home Saturday from Ashland, Ky., where they had attended a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. D. Sexton for Miss Donna Cardinale of Washington, D. C. and Johnny Gault, III. Both Miss Cardinale and Mr. Gault are students at the University of Kentucky, Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gadd are moving Saturday from an apartment on High School Court to a house on Jones Road.

Florence Edgington, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. James Clements of New Point, Ind., were the recent guests of Mrs. Lillie Cook. Miss Roma Jean Stephenson, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stephenson, had a wreck last week with her bicycle and had to have ten stitches taken in her face.

We extend sympathy to the Geo. Jones family in the loss of Mrs. Jones last week. We also extend sympathy to the Omer Lindsey family in the passing of Mrs. Lindsey, whose funeral was held at Pleasant Ridge, Monday. Hamilton Funeral Home in charge.

Mrs. May Wilson is visiting Mrs. Allie Chandler for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Orr spent from Friday until Sunday with his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Orr of Ohio.

We are glad to report Don Murray was able to come home from the hospital last week. We wish him a speedy recovery.

We are sorry Mrs. Ethel Webster and James Coyle both entered St. Elizabeth Hospital last week for x-rays. We hope they both will be back home soon.

Bro. and Mrs. Lewis Searcy were back in Verona, Monday. He was called back to preach the funeral of a friend, Mrs. Mamie Lindsey.

Staffordsburg

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

Killed in Vietnam

Word was received here on Monday of the death of Joe Adams in Vietnam. His father, Rev. Louis Adams, was pastor of Staffordsburg Methodist Church, when Joe was about four years old. Later Rev. Adams and family transferred to South Carolina, their native state, where he has been a pastor. Joe graduated from high school and then entered training in the U. S. Navy at Great Lakes. The Adams family visited here whenever an opportunity came. Though we will miss Joe, we hope they will come again. Our sympathy is very real for the family. May the spirit of him whose love is eternal be with them to sustain them in this lonely hour.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shaw and Carol visited John's uncle, Ben Shaw, who lives in Alexandria. Taking Uncle Ben with them they drove to Persimmon Grove and some other points of interest in the area.

Mrs. Charles Losey, J. B. Losey, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Losey and sons, Jeffrey and John, were among the persons from this community who were guests at a family reunion of the Armstrong family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Epping of Richmond, Ind., August 25th.

Miss Helen Richardson and Mrs. Forest Popp returned on Monday from a trip to Hawaii. They also spent a few days in California.

Miss Crystal Keeney, after spending several days with her grandmother, left Tuesday to visit her aunt, Mrs. John Klette. On Wednesday, she returned by plane to her home in Lake Bluff, Ill.

Ken Brinkley and sons of Cincinnati, visited his uncle, Carsee Brinkley, here on Sunday. I was interested to see the excitement of the little boys when the horse was brought out and saddled. Some of the neighbors' children were interested too.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Richardson spent a week in Puerto Rico, attending a meeting of scientists and seeing the islands.

Mrs. Henry Hawkins is entering Booth Hospital for an eye operation Sept. 4. We hope it is quite successful.

Mrs. Edwin Damon had surgery this week at St. Francis Hospital in Cincinnati.

Mrs. L. M. Deuser, who has been a few weeks in Booth Hospital, has been placed in the Northern Kentucky Baptist Home, Newport, room 307.

Let's all get ready for the picnic planned at Staffordsburg church following the 11 o'clock worship service, Sept. 8. Hope you can come.

For those who wish to send cards to Rev. Louis Adams and family in their time of grief, the address is 124 Taylor St., Alken, S. C. 29801

A PERSONAL MESSAGE

Lesson for September 8, 1968
Background Scriptures: Nehemiah 8 through 10.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 111.

Soren Kierkegaard, the great Danish thinker of the nineteenth century, called the Bible "a letter from God with our personal address on it." The lives of many men have been changed because they have found some portion of the Bible to be a personal message from God.

Rev. Althouse, the young man had lived a fairly uproarious life. Yet he was concerned with the search for truth and had sampled many of the world's great philosophies and studied under some of the finest teachers in Italy and, for that matter, in the world. Still he had not found what his restless heart was seeking.

Take up and read!

One day he heard from an adjoining garden the voices of some children at play. Over and over again they sang two Latin words as part of their game: "Tolle, lege," which means "Take up and read." Acting impulsively, he picked up a New Testament lying close by and let it fall open to Paul's letter to the Romans. He began to read and as he did there settled over him the peace for which he had so long sought.

Not only did the scriptures bring him peace, however, but they also changed his life's vocation. He entered the church and later became the bishop of the church in North Africa. He is still known to us as one of the most profound thinkers of the Christian faith... today we call him St. Augustine.

The singing of children had caused him to take up the Bible and read and in so doing he felt convicted of his many sins. Asking God's mercy and forgiveness, he made a new commitment of his life. This was hardly a new phenomenon, but an experience which Augustine shared with many who had come before him and also many who have followed him.

Several centuries later, for example, a German theology professor made a serious study of Romans in preparing some lectures. His study changed his whole concept of the faith and when he declared these convictions, they revolutionized the Church. The Reformation began because Martin Luther found in the scriptures something that seemed personally addressed to him.

A renovated people

Nor was this the first reformation that took place because someone discovered the scriptures. In the seventh century B.C. the Temple had fallen into disrepair because of a succession of evil kings on the throne of Judah. When Josiah became king, however, he gave orders for the temple to be restored and as the renovations were being made, Hilkiah, the priest, found some ancient scrolls that comprised much of what we know as Deuteronomy. When the contents of the scrolls were revealed to the king, he proclaimed that they should be read to the whole nation. Hearing the long-lost law, the people repented and the reformation of Josiah began. The result was more than a renovated temple; they became a renovated people.

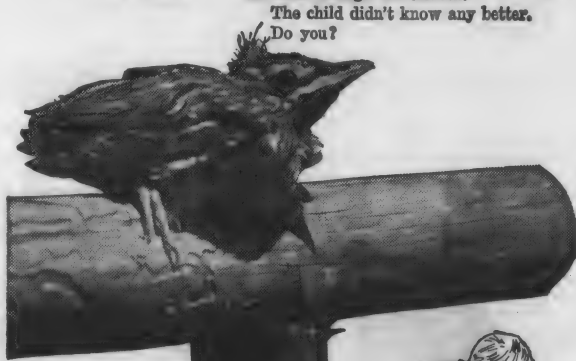

Our name and address

Something of the same nature happened three centuries later when, in the re-establishment of Jerusalem, Ezra read the Hebrew law to those who had been denied it during the Babylonian exile. Once again, shown what God required of them, the people repented and entered into a covenant with God, pledging themselves to live henceforth as his people.

This is what can happen when people turn to the scriptures. They find that something God has said to someone else at some other time has also their name and address on it. It has a personal message and if we take it seriously, it is likely that we too will be led to repent, renew our covenant with the Lord, and live new lives.

MRS. TINA WORKS

Services for Mrs. Tina Works, 68, of Banklick Station Road, Walton, were held at 2:00 p. m., on Tuesday, August 27 at Swindler Funeral Home, Independence.

Mrs. Works was a member of the New Banklick Baptist Church.

She is survived by her husband, Russell Works, a farmer, and a sister, Mrs. Savella Parker, of Walton.

FRED NAPIER

Fred Napier, 66, a native of Manchester, Ky., died August 27 in Cincinnati, where he was visiting relatives.

Mr. Napier retired two years ago as machinist for the Allis-Chalmers Co., Norwood, Ohio. He then moved to Clearwater, Florida from Norwood.

Survivors include three daughters, including Mrs. Ruth Thompson of Covington, and three sons, including Danny Napier of Independence, and three sisters.

Services were held at 10:30 a. m., Saturday at the Chambers and Grubbs Funeral Home, Independence.

Linzie L. Wagner, 55, a foreman at Interlake Steel Corp., Newport, was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital last Saturday after the car he was driving sideswiped a truck and crashed into a utility pole at 5279 Madison Pike, Independence.

Police said Mr. Wagner, of 5725 Wilson Road, Independence, was driving north when his car struck an Eaton Oil Co. truck parked in front of Stewart's Restaurant in Independence. They said the car then hit the pole.

Witnesses told police that they believed Mr. Wagner slumped over the wheel of the car before the collision. According to reports, he apparently died of a heart attack.

Mr. Wagner was a member and treasurer of New Banklick Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife Mrs. Margaret Wagner; three daughters, Mrs. Joan Scroggins of Florence, Mrs. June Gray and Mrs. Judy Cornelius of Covington; five sons, Rodney, Wendell, Gerry and Donald Wagner of Independence, and S/Sgt. Edwin Wagner, USAF, Philippine Islands; six sisters, Mrs. Lena Wells, Mrs. Jean Lach, Mrs. Mary Yelton and Mrs. Geneva Murrill of Falmouth, Mrs. Ethel Green of Dayton, Ohio, and Mrs. Edna Eagles of Butler; two brothers, Melvin Wagner of Falmouth, and Robert Wagner of Crittenden, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner of Falmouth.

Services were held at 2:00 p. m., Tuesday at the Chambers and Grubbs Funeral Home, Independence.

MRS. EDITH COLEMAN

Mrs. Edith Steger Coleman, 67, of 6482 Taylor Mill Road, Independence, died at 2:50 p. m., Friday, Aug. 30 in Booth Hospital, where she had been a patient for two weeks. Her husband, James Lee Coleman, died in 1940.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Stanley Clark of Hopeful Heights, and a son, James F. Coleman, with whom she resided.

Services were held at 1:30 p. m. on Monday at the Stith Funeral Home, Florence.

Learning begins as curiosity.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I was drafted and have served two years. Now I am about to be released from active duty but must serve in the Reserves. May I keep my Servicemen's Group Life Insurance while in the Reserves or must I convert to a private plan?

A—You must convert your SGLI policy to a private plan within 120 days after release from active duty if you want to keep this insurance protection. For further information, contact your nearest Veterans Administration office when you get back home or write to the Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington St., Newark, N. J. 07102.

Q—I lost my father in Korea, and the Veterans Administration has been paying an allowance to my mother for me. When I enter college this fall, will the War Orphans Educational allowance also be sent to my mother, or to me?

A—The VA usually pays this benefit directly to the college student, unless the mother or other fiduciary has been formally appointed as "guardian" by court action.

Q—I am interested in buying a farm with a G. I. loan. I am told I can do this even though the selling price is more than the VA appraisal.

A—Unfortunately, you have been informed incorrectly. Farm real estate (nonresidence) cannot exceed VA's appraised value. PL 90-301, signed by President Johnson last May 7, permits veterans to pay more than the VA appraised price for homes—not farms. The maximum guarantee for the type of farm loan you mention is still 50 percent of the loan amount or $4,000, whichever is less. Again PL 90-301, which raised the VA maximum guaranty on homes from $7,500 to $12,500, did not change the farm loan guaranty.

Q—May I use my G. I. loan to buy a house strictly for investment purposes?

A—No. The law says that to obtain a G. I. home loan a veteran must certify that he intends to occupy the property personally as his home. If the G. I. loan is for improvements, he must certify that he is the owner and occupant of the home.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for all the kind and wonderful deeds shown me during my recent accident and illness. Thanks to those who sent me cards, flowers, and for your prayers. I would especially like to thank Bro. Russell and Bro. Gadd and all those friends who visited me at the hospital and at home. May God's richest blessing be upon each and everyone of you.

Kenton County Garden Club

The Kenton County Garden Club held their August meeting on the 22nd at Butler State Park.

Some went quite early and enjoyed the cool comfort and beautiful view from the observation room.

At noon, we enjoyed a delicious luncheon in the main dining room.

Our business meeting was held upstairs with Miss Elma Taylor, president, in the chair. Minutes and treasurer's report were given. A thank you note was read from the Blue Grass District treasurer, concerning the donation we made to the International Gardens Fund. This money supplies seeds and small gardeners' tools to needy areas to enable them to have some of God's beauty around them.

Mrs. L. Stephens reported that Mr. John I. Gray will make the triangle, a project for the FFA boys.

Ways to get more funds for the treasury were discussed, but no decision reached. Announcement was made of the Blue Grass meeting at Shakertown, Oct. 3, and the Boone County flower show on Sept. 14.

Among those enjoying the day were: Misses Margaret and Mary Stephens, Elma Taylor, Jane MacKie, Elaine Hall, and Crystal Keeney; Mmes. Bessie Stephens, Lucille Hall, Nancy Rohe, Francis Keeney, and Leontine Stephens. Tim Rohe spent the day at the pool.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. R. L. Gouge, 5426 Madison Pike, September 26.

We are often admonished to take a "new lease on life" and its good advice. Recently though I heard it stated differently, thus, "take a lease on a new life." The more I think of it the more apt it seems to be.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rector visited Mrs. Reba Hawkins at Lakeside Rest Home on a recent Sunday afternoon. They found her feeling better than the last time they saw her.

Conservation Nationwide 4-H Project

What is conservation? If 10 people were asked, in all probability there would be 10 different answers. But if they were asked who is responsible for conservation of the nation's natural resources, they would undoubtedly answer, "Everyone!" And they would be right.

4-Hers Participate

Conservation is everyone's business, even youngsters. Proof of this is in the national 4-H Conservation of Natural Resources program which involves parents, children, educators, and conservation specialists. The 4-H members carry out projects in soil and water conservation, wildlife preservation, reforestation, and anti-pollution.

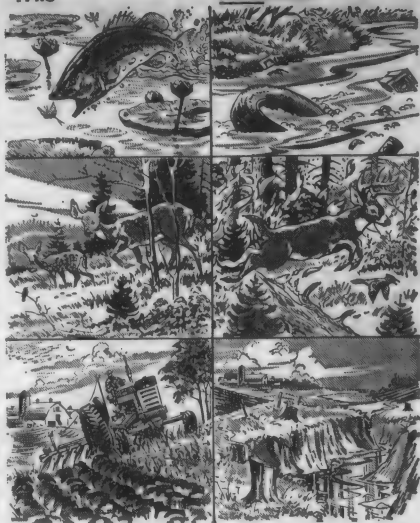

The farm boy works to prevent soil erosion, water contamination, forest fires, drought and damage to crops and livestock. This boy wants to learn about soil testing, irrigation, land management, weed and insect control to insure profitable farming operations.

Urban 4-Hers are concerned with protecting towns and cities from air and water pollution, blight and deterioration. They want to enjoy fishing and swimming in recreational areas where they can catch a prize fish instead of an old boot, or dive into a clean lake instead of one contaminated with rubbish or harmful bacteria.

Raise Pheasants

Among the nation's leading 4-H conservationists last year was a teenage boy whose project included raising pheasants for the New Jersey State Division of Fish and Game in connection with wildlife preservation. Another had perfected a conservation demonstration for television viewers in the West Central part of Colorado. Both boys were involved in county-wide conservation activities.

Awards Offered

The 4-H Conservation club members now exceed a quarter million. They are guided and assisted in their individual projects by adult leaders, county extension agents and other qualified persons. Parents often team up with their offspring in tackling the large, long-range projects.

Another participant is John Deere, the 4-H Conservation program sponsor. For the fifth straight year, John Deere has provided funds for county, state and national awards given annually to 4-Hers who have completed the best conservation projects in the three categories of competition.

The highest award is the $600 national scholarship presented to six national champions. State winners are delegates to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, and county winners receive the conservation medal.

The first University of Kentucky football game for the 1968 season is Sept. 21 when UK meets Missouri at Lexington.

Few young men realize what they are doing when a sweet young thing murmurs the magical word, "yes."

TIME, LABOR AND EXPENSES

What is your time worth as manager of your dairy operation? One good way to answer this question is ask yourself what would it cost to hire a man to replace you. This would include a man that could make decisions which are profitable besides doing the physical labor. A recent survey revealed that this man would cost between $8,000 and $12,000 a year. If the man worked sixty hours a week and fifty weeks a year, his hourly wage would be between $3.00 and $4.00 an hour. Can you afford to buy corn and grind your dairy feed when we can bring you Purina Checkboard Dairy 16% Checkers in bulk at approximately the same cost as the corn and supplement? If you have corn and have to take the time to load it, drive to town, grind it, and take it back home we will welcome the chance to try and trade with you for Purina Checkboard Dairy 16% Pellets. COME IN AND LET'S FIGURE HOW LITTLE IT WILL COST TO SWITCH TO PURINA CHECKBOARD DAIRY 16%, AND SAVE TIME, LABOR AND MONEY.

FACE FLY KILLERS AVAILABLE

Purina Dairy Spray Concentrate and Purina Dairy Spray Special have been doing an outstanding job of controlling face flies on dairy cows. These two products also KILL house flies, horn flies, stable flies and the "ble" horse fly. We also recommend that barns be sprayed with Purina Cygon 2E. This is a residual spray that lasts up to eight weeks. We also carry a complete line of dairy dust as well as face fly killers for beef cattle, horses, swine and poultry. COME IN AND LET'S TALK OVER YOUR FLY CONTROL NEEDS.

ATTENTION BROOD COW AND BABY BEEF OPERATORS

Want more for your feeder calves this fall? Have you heard about Pre-conditioned calves and how they are bringing $2.00 to $3.00 more per hundred? We have a pre-conditioning program that we would like to explain to you. GIVE US A CALL.

FIRE HITS HOME AND RACING CAR

Independence and Oak Ridge Fire Departments assisted each other in separate fires that gutted a home and destroyed a racing car.

Oak Ridge Fire Chief Kenny Williams reported that the Paul Mason home, 319 Madison Pike, was gutted by fire at 2:00 a. m., Tuesday. Loss was $1,200.

Williams said the family was visiting Mrs. Mason's grandparents at the time. A family dog was destroyed in the blaze.

Independence Fire Chief Warner Cox estimated $75 damage to the racing car of Gene Cleveland of 685 Plantation Drive, Plantation Heights.

Cox said the blaze started when the gas tank was heated by a welding torch at 7:00 p. m., Monday.

Those who cherish the old and quaint should enjoy seeing the ancient water-powered grain mill still operating at Falls of Rough.

Parker's Frontier Worlds Coming to Walton

$13.5 Million Is To Be Spent On Project

Fess Parker, television's Daniel Boone, will build a $13.5 million amusement park near Walton. This announcement was made on Monday at a 9:30 a. m. press conference at Greater Cincinnati Airport by Mr. Parker and Governor Louie B. Nunn, who flew here together from Frankfort.

The park, to be called Frontier Worlds, will be located just west of Walton between Chambers Road and Beaver Road, near the junction of 171 and 175. Reports said it would cover 1,500 acres. However, this newspaper was told Monday morning by Gayle McElroy, local realtor, that he had options on 1,750 acres for the project. And let us say at this point, Mr. McElroy has worked long hours in order to get this park located in this area. We feel Mr. McElroy is due a great big "thank you," if nothing more.

Frontier Worlds, it is said, will occupy 140 acres and the remaining acreage will be used for planned commercial, residential and various public recreational facilities.

Construction is scheduled to begin next spring and will be completed by June 1, 1970.

According to Economics Research Association of Los Angeles, a recreation economics firm, the park will employ 1,000 and generate projected tourist expenditures of $180 million over a 10-year period. ERA made the site selection and feasibility studies for Mr. Parker.

The project has been in the mill more than a year, according to Leonard Shannon, Parker's public relations man. He said the park will be financed through a co-operative program being developed by Boone County, Parker's company Fespar Enterprises, Inc., private investors and the state.

The concept of the park will be based on a theme of extension of time—past, present and future.

Visitors will enter the park thru the Mayflower, and step into a land much as the Pilgrims found in 1620. From there they will roam through notable periods of history to realms beyond contemporary space and science frontiers.

A show boat will feature guest stars. Also on hand will be strolling musical groups, dancers and other performers and folklore characters, such as Yankee Doodle and Casey Jones. Shannon said the park would dwell heavily on heroes, real and fabled, who have challenged frontiers of every kind.

Locations near Denver and St. Louis were considered, but finally decided on the Kentucky location because it was Boone's homeland. Another prominent factor was the transportation facilities: air, highways and railroads.

Mr. Shannon said Parker would do some filming of his television series here, and that is one reason for the large section of land. Shannon added that there would be spinoff industries from the operation of the park, but said it was a bit premature to say just when they would be erected.

Parker said he saw no reason why he and his family could not live at the park part of the time. He said, "I want my kids to have a chance to be out in the country and I can't think of a better place. We aren't really tied down that much in California."

Personally we are proud of the selection of the site, and this, no doubt, is the biggest story ever to be printed in the Advertiser, and we trust all will work out as planned. We're looking forward to the opening in 1970.

We think it's going to be "a really big show."

Florence Fisherman Drowns

Arthur Lanham, 35, of Florence drowned Sunday morning while fishing with friends on the Ohio River near Chillicothe, Ohio. There was only one survivor in the party of four.

MAY HOLD HEARING ON BOONE PHONING

State Representative Leo Lawson of Hebron, met last week in Frankfort with members of the State Public Service Commission regarding toll-free service for all of Boone County into Greater Cincinnati. The PSC said it would give serious consideration to the proposal of a hearing in October.

Florence is the only phone exchange in the county which has toll-free service to the Cincinnati area. Burlington, Hebron, Union, and Walton subscribers must pay an additional fee for out-of-county calls. They were also assessed an increase in this service recently. A complete changeover is scheduled for June of 1970.

Rep. Lawson is expected to present a written request to the PSC regarding an early hearing with Consolidated Telephone Company.

Sherman Woman Killed

Mrs. Rebecca L. Rose, 59, of Sherman, died on the scene Sunday as a Southern Railway freight train rammed the family car at a crossing on Newtown Road. Mr. Rose also received multiple fractures. The auto apparently stalled on the track.

Wa-Na Woman's Club Has Meeting

The Wa-Na Woman's Club held its first meeting of the club year at the home of Mrs. Clayton Jones last Thursday night. Mrs. Herman Shuster was co-hostess.

Club members saw slides and learned of homes and sites that were early history of Boone County. Presenting the program were: Asa M. Rouse, Jack Rouse, and Judge Bruce Ferguson. Mrs. Asa M. Rouse, president, conducted the meeting.

Plans and projects were presented and accepted for the club year and members will be active all year in order to meet the budget and promote the worthwhile projects.

Guests present were: Mrs. W. Rouse, Mrs. Martha Jane Carpenter, Mrs. Shirley Cook, Mrs. Preston Art, Mrs. Gerald Elliott, Mrs. Joseph Sargent, Mrs. Glenn Saylor, Mrs. Pauline Cain, Mrs. James Lawrence, Mrs. Robert Acree, and Mrs. Luther Stephens.

Members in attendance were: Mrs. Chester Sturgeon, Mrs. M. F. Simpson, Mrs. George Black, Mrs. Nelson Popham, Mrs. Robt. Eisen-schmidt, Mrs. Lewis Webster, Mrs. Dale Stephens, Mrs. Asa Rouse, Mrs. Jack Rouse, Mrs. Harry Hen-son, Mrs. Leo Flynn, Mrs. Gayle McElroy, Mrs. Jack Norris, and the hostesses.

The club hopes that several of the guests will join the club, and invites you to the October meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. Chester Sturgeon on Beaver Road.

Attend ACWW Convention

Mrs. Edward Lay, High St., Walton, represented the Boone County Homemakers Extension, and Mrs. James A. Rich represented the Kenton County Homemakers when they attended the Associated Country Women of the World Convention on the Michigan State University campus at East Lansing, last week.

The ACWW organization is made up of 96 different smaller organizations as Homemakers, Farm Bureau, and such. The Homemaker Clubs of Boone County helped defray the expenses of Mrs. Lay to the conference.

Senior Car-Wash Saturday

The senior class of Walton-Vernon High School will sponsor a car wash on Saturday, Sept. 14, starting at 9:00 a. m.

This is the first money-making project for the seniors and they would appreciate your support.

It will be held at the parking lot of the Walton Christian Church.

Deadline Nears In ASC Election Voting

Farmers were reminded today that Tuesday, September 17 is the last date for turning in a ballot in the election of community ASC committeemen.

Russell Rector, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, explained that ballots were mailed August 30 to eligible voters of record; they must be returned to the county ASCS office, by mail or in person, not later than September 17th.

Qualified voters in the election are all farmers who are eligible to take part in one or more of the farm programs which the committee administers. Lists of eligible voters in each community are available for public inspection in the ASCS county office.

Anyone who believes that he is eligible to vote but who has not received a ballot, is urged to get in touch with the county ASCS office immediately.

For each community where an election is being held, three regular committee members and two alternates will be elected. The chairman, vice chairman, and the third regular member of the elected community ASCS committee will serve as delegates to the county convention, where farmers will be elected to fill vacancies on the county ASCS committee and where the committee chairman and vice chairman will be chosen for the coming year. The county convention will be held September 27 at the ASCS Kenton County office at Nicholson.

The following is a list of nominees from each community:

Crescent Springs and Independence: Bryan Armstrong, Clifford Eubank, Howard Eubank, Wesley Johnson, Norbert List, Carrell McFarland, John Tewes and Bert Wilmoth.

Atwood: T. L. Bird, Harry Fisk, H. F. Hoffman, Jr., Albert Martin, C. C. Northcutt, and Foster Works. Decoursey and Towers: Cyril J. Blau, William Carpenter, Bernard Cavanaugh, Joseph Gripshover, Joseph B. Richardson, John W. Shaw, and D. B. Vandlandingham.

Brecht: Freeman Bryant, Basil Lunsford, James Readnor, Claude Wallace, William Wolterman, and Ralph York.

Piner and Fliskburg: R. W. Elliott, Edward Helmer, Elbert Menesee, Ralph Murphy, Elmer Spaulding, and W. W. Worthington.

Juvenile Court Clerk Is Named In Boone

Boone County Judge Bruce Ferguson appointed a new clerk in Juvenile Court last week to fill a vacancy which had existed for several months.

Mrs. Mary Ann McAllister, wife of Rev. Robert K. McAllister, pastor of Union Presbyterian Church, was named to the part-time post.

Judge Ferguson said Mrs. McAllister would also serve as the juvenile probation officer and as counselor.

The Fiscal Court set her starting salary at $250 monthly, allowing her to adjust her working hours in accordance with the salary. Jerry Rouse, County Clerk, had been acting as juvenile court clerk.

Mrs. McAllister was directed by the judge to work closely with school officials in seeking out and aiding youngsters in the first stage of delinquency. The new juvenile officer will occupy an office adjoining the Boone County Circuit Courtroom, which had not been in use.

The McAllisters have two sons, Danny, 16, and Douglas, 12, and a daughter, Diane, 10.

Several hundred employers come to the campus of the University of Kentucky during an academic year to interview students for possible jobs with their firms.

LECTURES FOR BOONE COUNTY HOMEMAKERS

Two lectures presented by the University of Kentucky Extension Service for Boone County Homemakers and the public will be held in the Florence Municipal Building on September 19 and 27, beginning at 10:00 a. m.

Dr. Bert Coody, the lecturer, has an extensive theological background. He has worked in family counseling at different times in many places. The course strives for adult maturity.

The public is invited and particularly ministers, teachers, and club women. There is no charge for the courses, according to Miss Nancy White, the Area Extension Agent.

Pioneers Thumped By Campbell County

The Simon Kenton Pioneers were hosts to the Campbell County Camels in the first game on the home lot at Independence, last Friday night. However, the Camels showed little courtesy and thumped the Pioneers 34-7.

Quarterback Dave Brickler was the big gun for the winners, aided and abetted by Garry Schultz.

Dennis Nafus got the first TD by going off tackle for five yards in a 10-play series.

Brickler set up his own one-yard sneak score in the second period with a 17-yard pass to Dave Hines. Simon Kenton got on the scoreboard in the second period when Charles Siffel shook loose three jarring tackles and bulled his way in from the three.

After intermission, Nafus reeled off a 35-yard run before Brickler tossed to John Govan for five yards and a score. The conversion was good on a pass to Ralph Snowden.

The fourth Camel score came on a screen pass that covered 17 yards from Brickler to Steve McCarthy.

According to reports, Campbell County is rated one of the top teams in the NKAC.

Local Bridge Contract Let To A Corbin Firm

A contract for $33,578.95 for a bridge and approaches over Ky. 1282 in Boone County has been awarded to Breeding Construction Company, Inc., Corbin, by the Department of Highways, Gov. Louie B. Nunn and Commissioner of Highways William B. Hazelrigg have announced.

The bridge and approaches will span Mud Lick Creek, near Walton, a distance of 0.150 mile.

We were in apparent error last week when we carried an item stating that D&D Construction of Independence, had been awarded the contract for $84,189.

Sorry we erred, but the big thing is to get the bridge built.

Walton OES To Meet

Walton Chapter, No. 161, Order of Eastern Star, will hold its regular monthly meeting on Monday, September 16, at 7:30 p. m.

This meeting is very important as it is election of officers. All members please attend. Refreshments will be served.

Walton Masons To Meet

Walton Lodge, No. 719, F&AM, will hold its regular business meeting on Thursday, September 19th at 8:00 p. m.

All members are urged to be present and visiting Masons are welcome. Refreshments will be served.

SECOND RUNNER-UP

Miss Kathleen Flynn, Erlanger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Flynn, Stephenson Mill Road, Walton, was second runner-up in the Correct Posture and Physical Fitness contest, sponsored by the Kentucky Association of Chiropractors, held in Lexington, Saturday night. Miss Cheryl Drinkerburg, Florence, was the winner.

To Serve Luncheon At Flower Show

In addition to the autumn Flower Show, given by the Boone County Garden Club on Saturday, Sept. 14, there will be a delicious ham luncheon served between 12:00 and 2:00. Tickets can be obtained at the Florence Beauty Salon, owned by Mrs. Lillia Cleek, president of the club, or from any club member. If you are not able to get a ticket before Saturday, don't worry, they can be bought at the door. Donation for the luncheon is $1.25 for adults, and 75c for children under 12. Mrs. Jerry Biedenharn is chairman of the luncheon.

After you finish lunch, look at the beautiful flower display, and possibly pick up that blue ribbon. You might want to browse through the general store. The general store's bake shop will be brimming with fresh baked goods, made by club members. Many beautiful and unique items will be on sale at the gift shop. A variety of Spring bulbs will be on sale at the general store's bulb booth. You can place your order at the booth or in advance by calling Mrs. Roy Lutes, chairman, 371-7581, or Mrs. Paul Vonderhaar, 371-7643.

Mrs. Ralph Vonderschmidt is chairman of the bake shop, and Mrs. Charles Whalen is chairman of the gift shop.

Orders will also be taken at the Florence Beauty Salon.

Saturday should prove to be a day of enjoyment for the entire family or a good time out with the girls.

National Highway Week Sept. 22-28

Describing progress in highway building and defining the need for additional construction will be the twin objectives of a promotional effort during National Highway Week, September 22-28. "Highways Are For People," will be the theme of the observance this year.

The Kentucky Department of Highways also wishes to emphasize the industrial development to an area that good highways invariably bring.

"In conjunction with our efforts," said Highway Commissioner W. B. Hazelrigg, "for National Highway Week, Governor Nunn has assured me that he will issue a proclamation officially designating the week of September 22-28 as National Highway Week in Kentucky."

Man Falls Down Stairs; Firemen To The Rescue

Three Walton Volunteer Firemen made a squad run to the Bell Bar apartment on South Main Street, Walton, at 9:25 p. m., last Wednesday.

Clayton Spillman received numerous cuts and bruises when he fell down the flight of stairs leading to his apartment. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment and x-rays.

Last Friday morning, the Life Squad took Omer Black of High Street to Booth Hospital, Covington, according to Chief Chick Worthington. According to reports, Mr. Black had suffered another heart attack.

ALLNIGHT GOSPEL SING

An allnight gospel sing will be held Friday, September 13, at the Walton Church of God, 88 South Main St., Walton. Services start at 7:30. Bro. Forest Combs will be the master of ceremonies.

Many good groups of singers and musicians are expected to participate, and you are invited to get there early and stay late. A cordial invitation is extended from the pastors, Dee and Wanda Gadd.

About the only subject on which there seems to be no difference of opinion is that an automobile is a necessity.

SHE'S IN GOOD HANDS... Whenever and wherever disaster strikes your Red Cross is there bringing relief to the victims of tornadoes, fires or floods. You can help by pledging your FAIR SHARE to the United Appeal.

W-V BAND BOOSTERS TO MEET SEPT. 16th

The business meeting of the Walton-Vernon Band Boosters for September will be held on the 16th in the Band Room, at 7:30 p. m.

The Band Boosters voted to sponsor a community calendar and Mrs. Edward Lay is chairman of this project. She will have plans outlined and ready for action.

All parents of band members in the local school band should be Band Boosters. Mrs. Joseph Sargent, president, invites you to attend the September meeting.

Literary Club Meets Wednesday, Sept. 4

The Walton Woman's Literary Club met on Wednesday, Sept. 4, at the Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation building on Walton-Nicholson Road.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Lloyd Watson. Mrs. L. M. Gabriel led in the club collect, and Mrs. A. J. Russell in the salute to the flag.

Announcement was made of the State Convention, which will be held Sept. 16-18, at White House, Covington.

Current issues were given by Mrs. L. M. Gabriel.

The speaker for the meeting was Mrs. John Orphan, who represented the Northern Kentucky Mental Health Association. Many ideas were presented which, if followed, would help all.

Due to illness many members were absent. Those present were: Mrs. Jesse Callen, Mrs. Zayda Clore, Mrs. John Farrell, Mrs. L. M. Gabriel, Mrs. Wallace Grubbs, Mrs. D. L. Lusby, Mrs. H. F. Mann, Mrs. J. C. Mayhugh, Sr., Mrs. W. H. Presser, Mrs. W. R. Rouse, Mrs. A. J. INDEPENDENCEELECTRIC WATER HEATER*HOT SPRINGS

All the hot water you need is as close as the nearest tap when you install an electric water heater.

Plenty of hot water makes so many household chores easier because hot water is dirt's worst enemy. It's important for your family's health and hygiene, too.

Yet an electric water heater costs only pennies a day, thanks to low-cost rural electric power.

I want to thank all my friends and neighbors who sent cards and visited me during my illness.

Sincerely,
11-37* DAVE PEEBLESCARD OF THANKS . . .

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Webster wish to thank the people of Walton who have been so very kind and friendly to them for 18 years. We have been very happy here but feel as we grow older we should be closer to transportation and farther from so much yard work. We will be close to Walton and hope to visit often. We hope many of you will visit us at our new address: 6719 Dixie Highway, Apartment 121, Florence, Ky. 41042. 11-37*

CARD OF THANKS . . .

Mother and I want to thank everyone for their many acts of kindness while she was sick, both at home and in the hospital. Especially the young people for their cards and prayers. It's nice to know you have so many who are interested in old people. Thanks again, and may God bless you.

We have received many inquiries concerning the cutting of red clover now. Red clover fields need mowing to get legume ready for winter. Don't allow red clover fields to form seed heads.

Reason for mowing and preventing seed head formation: Red clover plants going into winter with seed head formation may get severe winter-kill, and may induce severe damage from field mice and other rodents.

So, mow such fields or graze them heavily before mid-September says Warren C. Thompson, Forage Specialist. Be sure that such mowed material also is used for hay or silage when it is heavy. Don't leave the clippings on the field to cause undue smothering.

Mowing should be done if the plants are well along in bloom or if the seed heads are forming.

Fields so mowed not only will go into winter with better food reserves, etc., but will give better production the following spring.

Red clover is the top hay crop in Kentucky. This year there are about a million acres in red clover and these will give from 1.3 to 1.5 million tons of hay. More hay is made from red clover than from all other types of legumes grown in the state.

Kentucky farmers set a new cash-receipt record in 1967 for sale of farm products, says the Kentucky Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, in a recent report.

Revised data, says James M. Koepper, statistician, show the 1967 figure was $820,861,000, or 13 percent above the 1966 figure, and a new record high. A sizeable carryover of the 1966 tobacco crop into 1967, plus heavier than usual sales of the 1967 crop before the holidays, tended to inflate the 1967 cash receipts figure, he says.

The report says soybeans, corn, dairy products and wheat sales were higher in 1967, but that receipts from sale of hogs, eggs, and cattle and calves declined from 1966. Government payments were $41.5 million in 1967.

Livestock accounted for $380.8 million in 1967, crops for $440 million, the report said.

Myth Exposed That Communism and Freedom Can Mix

M. Gene Snyder
U. S. Congressman
Fourth District, Kentucky

A number of years ago, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said, "The Communist leopard frequently changes his spots, but the same blood — bad blood — continuously flows through his veins."

Along the same line, former President Eisenhower once described communism as "a militant, aggressive doctrine...which seeks to destroy the political concepts and institutions that we hold to be dearer than life itself."

Over the past few years, warnings such as these have been ignored by the Washington officialdom. The Russians were "mellowing," we were told, so let us "build bridges of friendship, cooperation and trade" to Communist East Europe. (Never mind that the Russians continued to supply their comrades in North Vietnam with guns, ammunition and other military equipment which in turn were used to kill more Americans.)

What say these "bridge builders" now, as the fragile flame of freedom that had shone so briefly in Czechoslovakia has been extinguished by the Soviet Union's military might, just as it was in Hungary some 12 years ago?

Surely the ruthless invasion of little Czechoslovakia by the Soviet Union and four of its captive Red regimes ought to expose, once and for all, the myth that the Russian brand of communism and freedom can mix. To the Washington Star editorialized: "Freedom, in the eyes of the Soviet leadership, is a dangerous commodity, to be watched closely and suspiciously, and to be stamped out if it starts to grow too fast."

As the Czech crisis developed, let it be remembered that the "bridge builders" remained strangely silent on the Prague government's moves toward some semblance of freedom for its people. Apparently still obsessed with the nonsense that the Soviet leaders are in reality rather nice guys with whom we can get along without too much difficulty, we can recall not one word of protest over Russia's repeated efforts to intimidate the Czechs.

Here are some ways we help defeat ourselves: We are supplying the following strategic items to the Soviet Union and her Communist allies while American boys are dying in Vietnam:

- ...Advanced air navigational radar
- ...Machine tools used in the fabrication of military equipment
- ...Highly sophisticated computers
- ...Geodetic instruments critical to improved missile accuracy
- ...Important ingredients in the manufacture of rocket fuel (Diethylene Glycol and Nitrocellulose)
- ...plus steel, rubber, petroleum, copper, tin, lead, zinc, aluminum — on and on it goes.

It's senseless because we are allowing the Soviet Union to divert many of her own industries to war production. And in many cases we are actually providing war material itself.

This is the crux of the matter: The Soviet Union and her Communist allies are providing 85% of the weapons being used by the Communists in Vietnam — ranging from hand grenades, assault rifles and land mines to rockets, MIG aircraft and anti-aircraft guns.

Yet the United States continues to expand its trade with Communist countries.

Why have the "bridge builders" urged more trade? Because they believe it will "soften" the Communists. They are seriously mistaken. Trade will not change Communism's goal of world conquest.

Trading with the Soviet Union and other Communist countries while American men are dying on the battlefields of Vietnam is suicidal.

Trading with the Soviet Union is the same as trading with Japan or Germany during World War II.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

Charles Watson of New Salem Road, underwent surgery at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Monday. His gall bladder was removed, and it is said the operation was a success and he was resting comfortably.

I-75 ACCIDENT SENDS THREE TO HOSPITAL

A two-car accident on I-75 South of Walton exit, Monday evening resulted in the injury of three persons.

A Lexington couple was injured seriously. Injuries to the woman driver of the other car, from Ohio, were not thought to be so severe.

It was reported that one auto crossed the median. The injured were transported to St. Elizabeth Hospital by Chambers and Grubbs and volunteer firemen. The firemen also flushed the oil and gasoline from the highway.

BURNED LAST FRIDAY

Robert "Bo" Still received third degree burns on his left arm and abdomen last Friday evening. He was attempting to light the cooker for the fish fry when a gas pocket apparently formed. Young Still was able to attend school this week.

On August 30, the local firemen were called to extinguish a fire in the floor of a hopper car on the L&N Railroad at the depot crossing.

The Alben W. Barkley Monument in Paducah, contains a likeness of the late U. S. Senator and Vice President, and his last words as spoken to an audience at the moment of his death: "I would rather be a servant in the house of the Lord than to sit in the seats of the mighty."

THE SIN OF SILENCE

Lesson for September 15, 1968

Background Scripture: Esther 1 through 8,
Devotional Reading: Psalms 46.

For the Christian there are few books in the Bible more troubling than Esther. It is an interesting story, but the follower of Christ can hardly help but be appalled at the bloody conclusion in which 75,000 of the Jews' enemies are slain in a single day's vengeance.

Still, Malmoines, the medieval Jewish philosopher, said that if all the rest of the scriptures passed away, the Rev. Althouse Torah and Esther would remain. Today it remains one of the favorite books in the synagogue and is read at every celebration of the Feast of Purim. Even an important Jewish women's society is named in honor of Esther (Hadassah).

An epic of survival

To the non-Jew it may not seem at all a religious book—the name of God is not even mentioned in it. Martin Luther was quite outspoken in his derogatory opinion: "I am so hostile to this book that I wish it did not exist..." Why, then, is it so important to our Jewish brothers?

The answer should be obvious to the sensitive reader: it is a stirring story of deliverance from the evil of anti-Semitism. Its story helps to remind the Jew that, though captive to the Egyptians, harassed by the Canaanites and Philistines, carried into exile by the Assyrians and Babylonians, persecuted by the Persians, the Macedonians, the Romans, the Christians, and systematically exterminated by the Nazis, they have nevertheless survived and it is a celebration of that triumphant survival.

It is also appeal for self-sacrificing courage and perseverance. Esther's uncle, Mordecai, does not assure her that everything will come out all right—as often it does not—but instead says: "And who knows whether you have not come to the kingdom for such a time as this?" Her response is still an inspiration for the Jew today: "...if I perish, I perish." (Esther 4: 14-16 RSV)

Roots of prejudice

There is, however, something else in Esther for the non-Jew. None of us should be able to read this book without some stabbing of conscience and the haunting realization that the greatest of evils in this book, anti-Semitism, is still with us today, an evil for which we cannot quite escape some collective if not individual responsibility. Haman's route to prejudice is not unlike our own. He begins by hating an individual Jew, Mordecai, and goes on to despising all Jews. He hates the Jew because his culture refuses to be swallowed up by his own. The Jews are different and that difference becomes both a cause and a symbol of his hatred.

Instead of Haman, perhaps we identify with the king. He has no particular dislike for the Jews. He allows Haman to persecute them simply because he is too preoccupied with other things! Though he has the power to do something about it, he manages to regard it as none of his affair. How many Jews have grievously suffered, not only because of the Hamans, but because of men like the king who are too preoccupied with other concerns?

Guilt by bystanders

There are others in the story, minor characters who merely carry out the orders of the Hamans. They are men who build scaffolds (or ovens) for someone else's victims. They are soldiers obeying their superiors and guilty bystanders who go blithely about their "business as usual."

That is how monstrous crimes take place: not only because of the Hamans, the very visible villains, but also because of the others who let it happen by their silence. Queen Esther could have been one of these. Her own position was secure. No wonder our Jewish brothers admire this woman who risked everything rather than commit the sin of silence!

Home Agent's Party Line

By NANCY WHITE

Was it Paris or Pocahontas? No matter how it started there is no stopping the current craze for leather. Definitely the newest "fabric" of the season. In its natural state, it is one of the most expensive. There are many man-made leathers on the market this fall that have the snap-dash of the natural skin, without its high price tag. They are also more comfortable and easier to sew than real leather. Their easy cleanability is another added attraction.

Fake leathers are usually of two types. One is a vinyl-coated, cotton knit backing. The backing increases the wearing comfort of the fabric. The other is a double knit of nylon that is printed to simulate leather and reptile skins. Rainwear is not the only use for fake leather. It is found in skirts, wesuits, jumpers, hats, pants, jackets, and in combination with other fabrics. When used in combination with other fabrics, be sure that the "leather" requires the same care as the companion fabric. Sometimes dry cleaning might cause the fake leather to become brittle and dry. Proper care instructions will be found on the hang tags.

The leather look is also very big in yard goods for the same sewer. Each of the pattern companies has certain designs that are suitable for the use of vinyl. There are certain techniques that are peculiar to sewing with vinyl. Several sewing books have a special section on the special construction needs of vinyl. If you desire further help with sewing on the fake leathers, contact Nancy White, Area Extension Agent in Clothing and Textiles, 586-6412.

SPORTSHORTS

Red's second baseman, Tommy Helms, will be out of action for the remainder of the season. He sustained a broken left wrist last Friday evening when hit by a ball while covering first base. Helms was hitting .288 with 49 RBIs. He had two home runs, one hit opening day and the other last Friday.

Hal McRae has been called up to fill the second base slot for the Reds. He was a 295 hitter at Indianapolis.

The Cincinnati Bengals lost their first season game to the San Diego Chargers, 29-13, last Friday night. But they are expected to give some of the seasoned clubs a rough time as play continues.

One point of interest near Tompkinsville is the Old Mulkey Meeting House. In 1773, Philip Mulkey built the first church in the area. Built in the form of a cross, it has 12 corners for the Apostles and three doors for the Trinity. Daniel Boone's sister is buried in the graveyard.

What the human race does not know about food and its reaction to good health would fill several volumes.

Granddad loves to fish. Secretly, I think he likes to talk about it equally as well. He spends hours with his friends arguing the pros and cons of "angling." The other day I overheard a lengthy controversy about the best place to fish. Granddad ended the whole matter with these words of wit and wisdom, "If you ask me, the best spot to fish is out there where the fish are—so let's get going!"

This special brand of humor greatly appealed to all of his friends and it remained in my mind long after they had left. It seemed to answer those nature lovers who claim that they can worship God out of doors as well as in church. For certainly, the best spot to worship God is where God is.

Worship means not only moments of adoration and praise but also thoughts channeled toward God. The Church has the living presence of the Lord and inspires spiritual thoughts through hymn, prayer and litany. Yes, the best place to lift up the heart is in the house of God.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Culbertson formerly of Fiskburg but presently living in Florida, are visiting relatives here, the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Finnell. Mr. and Mrs. George Finnell, Jr. entertained in their honor one evening this week.

Mrs. Sally Corbin of Covington, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Barnett. While here they drove to Lexington, to visit Mr. and Mrs. Howard Barnett, and while in Lexington, visited Wave-land, a museum of Kentucky life.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Childers made a trip to Chicago recently. He was on business and she went to see the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wharton visited his sister, Mrs. Bernard Mellow in Middletown, Ohio, one day the past week.

L. M. Deuser reports that Mrs. Deuser, who was removed to the Northern Kentucky Baptist Home in Newport, is improving but is not expected home for several weeks. Her son, William Tieman, of near Houston, Texas, visited her over the Labor Day weekend.

We hear that Omer Lucas is improving nicely since returning to his home.

We regretted to hear of the sudden death of one whom we had known most of our lives, Mrs. Finnell Rich Bridges. Our sympathy is with Mr. Bridges and family.

Miss Luella Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Mullins returned recently from Hollywood, Florida, where they visited William Good-ker.

Notes Of Servicemen

Army Private First Class Ruben L. Baker, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin R. Baker, 71 Alta Vista Drive, Walton, was assigned Aug. 18th as a rifleman in the 196th Infantry Brigade, American Division, near Chu Lai, Vietnam. His wife, Troy, lives in Barbourville, Kentucky.

Seaman Apprentice Larry W. Moore, USN, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, Jr., of 47 Far Hills Drive, Independence, has graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Illinois. In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—When I get out of service I'll still have to finish high school. Would it be smart for me not to use my GI Bill education and training entitlement while completing high school so that I can have all of it available for college?

A—There is no need to "save" your entitlement for college. Last year Congress passed a law permitting veterans to receive an educational assistance allowance ($130 a month for a single veteran in full-time training) from the Veterans Administration while completing high school. This allowance will not be charged against your full entitlement to college level training under the GI Bill.

Q—Can I buy a particular house I would like under the GI loan program even though the seller insists on getting more than the VA appraisal price?

A—Yes you may, provided that you are willing to pay in cash the difference between the amount on the Veterans Administration Certificate of Appraisal and the actual selling price of the house.

Q—I would like very much to serve as a volunteer in a VA hospital but my free time is limited to a couple of hours during the middle of the day. Is there a need for volunteer help during these odd hours?

A—There certainly is. The Veterans Administration Voluntary

Service can use help just about any hour of the day, any day of the week, generally between 9:00 a. m. and 9:00 p. m. There are all kinds of jobs to be done. Check with your local VA hospital. Your interest and assistance will be most appreciated.

SOUTHERN
INNOVATIONS THAT SQUEEZE THE WASTE OUT OF DISTRIBUTION / SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM, WASHINGTON, D. C.

Does our long-handled coal shovel carry much weight with shippers?

More than 8,000,000 tons a year.
At savings of nearly $7.5 million.

Southern Railway introduced the unit-train concept to American railroading in January of 1960, when it started operating solid trainloads of Southern-designed "Silverides" gondolas like these on a regular "turn-around" schedule between coal mine and power plant.

Today, Southern operates six unit trains that carry coal at an annual rate of some 8,370,000 delivered tons. Annual rate of savings to shippers is nearly $7.5 million.

One of our "long-handled coal shovels" is part of still another innovation in coal distribution—rail-to-rail transloading. Coal originating in small shipments at low-volume mines is pooled at a transloader for reloading into the high total tonnages required for economical, efficient unit-train movement.

The unit train and rail-to-rail transloading—two among many innovations at work on Southern Railway, squeezing the waste out of distribution...to the benefit of shippers and consumers alike.

Innovations and improvements that enable us to squeeze the waste out of distribution benefit all who live in the Southern-served South. By reducing total cost of distribution they help combat today's trend of steadily rising consumer prices. They attract new industries into the South and help industries already located along our lines to grow and expand, providing more and better hometown job opportunities. All of us benefit!

TIME, LABOR AND EXPENSES

What is your time worth as manager of your dairy operation? One good way to answer this question is ask yourself what would it cost to hire a man to replace you. This would include a man that could make decisions which are profitable besides doing the physical labor. A recent survey revealed that this man would cost between $8,000 and $12,000 a year. If the man worked sixty hours a week and fifty weeks a year, his hourly wage would be between $3.00 and $4.00 an hour. Can you afford to buy corn and grind your dairy feed when we can bring you Purina Checkerboard Dairy 16% Checkers in bulk at approximately the same cost as the corn and supplement? If you have corn and have to take the time to load it, drive to town, grind it, and take it back home we will welcome the chance to try and trade with you for Purina Checkerboard Dairy 16% Pellets. COME IN AND LET'S FIGURE HOW LITTLE IT WILL COST TO SWITCH TO PURINA CHECKERBOARD DAIRY 16%, AND SAVE TIME, LABOR AND MONEY.

FACE FLY KILLERS AVAILABLE

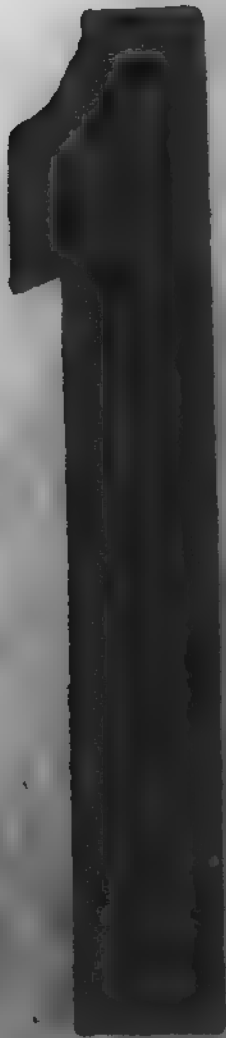

Purina Dairy Spray Concentrate and Purina Dairy Spray Special have been doing an outstanding job of controlling face flies on dairy cows. These two products also kill house flies, horn flies, stable flies and the "ole" horse fly. We also recommend that barns be sprayed with Purina Cygon 2E. This is a residual spray that lasts up to eight weeks. We also carry a complete line of dairy dust as well as face fly killers for beef cattle, horses, swine and poultry. COME IN AND LET'S TALK OVER YOUR FLY CONTROL NEEDS.

ATTENTION BROOD COW AND BABY BEEF OPERATORS

Want more for your feeder calves this fall? Have you heard about Pro-conditioned calves and how they are bringing $2.00 to $3.00 more per hundred? We have a pre-conditioning program that we would like to explain to you. GIVE US A CALL.

FRONTIER WORLDS -- WALTON, BOONE COUNTY, KENTUCKY

By James Lawrence, Asst. Editor

IT IS NOT JUST A DREAM.

We have not been reading and hearing fairy tales.

Yet, when we try to really fathom the depths of the tremendous frontiers that lie ahead for Walton, Boone County and Kentucky, we must rely on our deepest imagination, based on the facts before us—FRONTIER WORLDS is coming to Walton, Kentucky.

On Daniel Boone's first exploration into the "Happy Hunting Grounds" in 1769, he found that it exceeded his anticipation and the information he had received. They (Daniel and his brother, Squire, along with a few others) followed a narrow Indian path through Cumberland Gap and the Cumberland Mountains. Buffalo, deer and wild turkey were in great abundance near the salt licks. Small wildlife was found to be plentiful.

They discovered that the Kentucky Mountains were taller, the meadows were greener and that the hunting was excellent. Mr. Boone's desire for his family to come to "that beautiful country" (Kentucky) and enjoy the wonderful opportunities was fulfilled a few years later. Mrs. Boone and her daughter, Jemima, were the first white women to see the central regions of Kentucky in and around Boonesboro on the Kentucky river.

Fess Parker, television's Daniel Boone, came to Kentucky, Northern Kentucky in particular, looking for "just the right spot" to launch his Frontier Worlds. He liked what he saw and came back to stake his claim in Southeastern Boone "Country". The tall Texan, an adopted native Kentucky son, knows a good thing when he sees it. This was to Mr. Parker what Kentucky was to Mr. Boone, a "terrestrial paradise."

Some 20 or more attractions will be featured in Frontier Worlds which reaches into the past and future, recreating heroes and adventure in frontier life in many areas of time.

Now that the Walton location has been chosen, what great strides must be taken to better our community through these favorable combinations of conditions? What will $180 million in the next 10-12 years mean to the people of Walton, Boone County and Kentucky? And to the surrounding counties of Kenton, Grant and Gallatin?

What accommodations will be necessary to transport, house and feed the millions of people who will come from all over the world to visit Frontier Worlds?

Mr. Parker's close association with Walt Disney and his fantastic creation, Disneyland, will be the inspiration of many avenues of reaching into the past and future. Those who have seen Disneyland say that it is almost beyond the realm of imagination. For those of us who have not seen it, the desire now to see Frontier Worlds becomes more intense.

As Walton becomes the tourist capitol of the mid-Eastern United States, greater demands are to be made of our present "super" highways and existing facilities. Interstate 75, which only recently received a third lane both northbound and southbound, will be loaded to capacity. And even beyond capacity on weekends.

Interstate 71, not yet completed to Louisville, must be increased in capacity. The exits at the I-75 junction will very suddenly be overcrowded. One lane just isn't enough to carry the great flow of traffic expected. At least 2-4 additional lanes for traffic will be necessary from I-71 and I-75 junction south to Walton. The state has already mentioned a four-lane highway to the park entrance along the present Beaver Lick road.

Additional exit roads will be necessary from I-75 into Walton proper and perhaps from I-71 to U. S. Highway 25 in North Walton. And what about roads to other residential and manufacturing interests in and near the park complex and from Chambers road?

Will the bridge across Mud Lick Creek on the Walton-Beaver road be large enough to carry traffic in that area of the park?

All these new and existing roadways will require proper lighting and drainage.

A long since needed larger scale facilities for middle and upper class eating establishments are also in demand. As well as large capacity inn type motels. We would certainly hope that local business persons would be instrumental in these endeavors.

Boone County Airport is operating at a capacity level and a desire has been expressed for an additional airport, for smaller craft, to be located somewhere in Northern Kentucky. This too is a great challenge to interested persons to seek an appropriate location near Frontier Worlds which certainly would be a voluminous customer.

Economics Research Association suggests that Frontier Worlds will employ 1,000 persons. If that be true, and we believe it to be a conservative figure, where are these additional families to live, and where will they purchase groceries, furniture and clothing and what school will their children attend? With what church will they affiliate?

A sudden burst in residential and business construction will bring great demands on electrical power, water supply, gas, telephone and other services and emphasize the need for sewage disposal.

What effect will the sudden growth of Walton have on the surrounding communities of Verona, Beaver Lick, Richmond, and the Independence area? Big Bone Park, internationally famous in archeology finding and studies as well as Kentucky frontier life, will benefit greatly through interested persons who come to see

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

We heard recently of a very pleasant celebration for some of our friends. Mrs. Walter Maddox and her twin sister, Mrs. William Brannock, of Kelso, Ky., had a birthday. Their sister, Mrs. J. B. Richardson, also had a birthday in August. To celebrate the occasion Mrs. Alan Campbell took her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maddox, and Mr. and Mrs. Richardson to Kelso. Not having a cake large enough to hold all of the candles necessary, they represented each celebrant with two candles. As the old cliché goes, "A good time was had by all." It would have been interesting to have had a candle for each year though. Our wish for each is many more happy years of health and usefulness.

Mrs. Laura Hawkins is home and we hope will soon be able to see with both eyes and enjoy many happy years.

The WSCS met at the church on Tuesday evening, Sept. 10. The president, Mrs. Geo. Fimmel, Jr., called the meeting to order and asked the program director, Mrs. Dewey Parsons, to present the study on the question, "Where Do We Go from Here?" or how to help the young people to find their place and part in the work of the church. Mrs. D. Ballinger and Mrs. A. Nunery assisted in presenting the facts of the question. It seems that instead of setting up programs for young folks, they should, in most cases, find an older but youth oriented leader or leaders who would help the young people work out their own programs or plans of service. Mrs. Keeney gave the meditation, using as a text Philippians 2:1-2. Report was made on the sale of brooms and it was decided to order more. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Losey, Oct. 8. We hope to have with us at this meeting Miss Mary Lena Wisheart, one of the district officers. Let's try to be there.

We have heard at long last from Stephen Ricketts, who was injured several months ago in Vietnam. He is in a Kansas hospital and was visited recently by his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Ricketts, Miss Lucy Radcliff and Mr. and Mrs. R. Radcliff. They report he is making good progress and will make a complete recovery. Maybe we can get his address later and send him some cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards and children spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. C. Brinkley. As usual, the children's interest centered around the pony.

The day was really auspicious for the covered dish luncheon on the church lawn following the morning service. Not all of the folks found it convenient to stay, but enough stayed to have a very pleasant social hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Mills of Middletown, Ohio, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Balingier one afternoon last week. They report that his brother, Balson, is feeling fairly well at this time.

Staffordsburg Homemakers

For the first meeting of the new school year, the homemakers club met in the church dining room on Sept. 10 at 10:30. To open the meeting Mrs. V. Damico read an appropriate poem followed by the salute to the flag. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read, followed by roll call and payment of dues for the year.

Announcement was made of the Marcus Huting discovered the first oil well in the county near Stearns in McCreary County in 1818, while he and his partner were drilling for salt. It was a gusher which covered the nearby Cumberland River for 30 to 40 miles down stream. Transportation problems and the enmity of neighbors whose flocks of geese were nearly wiped out by the "Devil's Tar," caused Huting to eventually abandon the well.

area meeting at the Lookout House on Sept. 24. Also the county annual meeting at Summit Hills on Oct. 17.

It was proposed that our club sponsor a one-day trip to Nashville, Ind., Oct. 5, if we can get enough interested to fill a bus. If anyone wishes to go, call any member of our club. I forgot to say that Nashville is a community where many industries are carried on as in colonial days.

One of the pillows was finished and the women seem anxious to get materials. Mrs. Shaw gave the devotion for the day; Mrs. Keeney and Mrs. Rapp gave the lesson on appreciation of art, showing a fairly good collection of prints of many of the old masters.

Mrs. Lathan Wayman was hostess for the day and each brought a covered dish. It was decided to have a covered dish lunch each meeting until further notice. Mrs. Harry Cooper will be hostess for October, before she leaves for Hawaii in November.

We were glad to welcome Mrs. Morris Wharton as a new member. We had as guests Miss Nancy Nitschke and Mrs. Clyde Wharton of Wayneville, Ohio. Members in attendance were Mrs. M. Wharton, L. Wayman, R. Payne, L. Rapp, F. Keeney, H. Nitschke, J. Perkins and daughter, Jennifer, J.

Ware, E. Stein, V. Damico, R. Harney, J. Beall, B. Rich and her great-granddaughter, J. Shaw, L. Faulkner, C. Hill and F. Elam.

Home Agent's Party Line

By NANCY WHITE

The soft, romantic look for this fall and winter is getting strong competition from the menswear look. The romantic look brings the ruffles, waist line, belts, soft and drapeable fabrics, prints and various trim. The menswear look means bankers' grey as the color, pin stripes, hard finish gabardines, and flannels, sharp topstitching, straight and angular lines, and in general very tailored garments.

Both of these looks are so great that you will have to have at least one outfit in each category in your wardrobe. Be sure that your accessories are in the same mood as your costume.

The correct accessories are important in presenting the fashion image of 1968. In fact the latest accessories can often update an older dress.

Between these very different looks of the romantic and the menswear, many very exciting silhouettes, fabrics and colors abound on the fashion horizon. Brown and all of its relations are the newest important colors. The brights from last season now appear here and there to spark and accent plaids and prints.

The really important fabrics are corduroy, gabardines, silk and worsted, knits, homespun, crepe, moire, velveteen, brocade and lace. Plaids and checks are the really "in" pattern found in fabrics. Notice the Victorian wallpaper prints found in the romantic look.

In the coming holiday season, we will be seeing softened colors, but not pale pastels. They are delicate and sophisticated. They will appear "after five" in the very elegant moire, satin, silk and worsted, brocade and crepe.

Social At Independence

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Independence Fire Department will hold their monthly social on Saturday, September 21 at 8:30 p. m. at the firehouse.

Mrs. Sue Ponzer is chairman and Mrs. Ruth Ann Elbert is in charge of the kitchen. There will be sandwiches and home-made pie served. The public is invited.

.....DEATHS.....

HOBART FISK

Hobart Fisk, age 71, of Route 1, Morning View, died Friday, Sept. 13, of a heart attack while driving his car on Violet Road, west of Crittenden. He was a retired employee of the Kenton County road department.

Mr. Fisk leaves his wife, Mrs. Clara Fisk; five daughters, Mrs. Laverne Baker and Mrs. Loretta Elliott, both of Piner, and Mrs. Alice Glass, Mrs. Mildred Rust, and Mrs. Frances Armstrong, all of Independence; four sons, Clyde Fisk of Demossville, Wayne Fisk of Piner, Norrman and Lyle Fisk of Independence, and two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Carnes of Covington, and Mrs. Gladys Vaughn, Valsala.

Services were held at 2:00 p. m., Monday at the Wilmington Baptist Church at Fiskburg, with burial in the church cemetery.

Chambers and Grubbs Funeral Home, Walton, had charge of arrangements.

Altar Society Plans Social

The Altar Society of St. Cecilia Church of Independence, is sponsoring its monthly social on Wednesday, September 25 at 1:30 p. m., in the school basement. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

home. Am I entitled to aid and attendance benefits?

A—You are not entitled to aid and attendance benefits unless you are entitled to basic pension or compensation benefits. However, disabled veterans with limited incomes are entitled to pensions, and veterans 65 years of age or older are presumed to be disabled for pension purposes. If you think you might be eligible, check with your nearest VA office.

Q—I would like to know if a widow of a World War I veteran could sell her home and buy more property without the profit from the sale of the home being considered as income. Would this profit cause her to lose her pension?

A—Most widows receiving VA pensions are under the "new law" in effect since July 1, 1960, which does not consider such profit as income. Other widows are receiving pensions under a still operating "old law" which does define profit from the sale of property as income. Check with your nearest VA office.

ALL WRONG, BUT...!

Lesson for September 22, 1968

Background Scripture: Jonah 1 through 4, Deuteronomy 1:1-17

Bishop Gerald Kennedy of the United Methodist Church tells of stubborn Scottish elder who many years ago bitterly fought against the proposed union of the Church of Scotland with the Scottish Presbyterian Church. In time, the proposed union received the necessary majority of votes and it was consummated. Someone heard the old elder muttering to himself: "It's all wrong, I tell ye, it's all wrong. But evidently it is the will of God."

He didn't like it!

Jonah was like that old elder. His problem was not that he did not know the will of God, but that he knew it and didn't like it! God told him to go to the people of Nineveh and call them to repent of their sinfulness. Why should Jonah object to that?

First, we must remember that Nineveh is an Assyrian city and the Assyrians are Israel's greatest, most bitter enemies. The Jews hated Assyria with a great passion. So, for one thing, Jonah did not want to preach repentance to these Assyrians whom he despised.

Secondly, he was sure that it would be a waste of time, for they would not respond. These people were utterly depraved in their evil ways, he thought. Why waste time on people for whom there is no hope, no possibility of saving? God was making a mistake in thinking that there was any possibility in redeeming that black city!

God's mistake

Third, Jonah found it impossible to believe that God would have any concern for these people. Israel was his chosen nation. If he was going to love anyone, it would be the Jews. Besides, how could God love or be concerned about people who were so evil and pagan? It was almost an insult to think that God would show some of the same concern for Nineveh that he demonstrated for Jerusalem.

We can almost hear Jonah protesting, "It's all wrong, I tell you, it's all wrong!" Yet the persistence of God made something else evident too: "But evidently it is the will of God." Pursued by God until at last he gave in, Jonah accepted the task and went to the Assyrian city. It was not something he desired to do, but evidently it is the will of God and he has no choice, though he is quite sure that God is making a big mistake.

It is then that, from Jonah's point of view, the very worst thing happens: the people of Nineveh, these hopeless, godless Assyrians, take seriously his reluctant warning and repent! And how does he respond to this marvelous turn of events? Is he overjoyed at his unexpected success? HE IS NOT! It may be the will of God for these heathens to share with Israel the mercy of God, but it is still all wrong! Angry, the peevish prophet sulks under a vine that God has graciously provided to protect him from the Sun.

Not just one man

What was the writer of Jonah trying to say to his people with this story? He was trying to show them that God is Lord of all the world, and not just one special nation. He is trying to demonstrate that God is concerned about all men, not just a few. He is attempting to help his readers to see that though Jonah was a Jew and a prophet, the sailors on the ship, though heathens, were more humane and compassionate. The people of Nineveh, Assyrians though they were, nevertheless were more responsive to the word of God and more obedient to his will than Jonah.

Thus, Jonah is not just one man. He is all Israelites who would rather defend their enemies than live with them in peace. He is all men who find it impossible to fit the will of God into their little minds and lives. He is all of us who are convinced that God's plan for universal brotherhood in one world must be "all wrong."

Thus, he who laughs disdainfully at Jonah may, in reality, be deriding himself.

THE LAND AND THE PEOPLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Golden Wedding Observed

Some 100 friends and relatives attended the golden wedding observance of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Schlenker of Hyde Park, Cincinnati, on Saturday, Sept. 7th. The reception was given by their two daughters and their husbands, Ida Mae and John Boutet of Batavia, Ohio, and Lillian and Lewis G. Davis of Richmond Road, Walton, at whose home the affair was held.

The patio was beautifully decorated in white and gold. An arrangement of yellow and gold mums in a gold and white cream pitcher, sugar bowl and candy dish engraved with 50th anniversary stood on a background of styrofoam and served as a table centerpiece. It was a gift from the ten grandchildren. The anniversary cake was cut with a gold cake knife engraved with the grandchildren's names.

An interesting feature of the reception was the display of pictures of their wedding. Among them were also pictures of their 35th anniversary, which several of the guests had attended and enjoyed seeing them for the first time.

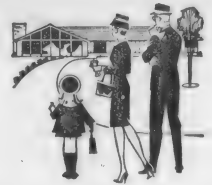

After a delicious buffet prepared by Mrs. Boutet and her daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Schlenker opened their many beautiful and useful gifts. Dancing followed until the wee hours.

French fried potatoes, pork and beans, fruit, milk.

GOP Women Attend Recent State Meeting

Mrs. Harvey Pelley of Hebron, and Mrs. William Palmer of Florence, attended the recent state board meeting of the Kentucky Federation of Republican Women, in Louisville. The KFRW has 76 active clubs throughout the state with 2,836 hard-working members.

When the roll of clubs was called, Mrs. Pelley, president of the Boone County group, gave a glowing report of the club's recent activities. Republican women of Boone County recently fed over 400 people at the Boone County GOP picnic. Chairman of the picnic was Mrs. Ivan Clements of Union. Also, the Boone County Republican women will staff the County Campaign Headquarters in Florence, starting October 1, from 11:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m., each day of the week except Sunday. The club is now finalizing plans for a luncheon to be held October 8 at Boone Aire Country Club. Mrs. Louie B. Numm will be the honored guest on that day.

The State Board meeting was adjourned for lunch at 12:45 p. m. Guest luncheon speaker was Judge Marlow Cook, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate. He warmly praised the women for their tireless efforts in his behalf. Mrs. Cook also was at the luncheon, which was attended by 51 women representing 19 clubs from over the state.

TIME, LABOR AND EXPENSES

What is your time worth as manager of your dairy operation? One good way to answer this question is ask yourself what would it cost to hire a man to replace you. This would include a man that could make decisions which are profitable besides doing the physical labor. A recent survey revealed that this man would cost between $8,000 and $12,000 a year. If the man worked sixty hours a week and fifty weeks a year, his hourly wage would be between $3.00 and $4.00 an hour. Can you afford to buy corn and grind your dairy feed when we can bring you Purina Checkboard Dairy 16% Checkers in bulk at approximately the same cost as the corn and supplement? If you have corn and have to take the time to load it, drive to town, grind it, and take it back home we will welcome the chance to try and trade with you for Purina Checkboard Dairy 16% Pellets. COME IN AND LET'S FIGURE HOW LITTLE IT WILL COST TO SWITCH TO PURINA CHECKBOARD DAIRY 16%, AND SAVE TIME, LABOR AND MONEY.

FACE FLY KILLERS AVAILABLE

Purina Dairy Spray Concentrate and Purina Dairy Spray Special have been doing an outstanding job of controlling face flies on dairy cows. These two products also KILL house flies, horn flies, stable flies and the "ole" horse fly. We also recommend that barns be sprayed with Purina Cygon 2E. This is a residual spray that lasts up to eight weeks. We also carry a complete line of dairy dust as well as face fly killers for beef cattle, horses, swine and poultry. WALTON, KENTUCKY — THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1968

Volume 53—Number 39

MRS. NUNN TO SPEAK IN BOONE COUNTY

Mrs. William Palmer, chairman, and Mrs. Phillip Ferrante, co-chairman of the October 8 luncheon sponsored by the Boone County Federation of Republican Women have announced that Mrs. Louie B. Nunn will be the speaker.

The luncheon is scheduled for 12:00 noon at Boone-Aire Country Club, Florence. All members and those who would like to attend from the Walton area are asked to make reservations with Mrs. Cameron Brakefield, 485-4398.

Mrs. Nick Mikkelsen has been appointed chairman of decorations. Mrs. Harry Woodsmall is in charge of the red, white and blue elephant sale which will follow the luncheon.

Mrs. Harvey Pelley is president of the club and reminds members that no meeting is scheduled for the first Tuesday. All necessary business will be transacted after the luncheon on the 8th.

Large Crowd Hears Rep. Albert Watson

Republican Congressman Albert Watson of South Carolina, charmed a large Boone County fundraising audience last week, and quickly lived up to his reputation as the best extemporaneous speaker in the House today.

The dinner, held at Boone-Aire Country Club, Florence, was emceed by Don Shadrach, Florence. Mrs. Lucy Alphin, Walton, served as dinner chairwoman.

Congressman Gene Snyder and his administrative assistant, Bill Tanner, a Boone County native, came into the area to do some campaigning, and introduced the speaker, Mr. Watson.

Congressman Watson noted his close kinship to Snyder in Congress. "This is a man who does his homework and does it well—he is a true representative of the people back home, and is recognized as one of the hardest working men in Congress."

Horn-Denney Wedding Solemnized Aug. 24

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Denney

Miss Judith Ann Horn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Horn, of 8 Welsh Avenue, Walton, became the bride of Mr. Wayne Denney, son of Mr. Roscoe Denney of High St., Walton, and Mrs. Marion Byrd, Lynn, Ind., in a double ring candlelight ceremony at the Christian Church, Walton, on Saturday evening, August 24th. Reverend Arthur Russell was the officiating minister.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white lace over satin, styled with an empire waistline and A-line skirt, the gown and lace train being trimmed with seed pearls. Her veil was elbow-length illusion, held in place with a tiara of seed pearls, and her bouquet was rose buds and carnations, clustered around a white orchid.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. James Napier. Bridesmaids were Misses Jo Ann Denney, Connie Denney, and the flower girls were Lottie Denney and Stephanie

First Meeting Of Simon Kenton FHA

The Simon Kenton Chapter of Future Homemakers of America, held its first fall meeting Sept. 18 in the school cafeteria, with Miss Lueda Cheek, presiding.

Guests present were Twenhofel officers, president, Connie Thompson; first vice president, Sharon Parsons; secretary, Kathy Sebastian; treasurer, Beana McIntosh; historian, Janice Whaley; parliamentarian, Linda Carlisle; reporter, Sheila Baldwin; recreation leader, Diane Henderson; song leader, Lynn Neu, and their adviser, Mrs. Carol Neely.

Also present were John Dillion, chapter beau; Dutch Robinson, Steve Prince, Margie Jackson, chapter mother, Mrs. Orb Cheek, and chapter adviser, Mrs. Helen McElroy.

Two more possible projects were discussed for this year: A gift box to Vietnam, and hostesses for the PTA.

The program consisted of four members who attended the State F. H. A. meeting, telling of "The Values of FHA." These girls were Connie Lipscomb, Dueda Cheek, Rhonda LaFollette and Delores McIntosh. Lueda Cheek also gave a report on the Hardinsburg Conference, which she attended the past summer. She is the district treasurer.

"FHA Pay Your Dues Week" will be September 23-27. It is planned that certain members will speak over the public address to let others know about this week and to gain an understanding of FHA. The girls who will speak are Barm Calhoun, Sharon Robinson, Connie Gillespie, Linda Payne and Vicki Finnell. Acting as alternates are Jo Ann Saylor and Deb Cahn. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments served.

Each college in the University of Kentucky Community College System, through its local advisory board and other ties, relates itself to the needs of the community.

The in-service day scheduled for September 27 has been delayed until October. The office of Supt. Roberts says there will be school on Friday of this week. Parents and students please note.

Sixth District PTA Instruction School

Sixth District Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers Association held its annual School of Instruction last Thursday at St. John United Church of Christ, Newport, beginning with a call to order session at 9:00 a. m.

The devotional was presented by Mrs. James Ramey, Character and Spiritual Education District Chairman.

Mrs. W. Shelby Kinney, President of the District, conducted the session by quoting from Emerson, "This time is like all time, is a good time if we know what to do with it." The assembly of workers for the PTA were urged to learn as much as was available in the prospective work shops so their goal for the year could be to improve where they could and help accomplish much for the school children.

It was announced by the Safety and Disaster Preparation Chairman, Mrs. Delmar Cioe, that the First Annual Greater Cincinnati Home Safety Conference would be held at the Sheraton-Gibson Hotel on Sept. 28, from 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. There would be a luncheon for those who cared to stay for both sessions.

The School of Instruction was well attended with 232 present, representing nearly every unit in the Sixth District.

Piner PTA Attends School of Instruction

Three officers and one chairman of the Piner PTA attended the School of Instruction of the Sixth District, Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers, Sept. 12, at St. John United Church of Christ, Newport.

Mrs. Shelby Kinney, Sixth District President, presided over the meeting, which was followed with workshops for each officer and chairman.

Those attending from the Piner PTA were: Mrs. Morgan Campbell, president; Mrs. John Mullins, vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Marshall Hills, secretary; and Mrs. Robert Lancaster, Library chairman.

Rev. Barnard Leaving the Wilmington Baptist Church

William F. Barnard, pastor for the past three years of Wilmington Baptist Church, Fiskburg, has accepted the call to be pastor of Townview Baptist Church, Dayton, Ohio. The Barnards will move about the middle of October and make their new home at 5001 Little Richmond Road, Dayton, Ohio 45426.

The Woodburn Stock Farm in Versailles is the site of the first race horse breeding farm in the area.

National Highway Week Sept. 22-29

Since this is National Highway Week a few interesting figures might indicate why "Highways Are For People."

In 1966 almost 80 percent of all American families owned automobiles as compared to 59 percent in 1950. Twenty-five percent owned two or more cars, as compared to 7 percent in the same two yearly figures.

In 1950 the total number of registered motor vehicles was 49.3 million compared to the 98 million in 1967.

National Highway Week is an appropriate time to ask what is going to happen to the national traffic jam. There's no simple answer to the traffic problem, but completing the planned 41,000 mile interstate system and building of other new freeways as needed to complement it will help a great deal.

To make "the highways for people," safety experts recommend that people traveling a 100 miles or more should stop at intervals to rest and relax. The Federal Highway Administration report that by count, more than 6,700 rest areas in use which can accommodate three or more vehicles. There are more in the making.

With progress in highway construction and latest rest facilities available, the American people can honestly say that the family car is "the best form of transportation invented by man."

National Highway Week with its "Highways Are For People" promotion, is being conducted under the general auspices of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Carter's Chapel Homecom'g

Homecoming at Carter's Chapel Methodist Church will be held all day Sunday, September 29.

Everyone is welcome to attend and spread your lunch with the others and meet old friends and have a good day together. There will be special singing and good preaching. Rev. Verne Smith is the pastor.

Taylor Mill P.T.A. Holds First Meeting

At the initial fall meeting on Monday, Sept. 16, of the Taylor Mill P.T.A., Mrs. Malcolm Fletcher presiding, the annual membership campaign was launched by Mrs. Charles Stephenson, membership chairman, Mrs. Eugene Feagan, Jr., and Mrs. Chester Alsip with a pantomime, and the announcement of a room contest for members.

The annual Fall Festival was announced for Saturday, October 5 with Mrs. James Walter, vice president, as chairman.

Plans were also made for the placing of a memorial plaque on the school library door in honor of Miss Minnie Clay Baker. Miss Baker was instrumental in maintaining the school library from 1957 to 1965.

Edgar Baker, principal, introduced the faculty, which included four new teachers: Mrs. D. Bates, Mrs. D. Prince, Mrs. G. Guttridge, and Miss S. Rice. Also introduced were Mrs. L. White, gym instructor, and Mrs. B. Curry, music instructor, both new teachers to the Kenton County System.

Refreshments were served by the executive board.

Taylor Mill PTA At School of Instruction

The following committee chairmen of the Taylor Mill PTA attended the School of Instruction of the Sixth District, Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers, on Sept. 12, at the St. John United Church of Christ, Newport.

Mrs. Malcolm Fletcher, president; Mrs. Thomas Barnett, recording secretary; Mrs. Eugene Feagan, Jr., corresponding secretary; Mrs. Joseph Ayres, parent education; Mrs. Charles Stephenson, membership; Mrs. Phillip King, legislation; Mrs. Willard Caddell, school education, and Mrs. David Wintring, publicity.

New Postage Stamp Honors Daniel Boone

A new six-cent postage stamp honoring Daniel Boone will be issued this week. The official dedication of the commemorative stamp was held Wednesday in Frankfort. Postmaster General Marvin Watson, and Gov. Louie B. Nunn were speakers. This stamp is the latest in the American folklore series and the only one in the group to be issued this year.

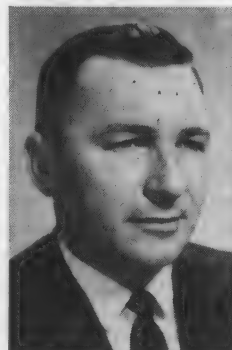

Fess Parker will be on hand today in Frankfort Postoffice to participate in the issuing of some of the first stamps.

With all the excitement in Walton concerning Frontier Worlds, the demand for these new stamps will no doubt be great. Postmistress Mildred Cleek told an Advertiser reporter this week that the stamps will be issued here on Friday, Sept. 27.

Displayed on the new stamp are the tools of Boone's trade—a Kentucky rifle, powder horn, knife and tomahawk—hanging against a wall of roughly hewn boards.

Would it not have been nice if Mr. Parker could have come to Walton for a similar participation?

FIRST BAPTIST REVIVAL

Rev. James B. Lewis

Rev. James B. Lewis, pastor of Rockford Lane Baptist Church in Louisville, will be the evangelist for a revival at First Baptist Church, Walton, September 29 thru October 6.

Rev. Lewis received his B. A. degree from Georgetown College in 1951, his B. D. degree from Southern Seminary in 1955, and the M. R. E. degree in 1956. He is presently serving as a trustee of Georgetown College, and a member of the State Executive Board. He is married and has three children.

James G. Drury, minister of music at Walton, will be leading the music.

Services will begin each evening at 8:00. Rev. Charles T. Saylor, pastor at First Baptist, invites everyone to attend.

Diverted Acres May Be Grazed Oct. 1st

Farmers who diverted acreage under the 1968 annual feed grain diversion program may soon be able to graze this acreage without losing program benefits, J. Lassing Huey, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee, has announced.

The starting date for such grazing will be October 1st, marking the end of the period during which the no-grazing provision was in effect. This provision does not apply to acreage diverted under long-term land utilization program such as the Cropland Adjustment program.

Boone County farms participating in the 1968 diversion program number about 453.

Goodwill Pennsylvania Dutch Festival Oct. 4-5

The 12th annual Goodwill Pennsylvania Dutch Festival will be held Friday and Saturday, October 4 and 5, at the Ohio Valley Goodwill Industries Rehabilitation Center at 10800 Springfield Pike, Woodlawn.

This colorful festival is sponsored annually by the Valley Goodwill Women's Service Guild. Proceeds are used to help the handicapped at Goodwill.

Simon Kenton FHA Executive Council Meets

Program of Work, Connie Lipscomb; Finance, Diane Whaley; Membership, Rhonda LaFollette; Degrees, Elaine Hampton; Publicity, Vicki Finnell; Log, Luane Sharp; Participation, Linda Day; Constitution, Darlene Saylor; Honor Rolls, Elaine Gatewood; Scholarship, Linda Payne; Checkroom, Pat Kiser; Field Trip, Debbie Gilbert; Opinionnaire, Connie Gillespie; Refreshments, Pat Moore; Auditing, Tawnia Bush.

It was decided that fun-day initiation of new members would be Sept. 25, since FHA Dues Week is Sept. 23-29. To inform others about FHA, different members will give interesting facts about it over the public address system during the week.

Chairman Elaine Hampton is to have a degree party Oct. 9. Girls who are working on degrees will want to attend this very important

Pioneers Win Over Holmes by 19 to 0

The Simon Kenton High School Pioneers came from a zero-zero halftime deadlock to whip Holmes High, 19-0, at Covington, last Friday night.

The winners traveled most of their 232 ground yards after intermission, with Charley Siffel getting off runs of 44 and 46 yards, which was good for one touchdown.

In all, the area's leading scorer carried 11 times and added 138 yards to the Simon Kenton total.

Dave Obel got the Pioneers on the scoreboard with a 6-yard flip to Jerry Jacobs. Then Siffel scored from 46 yards out in the third period.

The Pioneers dented the goal line again in the fourth when Jerry Jacobs latched onto a Chuck Toller pass in the end zone on a 9-yard play.

Holmes topped the winners in two statistical categories—in first downs (11 to 8) and in passing yardage (127 to 59). The Bulldogs have yet to score a touchdown this season.

The Simon Kentonians now stand at 2-1-1 for the season.

On Friday night, the Pioneers take on Dixie Heights at the Independence field.

G.O.P. Women To Staff Headquarters

Boone County Republican Headquarters will open Tuesday, Oct. 1 and will continue to be open six days a week through Nov. 5.

The Boone County Republican Women's Club will staff the headquarters at 276 Main St., Florence, from 11:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. daily. Bumper stickers and lapel pins for Nixon, Cook and Snyder will be available and the public is encouraged to visit and pick up these materials. Literature and background information on these Republican candidates will also be available.

The phone number at the Headquarters is 282-8144. An interested and informed Republican volunteer will be happy to answer any questions you might have.

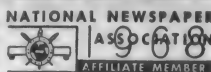

Mistakes do serve a purpose—our friends find such pleasure in pointing them out to us.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Marth and daughter, Joe Ann, of Detroit, Mich., were weekend guests of Mr.

and Mrs. Charles Carlisle and son, Guy.

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Flynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Flynn, and Mr. Jack Rouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell W. Rouse, took place September 18 at the Methodist Church in a twilight ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends. Mrs. Billy Adams presided at the piano. Rev. Fred Nichols performed the ceremony.

mony. The bride's attendant was her sister, Frances Flynn, and the best man was the groom's brother, "Buddy" Rouse.

Mrs. Doodie Jones and Mrs. C. R. Baxter of Lexington, were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dury.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Popp and daughter, Peggy, Mr. and Mrs. Collier Payne and children, Phyllis and Jackie, enjoyed Sunday at Butler State Park.

Miss Thelma Claire Caldwell of Richmond, left recently for Tucson, Ariz., where she is enrolled as a freshman in the University of Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dearborn and daughter, Carol, left for their home in Whittier, Calif., after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dearborn, of Nicholson.

Mr. and Mrs. George Grubbs left last Tuesday for their home in Coral Gables, Fla., after several weeks visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ransler and other relatives.

Mrs. Pascal Bush and Mrs. Ira Stephenson were in Lexington, all last week due to the illness and death of their brother, Rev. William Henry.

Kenneth Caldwell, Jr. left Sept. 13, for Lexington, where he is enrolled at the University of Ky.

Mrs. John Pruett, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pruett, Mrs. Irene Winans and Mrs. T. C. Pruett attended the Dameron reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dameron and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Riggs at Bantam, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gray were Saturday guests of his parents in Cynthiana, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fennell and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Breeden and son were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Laws and son of Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. George Knox were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Ellis of Owenton.

Mr. and Mrs. John McClure of Independence, were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bush.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ransler, Jr. of Erlanger, were the Sunday guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ransler.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Code and family and Yvonne Flynn were the weekend of Mrs. Code's mother, Mrs. Minnie Roberts, of Falmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Waller of Lexington, were visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Waller, this weekend.

Mrs. William Roberts of Crittenden, is spending a week with her daughter, Mrs. Harold Shearer, Mr. Shearer and family of Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Mrs. Robert Goode was seriously injured in an automobile wreck in West Virginia. She is out of the hospital and at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Burgess of Crittenden.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stone had as weekend guests, Miss Rose Marie Petty of Richmond, Ind., Franklin Duff, Eldon Pickett, Mrs. C. T. Pickett, all of Covington, and on Sunday, the following dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. William Summey and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Flynn and family.

Miss Ruth Bristow and Kerriker Daugherty have returned to the University of Kentucky to resume their studies, and Joseph F. Daugherty is attending Louisville Medical College.

Learning begins as curiosity.

Stopping Inflation A Top Priority

M. Gene Snyder
U. S. Congressman
Fourth District, Kentucky

The 90th. Congress resumed its second session recently after interrupting its deliberations for the month of August for national political conventions of the two major parties.

Upon returning to Washington, we faced a mountain of important bills left unfinished, including several vital appropriations measures. High on the list of priorities is the question of what is to be done about inflation. I expect to continue my efforts to reduce federal expenditures and will vote against those appropriations which tend to add fuel to the fires of inflation.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics has just announced that the cost of living increased at an annual rate of 6% during the months of June and July.

The cost of living index in July was 4.3 percent higher than it was a year before. Thus a six percent rate of increase in June and July reveals that living costs are moving upward more rapidly. Living costs in July were more than 17 percent above the level of January 1961.

It is generally agreed by economists that the cost of living advance of recent years has been primarily influenced by Administration spending policies which has produced an uninterrupted chain of deficits. A record deficit of $25.4 billion for 1968 coupled with past deficits is responsible for the upward bound prices and cheapened dollar that jeopardizes the economic security of every American family today. It is obvious that federal spending must be curtailed wherever possible. The spreading inflation hurts everyone and brings especial hardship to those living on a fixed income.

Another factor hurting the family budget is the President's ten percent surtax. I voted against this measure but I supported the policy of reducing the swollen appropriations for government agencies and the federal payroll can be cut back. We must get our fiscal house in order. If this is done, it will help curtail the inflationary pressures.

All families and individuals have to live on a budget within their means and the federal government also should be able to live within its means. If not, the inevitable will happen, as living beyond ones means can only bring disaster.

Other legislation that has high priority is the need of determining our farm program for the fiscal year, since it has been so badly mismanaged in recent years. Bills are also under consideration for urban crisis, air and water pollution, proper law enforcement, transportation on both air and ground and a multitude of other proposals. More than 19,000 bills have been introduced in this Congress. As a consequence, it is impossible to predict when Congress will adjourn but the members are hopeful that they can quite by early October.

DEATHS

JAMES G. MEDLEY

James G. Medley, 66, of 63 Alta Vista Drive, Walton, died at 5:15 p. m. last Friday in St. Elizabeth Hospital. He had been a patient there for nine days.

He was a retired brakeman for the L&N Railroad, and was a native of Meade County.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Medley; a son, Robert J. Medley, of Independence; a brother, Joseph Medley of Detroit, and two sisters, Mrs. Henry Shur and Mrs. Robert Kaiser, both of Louisville.

Services were held at 11:00 a. m., Monday at the Chambers and Grubbs Funeral Home, Walton.

MRS. HAZEL LEE

Mrs. Hazel Lee, 61, of Verona, died of an apparent heart attack at 4:25 p. m., last Thursday in Booth Hospital, where she had been a patient for a week.

Her husband, Barton Lee, former employee of the Interlake Steel Corp., Newport, died in 1965.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Alma Boehm, Seattle, Wash.; a son, Paul Lee, Denver, Colo.; two brothers, Harold Snell of Williamsburg, Ky., and Clark Snell of Toledo, Ohio, and a sister, Mrs. Mildred Prichard, Whitesburg.

Hamilton Funeral Home, Verona, had charge of arrangements.

Jones visited Mr. Webster, Sunday; also Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chapman and the pastor at Concord, Franklin Lipscomb, of Taylor Mill.

Since getting older is about the only thing anyone can count on these days, it seems ridiculous for the younger generation to revolt against the very age group it will eventually join.

CONCORD

Mrs. Lindsey Webster, Reporter
Mrs. Cleve Marsh has returned home from the hospital.

L. E. Webster has returned home from St. Elizabeth Hospital. He had been there for 12 days. He suffered a heart attack. Two of my sisters came to see him Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McLaughling of Aurora, Ind., and Mrs. Joe Code of Walton. Vinson

LIVING IN HOPE

Lesson for September 29, 1968

Background Scriptures: Isaiah 61; Luke 2:22-32, Devotional Reading: Psalm 91; 14, 14-16.

Some time ago I was asked if I was an optimist or a pessimist. I found the question difficult to answer because it might be said that I am "provisionally pessimistic," but "ultimately optimistic." That is, in the short run I am like a pessimist, but in the long run I am like an optimist. I conclude that a situation is not very promising at all. Yet, in the long run I can see the same situation more brightly because of my faith in God's providence. Perhaps like little "Lucy" in the Peanuts cartoon I can say that I am "very optimistic about my pessimism."

One who hopes

Yet, the more we consider these two terms, the more it becomes clear that neither is particularly a Christian perspective. As followers of Christ, we are not called to be either optimistic or pessimistic, but to live in hope. There is a considerable difference even between "optimism" and "hope." Hope implies trust, reliance. The optimist's expectations focus on the inevitable goodness of the present, while the man who hopes places his trust in the assurance of the future.

Man, said Thomas Carlyle, "is based on hope. He has no other possession but hope." Others are somewhat less enchanted with it. H.L. Mencken, for one, called it "a pathological belief in the occurrence of the impossible." Philosopher Friedrich Nietzsche said it "is the worst of all evils, for it prolongs the torment of man." Ogden Nash writes it off as "dope" and Langdon terms it "a more genteel name for fear."

Materials of victory

There is a sense in which the detractors are quite right. By itself, hope is empty, but the Christian's trust is not in hope alone, but in God. This is different than a conviction that "everything will work out all right." Hope always allows for the many situations that turn into disappointment and tragedy. It does not deny their reality. It simply asks that we look beyond and trust in the ultimate fulfillment of God's purpose. Even the tragedies of this world can become the raw materials from which Christ can fashion his eventual victory.

We see this again and again in the life of Israel. The Hebrews returned from their Babylonian captivity to restore the nation of God once again. But in time, the restoration went sour. The high intentions of the people got sidetracked along the way like those of their forefathers. Thus the prophets began to look for the coming of the Messiah who would bring to fulfillment the hopes of Israel. Isaiah was one of the prophets who taught Israel to hope.

What about present?

Like the aged Simeon (Luke 2: 26-32), we see Jesus Christ as the fulfillment of that messianic expectation, a fulfillment that began with his coming and will continue to unfold until he comes again. Yet, some may say (as perhaps the people in Isaiah's time said) "Well, that's all very nice, but I'm living now. I appreciate what God has done in the past and what he will do in the future, but what about the present? That's where I am."

The answer is that those who live in the hope of what God will do in the future are freed to live victoriously in the present. Assured of the ultimate outcome, we can go about the business of living here and now. Even though we are unsure about tomorrow, we can be confident about eternity. By hope, we can on a rainy day in March look ahead to the glory of summer. That hope does not keep us from getting our feet wet or muddy, but we find in it the power to see that day through because we know that, beneath the silent earth, God's wonders are stirring us.

Hope in the future fulfillment of God's purpose is medicine for the present. As Isaiah's vision of a Christ to come enabled Israel to continue, so the reality of a Christ who has come enables us to live in hope.

Atoms and Apple Cores

Mark will be fourteen years old this month. He is very thoughtful these days. Many an hour is spent on the back lawn with watercolors and pad, mostly thinking or dreaming.

Boundless curiosity is his, and "why," a certain response to every answer he receives. Besides painting, he likes to hunt, swim, golf, read, and putter in the basement with test tubes. Only recently, girls have been included with rifles and missile shots as a favored topic of conversation.

He talks about God, too. In his pursuit of answers to the universe, he investigates family discussions that range from ethics to eternity, from atoms to apple cores.

It's small wonder that I thank God daily for His Church and its teachings. Its truths help me answer with assurance the questions Mark asks in his search for understanding.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a stronghold of spirit. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Rich called on Mr. and Mrs. Bluch Rich, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Melloh and son of Middletown, Ohio, called on Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wharton, Thursday evening. Mrs. Lella Wharton, who had been visiting here for a couple of weeks, accompanied them home.

Old friends and neighbors at Morning View, were glad to see Mrs. Lena Finnell, Mrs. Lida Rees and Mrs. Jessie Culbertson at church, Sunday morning. It was their home church for a long time.

We visited Mrs. Myrtle Deuser at the Northern Kentucky Baptist Home, Thursday evening, and she seemed in good spirits and said she was feeling pretty good.

Kenneth Shaw, who was recently married, is home on leave for several days and will soon be on his way to Germany. We wish him and all the boys the best of luck and a safe return.

Mr. and Mrs. Lathan Brinkley seem to be very pleased with life in the Northwest. They have purchased a home and Lathan has a good job in the lumber industry.

Mrs. Caroline Armstrong makes "us girls" ashamed of ourselves.

When I visited her recently, she was processing several quarts of beans which she had picked and packed.

Howard Frederick had a fall recently and was rushed to the hospital, but returned home where he is not able to get around alone.

Mrs. Emil Stien enjoyed a visit from her sister, Virgie, Wednesday. Watch next week's paper. Rev. Phillips will announce an interesting series of meetings beginning October 6th.

Letter To The Editor:

Walton, Kentucky
Sept. 21, 1968

Dear Editor,

Three cheers for the courageous soul that wrote that little article in the right hand corner of the paper, "Walton Must Be A Dirty Word," etc. Well, maybe there is a quick solution to this problem—change the name of the town to something like "Parkersville" or "Parkers-Town" in honor of the Pioneer coming into our backyard. Why shouldn't we jump on the Band Wagon, name "Fess Parker" Honorary Mayor of Walton—parade, "Parkersville." After all, we have a "Boone Lake" and a Beaver Road" and the local eatery could serve "Fess-Burgers" and we could even run stage coach service from Walton to Frontier Land. Remember the pioneer spirit, get out your coal oil lamps and iron kettles and your sun bonnets and really get the spirit—or we could end up named "Dodge City" as we have just about dodged everything coming our way—or "Ghost Town"—or even worse, "Death Valley." So come on folks—call a council meeting—they have one at the drop of a coonskin cap, and rename our town. Or, if this is too drastic for the dedicated souls, advertise—have match books, posters—with the location of our town printed up and they are bound to find us sooner or later—remember, it may be later than we think!

Marie Blizzard
Walton, Kentucky

P. S. In all seriousness and respect—to our little town—it might be a wise idea to form an advertising committee—Charles Wiley knows this line very well and lives close and why shouldn't all the business and young folks and out people grow and profit from this new venture—why should just Florence and Williamstown, on either side of us prosper—when a few ideas would really put this little village back on the map.

Sincerely,
Marie Blizzard

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hughes went on their vacation last week to Bloomington, Ind., and stopped at other places of interest. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Edrington, went down and stayed at the Hughes home and took care of things for them.

We were sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. George Smith of Georgetown, Ky. She was the wife of Bro. George Smith. We extend sympathy to Bro. Smith and son, George, in their loss.

We were sorry to hear of the passing of Mrs. Hazel Lee at Booth Hospital, Thursday.

Those from here who are in the hospital are: Mrs. Sam Cornett, Mrs. Lizzie Noel, and Jim Coyle. They are all doing better. We wish them all a speedy recovery.

We were glad to see Mrs. Ethel Webster and Mrs. Blanch Rich out of the hospital.

Joe Perkins, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Perkins, Sr., Verona, has completed his basic training at Ft. Benning, Ga., and has been sent to Ft. The Wyona King Circle met at the home of Mrs. Theora Locke on Thursday. Those present were: Adeline Reed, Flonnie Edrington, Rose Hamilton, Etta McManama, Nora Brashear, Gwyn Dunn, and the hostess, Mrs. Locke. They had a good meeting. It will be the last circle meeting as we are starting a new program the first of Oct. Each one enjoyed the refreshments of ice cream and cake, coffee and coke served by the hostess.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Sturgeon, who are entertaining a new baby boy, and to Mr. and Mrs. Gary Stephenson, who are entertaining a new baby daughter.

Elmer Richards was calling on H. D. Edrington, Friday.

Quite a few in our little town are sick with colds. We wish them all a speedy recovery.

Knits have made a large impact on the fashion scene in the last few years. Knits have grown in their popularity because they are comfortable to wear, easy to care for, wrinkle resistant, practical and fashionable.

In selecting knits, choose a garment that fits without stretching. Select the fiber content that will satisfy your need. Knits are now available in many fibers and weights—cotton, rayon, silk, wool, blends, and man-mades. Polyester knits have made the biggest recent splash in the market. A new blend of polyester and wool, usually 70 percent polyester and 30 percent wool, is widely used this fall. It has the look of an all-wool fabric with the care properties of a polyester.

As for care of knits, check the hang tag. Firm knits, double-knit, or bonded ones may be hung on a hanger. More open, lacy, or loose knits should be stored in a drawer. Some knits should be washed, others should be dry cleaned. The label should be your guide. The polyester knits usually suggest hand washing and the results are beautiful.

The wide use of knits has also brought about a whole new line of lingerie and foundation garments. Always wear a special taffeta slip just for knits for a smooth, sleek appearance. Bulky seams in foundation garments have frequently been replaced with flat "joints" that do not show under knits. Remember that the loveliest knit can be spoiled by seam ridges or clinging lingerie.

Knits are one of the easiest fabrics for the home sewer, too. There is a new leaflet that can be obtained from your Extension Office called "Fabric Tips," that offers additional tips for sewing on knits. If you would like a copy of this leaflet, call 586-6412 and I will send one to you.

Autumn is one of the best times to transplant woody plants for the home landscape. The growth of trees and shrubs slows down toward the end of summer and plants become dormant with the onset of cooler weather. Therefore, woody plants can be transplanted with less shock to the plant. Plants moved when in the actively growing stage lose an excessive amount of water unless special precautions are taken. With the exception of a few plants (azaleas, beech, flowering dogwood, hemlock, holly, Japanese maple, magnolia, rhododendron, sweetgum and tupelo) which are considered difficult to move, transplanting may be done in fall or spring. Difficult-to-move plants have a better chance of surviving if they are transplanted in the spring.

Most types of evergreens and large shade trees should be moved carrying a ball of soil covered tightly with a material such as burlap. Some small deciduous trees and shrubs can be moved "bare-root" if the digging and transplanting operations are done after the leaves drop (November or later). Plants which have been grown in containers have the advantage of transplanting well at any time, providing that their roots are well established in those containers.

If trees and shrubs are properly planted, chances for survival and growth are improved. Unfortunately, many soils consist of only a thin layer of topsoil and a heavy subsoil. When transplanting into a poor soil, a hole should be dug which is larger than the root system or ball which is to be placed into it. Part of the soil from the hole should be mixed with some of the organic matter (spagnum peat moss, Michigan peat moss, well sawdust or compost or leaf mold) at the rate of two parts of soil to one part of organic matter. About one cup of a 5-10-5 or similar analysis fertilizer should be added per bushel of soil mixture.

Before placing the plant in the hole, fill the hole partly with the soil mixture, then position the plant so that it will be at the same depth as it was prior to transplanting. Finish filling the hole with the soil mix and form a ridge over the perimeter of the hole with excess soil. The extra soil will form a reservoir for water applied to the soil surface. The ridge will eventually disappear as the soil around the roots settles. Close attention should be paid to watering ornamentals during the first season. The roots initially are restricted to a small soil volume which will dry out before the surrounding soil will. Water the plants thoroughly and as often as necessary to prevent the soil from drying out.

Shade trees more than one inch in diameter either should be staked or supported by guy wires. Supporting trees in this manner will avoid damaging the young roots as they grow into the surrounding soil. Those portions of the wires which wrap around the trunk should be padded with a material such as old garden hose. If this precaution is not observed, the trunk can be injured. The same procedure mentioned previously for transplanting ornamentals can also be used for spring planting.

TIME, LABOR AND EXPENSES

What is your time worth as manager of your dairy operation? One good way to answer this question is ask yourself what would it cost to hire a man to replace you. This would include a man that could make decisions which are profitable besides doing the physical labor. A recent survey revealed that this man would cost between $8,000 and $12,000 a year. If the man worked sixty hours a week and fifty weeks a year, his hourly wage would be between $3.00 and $4.00 an hour. Can you afford to buy corn and grind your dairy feed when we can bring you Purina Checkerboard Dairy 16% Checkers in bulk at approximately the same cost as the corn and supplement? If you have corn and have to take the time to load it, drive to town, grind it, and take it back home we will welcome the chance to try and trade with you for Purina Checkerboard Dairy 16% Pellets. COME IN AND LET'S FIGURE HOW LITTLE IT WILL COST TO SWITCH TO PURINA CHECKERBOARD DAIRY 16%, AND SAVE TIME, LABOR AND MONEY.

FACE FLY KILLERS AVAILABLE

Purina Dairy Spray Concentrate and Purina Dairy Spray Special have been doing an outstanding job of controlling face flies on dairy cows. These two products also KILL house flies, horn flies, stable flies and the "ole" horse fly. We also recommend that barns be sprayed with Purina Cygon 2E. This is a residual spray that lasts up to eight weeks. We also carry a complete line of dairy dust as well as face fly killers for beef cattle, horses, swine and poultry. COME IN AND LET'S TALK OVER YOUR FLY CONTROL NEEDS.

ATTENTION BROOD COW AND BABY BEEF OPERATORS

Want more for your feeder calves this fall? Have you heard about Pre-conditioned calves and how they are bringing $2.00 to $3.00 more per hundred? We have a pre-conditioning program that we would like to explain to you. GIVE US A CALL.

Pioneers Triumph Over Dixie, 27-6

Charlie Siffel ran for three big touchdowns and 151 yards last Friday night as Simon Kenton dominated the Little Colonels of Dixie Heights by a 27-6 count.

In the first period, Dixie fumbled a Simon Kenton punt on its own 29-yard line and on the next play Siffel went in for the score.

Dave Barnes' 77-yard run pulled Dixie to within point in the second quarter but after that the Pioneer defense tightened up.

Chuck Tolliver threw a 29-yard scoring pass to end Jay Lehman for the Pioneers' second TD. This play was set up by Ray Siffel's 14-yard run.

Brother Charlie then plunged over from the one in the third period, after Don Marsh had recovered a Dixie fumble.

Simon Kenton's coach, Jim Jenkins, singled out Marsh, Landrum, Harris and Jacobs as defensive stars.

Siffel wound up the scoring by going 44 yards off tackle. Just prior to that, he had bulled his way for 16 yards on the same play.

In total yardage, Dixie Heights had 331 to Simon Kenton's 339. The Colonels amassed 232 yards in the air but just 99 on the ground. On the other hand, rushing was the best part of the Pioneers' game as they drove for 268 yards.

For Dixie, it was the fourth loss in five games (they defeated Ludlow), while Simon Kenton's record now stands at 3-1-1.

On Friday of this week, the Pioneers meet Lloyd at Erlanger.

Wa-Na Club Meets Tonight

The Wa-Na Woman's Club will hold its October meeting tonight at the home of Mrs. Chester Sturgeon, with Mrs. Malcolm Simpson as co-hostess.

The program will pertain to "Concern for Youth," with Robert F. Greene, Judge of Juvenile Court in Boone County, as the guest speaker. Mrs. Harry Henson has the spiritual guidance.

Walton-Verona PTA Meets

The first meeting of the PTA for this year was held at the Walton-Verona High School. We had a good representation on the part of parents, but there is always room for more. Come to the next meeting and find out how we can help our schools. October is membership enrollment month.

At the Monday meeting a motion was voted on and passed to appropriate four film strip viewers and a projector for the schools.

The Fall Festival will be held on Saturday, October 26, at the Walton Gymnasium. Help, help, help, is needed.—Pub. Osm.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT STAFFORDSBURG

Rev. Frank Phillips announces the following special services at the Staffordsburg United Methodist Church in the spirit of ecumenism, that all may better understand fellow Christians.

Beginning on Sunday evening, Oct. 6, Rev. Chase Jennings of the Northern Kentucky Baptist Missions, will be the speaker.

On October 13, Rev. Robert G. Ricks of Runyon Memorial; Oct. 20, Rev. R. Planck of St. Stephens Episcopal; Oct. 27, Rev. R. Giesler of Zion Evangelical Lutheran; Nov. 3, Rev. Cyril Eriston of St. Patrick Roman Catholic; Nov. 10, Rev. Frank C. School of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed; Nov. 17, Rev. Frank Leeper of Brucewood Presbyterian.

These ministers will outline their beliefs and answer questions from the audience. You are cordially invited to attend these services.

Installation of OES Officers

The installation of officers for Walton Chapter, No. 161, Order of Eastern Star, will be held Monday, October 7, at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Flo Napier will be installed as Worthy Matron, and William Napier as Worthy Patron. All members are invited and visitors are welcome.

Big Burley Tobacco Festival at Carrollton

Beautiful girls, prancing horses, colorful floats, marching bands, and prize-winning Burley tobacco will feature the annual Carrollton Tobacco Festival, October 10-11-12.

Ten young ladies—the pick of five counties—will compete for Carrollton Burley Princess in the opening event Thursday evening, beginning at 8:00, in the auditorium of Carroll County High School. The winner will receive an all-expense paid trip to the Kentucky Burley Belle contest in Lexington, next summer.

Friday afternoon, a Burley show with over $300 in prize money, will be held at the Carroll County Courthouse.

The Festival will reach its peak Saturday when the activities will begin with a giant parade which will begin at 10:00. Many high school bands, including the Walton-Verona High School Band, the Burley Princess and her court, riding clubs, and numerous floats in the fall motif will be in the parade.

Following the parade, several contests for both young and old will be featured with Psychedelic bands, Country music bands entertaining, and followed by a street dance Saturday night.

Y-Teen Day Set For October 12th

Registered YWCA Clubs of Kentucky will hold their 10th annual Y-Teen Day, October 12, at Jessamine County High School, Nicholasville. Registration begins at 8:30 a. m.

This Y-Teen Day gives the registered clubs of Kentucky the opportunity to get together, present a program, exchange ideas, have Christian fellowship, and make new friends.

Officers will be elected to plan and conduct next year's Y-Teen Day.

Marsha West, Montgomery County High School, president, will preside, with assistance of Mrs. Wesley Hall, president of the adult advisory council of the registered clubs of Kentucky.

The keynote speaker will be the Rev. Dr. John B. Astles, minister of Lakeside Presbyterian Church, Ft. Mitchell. His topic will be the theme for the day, "Are We Listening?" and "God and Inner Beauty."

Rev. Astles is a native of Paris, Ky., the son of the late Rev. Robert William Wynn Astles, a Presbyterian minister who served as a pastor in Louisville.

Workshops will be conducted in the afternoon, beginning at 1:30, using the theme, "Are We Listening?" and "God and Inner Beauty." Local workshop leaders will be Mrs. Ted Richardson, Mrs. Gene Kelly, Miss Elaine Hall, Mrs. Kathleen Wiley, and Mrs. Wesley Hall.

"Get-Acquainted" Coffee By the Taylor Mill PTA

The Taylor Mill PTA sponsored a "get-acquainted" coffee for the mothers of all new and first grade students on Thursday morning, September 19, in the school cafeteria.

Edgar Baker, principal, along with Mrs. Malcolm Fletcher, president, introduced the first grade and new teachers to those in attendance.

Mrs. Kenneth Kelly and Mrs. Bernard Hungler, social chairman and co-chairman, and Mrs. Joseph Bishop and Mrs. Charles True, hospitality chairman and co-chairman, were in charge of the breakfast.

BAKE SALE, SATURDAY

The Women of the Richmond Presbyterian Church will hold a bake sale on Saturday, October 5, at their home store next to the Dixie State Bank, Walton.

The sale of homemade bakery goods will begin at 10:00 a. m.

It is never too late to give up your prejudices.—Thoreau

MASONIC VISITATION AT CRITTENDEN LODGE

On Saturday, October 5 at 7:45 p. m., Crittenden Lodge, No. 694, F&AM, will host the other twelve lodges of District 27, composed of Carroll, Gallatin, Grant and Owen Counties.

This is the third in a series of monthly visitation meetings where by all lodges in the district visit a host lodge in turn. The speaker will be Brother L. M. Gabriel, 33rd degree, Registrar of Indiana Consistory, Covington. Bro. Gabriel is known by all Masons in this area to be a dynamic speaker and his message will be of vital importance to Masons today.

Circuit Judge James R. Ford, District Deputy, especially urges all nearby District Deputies to attend these meetings for ideas and inspirations to take back to their respective districts. All Master Masons are cordially invited.

Simon Kenton High School PTA to Meet

The Simon Kenton High School PTA will meet at 8:00 p. m. on Monday, October 7 in the school cafeteria.

Plans for the forthcoming year will be presented and voted on at this time. The faculty will be introduced by Harold Williams, principal.

All parents and friends of youth are urged to attend this meeting. This is your opportunity to meet the people who will guide and instruct your children during the coming school year.

Officers and chairmen are: Mrs. Bernard Ballinger, president; Mrs. Vincent Hartje, vice president; Mrs. Fred Welzel, treasurer; Mrs. Neal Elliott, secretary; Harold Williams, auditing; Mrs. Malcolm Fletcher, by-laws; Mrs. Harold Sternberg, character and spiritual; Mrs. Howard Frederick, cultural arts; Mrs. Wesley Hall, Founders Day; Mrs. Charles Hilligas, health and safety; Mrs. Leonard Byrd, legislation; Mrs. Charles Williams, library; Mrs. George Petzinger, magazines; Mrs. D. R. Cooper, membership; Mrs. Herb Works, rural services; Mrs. Conrad Richardson, teacher appreciation; Mrs. John E. Dorgan, ways and means; FHA, under the direction of Mrs. Helen McElroy, social and hospitality, and filling in for Mrs. Floyd Robinson, who recently underwent surgery, Kathy Ballinger, publicity.

Plans For Fire Prevention Week

This is the week before Fire Prevention Week. Let's all be thinking of the things that need to be done around our homes, public buildings, and business places.

Check heating systems, be sure all gas vents and chimneys are open; get rid of paper and trash in attics and basements.

"We have been very fortunate," said Fire Chief Chick Worthington "in the Walton-Verona area since last Fire Prevention Week. Let's keep it that way and make every week Fire Prevention Week."

"We were able to get Mr. Conover from the State Fire Marshal's Office to put on a program for the school at 2:00 p. m., Friday. It is hoped much can be learned from this program. All kindergarten children are cordially invited to attend Open House next week."

Fire Protection dues are due as of October 1. They may be mailed in or given to any fireman, who will give you a receipt. The Chief said, "Bills will be sent, late as usual, so if you have paid already, disregard your notice."

Firemen Called to Verona

The Walton Volunteer Fire Department responded to a call on Monday at noon on Brown Road, off Route 14, Verona. It was reported that a child playing with matches started the fire in a closet. Damage was held to a minimum.

The house was occupied by a Pemberton family and owned by Nell Hamilton.

The firemen remained to assist Mrs. Pemberton with the cleanup job.

Boone County GOP Chairmen Named

Boone County Republican Campaign Chairman, Donald Brown, has announced the appointment of special chairmen and chairwomen for each candidate.

Otis Readnor, Walton, and Mrs. Ethel Daugherty, Union, were named to lead Mr. Nixon's campaign in the county. Working as chairman and chairwoman for the candidacy of Marlow Cook are John Jacobsen, Burlington, and Mrs. Analee Ferrante, Florence. Leading Gene Snyder's campaign will be Don Shadrach, Florence, and Mrs. Lucille Brakefield, Walton.

All chairmen reported that they are busy scheduling campaign activities. The recent fund-raising dinner held at Boone Aire Country Club was reported to have been an overwhelming success with 140 persons in attendance.

County Campaign Chairwoman, Mrs. Carole Palmer, Florence, reported that Republican Headquarters at 276 Main St., Florence, is now open six days a week from 11:00 to 3:00. Republican women of Boone County are serving as volunteers to staff the headquarters. All Boone Countyans are invited to visit the headquarters before the election.

GOSHEN HOMECOMING

Goshen Christian Church, Piner, Bracht Road at Piner, will have its annual homecoming on Sunday, October 6th.

Bible School begins at 10:00 a. m. and morning worship services at 11:00 a. m. There will be a basket lunch at noon and a special homecoming service at 2:00 p. m.

The day's activities will be climaxed by the 8:00 p. m. service.

Kenton Elementary PTA

The Kenton Elementary P.T.A. held its first fall meeting Sept. 19 in the school gymnasium.

Mrs. Vivian Armstrong, president, presented the executive board. F. D. Caton, principal, presented the faculty and staff. He was the principal speaker of the evening.

The membership drive was officially opened, and each parent is urged to join and support the PTA.

Most of us would be delighted to pay as we go if we could only catch up from paying where we've gone.

Boone Stamp Interest Hits Peak at Walton

The sale of the Daniel Boone stamps at the Walton Post Office last Friday exceeded any and all sales of previous commemorative stamps. Postmistress Mildred Y. Cleek reported that the regular quota was sold out by 3:30 p. m. A new supply arrived Saturday and the continued requests for the "Frontier Stamp" depleted the supply quickly. Reports are that no large quantities were sold but many, many persons wanted one to mail a letter and some to keep. If you failed to get a Daniel Boone stamp last week, you may do so by calling at the Post Office window.

Rummage Sale, Saturday

There will be a rummage sale on Saturday, October 5, from 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m., in the basement of Independence Christian Church, Independence.

Kenton County Fair Association to Meet

Cecil Cummins, President of the Kenton County Fair Association, Inc., has announced that a meeting of the association will be held on Monday, October 7 at 8:00 p. m. in the RECC Building on Walton-Nicholson Road. Everyone is welcome to attend.

This is the first meeting of this group since the 1968 Fair.

Candidates For School Boards

Petitions on file in Boone County for members of the Walton Independent School Board are as follows: Donald J. Rosendell, Daniel D. Hance, Dr. William M. Waller, Arthur Doggett, Dolores Sargent, and Robert Cogley.

Two members are to be elected.

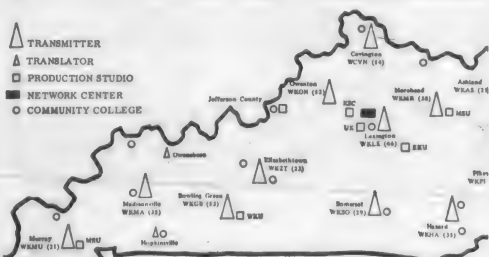

In Kenton County, Common School District I (one vacancy), W. W. Worthington, Common District II (one vacancy), George C. Richardson, Dora M. Ferguson, and Edgar V. Wilson, Jr. Common District V (one vacancy), Robert Scott and Fred Padgett.

Common Association For Community Advancement

According to George W. (Ab) Ryan and Ed Hardin, Walton area business and professional people are being asked to join in a common association for community advancement. A meeting was held at First Federal Savings and Loan Association, U. S. 25, 1 mile South of Walton, on Wednesday, October 2, at 8:00 p. m.

The University of Kentucky Community College System is an integral part of the University, with the same standards of admission and operation as apply to the parent institution.

Know more about your state and speak up for Kentucky.

KENTUCKY educational television

Gov. Louis B. Nunn pushed the button that began Kentucky's Educational television program last Monday, Sept. 23. Eight transmitters are now in operation with four more to begin operation soon. The Taylor Mill transmission is scheduled to begin in December.

Students at the Walton-Verona schools are taking part in Kentucky's ETV program.

"This program is especially designed for mid-elementary classes" according to Principal Ernest Hahn of the local school system. "It is certainly a fine program which we have entered into."

A television is located in each of the classrooms at Verona. There are 19 programs available. Major local interest is in the science, social studies, language and music fields. Walton students do use some of these programs but not as extensively as grades four, five and six. There is also available a history class for the 11th grade.

Prior to Kentucky's ETV program, these programs used by Walton-Verona came from Purdue University via satellite. Mr. Hahn reports that the reception is much better than before, since the transmission station is closer.

WKON, Channel 52, is located at Owenton. The tower is on the property at the high school, just east of the City of Owenton.

Home viewers may also pick up these broadcasts if they have a UHF television. Evening classes and programs are scheduled to begin in January.

At least eight years of planning and research have gone into the ETV program in Kentucky. There are still a few minor problems to iron out but basically the program is doing a fine job. Tune in Channel 52 and see what your children are studying in school.

NEW TELEPHONE BUILDING

L. T. Utz, vice president of the Consolidated Telephone Company, has announced plans for the construction of new central office building in Florence. Contracts were signed September 20 for the structure which will cost $433,000. The land, acquired recently, cost another $83,000.

Growth of the area served by the Consolidated Company is the prime factor in building, Mr. Utz said. He pointed out that nearly a fifty percent gain in the number of stations was made in the past five years. At the end of 1962 there were 7,108 stations. It grew to 10,538 stations by the end of 1967.

The new building, in its initial stage, will be a single story structure measuring about 80x80 feet, and will contain a full basement. It is expected to be completed in mid-1969 and its dial equipment placed in service later in the same year. Design will permit at least two additional expansion projects as area growth continues, Mr. Utz said.

Although the building will front on Girard Street, the newly acquired land is continuous through the block to Shelby Street. It has 100 feet on both streets.

The present leased building is at 11 Girard Street and contains the business office as well as the central office equipment.

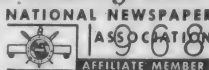

Designers of the new building are Flak, Rinehart & Hall, McAllister, Stockwell, and the general contractor is Robert T. Klensch, Inc.

Willing Workers Meet

The regular meeting of the Willing Workers Class was held in Fellowship Hall of Walton Christian Church, Thursday, Sept. 26. All enjoyed a delicious pot-luck supper after which the business meeting took place.

Mrs. Lillian Acree had charge of the devotional. She chose as her subject the character Jonah and his many experiences and opportunities to do the will of God. She made the interesting statement that God does not always choose the best person to do his will, but is interested about his works.

Those present were: Mrs. Lillian Acree, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fulton, Wallace Grubbs, Mrs. John Gault, Miss Mary Rensler, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Rouse, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whitson, Miss Mary West.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Huey have returned from a trip through the West.

Mrs. Sue Gutzett of Covington, is visiting her son, Charles Watson, and Mrs. Watson of New Salem Road. Mr. Watson is recuperating from recent surgery at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Charles (Junior) Baker of South Main Street, entered St. Elizabeth Hospital on Wednesday and will undergo surgery, possible Friday.

Mrs. Georgia Bedinger of South Main St., fell at her home last week and broke a bone in her ankle. She is recovering at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Clements visited their son, AMN Richard Clements at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, the past week.

Callers in the home of Mrs. Ada Moore of South Main, the past week were: Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Platt of Green Road, Tuesday; Mrs. Finella Adams of Walton-Nicholson Road, and on Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Maitland Baker of Locust Street.

Crusader Class Meets

Mr. and Mrs. James Spencer were hosts to the Crusader Sunday School Class of the Walton Christian Church at their home on Alta Vista Drive, Sunday evening.

Mrs. Margaret Jamieson gave the devotional, and Russell Groger, president, presided over the meeting.

The hosts served donuts and cider or coffee to the following members, who enjoyed a social hour after the meeting: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Atterkirk, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Henson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Groger, Miss Mary K. Black, Miss Esther Snyder, Mrs. Margaret Jamieson, Joseph Milner, Gwen Milner and Neil Spencer.

Area Homemakers Meeting

Last Tuesday, the Northern Kentucky Area Extension Homemakers Association met at the Lookout House, Covington.

Eleven ladies from the Walton Homemakers Club attended the meeting and luncheon. They were: Mrs. Donald McMillian, president; Mrs. Edward Lay, Mrs. Joseph Sargent, Mrs. Nelson Popham, Mrs. Homer Winburn, Mrs. William Gibson, Jr., Mrs. James Burden, Mrs. Robert Slayback, Mrs. Rich Cain, Mrs. Eddie Whaley, and Mrs. Lawrence Teaters.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sturgeon of Beaver Road, returned from a motor trip to Hot Springs, Ark. Enroute home they stopped Saturday in Nashville, Tenn., and attended the Grand Ole Opera show.

Those calling on Mrs. David Mason, Sunday afternoon were: Mrs. Joe Northcutt, Charles Northcutt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson of Florence, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Winn and Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Bingham of Crittenden.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bonar and family of School Court, enjoyed a pleasant weekend at Cumberland Lake.

Mrs. Savella Parker returned to her home here after spending a week with her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Parker, of Morehead, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson spent Sunday afternoon at Sanders. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whitson of Walton-Nicholson Road, spent the weekend with their daughter, Mrs. Jack Rosenfeldt, Mr. Rosenfeldt and family of Taylor, Mich.

Mrs. Alva Falls was a recent guest of her niece, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Stacey, of St. Matthews, near Louisville.

Mrs. Ross Howard and children of Covington, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Howard of Church Street.

Mrs. A. C. Marsh continues to improve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gullion, Verona, with whom Mr. and Mrs. Marsh reside.

A Need For The Fourth "R"

M. Gene Snyder
U. S. Congressman
Fourth District, Kentucky

If it is true, as many knowledgeable people say these days, that the breakdown of law and order in America today can be traced to the lack of respect our young people have for authority, then the recommendation of some Montgomery County, Maryland, Circuit Court Justices carries a lot of merit.

They firmly believe that we should supplement the three R's of our educational system with a fourth "R"—namely, Respect for the law. What's more they would put such a course in the public school curriculum and require that Mrs. Kleo Vallandingham is at home on Alta Vista Drive, after being confined to Christ Hospital, Cincinnati. She sustained a back injury in a fall at the Cincinnati Zoo.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Norris and daughter, Janet, are residents in the apartment of Mrs. Ada Moore on South Main Street. The Norris family moved here from Leitchfield, Ky.

Miss Ceryle Henson spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Henson, of Richwood Road. Miss Henson is enrolled as a freshman at Villa Madonna Academy, Covington.

Mrs. Ed Jones had as guests on Monday, Sept. 23, her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jones of Norwood, Ohio.

Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Russell and Miss Rachel Acree returned this week from Kansas City, Kan., where they were delegates from the Walton Christian Church and attended the National Convention of Disciples of Christ Churches.

Miss Cindy Alphin, a student at Pinkerton High School, Midway, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Lucille Alphin, and her sister, Tracy, of Locust Street.

Mrs. Vada Lawrence and children and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans, Sr., spent Sunday with their son, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans, Jr. of Lexington.

Mrs. Goldie Wood and Mrs. Ed Jones were afternoon visitors of Miss Alicia Neumeister, who is a resident of the Senior Citizens Home, Nicholson.

it be taught from elementary grade students on up. A large part of the proposed course would be given over to field trips to see the courts and the police departments in action. They wouldn't want to frighten the children by showing them what would happen if they violate the law. Contrary, they feel that such a course would induce the children to learn to love the law.

The Judges would involve the courts, the County Bar Association, the State Attorney's Office and the Police Departments of the suburban communities by having them demonstrate their various functions. Then, too, they would have the students draw up class constitutions since the constitutional form is the source of all statutory law. After drafting constitutions, they would have the youngsters set up moot courts and lawmaking bodies.

It is obvious that such a course would be far more effective and comprehensive than the textbook course which is offered at about the ninth grade level now. It will be interesting to see how our young people take to this fourth "R," but there can be no doubt that respect for the law is just as important in this day and age as readin', 'ritin', and 'rithmetick.

If such a course is taught in the public schools, I would have my own recommendation about a lesson which should be included.

It is part of a statement by Joseph A. Scerra, Commander-in-Chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, in the July issue of the VFW magazine. Here in part is what he had to say: "It has been said over and over again that ours is a government of laws and not of men. Yet no law is self-operative. Enforcement is not inherent in the laws of any statute. Men enact our laws. Men interpret and apply them. And men enforce them.

"Who are these men? They are the policemen. They are the official representatives of 'The People'. The trouble with us today is that we have forgotten who 'The People' are.

"They are not the criminals. They are not the anti-American demonstrators or the draft dodgers. They are not the destructive and militant dissenters who hate all things American. They are that vast and silent majority of decent human beings who pay pyramiding taxes to support these drones. These are 'The People' for whom policemen daily risk their lives to provide protection under the law.

"This hard-working, tax-paying, law-abiding majority is this nation. It is they who have the greater right to be heard—and the greater duty to speak out. It is 'of them', 'by them', and 'for them' that this government exists. One of the essential functions of any government is to protect decent citizens from those who violate their laws.

"Police officers are official agents of 'The People' to carry out this purpose of self government in their behalf. Abuse them and you abuse the nation."

This is but one of the many lessons in this article by Commander-in-Chief Scerra, and if ever we add the Fourth R—Respect for Law—to the school curriculum, his observations and recommendations will be a good starting place for the course.

20 YEARS AGO

Thursday, September 30, 1948

A donkey ball game will be played with members of the Rotary and Lions Clubs making up the teams, and sponsored by the Rotary Club for the benefit of the Walton playground. The Rotarians lineup will be something like this: Powers Conrad, C. W. Thompson, R. M. Hall, Glenn Edens, Louis Schwab, John Meador, John Wood, Wallace Grubbs, Don Hopkins, and a back-up force of Jesse Callen, Ellis Jack, Ellis Hopperton, and Walter Vest. The opposing Lions are expected to be Jack Berkshire, Lloyd Yates, Al Warner, O. J. Struve, Raymond Brewster, Chick Worthington, Frank DeMoisey, and Jimmy Vest, with bench strength from Roland Glenn, Charles Carlisle, Charles Prather, Ab Ryan, Charles Finnell, and Sam Hudson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stephenson and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Ambrose were visiting with Mrs. Luella Watson of near Walton, Sunday. Little Rusty Burgess spent last Sunday with his aunt, Mrs. Walter Johnson, of Verona.

Mrs. Sally Day, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carpenter and daughters were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merrit Jack.

Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Welsh, Sr. had as a guest the past week, her sister, Mrs. Louise Cunningham, of Dayton, Ohio. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Deatherage and children of Sanders. Sunday guests were Glenn Shelton of Dayton, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Bolington and daughter, Betty June, of Elsmere, and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Welsh.

Mr. & Mrs. Ed Elmore and family entertained over the weekend, Roy Glasgow of Houston, Texas.

Roger Hoffman, son of Rev. and Mrs. George Hoffman, has returned to Eastern State College, Richmond, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lusby and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Lusby.

Asa M. Rouse and children, Ann Carolyn, Henry, and Ellen Louise, have returned to their home in Utica, N. Y., after having visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Rouse.

Mr. & Mrs. Leo Flynn and family and Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Flynn and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sexton of Erlanger.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Vallingham were the Monday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stone.

Little Miss Lynelle Flynn is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Summey, at Nicholson.

Mrs. Richard Howard has returned home after having spent several months with her son, M. R. Howard, and Mrs. Howard of San Diego, Calif., and her daughter, Mrs. Stanley Kacaba, Sgt. Kacaba and son, and another of her daughters, Mary Howard, who has been in California for the past year. Mrs. Howard was accompanied home by the Kacabas and Miss Howard. Enroute home, they stopped in San Bernardino, Calif., to see Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson.

Rev. and Mrs. George Hoffman had as weekend guests recently, their son, George Hoffman, of Minneapolis, Minn., and their daughter, Emma Louise Hoffman, of Dayton, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Landers and daughter, Evelyn, of Franklin, Ohio, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Breenden, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. George Palmer and son spent Sunday with Mrs. Daisy Richardson and Miss Helen Richardson.

Mrs. J. B. Richardson, Miss Nannie Ballinger and Wayne Richardson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Finnell in Hamilton, Ohio. Miss Ballinger plans to make an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jean "Fox" DeMoisey (nee Verna Lee Walton) are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby boy.

Mrs. Jessie Ritchey of Bloomington, Ind., spent several days the past week with her father, W. B. Johnson.

Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Mann have returned from a trip East, which included Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Md., Wilmington, Del., Richmond and Williamsburg, Va., and other places of interest enroute.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones returned this week from a visit in Pennsylvania, where they visited relatives of Mr. Jones.

Let us be thankful for the fools. But for them the rest of us could not succeed.—Mark Twain Ryland Heights PTA Meets—The first meeting of the Ryland Heights PTA was held in the school auditorium, with Mrs. Donald Frank, president, presiding. Mrs. Orville Wales gave the devotion. One of her first duties as president was to introduce Gaynor Caldwell as new principal of the school. Mr. Caldwell had been assistant principal at Simon Kenton High School.

October 11 was given as the date for the Fall Festival, to be held at the school from 5:00 to 9:00 p. m. Mrs. Ben Payne, chairman, and Mrs. Fred Watts, co-chairman of ways and means committee, announced there would be games, a country store, a spook house, a "white elephant" sale, home made bakery goods, and candy and prizes. The cafeteria will be opened to serve sandwiches and drinks. "Respect for God In Our Homes, Schools and In Our Country," was the subject of the guest speaker, Rev. H. Riley James, Jr., pastor of East Side Church of the Nazarenes.

Meat Claims 5% of Income
Today, 200 million Americans are spending almost five percent of their disposable annual income for meat, the Livestock Breeder Journal reports. It adds that an annual average of 174 pounds of meat—beef, veal, pork, and lamb—is consumed per person.

Letter To The Editor:

There is a rumor going around town—and I would like to believe it is only a rumor—that some of our citizens are actually against the location of Frontier Worlds here. It seems one of their arguments is that it will probably force the issue of sewage. Why do we have to be forced to do anything that is good for the community? I know of at least one other small town that tried several times to get sewers in but were fought at every turn by some of the same kind of die-hards we have here. In the end, the State Health Dept. stepped in and said, "You will." Can't these people see the health hazards we have here? There are places in this town that in hot weather you can hardly walk by. The old fashioned out-houses were more sanitary than some of the plumbing here now. I wonder how these people ever went along with progress enough to accept electricity, radio and TV, city water or gas. Why didn't they just keep their coal and wood stoves, cisterns, and coal oil lamps? But no, those were conveniences that didn't put them out any. These people's pretext of being proud of our town is a little hard to accept when they don't want to see the town grow. How can you be proud of a town that just sits and does nothing? We are one of the oldest towns in Kentucky but do we have to stay the smallest and dearest? We have a heritage to be proud of. Why not capitalize on it instead of throwing it away? There have been companies that wanted to locate here as far back as I can remember, beginning with a Mack shirt factory years ago, but every time someone with so-called authority manages to stop it. Let's not show our ignorance this time. Let's welcome the chance to build and grow into a bigger and better place for ourselves and our children. Maybe, then, they can get decent jobs at home and locate here with their families instead of leaving so they can live. I don't happen to be one of the influential ones, so all I can do is express my opinion.

Tax Money Wasted On Globe Trotting

By M. Gene Snyder U. S. Congressman 4th District, Kentucky

All of us need constant reminding of how many ridiculous ways there are in Washington to waste money. Two of the prize examples are found in the Commerce Department and in what some people call "The Foggy Bottom Syrup Factory"—another way of saying State Department.

Recent hearings before a House Appropriations Subcommittee indicate the U. S. Travel Service and its director should have a prize for unconsciousness. The Travel Service is part of the Commerce Department and is supposed to be spending your tax dollars to lure foreigners to these shores as tourists.

This year its director blandly asked Congress for $4.7 million, an increase of $1.7 million over what he was given last year. He added he had been proud to receive the title of National Salesman of the Year from a sales club. The subcommittee chairman could only comment that this was a "pretty sorry record for the National Salesman of the Year."

Over in the State Department, meantime, a group of giveaway artists banded together to perform a service known as "Mutual Education and Cultural Exchange." This little program cost the taxpayers well over $7 million and, in reality, should have been named the U. S. Travel Service because all it did was bankrupt professors, students, and "specialists" in their globe-girdling travels.

For example, one Zollie M. Maynard, a former driver training instructor from Florida, received the goodly sum of $21,438 to help the King of Jordan organize youth centers and athletic programs.

An assistant professor of physical education at an Hawaiian college got $1,697 of your tax dollars to "conduct demonstrations and clinics for volleyball coaches" in Poland.

A retired Air Force colonel from Texas dragged down $3,100 of your dollars to teach space medicine in Columbia and Peru, neither of which is notably involved in the space race.

Then there's the associate professor of law at Georgetown University in Washington, who will be basking in Ankara, Turkey, with $6,223 tax dollars to write a book on the law of public and private investment in Turkey.

And the law had a big year in the State Department. Former Supreme Court Justice Clark picked up nearly $6,000 to junket thru New Zealand, Australia, Japan, Hong Kong, Singapore, Malaysia, Indonesia, and Thailand, where among other functions he was to "meet and discuss mutual interests with his peers."

Chief Justice and Mrs. Earl Warren, not to be outdone, took a "round the world" junket at your expense. Mrs. Warren picking up just over $3,000 of your dollars to "discuss women's voluntary welfare activities" in countries like Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Poland, where the Communist rulers are they already know how to take care of everybody's welfare.

While the judges were gone, so was the track coach at Central State College in Ohio, who got $15,814 to lecture track instructors in Zambia. And while Mrs. Warren lectured on welfare in Poland, the University of Delaware basketball coach was pocketing $2,825 to lecture basketball coaches in the same country.

Meantime, a member of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission got much more than many Americans earn in a year ($8,863) to give a few boxing demonstrations in the Dominican Republic and in Trinidad.

It required, believe it or not, 136 pages of hearings just to list those junketeers the committee turned up. Among those was Eli Schwarz, a college professor of finance. He was paid to lecture abroad on "U. S. fiscal policy."

Treatments on lawns this fall (October) can help control broad-leaf weeds next year. Some of the weeds are dandelion, plantain, mustards, wild garlic and the like.

Recommended materials (one of the following) are: 2,4-D, 2,4-D and Silvex, 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T or 2,4-D and Banvel. These are sold under various trade names as single materials (2,4-D for instance) or combinations (2,4-D and Silvex).

They should be applied as sprays according to directions on the labels. Care should be taken to avoid drift, particularly if hose-end sprays are used.

Crabgrass and foxtail are in evidence now, but good control can't be easily obtained now because of lateness of the season. Hold off treatment for these until next spring. Fertilize and get a good stand of bluegrass, so they can compete better next spring.

Dallis grass, goosegrass, and other lawn pests can be controlled reasonably easily by spring pre-emergence applications, as can be foxtail and crabgrass. Thin or bare areas should be chopped and seeded now to get grass established.

Extend Invitation

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Portwood, Verona Road, extend an invitation to Fess Parker to come to Walton. Mention has been made of Frontier Worlds being in Boone County, near Walton, but no mention has been made by Walton citizens to invite this celebrity to come to Walton for a visit. He has visited other towns in Kentucky.

The more interest shown to Mr. Parker the more he will want to become a part of our community. This is the opportunity we have been waiting for, as citizens.

Come, visit us, and get better acquainted.

LISTENING?

Lesson for October 6, 1968

Background Scriptures: Hebrews 1 through 8, Deuteronomy 18:15-18; Hebrews 2:14-18.

Some time ago I saw a skit in which there is a man who is saying, "I've lost God! I can't find him!" But a friend takes the distraught man by the arm and says, "Don't get excited; just sit down, be calm, and try to remember where you had him last."

This little skit is illustrative of the situation in which many people find themselves today. While a small contingent of theologians has proposed that God is dead, others have countered, saying, in effect, "No, it's just that he has been temporarily misplaced!" Where as in other times men have seemed preoccupied with the experience of his presence, it is the sense of his absence that troubles many today. As some have put it, "Currently, God is conspicuous by his absence!"

The elusive one

Before you write this off as simply some new twist of contemporary theology, remember that this is a very ancient emotion. The Psalms are full of exasperated cries for God. At one point, the Prophet Isaiah cries out: "Truly, thou art a God who hidest thyself" (Isaiah 45:15). But nowhere is the theme more poignantly stated than in Job 23 where the tormented man cries: "Oh that I knew where I might find him, that I might come even to his seat." No matter where he has looked, God has seemed to elude him. "Behold, I go forward, but he is not there; and backward, but I cannot perceive him; on the left hand I seek him, but I cannot behold him; I turn to the right hand, but I cannot see him." Even Jesus reached out for the assurance of God's presence when on the cross he repeated the ancient words of the Psalmist: "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?"

That's God, all right!

In C. E. Montagu's novel, Rough Justice, (Doubleday, Page and Company, 1926) a father has asked his son whether he believes in God. The boy replies uncertainly that sometimes he feels "Something" stirring within him, some unexplainable, yet undeniable presence. When he finishes, his father exclaims: "That's God all right!" His son had discovered that one doesn't have to search to the ends of the earth, memorize the right creed, join the correct church, practice the right ritual, or express his experience in the right words. He didn't have to search for God at all, because God, it turned out, was the one who did the searching.

We do not find him, but from time to time we allow him to find us. It is not God who has been misplaced, but we. We are the elusive, slippery ones. We are the ones who, like the Prodigal Son, leave the Father's house, break off all communication and go into the far country.

The relentless God

Yet it is a relentless God who pursues us. When Adam hid himself in the Garden, it was God who came looking for him. When Jonah fled to escape him, God followed wherever he went. Like a shepherd, says Isaiah, he tends his flock and moves heaven and earth to bring back the lost.

As the writer of Hebrews makes clear, then, it is not God who breaks off the dialogue. "In many and various ways God spoke of old to our fathers by the prophets; but in these last days he has spoken to us by a Son..." (Hebrews 1:1-2) RSV God continues to speak now as always. This is what Dag Hammarskjöld meant when he wrote:

"How can you expect to keep your powers of hearing when you never want to listen? That God should have time for you, granted as that you cannot have time for Him."

God still speaks. Are you listening?

Animals Do Best When Cool

Air conditioning is important to animals as well as people, reports AP writer Hal Boyle. In a column devoted to "things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail," he writes: It has been found that cows give more milk, hogs get fat quicker, and hens lay more eggs if their quarters are air conditioned.

"The Last Night"

It was 6:30 and the sun was still high in the sky.

We were sitting in the Bowling Alley, Beak and Mary were saying their last good-byes.

For you see they were going to cross the Big Pond,

To fight for the country of which we are all fond.

They had finished their 4 months training and toil,

To fight for our country in a far-away soil.

It was getting late and they had to leave,

To fight for a country in which they believe.

We piled into a car and soon arrived

At the place of departure which we all despised.

Soon their jet withdrew and they were off on their own for a year.

Leaving all their dear and loved ones here.

It was sad to see them go, for they were so young, it seemed a sin.

But as we all know, they will return grown men.

—Darlene Berkemeier

THE WORLD'S STRONGEST MAN

The day little Jimmie admired my muscles I was the strongest man in the whole world. And so I remained until the next morning when I got into an argument with that big kid in the next block. Then a humiliating retreat seemed preferable to a bloody nose.

Life hasn't changed much since I've grown up. Sometimes on Sunday I am so confident of my human might that I glibly pass up the spiritual resources my neighbors are finding in church. And by Monday I'm wondering where to turn for help in some insurmountable difficulty.

Experience is forever teaching me that my own self-confidence is mostly self-delusion. The men I admire seem absolutely honest about their own limitations, and absolutely certain about God's strength.

One Sunday as I sat in a pew and watched others receiving Communion this thought struck me: Among those who kneel reverently before an altar today is undoubtedly the world's strongest man.

SECURITY LIGHTS

NITE LIFE

Here's a bright idea... stretch a few more hours into your busy days. You can do this and much more when you have outdoor lights controlled by an electric photo cell. It automatically turns itself on at dusk; off at dawn. Your yard, barn and out buildings can all be well lighted so you can still get things done... even after the sun sets.

Well-placed outdoor lighting is an important safety feature, too. Because you can see, even on the darkest night, there is less chance of injury by a slip or fall.

It means greater security, too. A well lighted area discourages unwanted prowlers, both the two- and four-legged varieties. Animals, birds and equipment are thus protected... automatically... from dusk to dawn.

The cost? Only a few pennies a day. Ask us for complete information. We'll be glad to help you select the best locations for each light so you can get greater benefit from low-cost rural electric power.

RALPH SPARKS

Ralph Sparks, 68, a farmer, who lived on Beaver Road, Walton, collapsed and died at 11:15 a. m., Tuesday, Sept. 24, at his home.

Mr. Sparks fell from a lower rung of a ladder while he was preparing to paint the exterior of his home.

Survivors include his wife, Grace Noel Sparks; four daughters, the Misses Nell and Jean Sparks, at home, Mrs. Margaret Tingle of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Mary Lou Haynes of Union; three sons, Jack and Martin Sparks, at home, and Melvin Sparks of Petersburg; a sister, Mrs. Myra Readnour of Union, and two brothers, Charles Sparks of Warsaw, and Frank Sparks of Dedham, Iowa.

Services were held at 2:00 p. m. last Friday at the Beaverlick Christian Church, with Hamilton Funeral Home, Verona, in charge.

PATRICK J. MADDIN

Patrick J. Maddin, 75, Route 2, Walton, a retired farmer, died on Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Della Ryan Maddin; two daughters, Miss Della Marie Maddin at home and Mrs. Dorothy Hempstead of Ft. Wright; a son, L. R. Maddin of Walton; six grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

Requiem High Mass will be sung this morning at 9:00 a. m. at St. Paul Church, Florence. St. Paul Funeral Home, Florence, had charge of arrangements.

JOHN L. WILLIAMS

John L. Williams, 63, Lexington, prominent in the tobacco industry for many years, died September 22 after a short illness. He was a leaf supervisor for the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. on the flue-cured markets of the Southeast and the burley markets of Tennessee and Kentucky.

Born in Bracken County, Mr. Williams was a son of the late Clara Griffith and John E. Williams, who at one time made their home in Verona and Walton.

Mr. Williams is survived by his wife, Elizabeth W. Williams, formerly of Owenton; his daughter, Mrs. James S. Nelson; a grandson, James B. Nelson; a sister, Mrs. Dwight L. Bicknell, and a brother, Howard G. Williams, all of Lexington.

PINER HOMEMAKERS

The Piner Homemakers Club met September 17 at the home of Mrs. Louis Schlachter at Ryland. The president, Mrs. Clarence Duncan, opened the meeting with the pledge to the American flag. The devotional was given by Mrs. Marshall Hills.

The lesson on Art Appreciation, was given by Mrs. Richard Colclough. She had many pictures to show of paintings done by famous masters which made the lesson more interesting and informative. At the close of the lesson, Mrs. Colclough had the unveiling of several of her own paintings. The club feels fortunate to have such a talented member.

The October 15 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Malcolm Oliver in Piner.

Others present were: Mrs. Chester Mullins, Mrs. Fred McMillan, Mrs. Frank Elliott, Mrs. Charles Flynn, Mrs. W. A. Marshall, Mrs. James Bentley and Miss Diane Hills.

TIME, LABOR AND EXPENSES

What is your time worth as manager of your dairy operation? One good way to answer this question is ask yourself what would it cost to hire a man to replace you. This would include a man that could make decisions which are profitable besides doing the physical labor. A recent survey revealed that this man would cost between $8,000 and $12,000 a year. If the man worked sixty hours a week and fifty weeks a year, his hourly wage would be between $3.00 and $4.00 an hour. Can you afford to buy corn and grind your dairy feed when we can bring you Purina Checkerboard Dairy 16% Checkers in bulk at approximately the same cost as the corn and supplement? If you have corn and have to take the time to load it, drive to town, grind it, and take it back home we will welcome the chance to try and trade with you for Purina Checkerboard Dairy 16% Pellets. COME IN AND LET'S FIGURE HOW LITTLE IT WILL COST TO SWITCH TO PURINA CHECKERBOARD DAIRY 16%, AND SAVE TIME, LABOR AND MONEY.

FACE FLY KILLERS AVAILABLE

Purina Dairy Spray Concentrate and Purina Dairy Spray Special have been doing an outstanding job of controlling face flies on dairy cows. These two products also KILL house flies, horn flies, stable flies and the "ole" horse fly. We also recommend that barns be sprayed with Purina Cygon 2E. This is a residual spray that lasts up to eight weeks. We also carry a complete line of dairy dust as well as face fly killers for beef cattle, horses, swine and poultry. COME IN AND LET'S TALK OVER YOUR FLY CONTROL NEEDS.

ATTENTION BROOD COW AND BABY BEEF OPERATORS

Want more for your feeder calves this fall? Have you heard about Pre-conditioned calves and how they are bringing $2.00 to $3.00 more per hundred? We have a pre-conditioning program that we would like to explain to you. GIVE US A CALL.

ANNUAL MEETING OF BOONE COUNTY FARM BUREAU

The annual meeting of the Boone County Farm Bureau will be held October 8, at 8:00 p. m., at the Court House in Burlington.

The guest speaker for the evening will be Willard Carroll, Director of Field Service for the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation.

There will be door prizes and refreshments. All Farm Bureau members are urged to attend this meeting and bring your friends with you.

Boone County Farm Bureau membership has now reached an all-time high of 1198 members.

Farm Income $14.5 Billion

Net farm income in 1967 totaled about $14.5 billion, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman reported. The amount was almost $2 billion below 1966 earnings, but with that exception was the highest since 1951.

All labor has dignity if we perform it with dignity. It is never the task itself that lacks dignity. —E. Freshman

LOCAL AND STATE OFFICIALS MEET HERE; TALK FRONTIER WORLDS OPPORTUNITIES

Walton Mayor Dale Stephens talks with James H. McCarthy and Robert Metry concerning the opportunities and responsibilities that lie ahead with the planned construction of Frontier Worlds.

Walton City Hall was the scene last Thursday evening for a sounding meeting regarding Walton's future with the coming of Fees Parker's Frontier Worlds. James H. McCarthy, vice president of Economics Research Association of Los Angeles, Calif., and acting general manager of Fees-Par Enterprises, was the key figure in the question-answer discussion type meeting regarding the park.

Mayor Dale Stephens and Dan J. Roberts were responsible for the assembly. Representing the office of Gov. Louie B. Nunn was Robert Metry. Other state department representatives were Tom Heilborn, Howard Lawson, and John Kent. The Boone County Planning and Zoning Commission was represented by members, Dwayne Vincent, Thomas Angel and Jim Shaefer. Representing the Greater Walton Business Association were Gayle McElroy, Leon Hall and Frank Barth. Winn Johnson of CG&E was present, and the five members of City Council were Woodrow Greene, Carl Gerth, Luther Stephens, Chester Armstrong, and Robert Eischenmidt. City Attorney Robert Blackburn was there, as were some local residents.

Mayor Stephens expressed appreciation to each for showing an interest in Walton and in Frontier Worlds. He asked that some of the responsibilities and opportunities of the present and near future be discussed.

Mr. McCarthy related some of the findings made by ERA since the announcement on September 9 of the proposed Frontier Worlds. He spoke of the ability now to discuss freely some of the plans of Frontier Worlds, whereas prior to the public announcement four weeks ago all the work was done within a shroud of secrecy through the cooperation of Gov. Nunn and local officials.

"One of the first things we have discovered is that the opening date will be 1971 instead of the suggested date of June, 1970. With an interest in this large there are many needs that arise which require study and we do not wish to be too hasty in these decisions," McCarthy stated.

He spoke in great detail of the plans for the new park to be first class with special emphasis to a family type interest. Ninety-nine percent of the visitors are expected to be made by father, mother and two children. Eighty-one percent of these will be out-of-state tourists who will be here for more than one day. They will view frontier life in the areas of Colonial, Pioneer (Daniel Boone era), Westward expansion, etc. A system of lodging, including camping and restaurants is planned to be a part of the park. There will also be an area for outdoor recreation with long range plans calling for a year around program. Mud Lick creek is included in their plans.

McCarthy also spoke of the need for services which include labor, both seasonal and permanent, utilities, water, sewage and roads.

A thought regarding the joint use of a sewer disposal unit was also brought up since the present Walton plans call for such a unit to be located in that general area. The question arose as to what would be necessary for Walton to do to help. Answer: Give us your moral support, take care of the little problems that you now have and meet the new ones as they arise.

What about annexation by the City of Walton? No. Frontier Worlds will develop into a little community of its own. Annexation would slow its growth and present additional burdens.

When will it be definite of FW's locating on the proposed site? By the end of this year. There are several crucial land options pending.

Dan Roberts expressed his concern for Walton developing into a proper state of being, suitable for the fine people associated with Frontier Worlds. He was assured that Walton would become associated with Frontier Worlds and its name would become a familiar family word in every household throughout the nation.

Members of the state and the county planning and zoning commission pledged their support to insure an orderly development in the area immediately close to Walton and the park.

Mr. Metry discussed some of the studies in progress in the highway department that are related to the expected increase in traffic flow into the I-75 Walton exchange, the primary route to Frontier Worlds.

Lions Plan Hay Ride And Wiener Roast

The Walton Lions Club will have a hay ride and wiener roast on Sunday, October 13, at 4:00 p. m., at John Messingschlager's fishing lakes at Richmond. The hay ride and wiener roast is to be held in conjunction with a new membership drive of the local club. Potential new members will be invited personally by members of the Walton Lions.

Wilford M. Rice was guest speaker at the Lions Club at their regular meeting September 17, and was such a hit with the club on his speech about the history of the town of Walton, that the Lions held a ladies' night Tuesday, October 1 and invited the wives to hear Mr. Rice speak again. He was truly enjoyed by all. Rice noted that the town of Walton has a lot to be proud of and should boast of it in anticipation of the upcoming Frontier Worlds by Fees Parker.

The entire membership of the Walton Lions Club is completely behind Mr. Parker's plans and wishes to publicly acknowledge it. Two new members of the club are Thomas B. Schneider of Crittenden, and Thomas W. Yates of Ft. Thomas.

The Walton Lions Club is now selling Halloween candy for $1.00 a bag with your choice of suckers, beans, Milky Way, Snickers and Three Musketeers. The club will also be selling the Benson pre-stuffed fruit cake again this holiday season.

The Ladies Auxiliary will examine the eyes of children of the Walton-Verona school, October 23, 24 and 25. Parents of the pupils who fail the eye examination test will be notified as such.

"Support your Walton Lions so they may support the blind."

NATIONAL 4-H WEEK

This is National 4-H Week and 4-H'ers all across the country are taking part in 4-H Week observances. Theme for the week of October 6-12 is "Expand 4-H" and boys and girls are invited to join 4-H—a world of opportunity. Today 4-H is for all boys and girls, regardless of who they are or where they live, said Nancy White and Jerry Klement, Area Extension 4-H Agents, in this area.

In Boone County, there have been about 850 active members enrolled in 21 clubs the past year. These members have been assisted by 75 volunteer adult leaders.

Any boy or girl can be a 4-H'er. Any adult can be a leader. If you would like to learn more about 4-H, call the County Extension office, 586-6191, or the Urban 4-H office, 291-6060.

To Redraw Boone Magistrate Districts

A reshuffling of Boone County's three magistrate districts for population balances lies in the offing, according to Judge Bruce Ferguson.

Three commissioners will be selected to redraw district lines for a more equal representation. Kentucky law requires that these commissioners come from each of the county's present three magistrate districts.

Their job will be to realign the districts as nearly equal in population as possible. They would report within 20 days. A 10-day period would then be set up to receive any citizen complaints on the proposed re-alignment.

The object is to get the districts redrawn before the May primary election next year. Present district lines were drawn over 20 years ago.

Boone County has approximately 10,800 registered voters. Ideally, each of the magistrates would represent 3,600 voters. As it now stands, Charles M. Carpenter, of Florence, represents over half of the county's total voters. He has over 6,400 voters.

"Demonstration School" at Immanuel United Methodist

Responding to the pleas of many volunteer teachers in the church school, the Covington District of The United Methodist Church will present a "Demonstration School" for workers with children and youth at Immanuel United Methodist Church, Ft. Mitchell, on Friday night and Saturday, October 18-19.

Miss Florence Russell, director of Christian education at the Immanuel church, will be dean of the "Demonstration School."

Cost of the school will be $4.00 per student, and registration must be complete by Oct. 12. For registration, you may call Miss Russell, 341-5330, or Mrs. Rae Mitchell at 341-6064.

FHA Executive Council Meeting

The Simon Kenton Chapter of Future Homemakers of America held its October Executive Council meeting in the Home Economics Department, Oct. 2, with Luenda Cheek presiding.

Several subjects came up for discussion. It was decided that a box would be put together to be sent to Vietnam, through the Red Cross. Connie Lipscomb was appointed chairman of the committee which will send the box for Christmas. A possible Halloween project that was discussed was to go to an orphanage and take several children, ages 8-10, trick-or-treat. Pat Glaser is going to ask if this can be done.

Good Citizenship Week is Oct. 27-Nov. 2. This is the week that FHA will try to encourage everyone to be a good citizen. Some of the projects for this particular week will be: an apt for each teacher, a locker clean-out, wash windshields, no gum day, no gripe day, and serve refreshments for the teachers on In-Service Day.

On Thursday, October 3, the FHA invited the FHA to a cook-out and baseball game, which was thoroughly enjoyed.—Reporter

GREATER WALTON BUSINESS ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 2nd

The Greater Walton Business Association was formed Wednesday evening, October 2, at First Federal Savings & Loan, just south of town.

A large number of local business men and women were on hand for this organizational meeting, which is to cooperate with any group or individual in promoting the growth and betterment of the area. The temporary chairman, George W. Ryan, said this is the time to forget the past and everyone work together for the betterment of the area.

Officers elected were: George W. Ryan, chairman; Vice Chairman, Dr. Roger Augenstein; Secretary, Charles Wiley, and Treasurer, Mrs. Mildred Cleek.

Meetings of the association will be held the first Wednesday of each month. Some business and professional men did not receive an invitation to this first meeting because of oversight and shortage of time. However, by the next meeting, all business people of the area will be asked to join in this worthwhile endeavor. Please don't feel that you were not wanted, if you did not receive an invitation to the first meeting—you are needed.

Simon Kenton FFA Has Annual Meetig

Simon Kenton Chapter of Future Farmers of America held its annual meeting on Sept. 24. Steve Prince, president, opened the session. There were 41 members and two guests present, Lucady Cheek and Kay Helton.

Officer reports were given by Donald Mann, secretary; Wayne Acuff, acting treasurer; John Dillon, reporter; Steve Prince, Farm Bureau meeting. Donald Courtney gave a report on the chapter program of work. A special feature was given on "Cutting Tillage Cost." A report on cooperation was given by Gary Acuff.

A motion was made to send Gary Acuff, Bruce Courtney, Donald Mann and John Dillon to Farm-City Week. John Dillon moved that the setting of the Progressive Farmer be dropped for one year. Steve Prince brought up the green hand initiation. Gary Acuff moved that the green hands wear old shoes, work pants, shirts on backwards, tie, cornob necklaces and a green hand.

Recreation leader, Bob Trapp, had the chapter vote on having FFA and FHA parties and softball games. Donald Courtney moved that 100 percent of the chapter enter the WSAS contest. Gary Acuff then moved that the meeting adjourn and suspend with the closing ceremonies.—Reporter

Homemakers Meet Today

Due to a school conference which would affect several members, the Walton Homemakers will meet today (Thursday) instead of on the regular date.

Mrs. Homer Winburn is hostess at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Burdick, on Jones Road, for the meeting at 10:00 a. m.

There will be two lessons and a workshop. Members bring a sandwich and wear old clothes, please.

Twenhofel PTA To Meet

The Twenhofel Junior High PTA will meet on Monday, October 14, at 7:30 p. m., in the school cafeteria.

Introduction of the faculty will be made by Willard Shakespeare, principal.

The elected officers and chairmen will be introduced by the president, Mrs. Willard Slade.

A special invitation is given to the parents of new students. The membership table will be set up at the door. All parents, friends and neighbors are encouraged to join the PTA and help their child's grade win a membership prize.

Life is mostly froth and bubble, two things stand like stone: kindness in another's trouble, courage in your own.—Adam L. Gordon ed and it is hoped you will join.

A committee was named to meet with and cooperate in any way possible with the Walton City Council. They were: Gayle McElroy, Frank Barth, and Leon Hall.

Those at the meeting were as follows: Guy Heath, Les Trinkler, Sam Gamble, Earl C. Roberts, Charles Wiley, Otis Readnour, Frank Barth, Rees Hardy, Chris Combs, John Levin, Fred Stallard, Leon Hall, Kenneth Dixon, J. B. Johnson, L. T. Coleman, Chester Sturgeon, J. B. Curd, William Cluser, John Messingschlager, Cliff Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones, Travis Dunn, Ed Hardin.

Frank Butler, Ronnie Cleek, Guy Carlisle, Charles Carlisle, Asa M. Rouse, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sizemore, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walter, Gayle McElroy, David Houston, Dr. Roger Augenstein, Virgil Dixon, James Bonar, Herbert Mintkenbaugh, Mrs. Malcolm F. Simpson, and J. B. Troper and G. H. Moore, Jr. of the L&N Railroad.

WALTON NEEDS FIREMEN

The Walton Fire Department needs men who are looking for excitement and learn to be a fire fighter. You will be trained by skilled men who are officers. You must be 18 years of age or over. Join the fire department and help save homes and lives.

Superintendent Visits Methodist Church

Rev. Charles Perry, District Superintendent of the Covington District, United Methodist Churches, and Mrs. Perry were Sunday visitors at Walton Methodist Church.

Rev. Perry delivered the morning message and assisted in the communion service. A short quarterly conference was also conducted.

D. of A. Social at Kenton

Villa Council, No. 64. D. of A. Willing Workers Club will hold a towel and wash cloth social on Saturday, October 12, at 8:00 p. m. in the Lodge Hall, Kenton. There will be lunch and refreshments. The public is cordially invited.

October Meeting Of Wa-Na Club

Mrs. Chester Sturgeon and Mrs. Malcolm Simpson were hostesses to the Wa-Na Woman's Club for its October meeting last Thursday evening in the Sturgeon home on Beaver Road.

Robert Greene, juvenile court judge in Boone County, was guest speaker and told about the workings of the juvenile court and discussed problems of juveniles.

Mrs. Harry Henson had the spiritual guidance, and Mrs. Asa M. Rouse, president, presided.

In attendance and enjoying the social hour and refreshments were Mrs. George Black, Mrs. Nelson Popham, Mrs. Leo Flynn, Mrs. Edward Lay, Mrs. Asa M. Rouse, Mrs. Lewis Webster, Mrs. Jack Norris, Mrs. Preston Art, Mrs. Eugene McElroy, Mrs. Martha Jane Carpenter, Mrs. Luther Stephens, Mrs. Gayle McElroy, Mrs. Harry Henson, Mrs. Gerald Elliott, Mrs. Jack Rouse, and the hostesses.

The club sponsored its first of two sock hops at the Walton-Verona High School gym, Friday evening. The "Early Winers" furnished the live music and over 200 teenagers and young people enjoyed an evening of fun and dancing.

Meeting Date Changed For the Eastern Star

Due to the Grand Chapter meeting of the Order of Eastern Star in Louisville, the third week in October, the regular meeting of Walton Chapter has been changed. Walton Chapter, No. 161, OES will move its regular meeting to Tuesday, October 15 at 7:30 p. m.

A School Board Candidate

Mrs. Dolores Sargent

Mrs. Joseph (Dolores) Sargent, Huey Drive, Walton, announces her candidacy for a seat on the Walton-Verona School Board. Two members are to be elected at the regular general election, Nov. 5.

Mrs. Sargent is a native of Scott County. She is a graduate of Scott County High School.

There are three children in the Sargent home: Mike, 15; Jackie, 13, and Ricky, 10. The Sargents have lived in Walton four years. Mr. Sargent is employed by Delta Air Lines at Greater Cincinnati Airport.

Mrs. Sargent makes the following statement: "I feel that I am close to the activities of the school and its needs by being a mother with children in school. During the day I would have more opportunity to learn of these problems."

"Men do not see things from a woman's and a mother's view which are very important in the operation of a school. I will work for the good of the community and school district by using my influence in the business activities that would be brought before the school board."

In her school and community responsibilities, Mrs. Sargent is serving her second term as president of the Walton-Verona Band Boosters, second year as vice president of the Walton-Verona P. T. A., vice president of the local Homemakers Club, member of the Wa-Na Woman's Club, and a member of First Baptist Church, where she takes an active part in the choir.

Mrs. Sargent will be glad to talk to any voter on questions they might have. She solicits your support and vote in the coming school election November 5.

Fire Prevention Week Programs

This is Fire Prevention Week! The Walton Volunteer Fire Department has made a great effort to promote this program.

Last Friday, a program was presented at the Walton-Verona High School by the State Fire Marshall's office. Fire Chief "Chick" Worthington said, "much information was given and the interest among the students was very rewarding."

On Monday of this week, two kindergartens visited the department and were taken on a guided tour and climaxed by a ride on the fire engine. The Hickory Grove Baptist Church Kindergarten class with Mrs. Rufus Durden as teacher, had 26 pupils, and a two-year-old visitor in her group. The children were accompanied by a few mothers. Mrs. Sue Dixon, Mrs. Johnny Butler, Mrs. Shirlee Elliott and Mrs. Robert Medley.

Mrs. Nancy Washburn of the Dublin Place Kindergarten, Frogtown Road, which is in the Walton Protection District, brought 15 of her class. Mothers accompanying this group were Mrs. Peggy Stephenson, Mrs. Alberta Tanner, and Mrs. Jackie Lonkard.

The Walton V. F. W. wants to thank Benton-Bonar Dept. Store and Dixie State Bank for donating gifts that the department presented the children and mothers.

On Wednesday, Mrs. Carol Roland and members of the Walton Kindergarten made a tour of the firehouse. We could not get names of mothers helping Mrs. Roland as we go to press to early.

If there are any questions that the readers of this paper would like to ask about fire prevention, such as areas covered, dues, etc., please feel free to ask any of the local firemen.

Help the firemen make every week "Fire Prevention Week!"

The People's Choice

By M. Gene Snyder
U. S. Congressman
4th District, Kentucky

A gradually spreading dissatisfaction with the way some of our oldest political institutions are functioning under mid-20th century conditions may produce constructive changes in our electoral system.

AREA AGENT'S 1/2 ACRE

...by...
JOE CLAXON

If you like first-rate conditions to prepare and treat tobacco plant beds, autumn is a good time.

Soil usually is right for working, temperatures are high enough, moisture conditions just right and work loads a little lighter.

Site should be plowed seven to 14 days ahead of weed-control treatment time. If burning is to be used, level off high spots. For steaming or chemical weed control—break up clods, smooth the area, and ditch the site to carry off the surface runoff water.

Soil temperatures ought to be at least 50 degrees Fahrenheit for any method (burning, steaming or for chemicals). Don't try to treat if soil temperature is less than 50 degrees. Soil must be dry enough to work. (Measure the soil temperature from a point one inch under the surface.)

Soil insecticides should be applied in the fall. This should be added after the soil is worked in the fall but before the weed treatment is done.

A soil insecticide is recommended if a new bed site is to be used for the 1969 crop, particularly if sod must be broken on this new site. Don't add soil insecticides on old sites treated with one the last one or two years.

Sites usually need a new soil insecticide application after three years, sometimes two.

Each state now has electors equal to the number of Congressmen and Senators from the state. Under my plan, the two electors representing the state at large would be elected based upon the statewide presidential vote. However, the balance of the electors would each be elected from an individual Congressional district.

The present system of giving all of a state's electoral votes to the candidates carrying the state leaves open the possibility of a candidate getting the largest popular vote, but not the largest electoral vote. This has happened three times in American history. If the Electoral College does not arrive at a majority for one candidate, the election is thrown into the House of Representatives.

Thus, the possibility of electing a man who is not the choice of the American people is all too real. Many alternatives to the Electoral College have been proposed. One is a national election based solely on a popular vote. This could conceivably keep the nation bogged down in national recounts and election contests for months. There are other proposals which reflect the wishes of the people without the complications involved in popular vote proposals. One would be to apportion the electors from a state in proportion to the popular vote. Another is a resolution which I submitted to Congress last year.

ELECTRIC CLOTHES DRYER

WEATHER INSURANCE

An electric clothes dryer doesn't keep rain and snow from falling. But the weather outside need not spoil your day because an electric clothes dryer lets you do the family's laundry any time, any day. In minutes, everything's fluffy dry, ready for folding.

Yet all the extra convenience of an electric clothes dryer costs only pennies a day, thanks to low-cost rural electric power.

VFW To Prepare Gift Boxes For Servicemen

The Ladies Auxiliary of Boone County Memorial Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, No. 6099, is again going to prepare Christmas boxes for servicemen serving in Vietnam.

If parents or friends of these service men will send their names and addresses to Mrs. Ada Horton, Union, Ky. 41091, before Nov. 6, the ladies will be happy to send a package.

Such good response of service men's names and addresses has been had that it was decided to continue the project this year.

VERONA

Staffordsburg
Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter
Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Losey and sons, Jeffrey and John, visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sayle, of Owenton, last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw and Carol and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Giles spent a few days traveling in the Appalachians the past week. We were glad to hear that Mrs.

David Roberts, who spent a few weeks in the hospital, returned home Thursday. We hope she is soon feeling fine.

Mrs. Hazel Pickett, Miss Marie Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Pickett and son visited the Charles Losey family, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rector enjoyed a vacation, returning last Thursday from the Ozark country. They said they had a fine time.

Mrs. Adah Steinhauer visited from Monday to Thursday with me and accompanied me to the Homemakers meeting at the church on Tuesday.

We regret to hear that Mrs. L. M. Deuser, who has been a patient for several weeks in the Northern Kentucky Baptist Home, is not improving as much as we would like to hear.

Mrs. L. J. Rapp celebrated her birthday September 28.

The Staffordsburg Homemakers Club and a number of friends went to Nashville, Ind., October 5. We will try to tell you about it next week.

We are expecting to hear Rev. Robert Ricks of Runyan Memorial Church, Sunday evening, October 13. Can't you join us at 7:30?

So good to have the choir back after the summer vacation.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

I want to thank all our friends, neighbors and relatives for their cards, visits and prayers while I was in the hospital and since coming home. A special thanks to Rev. Russell.

SOUTHERN
INNOVATIONS THAT SQUEEZE THE WASTE OUT OF DISTRIBUTION / SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM, WASHINGTON, D. C.

SUPER CUSHION SERVICE

SOUTHERN SERVES THE SOUTH 5146

What's so super about our Super Cushion® couplers?

They turn BUMPS into bumps.

Not long ago a big "bump" when freight cars were coupled could mean big trouble for fragile freight. Not so now, though, with our Super Cushion underframe cars—another money-saving, better-service innovation by Southern Railway. Today, thanks to these hydraulic-cushioning devices, you'll find delicate, expensive electronic equipment, breakable bottled goods, rolls of newsprint... anything that needs special care... traveling in our Super Cushion service. And shippers realize important savings from lowered costs of packaging, crating and bracing.

Super Cushion service is just one of many Southern Railway innovations. Some you can see, some are hidden behind the scenes. Some have resulted in basic improvements in rolling stock, some have resulted in entirely new, precedent-breaking ways to do things faster and better. All add up to good news for shippers and consumers alike, for they help squeeze the waste out of distribution.

Innovations and improvements that enable us to squeeze the waste out of distribution benefit all who live in the Southern-served South. By reducing total cost of transportation they help combat today's trend of steadily rising consumer prices. They attract new industries into the South and help industries already located along our lines to grow and expand, providing more and better hometown job opportunities. All of us benefit!

LIKE US, LIKE HIM

Lesson for October 13, 1968

Background Scriptures: Hebrews 4 through 9
Devotional Reading: Hebrews 9:11-15

A certain man carried for years a great burden of guilt for a sin he committed as a young man. Finally, when it seemed he could bear this burden in secret no longer, he confessed it to a friend. It was helpful to be able to share it with his friend, yet he was still not relieved of his terrible guilt. "Why don't you go to your pastor and talk about this?" suggested his friend. "My pastor," the man gasped, "how could he ever understand something like this?"

A higher plane?

Quite obviously, he was one of those persons who conceive of clergymen as a breed of men apart from the rest of the human race. For some reason, these people assume that the minister is not subject to the same temptations and weaknesses that plague other mortals. Thus, they might avoid sharing their troubles with a pastor because they would assume a pastor could hardly understand or appreciate the evil forces at work within "ordinary men." It is not that they would want him to approve of their sins, but to at least understand them.

It is for somewhat similar reasons that some people hold Jesus Christ at an arm's length. Knowing themselves as sinful and weak, they find it impossible to believe that he could comprehend their frailty. Putting him on such a higher plane, they see no possibility of ever being like him and are thus uninspired by his example.

In the early days of the Christian Church there was a heresy very similar to this. Some men in their zeal to exalt Christ emphasized his divinity to the exclusion of his humanity. Christ, they believed, only appeared to be human. Thus their Christ was too different from men to be of any help to them.

In every respect

The New Testament, however, stresses both the divinity and the humanity of Christ. This is evident in the Epistle to the Hebrews where the writer says pointedly: "For we have not a high priest who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses, but one who in every respect has been tempted as we are, yet without sinning." (Hebrews 4:15 RSV).

If we take this passage seriously, we come face to face with some startling ideas. The writer is saying that Jesus was "tempted in every respect as we are." In other words, sinful thoughts and urges found their way into his life. He felt tempted to sin just as we do. And we must not think that his temptations were trifling either, for the writer says "in every respect" he was "tempted as we are."

This means that some of the same disturbing thoughts and feelings that we know troubled him. Lust, pride, envy, and deceit must have appealed to him as they do to us. Jesus, then, can understand our difficulties with temptation because he himself had to deal with them in his own days as a man among men.

Yet without sinning

Hebrews also tells us: "... yet without sinning." Though Jesus felt the urge to sin — just as we do — he successfully withstood those urges and refused to let them control his life. Like us, he could not keep these sinful urges from coming into his mind and heart, but he could refuse to give in to them.

The sin is not in being tempted, but in entertaining the temptation and holding on to it once it has come to us. As the old saying goes, we cannot prevent the birds from flying over our heads, but we can keep them from building nests in our hair. Jesus was tempted, but he did not succumb to the temptations. That is why he is so qualified to be our mediator, our high priest.

He bore what we bear so that we might achieve what he achieved. Like us, he was tempted. Like him, we can be victors over our temptations.

WHAT BELONGS WHERE? ??

The hub of a railroad—the classification yard. Could you, without training or experience, take charge here? Could you sort and "spot" thousands of cars, have them ready at the right time on the right track to go out with the right train?

But every day your mind performs an operation even more complex. You sort and classify your thoughts and impulses. You decide what is right and wrong. You determine which actions are urgent, and which can be deferred. You resolve that some goals are important, and others are secondary. And every decision affects your life, and the lives of others!

Preparing men and women—and boys and girls—to make the right decisions is one of the great functions of the Church. There are sound Christian standards by which life's choices should be sorted. There is confidence and strength for those who seek, learn and practice the true Way of Life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Letter To The Editor:

Sayler Park, Ohio
October 3, 1968

Dear Editor,

Just a few lines to say I read the Walton Advertiser of October 3. I read Doris Taylor's letter to you. Well, I agree with her. Walton is my home town. I was real happy to read and hear on TV Where Fess Parker was going to build a Frontier Worlds. Well, I think it's wonderful. It will make it a great place. Don't some people know what that will bring. You will have more jobs for all, and young people now there can make a living without leaving the state. My husband worked in Cincinnati and had to go far. So we came near his work. People will need places to stay all night — hotels, tourist homes, laundromats, restaurants, clean places to eat and at reasonable prices, and doctors, churches and a newspaper, which you already have and all ready and room to "go and grow" Walton!

Lots of people can't go to California, but here is a good town. Let's get Walton to "go and grow." It has all for all — water, railroad lines, airport and new highways — I-75 and I-71. And so I hope to take ourselves and our son to it. Why not ask Fess Parker to Walton, meet people of a fine town. You could open a town souvenir shop with hand-made pieces, books of pictures of places of interest, like Walton reservoir, Ellis horse farm, churches, school, and the Walton paper office. Some people never saw an oil lamp, so someone could open a place like that, with things like that are in some old basement, and some people have never been on a farm to stay over night. We went to Pennsylvania and they had signs "Night Lodging at Farm." The place where we stayed was a small cabin with shower, etc., and a decent place. No alcoholic beverages allowed. So I hope to see and hear, come to Frontier Worlds at Walton, Kentucky, Boone County., visit our town, decent places to stay at reasonable prices, churches near by, doctors, drug stores, beauty shops, laundromats, dry cleaners — come, stay a week, see our Frontier World. A decent place to bring children.

Thank you,

The changing seasons never affect the comfort of those who live in total electric comfort conditioned homes.

Indoors, it always feels like spring whether the day happens to be sultry or frigid.

Only a simple thermostatic setting is necessary to maintain this perfect comfort balance (72° - 76°) of electric heating and cooling winter, summer and the "between" seasons.

This conditioned air is cleansed of dust, pollen and other air-borne irritants for CG&Easier (and healthier) living.

A total electric comfort conditioning system's cost could be a pleasant surprise. Probably less than you imagine. Why not check into it soon?

COURTHOUSE LAWN IS TO BE BEAUTIFIED

Boone County's courthouse lawn is due for a new look. The Fiscal Court has authorized a $2,600 landscaping program to beautify the grounds at Burlington.

Ammon Nursery, Inc., Hopeful Heights, will start the beautification immediately, striving to get much of it done before October 27.

That is when Boone Countians will gather for dedication of the new 2.2 million water system, which began operation Oct. 2.

The action came upon the suggestion of Robert F. Greene, water district attorney.

WALTON HOMEMAKERS

Mrs. Homer Winburn was hostess to the October meeting of the Walton Homemakers at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Burden, on Jones Road, last Thursday.

Mrs. Donald McMillan, president, conducted the meeting and assisted Mrs. Edward Lay, in giving the lesson on "Short Cuts In Home Management." Mrs. Robert Wood, one of the younger homemaker members, with children at home, gave a run-down on one day's activities in her own home and helped the leaders stress the idea and need for good management of a home as well as in any business operation. Homemaking is an important business although many times overlooked.

An additional lesson on "Christmas Decorations," was given by Mrs. Nelson Popham after the noon lunch period. Club members learned to make a Christmas wreath of pine cones. Mrs. Joe Sargent gave the devotional.

Besides Mrs. Burden, Mrs. McMillan, Mrs. Lay, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Popham and Mrs. Sargent, others in attendance were: Mrs. Eddie Whaley, Mrs. Rich Cain, Mrs. William Gibson, Jr., Mrs. Paul Beighe, Mrs. Carl Gerth, Mrs. Lawrence Teaster, Mrs. Robert Slayback, Mrs. John Wood, Mrs. Glenn Cox, Mrs. Clayton Jones, Mrs. Wallace Glenn, and the hostess.

Move Not Planned Says Dr. J. M. Huey

The Mineral Wells Index, published by Sam Whaley, in Mineral Wells, Texas, was received late last week by the Advertiser. A lengthy story and a picture of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Huey, along with Editor Whaley and a fine story regarding the doctor's practice and about some of his Army life.

However, the story stated that the Hueys were planning to move from Walton. Upon checking out the story, it was found to be untrue.

"We have no intentions of moving from Walton," Dr. Huey said. "This is our home," added Mrs. Huey. "We saw the news item also, but it is just wishful thinking of Jim's old Army buddy, who we visited recently."

This comment brought hearty laughter from the doctor, who had encountered a very busy afternoon in the office.

The Advertiser is happy to report to all of our readers that Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Huey are at home here and do not plan to move.

Taylor Mill PTA to Meet

The October meeting of the Taylor Mill PTA will be held in the school auditorium on Monday, October 21, at 8:00 p. m.

Mrs. Eugene Feagan, Jr., program chairman, has announced that in accordance with "Reading Appreciation Week," November 3-9, a short dramatization entitled, "Why Timothy Can't Read," followed by a group discussion in regard to reading difficulties of the elementary school children will be the evening's program.

The executive board will meet at the school on Thursday, Oct. 17 at 1:00 p. m.

Released From Air Force

Sgt. James A. Fortwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fortwood, Walton, has concluded his 4-year tour of duty with the Air Force and is now at home.

Preparing Souvenir History of Walton

A souvenir history of Walton is now being compiled, according to reports. The Walton Lions Club is sponsoring the project, with Dan J. Roberts and Wilford M. Rice in charge.

Mr. Roberts said, "We want to show Fess Parker how pleased we are that he picked Walton as a park site. I've listened with an attentive ear to older people here and have read quite a bit on local history."

Mr. Rice grew up in this community and recalls much of the history of the area. He said, "We once had an opera house here with live plays, and the finest school in the area, with trains bringing pupils in from all around. Walton was the site of Boone County's first high school, built in 1903. The city's location on two railroads, the Southern and L&N, contributed much to its early progress."

We feel that this venture should prove quite interesting to local residents as well as guests who are visiting the area.

Social at Independence

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Independence Fire Department will hold their monthly social Saturday, October 19 at 8:30 p. m., in the firehouse.

Mrs. Georgiana Soborg is the chairman this month, and Mrs. Eileen Faulkner is in charge of the kitchen. The ladies will serve sandwiches, home-made pie, and coffee for everyone's enjoyment.

The public is cordially invited.

Burley Tobacco Meetings Oct. 24-25

The Northern Kentucky Burley tobacco growers, through hard work, sweat and worry, have managed to get another crop of golden burley in the barn. Next will be the bulking, stripping and marketing.

There will be two tobacco stripping and marketing meetings for producers in Northern Kentucky. On October 24, in Carrollton, at the 8th Street Warehouse, and on October 25, in Erlanger, at the Covington-Independent Warehouse, according to William Green, Area Extension Specialist in Tobacco.

Ira Maale, State Tobacco Specialist, will be the principal speaker. He will discuss topics in stripping, grading, marketing and current market situations. The electric utility companies will have displays on lights, heating pads and other equipment, and also refreshments will be served, Mr. Green said.

All burley growers are urged to attend. The information you receive may help to settle a few creditors and make that trip to Florida possible this winter.

TEL-STAR 4-H CLUB

The Tel-Star 4-H Club met for its monthly meeting at the home of Wayne and Kim Works of Independence.

The meeting was called to order and the pledges to the American and 4-H flags were given.

Old business included discussing the buying of jackets for members who participated in the club for one year. Members eligible are: Donna Rhodes, Betty Wilton, Marion Frazier and Kim Works.

Members elected the following officers: President, Wayne Works; vice president, Jeff Coward, and secretary, Barb Bachmeyer.

Leader Mrs. Herb Works distributed membership cards to be filled out by all members.

It was reported that seven members attended the 4-H skating party October 1.

A Halloween party will be held October 29 at the home of Barb and Rick Bachmeyer, Walton.

Monthly St. Cecilia Social

The Altar Society of St. Cecilia Church, Independence, is sponsoring its regular monthly card party and social on Wednesday, Oct. 23 at 1:30 p. m., in the school basement. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

Band Boosters Meet Monday, October 21

An important business meeting of the Band Boosters of Walton-Verona Schools will be held on Monday, October 21 in the band room at the Walton school at 7:30 p. m.

Plans for a turkey dinner set for Sunday, November 10, will be discussed and committees named.

Mrs. Joseph Sargent, president, urges parents of band members to attend this meeting.

New Haven PTA Needs You

The New Haven PTA will hold its monthly meeting October 21, at 7:30 p. m., in the school cafeteria.

We urge all parents to attend this meeting and bring their preteen and teenage children, as the program will pertain to a film and lecture on "Drugs in the Schools."

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.—Pub. Chm.

Walton Lions Auxiliary Holds Monthly Meeting

The Walton Lions Auxiliary held its monthly meeting recently at Heritage Steak House, Florence.

At the business meeting they discussed the testing of children's eyes, which will be held October 23-24-25, at All Saints, Walton-Verona, and Verona schools. The Auxiliary is proud of this project which they do every year and help so many children.

After the meeting was adjourned, Stan Saltee showed interesting films of his trip this summer. The pictures were of Switzerland, Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, and London, England.

Those attending the meeting were: Mrs. Mary DeMoisey, Mrs. Eloise Ryan, Mrs. Olive Johnson, Mrs. Ruth Davis, Mrs. Lillian Davis, Mrs. Gloria Parker, Mrs. Ruth Masters, Mrs. Marcella Messingschlagler, Mrs. Blanche Roberts, Mrs. Betty Manners, Mrs. Mary Saltee, Mrs. Wanda Dixon, and a guest, Mrs. Llewellyn Schlander.

In-Service Day, Oct. 18

Friday, October 18 is the first scheduled in-service day. All students will have a school vacation.

On this date, the high school teachers will go to Simon Kenton High School, Independence, to observe classes in progress, and the elementary teachers will visit the Beechgrove Elementary School in Kenton County to observe.

Local Band Parades In Carrollton, Sat'day

The Walton-Verona School Band participated in the Tobacco Festival Parade in Carrollton, last Saturday.

There were six bands or cadet groups in the 60-unit parade, sponsored by the Tobacco Markets and the City of Carrollton. All the bands received nice plaques for their efforts. Although one of the smallest of the bands, Walton-Verona pleased the parade watchers with their playing and formations.

Several parents and friends of the local band were in Carrollton to watch the boys and girls perform. Before the school year is out, the Band Boosters hope to have new uniforms for the Senior Band and then the W-V Band will be one of the town will be proud to have represent them anywhere.

"It doesn't take a uniform to make a good band, but it does help to show them off," one interested band booster remarked.

Chairmen Report On U. A.

Chairmen in this area have made the following report regarding the United Appeal:

Marshall Thomas, Florence, for Boone County, $5,653 or 83.1 percent of the goal.

Lawrence W. Ward, Cincinnati, for Erlanger, Elsmere and the unincorporated part of Kenton County, $3,203 or 47.3 percent of goal.

Gordon H. Hood, Ft. Mitchell, Dixie Highway cities, $13,331, or 100 percent.

John Orphan, Covington, South Greenfield, Lawrence and Forest Hills, $4,250, or 52.4 percent.

Entries Wanted For Art Exhibit

The All Saints Family Guild of Needmore St., Walton, is sponsoring an Art Exhibit in the basement of All Saints School on Sunday, October 27, which will be open to the public from 12:00 noon to 4:00 p. m.

Entries may be made between 3:00 and 6:00 and 7:00 to 9:00 p. m. on Friday, October 25, and between 12:00 noon and 4:00 p. m. on Saturday, October 26. An entrance fee of 25c will be charged for each picture entered. Judging of the exhibit will be Sunday morning by three qualified judges from the Greater Cincinnati Area.

Ribbon awards will be made on the following classes of exhibits: Amateurs in oils, ages 8 to 11 years, in still life, animals and landscape. There is a group for ages 12 to 16 for these three categories, and in adults portraits are included. Graphics, all ages, medium other than oils, and pop-art for all ages.

Under Professional in oils, entries may be in still life, animals, landscape, and portrait. Graphics (medium other than oil) and pop-art.

Let others see your work. If you have something about finished, get busy so you can get an exhibit entered. Help the Guild make this a successful exhibit.

Parade Planned by Indep'ence Masons

Just a year ago, the local Masonic Lodge in Independence was asked by the Independence Christian Church to lay their corner stone for their new church.

Due to the enlarging of the Independence Bank, Bradford Lodge, which meets in the building which houses the bank, has to build its own building. Due to this move, the lodge will be laying their own corner stone.

The parade which was held a year ago, had a huge impact on the community. Some six to eight thousand people were on hand for the parade which was a mile in length. A parade is being planned now which will draw better than the last one and which will be a larger parade.

This parade is to be held on Sunday, November 3 at 2:30 p. m. The laying of the corner stone by the Grand Master and his officers of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky will begin at 3:00 p. m. The general public is invited to attend this historical event, according to Wm. H. Appel, parade chairman.

KEEN TEEN 4-H CLUB

Ray Morgan, County Extension Agent, attended a meeting of the Keen Teen 4-H Club which was held in the home of Marcy Mulcahey, recently.

Enrollment cards were filled out and officers elected, as follows: Peggy Justice, president; Rick Messingschlagler, vice president; Marcy Mulcahey, secretary; Lou Walsing, treasurer; Tracy Smith, reporter.

Some of the things discussed were next month's skating party, the Christmas party, the 4-H Talent Show, and painting the fish pond booth.

One new member was enrolled, Barry Smith.

Sunny Acres Plans Revival

Sunny Acres United Methodist Church of 1160 Taylor Mill Road, Covington, will feature special evangelistic services at 7:30 p. m., October 30-31. The guest speaker for these services will be Rev. William B. Jennings, pastor of the Georgetown (Ky.) United Methodist Church. The public is invited.

BIRTHS

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Lucas of 75 High St., Walton, a daughter, October 10, at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington.

A tax payer is a person who works for the Federal Government without taking a civil service examination.

Teen-Age Republicans Start Active Campaign

The Teen-Age Republican Club of Boone County High School met at Republican Headquarters in Florence, with an overflow crowd in attendance, October 8. President John Fisk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Fisk, Florence, called the meeting to order.

The group is planning many activities, such as repainting the Republican Club's sign at the headquarters, passing out Nixon bumper stickers, naming the campaign headquarters at 276 Main Street, Florence, 3:30 to 5:30 p. m., Monday through Thursday.

All teen-age Republicans in the county are invited to join the club in working for better government. The sponsor is James Deister of Union.

Mrs. Daugherty Appointed Nixon-Agnew Chairwoman

Mrs. Patricia Reilly Hitt, National Co-Chairman, of Nixon-Agnew Campaign and Director Women's Activities, has announced the appointment of Mrs. Harry Daugherty, Union, as a member of her nationwide Women for Nixon program.

Mrs. Daugherty will organize and promote women's activities in behalf of Nixon-Agnew. Women for Nixon will have as its national project, small fund-raising through a wide variety of activities keyed to women. All money raised from these activities will be used to purchase TV and radio time so Mr. Nixon can present his views and programs to the people.

Greyhound to Serve Airport

Department of Motor Transportation Commissioner Alex McIntyre has approved the application of Greyhound Lines, Inc., Lexington, for a certificate authorizing the operation of a regular route common carrier bus between Erlanger and The Greater Cincinnati Airport, and serving all intermediate points.

Operation is restricted, however, against transportation of persons to or from the airport whose entire ride is within a radius of 25 air-line miles of the Kentucky-Ohio state line at Covington.

Hance Candidate For School Board

Daniel D. Hance announces his candidacy for the Walton-Verona School Board, subject to the Nov. 5 general election.

Mr. Hance, a native of Walton; resides at 117 South Main Street, with his wife, Evelyn, and two children, ages three and six. He is a graduate of Walton-Verona High School, holds a B. S. degree in Agriculture from Berea College, and is employed as an inspector with The Railroad Perishable Inspection Agency.

Mr. Hance is vitally interested in seeing the children of the Walton-Verona Independent School District receive the best possible education at a fair and just cost to the taxpayer.

JET SET 4-H CLUB

The October meeting of the Jet Set 4-H Club was held at the home of its leader, Mrs. Lybrian Richardson. This was the last meeting of the club before election of new officers, which will be held at the November meeting. Anyone wishing information about joining the club, please call 356-2546.

The meeting was called to order and roll answered by stating what you were going to masquerade as on Halloween. Most of the members are finishing up their record books and these will be handed in at the November meeting. Several of the members attended the 4-H skating party at Lloyd's on Oct. 1. Following adjournment, members got a little wet while bobbing for apples, but they soon dried off and enjoyed the refreshments.

There are more than 70,000 different kinds of soil identified in the United States under the national soil classification program. 700 different kinds have been identified in Kentucky.

I-71 To Be Opened This Year, Report

Highway Department officials in Frankfort, believe the section of I-71 from Louisville to Carrollton will be completed this year.

When the section is opened there will be a four-lane highway all the way from Covington to Louisville. The four lanes now end at Carrollton. Contracts awarded for the final 45 miles bear a November 15 deadline.

However, Highway Department Public Information Director Harold Finley has said the contractors will not make the deadline. He said the department usually grants an extension if weather conditions are bad. Finley said current estimates are that opening of the final section of I-71 will probably be about the middle of December.

The Walton to Carrollton section was late being opened, so don't be surprised if you have to travel U. S. 42 this winter to get to Louisville.

Annual Meeting of KSBA

School board members and superintendents from 22 area school systems will meet in Ft. Thomas, today for the annual meeting of the Northern Kentucky Region of the Kentucky School Boards Association.

The assembled school officials will discuss issues of importance to public education, including the school personnel relations, education legislation, and public school financing.

Walton-Verona is in this district and will be represented at this meeting.

Gets Governor's Award

Bill Wethington, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wethington of North Main St., Walton, has received the Governor's Merit Award for Outstanding Achievement as an Honor Student at Walton-Verona High School for last year.

Executive Board Meeting

The Executive Board of Ryland Heights PTA met recently in the school lounge. Harold Earle spoke to the members on legislation.

Plans were discussed for a Christmas Decoration Display to be held during the November and December meetings.

Coyle Candidate For School Board

Robert (Shorty) Coyle, Walton, is a candidate for the Walton-Verona School Board, subject to the regular election, Nov. 5th.

He made the following statement Monday:

"I would like to announce my candidacy for the Walton-Verona School Board.

"I have been employed at the Fisher Body Corp. in Norwood for 18 years, and I have lived in Boone County all my life.

"I have three boys attending the Walton-Verona school: Greg, 8th grade; Geoffrey, 5th grade, and Randy, 3rd grade.

"As a parent of young children attending Walton-Verona School, I am very much concerned with the needs and the problems in our community and school. I feel that it is vital that we keep our school independent—if we lose our school and its activities, we also lose our young people.

"As manager of a Knothole team for three years, and also working with Cub Scouts this year, I feel the urgency to keep the activities of the school in our own community.

"I solicit your support and vote on November 5."

Breeding Co-op to Meet

The Boone County Artificial Breeding Cooperative will hold its annual meeting-huncheon Thursday, October 24, at the Old Farm Smorgaseteria, U. S. 25 and Industrial Road, Florence. All members are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. William White of North Ridge, Calif., and his brother, Albert White, of Covington, were entertained Tuesday evening for dinner by their cousin, Mrs. Warren Stephenson, and Mr. Stephenson. William White has served 30 years in the U. S. Navy and is now Security Officer for the North Ridge Air Force Base in California. Mr. and Mrs. White were visiting relatives in Kentucky, Indiana, and Ohio.

Attend District Meeting

The Wa-Na Woman's Club made a good showing at the Fifth District Woman's Club Fall Meeting, held at the Lookout House last Wednesday. The club won first prize on the dried flower arrangement, done by a member, Mrs. Nelson Popham. The club will show their entry at the State Convention next spring. Mrs. Leo Flynn won a third-place ribbon on a sweater she knit and showed in the needlecraft division.

Attending the meeting from the club were Mrs. Asa M. Rouse, the president, and members, Mrs. Leo Flynn, Mrs. Jack Rouse, Mrs. Geo. Black, and Mrs. Chester Sturgeon.

Beverly Bonar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bonar of Central Ave., had the misfortune to fall Saturday afternoon while playing with friends and break her left arm at the wrist.

Enjoy Night-On-The-Town

Four high school classmates enjoyed a night-on-the-town last Saturday evening. Mrs. Danny Chapman, nee Joann Sturgeon, Lexington; Mrs. Jesse Kinman, nee Carolyn Powell, Frankfort, and Mrs. Robert Orborn, nee Beverly Rouse, met at the home of Mrs. John Walker, nee Bobby Jean Rogers, of Cincinnati, and the four then enjoyed dinner and the theatre together, along with a bit of reminiscing of former days at Walton-Verona, when they all lived in Walton.

Chi Rho Enjoy Hay Ride

The Chi Rho group of the Walton Christian Church enjoyed a hay ride and wiener roast last Friday evening.

About 20 boys and girls met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Gibson, Jr. on Stephenson Mill Road, to begin the hay ride. After a nice ride, the group ended their trip at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Acree, Verona, where they enjoyed a wiener roast and games.

In the group were Layna and Dayna Cheesman, Margie Shields, Patti King, Rene Huey, Kathy Baker, Robin and Jeff Acree, Pam Dunn, Donna Coyle, Peggy Garrison, Debbie Whaley, Gisele Stephens, Karen Slayback, Becky Gibson, Ceryle Henson, Jenny Lynn White, Eddie, Chuck and Franklin Gibson, and Mr. and Mrs. Acree. Other adults with the group were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Henson, and Rev. Arthur Russell.

Attend Men's Retreat

The following men from the Walton Christian Church attended the State Men's Retreat of Christian Churches the past weekend at Mammoth Cave.

James Spencer, Ben Doan, Joe Milner, Harold Marsh, Paul Simpson, Russell Groger and Clayton Jones enjoyed these sessions and the fellowship with about 175 other men at the retreat.

Dillard Proffitt of Frogtown Rd., is a patient in St. Elizabeth Hospital suffering from injuries received in an auto accident last Thursday on his way home from work. Mr. and Mrs. Proffitt formerly lived on Walton-Nicholson Road, Walton.

Liggett Circle Meets

The Liggett Circle of the Walton Christian Church heard two women from the Kenton County League of Women Voters speak at their October meeting at the church last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Ben Baker and Mrs. William Whitson were the guests. Mrs. Paul Simpson had the devotion, and Mrs. Charles Adams, president, conducted the meeting.

Other ladies in attendance were Mrs. Arthur Russell, Mrs. Gaines E. Huey, Mrs. James Spencer, Mrs. Luther Stephens, Mrs. Layne Cheesman, and Mrs. Jack Rouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Breeden and family spent Saturday with their daughter, Diane, at Georgetown.

It was homecoming at Georgetown College, where Diane is a freshman.

Celebrates Eleventh Birthday

Mary Beth Rouse celebrated her birthday at her home on South Main Street, last Tuesday, Oct. 8, when her mother, Mrs. Jack Rouse, had a party in her honor.

Helping Mary Beth celebrate and enjoying the cake and ice cream were Jeanne Moses, Gisele Stephens, Amy Rouse, Mary Kay Dixon, Pam and Sandy Cundiff, Lee Ann Scott, Karen Yates, Paula Ramsey, Fannie Thorpe, Kathy Disney. Assisting Mrs. Rouse were Mrs. J. R. Flynn and Annette Rouse.

surprise callers Thursday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Adams of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Richardson, Florence. Mr. Adams and Mrs. Rich graduated in the same class from Independence High School. Mr. Rich was not feeling well and is scheduled to enter the hospital Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Ballinger visited on Thursday with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Will Brannock of Kelat, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Wharton and Harry Armstrong made a trip to Xenia, Ohio, Monday. Then on Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Wharton again visited the area; calling on his mother.

We were glad to have as visitors at church Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Pennybacker and Mrs. Lena Strain, all friends of the Phillips family, from Covington.

Rev. and Mrs. Phillips have as a most welcome guest his mother, Mrs. Concetta San Filippo of Buffalo, N. Y. She arrived on Monday to spend a few weeks.

Our church will celebrate layman's day by having as speakers October 13, Tom Nunnery and Ronald Losey. In the evening, Rev. Ricks will speak. On Oct. 20, we are expecting Rev. Plask of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, Covington.

We hear that Albert Gilligan is feeling much better but his son, Marion, is not doing as well as they had hoped when he was released from the hospital recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Souder and Mrs. L. D. Losey visited the Charles Loseys, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Kenneth Shaw had a call one day this past week from her husband telling her he was on his way to Germany.

We regretted to hear of the sudden death of our friend, Mrs. Walter Beck of Petty Road. Our sympathy goes to the family.

The WSCS met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Losey on Tuesday evening, Oct. 8, with a good attendance. Mrs. S. R. Mann gave an interesting talk on the worth of the Bible. Miss Mary L. Wiseheart told us of the changes in the WSCS since the union with the E. U. B. ladies organization. After a brief business session, the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Staffordsburg Homemakers

The Homemakers Club met in the dining room of the Staffordsburg Church, Oct. 1. The meeting was opened by the president, who read the collect, followed by the salute to the flag. Minutes were read and a report of the treasurer was given.

Plans were discussed for the trip to Nashville, Ind., Oct. 5.

Tickets were sold for the annual meeting at Summit Hills, Oct. 17. Mrs. Damico reported plans made at a meeting of the Advisory Council meeting, October 25, a gourmet meeting is to be held at the RECC auditorium, open to any who wish to come. Announcement was made of the Christmas gifts and decorations display to be held at Trinity Hall, Latonia, Nov. 14.

Edith Ware, Francys Keeney and Genevieve Nitschke were named to the nominating committee.

The next meeting will be held at Pleasant Grove Church, Nov. 6.

Mrs. Keeney gave the meditation from Psalm 89, verses 15-18.

A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Harry Cooper, hostess.

In the afternoon, samples were shown and orders taken for kits to learn needlepoint. Plans were made for a workshop on yarn pillow tops, at the home of Mrs. Bluch Rich, Oct. 3.

Visitors present were Miss Ruth Schmidt, Miss Mary Rich, and Mrs. Agnes Caldwell.

The trip to Nashville was enjoyed by everyone who made the trip. All brought home something by which to remember the day.

Kenton County Garden Club

The Kenton County Garden Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Gouge, 5428 Madison Pike, Sept. 26.

The president, Miss Elma Taylor, opened the meeting by calling for minutes of the last meeting and treasurer's report. Roll call was answered by tips on planting bulbs. Bills were presented for mowing, cards and other miscellany. It was decided to order greeting cards to be sold; after which the meeting was turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. L. Stephens. Mrs. L. Gabriel gave the devotion, reading a poem. She also suggested that each read aloud the 104th Psalm. Miss Margaret Stephens talked about landscaping, and Mrs. Wesley Hall on providing areas surrounding the home fitted to the interests of the entire family.

Delicious refreshments were served to Misses Elsie Hiteman, Elma Taylor, Margaret Stephens, and Alice J. Williams; Mesdames W. Hall, O. Palmer, R. Robe, F. Popp, E. Damon, L. Stephens, F. Keeney, L. Gabriel and the hosts.

Mrs. Gouge played a few selections on the piano; which all enjoyed. She also showed the group around her new home.

The next meeting is scheduled at the home of Miss Margaret Stephens, October 24.

National 4-H Week, October 6-12, was observed across the nation by more than three million 4-H youths, a half million volunteer leaders, thousands of professional workers and friends of 4-H.

The unprecedented expansion of 4-H in the last decade was highlighted during the observance.

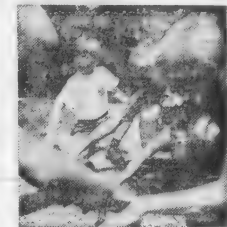

One of the advances in 4-H project work has been more emphasis on science, experimentation and efficient farm and home management. Personal development and leadership also have been accelerated.

Introduction to 4-H via television is another major advance. Projects such as general science, automotive, electric, dog care and training and emergency preparedness are among the TV series offered by the Cooperative Extension Service. About a million boys and girls between 9 and 19 years of age have participated in TV 4-H this past year.

Any boy or girl can be a 4-H'er, as a regular club member, a TV member, or a short term project member. The Extension Service has worked out simplified programs to fit families in isolated or low income communities.

The 4-H youths are engaged in projects or activities that cover just about every home situation, personal goal and ability. Among some 50 programs which carry awards for outstanding achievement, are home economics, health, safety, automotive, conservation, livestock, marketing, photography and veterinary science. Other projects include woodworking, geology, birds, electric, grooming, clothing and others.

Social at All Saints Church

The regular monthly social sponsored by the Holy Family Guild of All Saints School will be held Saturday, October 19 at 8:00 p. m., in the school hall.

The committee chairman said, "Come, spend an evening of fun with your friends for a worthy project." Refreshments and door prizes are available.

THE PRIZE

Lesson for October 20, 1968
Background Scripture: Hebrews 11 through 12.
Devotional Reading: Hebrews 11:1-3, 5-15.

"I'd give everything to be able to play the piano like that!" said an admiring friend to a pianist. "That's what it takes," replied the pianist, "everything!"

Many of us would like to excel in this or that, but excellence remains beyond our grasp because, in reality, we are not willing to "give everything." We might wish to throw a football with the skill of Johnny Unitas or play golf like Gary Player, but we would scarcely be willing to spend the hours and hard work to perfect our skills as they do. Anyone who has ever participated in athletics knows that for each hour of glory on the playing field, there are many, many hours of practice, conditioning, and discipline that must come first.

The lonely runner

So it is too in living the Christian life. We would all like to live lives that radiate faith, hope, and love, yet most of us are unwilling to practice the disciplines that make such a life possible. We are like the man who would like to be a major league baseball star, but without having to go through the ordeal of spring training.

The writer of Hebrews was well aware of the analogy between Christian living and athletics. Possibly he was a sports fan, perhaps even an athlete, a runner, for he compares Christian discipleship with running a race at a track meet.

For example, he knows that trying to follow Jesus Christ can seem to be a very lonely task. It's like running a race without any competitors or spectators. Perhaps the people to whom he was writing were beginning to feel this way. They may have been the only Christians in their area. Their uneasiness is quite understandable.

A cloud of witnesses

The writer, however, reminds them that they are not alone. Though unseen, there surrounds them a great cloud of sympathetic witnesses, men like Abraham, Isaac, Moses, David, etc. These men have run the same race before them and they are a sympathetic crowd who not only watch the race with kindly concern, but run the race beside us as well. Thus, the Christian who feels all alone in this great race needs to remember this cloud of witnesses and take heart.

Next, the epistle turns from inspiration to strategy. For one thing, the runner must travel light. He cannot wear anything or carry anything that will impede his movement. His hands must be free of any restrictive burden. So it is with the Christian: he must "Lay aside every weight, and sin..." (Hebrews 12:1 RSV). Too many of us would like to run the race without giving up the things that would hinder us. It cannot be done!

Secondly, the runner must train and discipline himself. Discipline is the key to control. The runner must be able to gauge his speed, measure his step, regulate his energy, control his breathing. It comes only with constant practice and discipline, both in running a race and living the Christian life. We may not like discipline, but it is essential: "For the moment all discipline seems painful rather than pleasant; later it yields... fruit." (Hebrews 12:11 RSV).

The pacesetter

Third, we need perseverance, "staying-power." The runner who folds up in the home stretch cannot win the race. As the runner nears his goal, his muscles ache, his lungs burn, but he must not give up. So in discipleship we must continue on if we want the prize.

Finally, we must keep our eyes upon the goal. The runner cannot watch other runners or eye the stands. "Don't look back" is good counsel for both runners and disciples. Instead, we must continually be "looking to Jesus," our pacesetter who has run the race before us, showing us both the way and the prize in store for us.

Letter To The Editor:

Walton, Kentucky

Walton Advertiser

Dear Sir,

I don't know if you remember me or not, but my name is Jesse David Still. I have lived in Walton for 19 years, and now the time has come for a big change and for the town to grow and from what I have read from the clippings my wife has sent me out of the Advertiser, it sounds like some people don't want the town to grow. And to me, it seems that a few of the people are afraid to spend a penny to help it grow.

Well, here I am in Vietnam fighting so these people over here can have better living, and back home people are just setting around and letting our town die. I would like to see the Frontier World come to Boone County. Just think that now we will have the chance to grow and if I was Fess Parker I would build it anyway, because the City of Walton can't stop him from building it around Walton, and the only way they could is to buy all the land and that would mean spending a penny. They have stopped the growth of Walton before by not letting factories come in. I agree with Doris Taylor about the problem and in what she said.

I will be home in June of 1969 and I hope things have changed by then. So all I can do is express my opinion, just like the others.

Your friend,
PFC Jesse D. Still

Ten minutes early! The service of worship begins at eleven, and the Anderson family has had time to saunter a little . . . gratefully aware of the glorious autumn morning and the serene beauty of their church building. Afterwards, like Christians the world over, they will go home refreshed and inspired by God's Word, ready to meet whatever the week may bring.

Turning from self-service to God's service is never easy, but it is immeasurably worthwhile. When our hearts are completely God-centered, all other concerns fall into their proper places . . . and our lives become richer and more significant than our minds can imagine.

"Everything else can wait . . . but your search for God cannot wait." There is still time. Come to church this Sunday and share in the bounty of His strengthening love. It is yours for the asking.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I understand that President Johnson recently signed into law a bill increasing VA compensation payments to veterans with service-connected disabilities. I am rated 100 per cent service-disabled. How much of an increase will I receive and when will it go into effect?

A—As a veteran with a 100 per cent service-connected disability, your monthly VA compensation payment will be increased under Public Law 90-493, signed by President Johnson, Aug. 19, 1968, from $300 to $400 if your disability was incurred in time of war and from $240 to $320 if incurred in peacetime.

The increase will go into effect January 1, 1969, and should be reflected in your January check which you will receive around Feb. 1, 1969.

Give every man the right to express his opinion.

CARD OF THANKS ...

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all those who remembered me with flowers, cards, visits, and prayers while in the hospital and at my home. A special thanks to Mr. Hensley for filling in at the office during my absence. Your kindness will be remembered always.

Wimmer Speaker at N. F. O. Convention

Ed Wimmer, President of Forward America, Inc., and Public Relations Director of the 256,000-member National Federation of Independent Business, Inc., will be the keynote speaker at the Kentucky State Convention of the N. F. O., to be held in Hamilton Auditorium, Campbellsville High School, 12:00 noon to 9:00 p. m., Saturday, November 2. Mr. Wimmer will speak at 8:00 p. m.

The N. F. O. and the National Federation of Independent Business have been two of the most outspoken organizations on the need for better communications between the man on the farm and the man on Main Street. The leaders of both insist that unity alone can save the family farmer, small business stability of the smaller communities of America.

The small business spokesman keynoted the biggest agricultural, businessman and local banker rally in history when the N. F. O. turned out 35,600 persons in Des Moines, Iowa, in August. At that time Mr. Wimmer called upon Congress and the people generally to "help halt the liquidation of the family farms, 5,000,000 of which disappeared from 1950 to 1958."

He said, "the nation will face a crisis if our urban centers are forced to absorb another 2 million farm people," and adding that "some officials in Washington have visioned such an exodus without noting its potential for disaster."

What the Federation and the N. F. O. leaders see as the principal cause of most farm problems is the "power of the big chains" that not only control purchase and sale of farm products, but "the ruin they bring to so many communities through harmful practices affecting small business."

Federation and N. F. O. officials, according to Wimmer, "see fair returns to the farmer as the best way to prove that the family is one of the most efficient units of the free enterprise system."

Orin Lee Staley, N. F. O. National President, will speak at 3:30 p. m., and a question and answer period will be held later by Mr. Staley.

ABOUT $560.00 TAKEN FROM SCROGGINS HOME

Last Thursday evening while they were out to dinner, someone entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Scroggins on Don Street and Walton-Nicholson Road made off with about $560.00. The intruders apparently had a key to the Scroggins home.

A large plastic bank shaped like a duck, belonging to three-year-old Tammy Scroggins, was taken. Also taken was another bank which belonged to the Scroggins' son, Larry, who was killed in an auto accident in 1960 at the age of five. It is estimated that about $560.00 was in the two banks.

As a precautionary measure, the Scroggins changed all the locks to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Scroggins own and operate the Dair-Delect Ice Cream Shop at 10th and Greenup in Covington.

Simon Kenton F.H.A. Alumni Meets Oct. 17

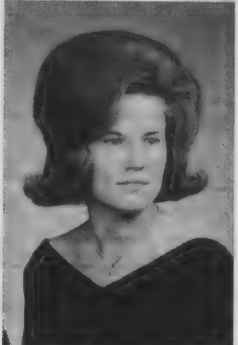

The Simon Kenton F.H.A. Alumni held its regular monthly meeting October 17 at the Owen County RECC Building on Walton-Nicholson Road.

There were 25 members and a guest present. Judy New reported on the trip to Cincinnati. They had dinner at the Colony and went to a show. Everyone reported having a good time.

This month a toy party was demonstrated by Carol Hon. All enjoyed seeing the toys and doing a little Christmas shopping early. Next month the program will be on "Confucius Say," a game to be played by all who attend. The next meeting will be on Nov. 21 at the Owen County RECC Building on Walton-Nicholson Road at 7:30 p. m. All former members of the Simon Kenton F.H.A. are invited to attend.

Refreshments were served and a gab-session was enjoyed by all.

Plans November 2 Wedding

Miss Joyce Kilgore

The wedding will take place on November 2nd at First Baptist Church, Walton, at 7:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend the wedding. A reception will follow immediately after the ceremony in the church dining hall.

White's Tower Homemakers

The White's Tower Homemakers began their Fall workshops when they met recently at the home of Mrs. Betty Kissick on Bowman Road. Twelve members attended, bringing with them materials to finish the cross-titch pillow tops they had begun working on before the summer vacation.

Mrs. Betty Blanton and Mrs. Roberta Brinkley will be hostesses for the net regular meeting to be held October 28 at the Hickory Grove Baptist Church.

Kenton Elementary P. T. A. Exec Board

The Kenton Elementary P. T. A. held its annual chili supper Oct. 4th at the school, 5577 Madison Pike, Independence.

Mrs. John Maners, Mrs. Larry Williams, Mrs. Robert Gibson and Mrs. James Whitaker of the Ways and Means committee, wish to thank everyone who participated in making this a successful affair.

The membership committee would like to remind all parents who have not joined the PTA to do so as soon as possible. The membership drive will close as usual in November.

Mrs. Johnny Armstrong, president, has selected the following officers for the 1968-69 executive board: Mrs. James Whitaker, vice president; Mrs. Laurence White, secretary; Mrs. Randall Wagner; Mrs. Roy Baldwin, treasurer; Mrs. Forrest Popp and Mrs. Billy Hoffman, publicity; Mrs. Wendell Wagner, program chairman; Mrs. John Maners, Mrs. Larry Williams, Mrs. Robert Gibson and Mrs. James Whitaker, ways and means; Mrs. Hubert Baird, hospitality; Mrs. Joan Dillion, character and spiritual; Mrs. William O'Brien, social; Larry Compton, room representative; F. D. Caton, parliamentarian; Mrs. Ronald Gray and Mrs. Art O'Brien, health and hygiene; Mrs. Roy Chambers and Mrs. Gordon Bryson, membership; Mrs. Isaac Gabbard, room mother; Mrs. Wayne Bailey, citizenship; Mrs. Ray Baldwin, magazines; Mrs. James Whitaker, founders day, and Mrs. Holbrook, safety. Each parent is urged to support the PTA.

New Banklick Baptist Church Revival Planned

Revival services will be held at the New Banklick Baptist Church, 225 Banklick Road, Walton, starting Sunday, October 27 and continuing through Sunday, November 3, with services nightly at 7:30.

The evangelist will be the Rev. James D. Johnson, new pastor of the church, and the music director will be Mickey Dunavent.

A nursery will be provided. You are cordially invited to attend these services.

Simon Kenton Rips Ludlow; Score 26-0

Last Friday night at Ludlow the Pioneers of Simon Kenton High School tore the Panthers apart to win a NKAC football game, 26-0.

Roy Siffel got the first score when he bulled his way in from 15 yards out, after his mates had picked up one of four Ludlow fumbles.

Charlie Siffel then went over on the first play of the second quarter from the one for touchdown number two. Charlie gained 123 yards during the game, which was below his average.

The third touchdown was not long in coming. After a fair catch of a punt on the 43, Charlie Siffel went up the middle for 18, then off right tackle to the six before Don Bullock pulled him down by one foot. Then after two one-yard gains, Chuck Tolliver faked beautifully to the halfback and then flipped into the end zone to Jerry Jacobs.

In the second half that was all punts and penalties, the Pioneers picked up another touchdown. The Independence team got the ball on the 37 after Ludlow fumbled a punt reception. Charlie Siffel made three and then Dave Obel hit Jay Lehman on a short pattern and the senior end carried it the 27 additional yards for the score.

This ended the scoring as Coach Jenkins began to use his second stringers.

The Pioneers play at Russell, Ky. on Friday, October 25.

SPLASHDOWN!

After 11 days of traveling around the earth at 17,500 miles an hour the Apollo-7 astronauts are safe on board a carrier in the Atlantic.

There were several minutes of anxiety during splashdown as the craft landed upstage from the recovery crew.

Apollo-Seven traveled 4.5 million miles in the 163 orbits. Wally Schirra, Donn Eisele and Walter Cunningham appear to be in good physical condition despite head colds. Next flight— to the Moon and back, perhaps in December.

WALTON-VERONA PTA TO MEET ON MONDAY

The Walton-Verona PTA meets at the Verona School on Monday, October 28, at 7:30 p. m.

A program is planned and refreshments will be served. This is membership month, so please join.

PROCLAMATION...

Mayor Dale Stephens of the City of Walton, has proclaimed Sunday afternoon, October 27, 1968, from 3:00 p. m. until dusk as trick or treat time for all the witches and goblins in the City of Walton.

The mayor urges that parents refrain from permitting their children to go out prior to or after this time. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

Wedding Planned For November 9 In Batavia, Illinois

Miss Marlene Olson

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Nicewonder announce the approaching marriage of their son, Floyd Gibson, Jr. to Miss Marlene Olson of Aurora, Ill.

HEAD BOONE COUNTY DEMOCRAT CAMPAIGN

Heading the Boone County Democratic campaign drive for the Democratic ticket, including U. S. Senate candidate Katherine Peden, Hopkinsville, and Gus Sheehan, of Covington, for U. S. Congress in the Fourth Congressional District are:

C. M. (Hop) Ewing, County Campaign Chairman, Florence; Miss Nellie McCarty, County Chairwoman, Florence; Miss Deatra (Dee Dee) Eades, Young Women's Chairman, Walton; Dennis P. McEvoy, Young Men's Chairman, Florence.

State Campaign Chairman Bob Hardy said, "Boone County's organization is part of an exerted drive all over Kentucky to surge the Democratic Party to victory November 5. We are especially pleased to have these loyal Democrats of Boone County to stand up, be counted and help in our party's drive toward victory."

Huguenot Society Meets In Lexington

Mrs. Roy C. Nestor, Florence, who was recently elected State President of the Huguenot Society of Kentucky, presided at the Fall meeting and Founder's Day celebration held Saturday and Sunday, October 19-20, at Imperial House Inn, Lexington.

A dinner and reception was held Saturday evening, with Mrs. Bennett F. Hughes as speaker. She was the organizing president of the Kentucky society.

The general meeting was held Sunday with a luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. Ashlin Logan, Walton, presented their exciting travelogue, showing colored slides of their trip to Europe.

Huguenot Society membership includes both men and women of French protestant faith who are lineal descendants of a Huguenot who emigrated from France to America prior to the promulgation of the Edict of Toleration.

Life members from Northern Kentucky are: Mrs. Nestor, Mrs. Harold Kohl, Mrs. Ashlin Logan, Mrs. Herbert Cole, Mrs. Robert Lail, and Frank Cooley, Jr.

First Aid Classes Offered

Area residents may register now for a new, free, standard Red Cross first aid course to be given at the Red Cross Memorial Building, 720 Sycamore St., Cincinnati, beginning Monday, November 4.

Classes will meet once a week, on Mondays, from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. The six-week course will include training and practice in the care and bandaging of wounds, control of heavy bleeding, methods of artificial respiration and other skills essential to giving emergency care.

Interested residents should register for the course in advance by calling Red Cross First Aid Programs at 721-2685.

Engagement Is Announced

Miss Freda Jo Agrue

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Agrue of Dry Ridge, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Freda Jo, to Pvt. Paul David Kannady, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kannady, 5746 Wilson Road, Independence.

The wedding will be an event of November 16th at 7:00 p. m., in the Goshen Christian Church, with a reception in the church basement immediately following the ceremony.

All friends and relatives are cordially invited to attend.

Receives Governor's Award

Miss Donna Sue Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Webb, of 7 Park Avenue, Walton, has received the Governor's Merit Award for Outstanding Achievement as an Honor Student at Walton-Verona High School for last year. Donna is now a Student at Morehead State University.

Halloween Festival Saturday Evening

Ghost and goblin time is coming again to the Walton-Verona High School gym, Saturday, October 26 when the Walton-Verona PTA hold the annual Halloween Festival.

The doors will open at 6:00 p. m. with the grand march to start at 6:30 and the auction sale to follow at 7:00.

This is the main activity of the local PTA to make the money necessary to give to the school projects that the PTA have for the Walton-Verona Schools. They desperately need your help in the booths and for donations.

Please call Mrs. Frankie Ryan, president, 485-4756 or Mrs. Luther Stephens, 485-4246 to offer your assistance. For the booths donations of pastries and homemade candy is needed and groceries or items to sell at the country store.

There will be prizes for costumes and games and refreshments.

Admission is 10c for everyone. Be sure to stay for the auction sale as there will be some good buys.

Remember, this Saturday is the 26th!

GOP ENDORSES BUTLER

The Boone County Republican Executive Committee has announced its endorsement of Walton businessman, Frank Butler, for the office of Circuit Court Clerk.

Butler and his wife, the former Dolores Bruggeman, of Ft. Mitchell, reside at 59 South Main St., Walton. They are the parents of five sons and six daughters, ranging in age from one to 14 years.

A native-born Waltonian, Butler is owner of Artistic Cleaners in Walton and Erlanger, and of Butler's Bait and Carry-Out, Walton. Butler is a member of the All Saints School Board.

If elected, Butler pledges to "devote full time to the office and work diligently to execute the duties of Circuit Court Clerk."

AN EXTRA—

Time has come for the clocks to be turned back an hour. The suggested time is at 2:00 a. m. Sunday, October 27th.

However, few people would want to get up and set the clock then, so many will do so before retiring. This will give us an extra hour of sleep Saturday night. Enjoy it.

Tobacco Market Outlook Is Good

Kentucky burley growers have produced another outstanding crop, State Agriculture Commissioner J. Robert Miller says. He said field work by the Department's tobacco specialist, E. T. Reed, has revealed a highly usable crop.

Miller said this year's crop appears now to be much like the 1967 crop in terms of quality. The yield is expected to be some 25 to 30 million pounds above the '67 production. Miller noted that farmers in areas with a light crop in 1967 have housed an excellent crop this year.

Reed feels that the market will be about the same as last year, even though there will be a three percent increase in the floor price. This increase has been placed on lower grades and will not help the overall average, Reed said. On this basis, Reed expects the market to open near last year's record price with the crop average about $70.00 per hundred.

Reed reports that the total disappearance of burley tobacco during the first half of the 1967-1968 marketing year was 192 million pounds. This is a 10 million pound drop from the first half of the previous marketing year, and a 27 million pound decrease from the peak year of 1964-1965.

Bykota Class Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. William Gibson, Jr., of Stephenson Mill Road, were hosts to the Bykota Sunday School Class of the Walton Christian Church at their monthly social meeting Sunday, October 20. Mrs. Harold Marsh had the devotional.

Enjoying the hospitality in the Gibson home were Mr. and Mrs. Layne Cheesman and daughters, Layna and Dayna, the Harold Macrae family, Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Finley Jacobs, Jr. and daughters, Carol and Joy, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rouse and daughter, Mary Beth, Mrs. Ed Scott, Mrs. Gaines E. Huey and daughters, Rene and Marcel, and the children of the hosts.

Mrs. Clarence Combs returned to her home on Park Avenue, late last week after being a patient in Booth Hospital for tests. She is feeling some better.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bush attended the capping ceremonies and Dental Hygiene program at the University of Cincinnati, Sunday, October 13. Their granddaughter, Miss Nancy Osborn, was one of 21 girls to receive their nursing caps, a symbol of their becoming a Dental Hygienist. Mr. and Mrs. Bush spent the weekend in Hartwell, Ohio, with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Osborn.

Sympathy is extended Pearl Baker and family of Chambers Street, in the death of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, who died in a Lexington hospital last week.

Staffordsburg

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw were pleased to have as a guest for several days the past week, Mrs. Bonnie Sovern, Mrs. Shaw's aunt. Her sunny smile and kindness have endeared her to all who know her and to many she is thought of as Aunt Bonnie.

A very pleasant occasion was the celebration on Sunday, October 13 of the ninety-third birthday of Mrs. Maud Cobb. She had lived many years on Myrtle Avenue in Latonia and the reception was held at the home of her friend and one time neighbor, Mrs. Baker on Park Avenue. Mrs. Cobb, a long time member of Trinity Methodist Church, was glad indeed to greet many of her friends from there among the guests. On Sunday, October 12, a family dinner was enjoyed with her children and grandchildren, three of the children present on Sunday were: Marjorie, Virginia and Dick. Mrs. Cobb has lived several years at the Methodist Home in Cincinnati. Among those attending from this neighborhood were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Rapp, Mrs. M. M. Mann, Miss Mary Stephens and Mrs. J. A. Keeney.

Bluch Rich, who is a patient at St. Elizabeth, is not making very much improvement. Hope he is soon able to come home.

Last week's paper was not yet out when we heard that Albert Gilligan is again in the hospital.

We are expecting to have as guest speaker on Sunday evening, October 27, Rev. R. Geisler, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church. Hope you can come to hear him.

Don't forget the Spaghetti supper on October 26, 5 to 8 p. m.

A retreat is planned for the women of the congregation and neighborhood on Thursday evening, October 24, sponsored by the WSCS but open to all who can come. While it is a woman's meeting, the men are also welcome.

We learned of the death this week of Mrs. Lilly Crawford of Washington, Kentucky. She was 93 years old and will be remembered as the aunt of Miss Emma Yates. The Crawfords often visited Miss Emma and always attended services here at the church.

Mrs. James Lancaster from Lexington visited here for the weekend. Jim was too busy with his studies.

We received a letter this week from Mrs. Louis Adams. While lonely and sad they are not dis-pondent, rather looking for a continuing life of service and at the end of their life on earth, a glad reunion.

Mrs. L. J. Rapp, Mrs. V. Damico and Mrs. B. Rich from Staffordsburg club attended the home makers annual meeting at Summit Hills on Thursday. They report a small attendance but an interesting program.

Howard Frederick, who has been hospitalized following dental surgery, is improving. We trust he will come home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Poplman entertained relatives on Sunday.

WALTON VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT WALTON, KENTUCKY

DEAR FRIEND,

This is a letter from the Walton Volunteer Fire Department. It is NOT soliciting a donation, we do not believe in asking for money, we never have in recent years nor do we expect to in the future. This letter is written to acquaint you with a service that is provided by the department.

Firstly, let us understand that we are strictly a volunteer outfit, no one gets any money for attendance at fires or at meetings or work at social gatherings. Secondly, we are not connected with the City of Walton in any way...the city only provides us a place to keep our equipment; in return, we protect residents of Walton from fires, explosions and like happenings, free of charge.

Fire departments all over the country have changed both in equipment and financing within the past 20 years, and small towns such as Walton can no longer maintain expensive fire-fighting equipment as they used to do. Just to cite one small item, all of our equipment is two-way radio dispatched and is in constant touch with each other on their way to fires; this saves time and confusion and saves very valuable minutes. This item alone costs about $5,000. In short, our equipment could not be replaced for $50,000.00. In order to maintain this equipment we MUST have revenue. As this letter said in the first line, we do not ask you for money. We simply ask that you consider our "Fire Protection Plan."

Now, what is this plan? First, it does not guarantee that you won't have a fire nor does it guarantee that we'll save ALL your house, barn, car, etc., but it does guarantee that we will respond to your call, do the best job we know how, clean it up and do this at NO CHARGE to you.

Suppose your neighbor starts a fire and it gets out of control and threatens your property, we will protect your property FREE OF CHARGE.

SUPPOSE, one winter night you awake to find a very faint odor of smoke but you can't find its source; you simply call us and we will come, all at NO CHARGE.

We at the fire department have heard people say, "by the time you boys get to my place, it would be burned down!" To this we say, that is only an excuse for not joining our plan. It is a very poor fire department indeed that can not save an adjacent building or garage or other building close to a fire or, for that matter, such things as deep freezers, pumps, family keepsakes, and clothes in presses and drawers, etc., within the burning building itself. We have saved tractors and other farm equipment within barns that were almost burned down before we were called.

Now this plan is VERY cheap! If you have 2 buildings or more (such as a farm) your cost is $10.00 per year. When you join our plan, we record water supply (ponds, cisterns, creeks), distance from highways, nearness of buildings; also the type of road leading to your place. We have on our records now several places where light bridges will not carry our equipment, so we have noted a route through a neighbor's farm. Everything like this is recorded at the fire house in a file.

If you just have a single house, like many being built today, the charge per year is just $5.00.

Now, let's go over these prices again: (1) two or more buildings, $10.00 per year; (2) one building, $5.00 per year; (3) Commercial or Industrial buildings, slightly higher...contact your Fire Department for prices.

If you do not belong to our protection plan and you call us, we are going to bill you $100.00 for the call and $25.00 per hour for every hour we are out of the fire house. Grass fires of a minor nature will be billed at $25.00. Major brush fires will be billed at a higher price. According to a recent court decision, we are legally entitled to these rates. So, as you can see, you can save a lot of money if you have an emergency by being a member of our protection plan.

What does this all mean to you as property owners, simply this...if you call us we will come to your place, whether you belong to our plan or not (no questions asked) and complete our job of fire-fighting, or any other emergency, then after we get through, if you ARE NOT a member of our plan, you must pay us $100.00 for the call, plus $25.00 per hour for every hour we are out of the fire house. If you are a member, you owe us nothing for our services.

We want to thank you for reading this letter and hope that you will consider our Fire Protection Plan. Don't take a chance with fire; it can happen anywhere at anytime, even to YOU! Mail checks to Walton Volunteer Fire Dept., Walton, Ky. 41094.

EMERGENCY, 485-4141 — BUSINESS, 485-4559

Letter To The Editor:

Personally, I like Mr. Snyder, Fourth District Congressman, and I agree with him on many issues, but he is hitting Gus Sheehan, Democratic candidate for Congress, under the belt.

Snyder has mailed thousands of cook books printed at government expense, propaganda pamphlets condemning the Democrats but failing to state anything he has done, and thousands of first class letters printed on government letterheads and all postage free. He did not tell us that he is against medicare and social security. He is neglecting his job in Washington while campaigning at home. He is costing the taxpayers more than $100,000 annually, and we feel that it is his job to stay in Washington while Congress is in session.

Gus Sheehan promises to stay on the job if elected to Congress, and stand on his record for reelection.

From Nixon down, the Republicans blame the war, riots, and college insurrections on the Democrats.

Former President Eisenhower promised South Vietnam U. S. aid if attacked by the Communists. We are honoring his commitment. The war is a legal war, as the Constitution of the U. S. provides for the President of the U. S. to be Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces, and can send them anywhere in the world he desires.

The most costly riots and insurrections have been in states that have Republican governors: Arizona, California, Kentucky, Michigan, Maryland, Minnesota, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and others. Neither the Republicans nor Democrats caused them. The Communists, Hippies, and Yippies are to blame.

Katherine Paden, Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator could not speak in Louisville on account of a crowd of rowdy rock and bottle throwing negroes while the police stood by. Marlow Cook, as county judge, why did you not do something about it?

Surprises! Mr. Snyder are you a Republican or Independent? According to the newspapers you told a Wallace radio supporter that you have been advocating a lot of espousing of a third party candidate for president, and Mr. Nunn, the Republican governor, said, "This is the first time in my life that I have wanted the Democratic candidate to get votes."

Mr. Nixon, why don't you make definite answers instead of avoiding the issues? How would you end the war, riots, and insurrections? Why do you refuse to debate Mr. Humphrey?

If Gus Sheehan is not elected to Congress, Jefferson County will furnish three Congressmen, and all Northern Kentucky will furnish none.

Vote for continued prosperity by voting the straight Democratic ticket November 5.

Florence, Kentucky

Letter To Mr. Lents

Mr. Lents,

We are printing your political "Letter to the Editor" in this issue of our paper. However, this was not the intent of this column. You have sent me, in my opinion, plain political advertising and as such should be paid material, and in the future will be, with the one exception...if a Republican cares to write a rebuttal, we will print same.

Intent of "Letter to the Editor" was to give people the right to express themselves on any local issue, but NOT political. Whether intentional or not, this type of letter is an attempt, as we see it, to get votes for one party, and in our opinion this is purely advertising, as someone is likely to gain materially if the suggestions are adhered to.

We hope you understand our position, Mr. Lents, and will not send us any more "free advertising" letters. Thank you.

PINER HOMEMAKERS—A "Home Business Center" was the lesson subject given to the Piner Homemakers Club by Mrs. Clarence Duncan.

The club met in the home of Mrs. Malcolm Oliver who was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Dennis Glacken. The devotional entitled "Troubles and Persecutions" was given by Mrs. Duncan. The annual Christmas display entitled "Christmas Throughout A House" will be held at Trinity Methodist Church, Southern and Church Streets, Latonia. It will be held on November 14, 11 a. m. until 9 p. m. Mrs. W. O. Marshall is the chairman of the Piner display.

The thirty-sixth annual meeting of the Kenton County Homemakers was held at Summit Hills Country Club on October 17. Miss Venita Kelly was the featured speaker. Her subject was "Satin Safari." Those attending from the Piner club were Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Louis Schlachter, Mrs. Marshall Hills, Mrs. Marshall and her guest, Mrs. Robert Marshall.

The club is honored to have as its oldest member, Mrs. Charles Flynn. Mrs. Flynn will be 91 on October 26. The club presented her with a lovely birthday gift. A birthday cake was shared with the members and pictures were taken. Through the efforts of our president, Mrs. Flynn was interviewed and photographed by a local newspaper.

Mrs. Marshall led the group in a game and the meeting was then adjourned. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James Bentley with the lesson on needlepoint to be given by Mrs. Oliver.

Others present were: Mrs. Chester Mullins, Mrs. Hills, Mrs. Frank Elliott, Mrs. Marion Martin, Mrs. Fred McMillian, Mrs. Schlachter, Diane Hills, Karen Glacken and the club was happy to welcome a new member, Mrs. Harold Bray.

Letter To The Editor:

I have just recently read an item in one of the papers where Mr. Wilford Rice mentioned that Walton once boasted of having an Opera House, and I suppose all Walton residents know that it is located on the second floor of the building now occupied by Model Food Store.

The mention of the Opera House brought to mind that 62 years ago I attended a play, given there by the Masonic Lodge. At that time I was a teacher in a rural school at Banklick Station, and boarded with the family of Oliver Schadler, who resided on Walton, Route 2.

The carrier at that time was the late Rev. Kirtley Johnson. He and Mr. Schadler were very close friends. Mr. Johnson told of the play to be given on a certain date. When that date arrived, Mr. Schadler took two horses and a large covered top wagon and filled it with passengers and we came to see the play.

I well remember the play. It was a rainy night but we made the trip OK. The title of the play was, "Jerry, the Tramp," or "A Noble Outcast." The two main characters were a man named Joe Reed, who acted the part of Jerry the Tramp, and Rev. Kirtley Johnson acted the part of the villain.

It was truly a wonderful piece of home talent.

I am wondering if there are any other residents in or near Walton who attended that play or any others that were held in the old Opera House.

Corn Growers Speak Up for Fall Plow-Down

"Since I started plowing down Southern States fertilizer early, my average corn yield has increased 10 bushels per acre." Kenneth Porter, Gracey, Ky.

"Plowing down Southern States fertilizer early gives me a chance to plant early, and that almost always means a better crop." William McAtee, Cadiz, Ky.

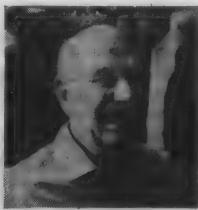

"Corn utilizes plant food better when it's plowed down early. That means a better-paying crop." Kyle Bruce, Hopkinsville, Ky.

"Early plow-down eliminates the soil compaction caused by driving over wet land in the spring." Rudy Horak, Chester, Va.

"By plowing down my Southern States fertilizer in the fall, I get my work done when there's less rush." Hunter Greenlaw, Fredericksburg, Va.

"We find that corn fertilized by the early plow-down method shows much less drought damage than corn fertilized in the row." Oscar Meier, Clarksburg, Md.

"Fall plow-down is economical because it lets you buy early when fertilizer prices are usually lower." Gregory Smith, Culpeper, Va.

"I get my Southern States fertilizer down and my plowing done in the fall when the ground is in good condition." John Orrock, Fredericksburg, Va.

"Fall plow-down makes my job easier in the spring. It's a real life saver if we have a wet spring." Robert Cramer, Adamstown, Md.

"We tried both ways and we got better results with some of our Southern States plant food plowed down early." Earl Page, Adamstown, Md.

"Plowing down early eliminates the problem of hold-up of delivery. We don't have delays at planting time." J. H. McDevitt, Culpeper, Va.

If you too want increased yields, better distribution of work load, better results in drought years, plus all the other benefits of Fall Fertilizer Plow-Down, see your Southern States Agency now. You'll find that it also pays to top dress small grains and pastures in the fall.

Do you know that you lift and lug five thousand pounds of wet wash out to the clothesline every year?

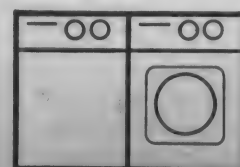

And, that's just for an average size family.

An automatic Gas or Electric Dryer solves washday weight lifting problems.

Besides, you can dry clothes any time: rain or shine, day or night.

Dryer dried things are soft and fluffy and have a fresh, clean smell. And, they won't fade or tear... when dried automatically.

Boone Country
October 17, 1968

Dear Editor:

Would it be possible for you to publish, in our paper, the lengthy story and picture of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Huey who referred to in "The Mineral Wells Index"? We'd all enjoy it, I know.

And I want to express gratitude

HOME COUNTRY

Lesson for October 27, 1968

Background Scriptures: 1 Peter 1:1-2, 10-25; 2:1-17.
Devotional Readings: 1 Peter 1:1-12.

"Consider yourself... at home!" sings Artful Dodger to Oliver in the musical adaptation of Oliver Twist. For a while, Oliver does just that, making himself "at home" in a group of juvenile petty thieves and pickpockets. He soon realizes, however, that he cannot truly be "at home" there, for there is something better waiting for him.

There is analogy here for our lives. We are constantly invited and tempted to make ourselves "at home" in this world. Yet the Christian must never forget that there is something better waiting for him. His stay here is but a sojourn, a brief stay.

That is why the writer of I Peter calls us "aliens" and "exiles." The two Greek words for these terms, parokhos and paridemos, describe someone who lives for a while in a country that is not his own. It is but his temporary residence. As one whose ultimate destination is a distant homeland, he must not do anything here that would invalidate his passport to the far country.

Thus the Christian must regard society differently than others. Its morals and values are not necessarily his own. His highest allegiance goes to another kingdom and thus he must be considered a sojourner, an alien. His residence here is but temporary. His citizenship, his passport have been issued elsewhere.

A chosen race

What then is the Christian's valid relationship to society? Shall he ignore the world in which he lives? Shall he hide from it? Seek to remain aloof from it?

No, says Peter. The Christian's alien influence must be felt here. For he is part of "a chosen race."

Unlike the biological races of man, he does not become a Christian by virtue of ancestry or heredity. He is part of this race because God has called him and he has responded. He is invited, not because of what he naturally is, but because of what, by the grace of God, he can become. Responding rightly to this call, he must be different.

We are also "a royal priesthood." "Royal" because we serve Christ the King, and "Priesthood" because we are intended to bring others into his service. The priest offers sacrifices and the Christian offers himself sacrificially for the sake of the King and his kingdom.

Christians are part of "a holy nation." To be "holy" means to be set apart from others for a particular purpose. As a "holy nation," therefore, we are a fellowship of those who have been marked for a particular mission in this world.

Finally, we are "God's own people." He has made us, called us, and set us apart so that we might belong to him and serve him alone. It is this loyalty to him above all else that marks us as aliens and exiles wherever we go in this world.

"When in Rome..."

All this, of course, has a purpose. We are "a chosen race," "a royal priesthood," "a holy nation," and "God's own people," so that we may be witnesses and agents of the home country in this world of darkness. Though this world is not our final destination, though we owe our allegiance to his kingdom alone, we must faithfully do our work of representation here if we are ever to return to that home country.

"When in Rome," goes the old saying, "do as the Romans do." But the Christian cannot content himself with simply "fitting in." If he is a disciple of Christ he cannot consider himself at home. He regards this world as "a nice place to visit," but he does not really want to live here. He will make it as much like the homeland as possible, but he will be ready to leave for the home country when the call comes.

(Based on outline copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. Released by Community Press Service.)

to each one writing concerning Frontier Worlds. Jim Lawrence, one article was not enough, why not more?

When six of us Johnsons were at home on Beaver Road, on cold, cold, winter nights, in front of a roaring grate fire, we sat enthralled as our father, Albert Johnson, spun yarns of how he and Daniel Boone hunted together. And when company came, this was our favorite pastime.

Now, we are grown, but are thrilled that Fess Parker and his associates are going to bring the past to life again through Frontier Worlds.

And to Jesse, where ever you are located, the greater part of your town will be working toward a better "Boone Country." Opportunity is knocking at our door;

True, she's knocked many times before.

Let's combine efforts and take a stand And really build a Frontier Land. Fess Parker will lead the way; To a land of yesterday; And although we've just begun I've sent invitations for 1971!

Meet you at the Mayflower!

It's easy—when you know the answers

All of life is not far removed from the classroom. There are truths to be learned every day. And there are questions to be answered.

But some people don't have the answer when they need it. And some people do...

Any teacher will tell you it's a question of preparation. And any preacher will tell you the same.

The people who go to church on Sunday have no more problems than those who stay home. Nor do they expect as a result to have any fewer.

They believe simply in preparation—preparation of the mind, conscience, heart and soul... faith.

This is the preparation God offers men... for the questions that will confront us all tomorrow!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...

...ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Letter To The Editor:

Dear Editor:

The Walton Lions Auxiliary will hold their annual eye examinations at Walton-Verona Schools beginning Wednesday, October 23rd. Please, parents, if you receive a note saying your child did not pass this test, take them to a professional eye doctor immediately for their safety. I thought my child could see perfectly also. Last year's Lions examination proved me to be wrong. Jennifer, our daughter, would have been totally blind in one eye in a few months due to a condition called a "Lazy Eye." All children at the age of three should be tested professionally as this condition can be corrected if caught in time. I hope our experience can help some other child.

My husband and I will be indebted to the Walton Lions Club and Auxiliary for the rest of our lives.

Thank You,
Mrs. Thomas R. Johnson

Mrs. Minnie Karch and daughter, Martha, of Elwood, Ind., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wallace, South of Walton. On Sunday, Mrs. Karch and daughter were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Marsh of Verona.

Doggett Candidate For School Board

I, Arthur H. Doggett, announce my candidacy for the Walton-Verona School Board, subject to the November 5 election.

I am presently Chairman of the Walton-Verona Board of Education and have been a board member for 15 years. I reside at Verona with my wife, Mildred, and two sons, David and Dennis.

During my terms as a board member I have promoted or helped to promote and approved the addition of several improvements for the Walton-Verona school. These improvements include: A full time band program, an accredited Home Economics Department, a driver training program, Commerce Department, a full time Guidance Counselor, an Industrial Arts Department, and an Educational Television program. One of the latest programs we have added is a vocational training program for both boys and girls. These students are transported each day to the Northern Kentucky Vocational School, Covington. This program will benefit many who do not choose to attend college. Every child will or has benefited from one or more of these extra programs.

I have on every occasion supported and recommended each wage increases for our teachers, cooks, custodians, and the bus drivers.

At the present time we have the finest fleet of buses and the best transportation system in the history of our school. These buses are equipped with the latest safety devices.

The Walton-Verona School has held a Standard rating, one of the highest ratings in the state, for the past two years. I am very proud of this achievement. There are only a few schools in Northern Kentucky which have this rating.

I have worked personally through the years with top men in the Department of Education in Frankfort, to improve our school. Many long hours of work have gone into making our school the best possible.

I pledge to support, as in the past, programs which would continue to benefit our school and thus achieve a better education for our children. My record and qualifications speak for themselves. I solicit your support and your vote in the coming November 5th election.

Rouse Speaks At UK College of Law

Asa M. Rouse, Walton attorney, was guest speaker at the University of Kentucky College of Law, October 14.

Mr. Rouse, who graduated from UK in 1953, was chosen by W. L. Matthews, Dean of the College, to address the student body on the subject, "General Practice of Law."

Participating in the college-sponsored seminar were five other attorneys, each of whom also spoke, their subjects concerning the practice as a corporation lawyer, government employee, and practice in the large city.

Rouse has been honored twice previously with requests by the College of Law to speak there and to participate in legal seminars.

In addition to his general practice of law which was commenced in Walton shortly after his graduation, Mr. Rouse also serves as Trail Commissioner of Boone County under Judge Bruce Ferguson.

TURKEY SHOOT SUNDAY

The Johnson-McElroy Post No. 277 is sponsoring their fifth annual Turkey Shoot on Sunday, November 10th, starting at noon, on the American Legion Grounds out High Street in Walton.

In addition to the turkey shoot, the Legion will have a social starting at 2:00 p. m. Homemade bean soup will be the speciality served as part of the refreshments.

For the turkey shoot, bring your gun—12, 16 or 20 gauge.

The Legion invites all gun lovers and sportsmen to come to this annual event.

Greater Walton Business Association Meets Nov. 6

The Greater Walton Businessmen's Association will meet Wednesday night, November 6, at 8 p. m., at First Federal Savings and Loan Company building on U. S. 25, just south of Walton. At that time, representatives of Frontier Worlds plan to be on hand to explain more in detail, Walton's role in this development.

The organization was formed earlier this month as a group seeking to build the community of Walton and work in cooperation with Frontier Worlds, especially in programs of mutual benefit to both. Business and professional men and women in the area who have not yet joined the organization are cordially invited to attend. By-laws should be ready for the group's approval at this meeting.

Jewel Manor Visited By Club Members

Mrs. Robert Eisenschmidt, Mrs. Preston Art, Mrs. Joseph Sargent, Mrs. Chester Sturgeon, Mrs. Asa M. Rouse, Mrs. W. W. Rouse, Mrs. Clayton Jones and Mrs. Jack Rouse enjoyed a trip by car last Thursday.

First stop by the group was at Kentucky Village near Lexington where the group toured the girls section. Girls ages 14 to 18 are sent here by the courts for correction. The group went then to Louisville where lunch was enjoyed and in the afternoon the ladies went to Anchorage to have a tour of Jewel Manor, the recently completed home for delinquent girls ages 8 to 14.

Jewel Manor was the main project of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs during the recent terms of their president, Jewel Hamilton. The Women's Clubs of Kentucky raised a large sum of money and with additional state funds had a very active part in getting this new home for the younger girls in operation.

All members of the Wa-Na Club and the Walton Woman's Literary Club should see the beautiful place they had a part in building, as a home for these younger girls that are needing care and correction. Mrs. W. W. Rouse is a member of the Walton Woman's Club.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

World Day of Prayer will be observed on November 4, 1968, at First Baptist Church, Walton. A program will be given, 9:00 to 11:00 a. m. The church will be open from 9:00 a. m. until 6:00 p. m. "Come, let us pray together."

Final Request For the Names of Servicemen

The Ladies Auxiliary of Boone County Memorial Veterans of Foreign Wars Post, No. 6090, are making a final request to parents and friends of servicemen from Boone County who are serving in Viet Nam, who would like for them to receive a gift package for Christmas, to please send their names and addresses to Mrs. Ada Horton, Union, Ky. 41091.

The deadline will be November 12, so please don't delay as the boxes will be made up and wrapped to be sent during the regular meeting on this date at the home of Mrs. Shirley Ferguson at 8 p. m.

Independence Turkey Shoot

A turkey shoot will be held on Sunday, November 3, at St. Cecilia Church, Independence, starting at 1:30 p. m. 12-gauge shotguns only. Bring your own gun or one will be furnished. Shells also provided. Refreshments will also be available on the grounds.

Turkey and Ham Dinner

The Independence Christian Church will sponsor their annual Turkey and Ham dinner in the Simon Kenton High school cafeteria on Saturday, November 2. Serving will be between 5:00 and 8:00 p. m. Adult dinners will be $1.50 and children 75c. Everyone is invited.

IS YOUR SUBSCRIPTION PAID?

Waller Candidate Local School Board

During the next few months, your school board will be forced to make some very important decisions relative to a building program and possible merger with the Boone County School System. Your school board is now taking a hard look at our present situation with a study in progress by the State Department of Education to determine what avenues are open to us.

I would like to continue to work with your present school board to provide the best educational opportunity for all our children which can be obtained practically from the tax base of this community. We hope to do this within the framework of our present school and I will strive to maintain this independent system as long as we feel we are providing a better school environment than can be made available to our children in a consolidated system.

However, if, after careful study, I am convinced that merger will provide a superior education for our children at the various levels, I would not hesitate to recommend consolidation with the Boone County System. Our children come first and we should do everything which is financially practical to provide a superior school for them.

My qualifications for the job include my profession which allows me to keep a finger on the pulse of the community, experience as a teacher giving me insight into some of their problems, and finally, three daughters which will keep my attention focused on the local schools for at least the next 18 years.

Your vote to allow me to remain on your school board on November 5th will be appreciated.

—WILLIAM M. WALLER

Veterans Benefit Day On Nov. 2nd

Through an effort of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Servicemen's Board, together with the cooperation of The American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Veterans of World War I, American Veterans of World War II, United Spanish War Veterans, and Kentucky Paralyzed Veterans, will sponsor a Veterans Benefit Day in Covington, on November 2, at the Latonia American Legion Post, No. 203, from 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. The purpose of this service is to insure every veteran, widow, orphan and other dependents that they are receiving those benefits provided by the laws passed by Congress and the State of Kentucky. Capable personnel will be on hand to aid those seeking claims or advice. Any claims or forms needed to be filed will be completed that day.

If you have any questions as to pension, compensation, death claims, rehabilitation, education, G. I. loans, schooling, guardianship, hospitalization, out-patient medical care, insurance, Social Security, Medicare, veterans and handicapped employment rights, Civil Service, you should make arrangements to go to Latonia American Legion Post, located at 38th and Winston, Nov. 2, for counseling.

Member of The National History Honorary Chapter

Allen Rust, a Senior of the college of Arts and Sciences in the History department has accepted membership in Phi Alpha Theta, the newly organized honorary society in history that has just been established on the Eastern Kentucky University Campus, at Richmond.

Mr. Rust received his invitation to be a member "because of his superior academic record, both in history courses and in other disciplines," in a letter from faculty advisor, Keith Algier of College of Arts and Sciences.

An installation ceremony is being planned sometime in November.

Allen Rust graduated from Walton-Verona in 1965 and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rust of 57 South Main Street, Walton.

Helicopter Creates Some Excitement Last Wednesday

A few moments of excitement was experienced last Wednesday afternoon on North Main Street, here in Walton.

A helicopter, carrying Miss Katherine Peden, and a pilot landed in the field of Miss Mary West just across the highway from the Advertiser. The pilot consulted with Walton Patrolman Jim Lovell regarding the location of Green Road. The local officer obliged by driving up to the junction of the road in question, using his red emergency light as a signal.

Miss Peden was enroute to the Charles Deters property for a coffee gathering.

Residents and those passing by, especially the school children, were thrilled to see something different to break the monotony of a warm autumn afternoon.

Annual Meeting of Boone Homemakers

Raymond Lickert, Area Extension Director of Northern Kentucky, spoke to the Boone County Homemakers Association at their annual meeting held at Barkley House. He said that Extension was developed to meet the needs of the people, beginning with the federal department of agriculture and coming down through the Land Grant colleges to the local level. Extension makes a constant effort to update their methods and teachings to meet the needs of changing times and the development of area extension specialist is a part of this effort.

Miss Nancy White, area extension agent, told the assembled Homemakers how happy she was to return to Boone County after her year of study in Washington. George C. Young, president of the Better Business Bureau of Cincinnati, spoke to the group on the services of the Bureau. During the past year, the Bureau has established a Consumer Council in Cincinnati to educate the public and to provide consumer and business dialogue. The council is the first in the country and sponsors free forums at the Convention Center.

Mrs. Edward Lay, county president, presided at the meeting.

Mrs. Charles Riehmann, vice-president, was in charge of the arrangements. Mrs. Francis Briggs was chairman of the nominating committee. Newly elected officers, joining Mrs. Lay and Mrs. Robert Hesseman, treasurer, are Mrs. J. B. Wendt, vice president and Mrs. James Burden, secretary.

The J. C. Penny Company presented a style show, following lunch. Make-up was done by Mrs. Clara Chasteen of 220 Cosmetics. The following Homemakers modeled the lovely fall clothes: Mrs. John B. Van Lierop, Hebron club; Mrs. David Brodie, Burlington Road club; Mrs. Charles Spriggs, Cooperative club; Mrs. Kenneth Baldwin, Florence club; Mrs. Gladys Stevens, Mrs. Cheryl Erdman, Gunpowder club; Mrs. Laura Newton, Hebron club; Mrs. Jackvinn Wondt, Mrs. Russell Clark, Pt. Pleasant club; Mrs. Joe Sargent, Walton club; Mrs. Robert Taylor, Burlington Road club was the Coordinator.

ADDRESSES NEEDED

The Wa-Na Woman's Club is again planning to remember the local servicemen from Verona and Walton who will be in Vietnam for Christmas.

The club would like to remember all the men in the service but that would be impossible, so they are limiting the project to boys serving in the Vietnam area. Mrs. Harry Henson is contacting the local churches to get names or correct mailing addresses of these boys. Anyone who has the name of a serviceman whose parents or wife lives in Walton or Verona, please call 485-7211 and give Mrs. Henson the address.

As a service to Advertiser readers and friends of these servicemen, the club plans to publish these addresses this year so that others might remember our local boys serving in the Vietnam area at the Christmas season when they will be so far from loved ones.

Masonic Cornerstone Laying, November 3

On November 3, at 3:00 p. m., Bradford Lodge, 123, F&AM, will see Grand Master of Kentucky, John Chandler, and his Grand Officers lay the cornerstone of the new Masonic Temple at Independence.

At the present time Bradford Lodge leases their meeting space from the Bank of Independence. Due to growth of the bank and the necessary machinery needed, the bank had to take over the second floor. The lodge has leased this second floor space since December 27, 1920.

Bradford Lodge has not always had to lease their meeting place. When the lodge was organized in October, 1941, they rented their meeting place but it was not long in getting their own home on Sept. 1946. The first owned home was destroyed by fire but was rebuilt in 1950. The ravages of time necessitated the abandonment of the lodge-owned structure in 1920. This was when the lodge leased the second floor of the Bank of Independence.

Preceding the cornerstone laying, Sunday, a parade will begin at 2:30 p. m. at the North end of Independence at Sylvan Drive and proceed through Independence to the South side of Peach Drive and Route 17, where the new structure is under construction.

Members of the lodge are expecting about 10,000 people.

The following will participate in the parade: Holmes High Band, Independence Fire Dept., Jobs Daughters, Eastern Star, Syrian Temple, Kenton County Police, Newport and Covington Command, floats from the Independence Christian Church, Jobs Daughters and Eastern Star; drill teams and bugle corps, Tropanetter, Blue Bells, Queen City Cavaliers, Golden Nights, Eladardos, Ludlow Bugle Corps, Bill Harp Bugle Corps, The Four Steps, the High Steppers, Revelets, Latonia Youth Club; the Covington DelMolay, Kessime Grotto, Oola Khan Grotto, Syrian Circus Queen, U. S. Marine Corps Color Guard, and horses, and old cars.

Pioneers Wallop Russell, 39 to 7

Although Charlie Siffel was double and sometimes triple teamed, the Simon Kenton junior again proved unstoppable as he led his Pioneer mates to a 39-7 win over Russell, on the road, last Friday night.

The state scoring leader racked up three touchdowns while picking up 279 yards on the ground in 27 carries. In all, the Pioneers got 369 yards on the ground, and 42 on the passing of Chuck Tolliver.

Ray Siffel ripped off a 14-yard scoring run early in the first quarter. Quarterback Tolliver got the second on a 6-yard carry, and Jay Lehman recovered a fumble on the 30 and sprinted into the end zone for the third score.

The first of Charlie's touchdowns came in the second quarter. However, the visitors failed to score in the third quarter. But coach Jim Jenkins sent Charlie back into the game in the fourth period for two more scores.

On Friday, November 1, the Pioneers go to Beechwood for a conference game.

Literary Club to Meet

The Walton Woman's Literary Club will have the next meeting at the Walton Christian Church at 1:30 p. m., Wednesday Nov. 6th.

Dessert will be served at the beginning of the meeting.

Speakers will be Mrs. Milton Valentine. The subject will be "Our Heritage in Antiques". Anyone having some unusual pieces is asked to bring them to the meet.

Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Lloyd Watson, Miss Mary West and Miss Rachel Acree.

BOOSTER TURKEY SHOOT

The Simon Kenton Boosters Club is having a turkey shoot November 2, 1968, from 4:00 to 10:00 p. m., at the football field at the school. The price is $1.39. You're invited.

Local Student at A Radio Station

Peggy Ann Crosthwaite

One of the graduates of Simon Kenton High School class of 1967 making good in her desire for higher education is Miss Peggy Ann Crosthwaite, 19, a student at Morehead State University.

Miss Crosthwaite, a sophomore, is a Journalism major and is employed parttime at the college radio station, WMKY-FM. This opportunity came both by choice and chance.

It was announced in Journalism class one day that some opportunities might be available at the radio station. Peggy inquired that very day and began to work soon as a news editor. When the newscaster failed to report to work one day, Miss Crosthwaite did the broadcast. She now does three newscasts a week.

She also composes a 15-minute "Fashion Boutique" show which is taped during the week for presentation on Saturday. This feature includes interviews with faculty members or their wives on the latest in fashions and fads.

Peggy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Farrell Crosthwaite of Percival Road, Rt. 1, Walton. She has a brother, Mark, age 10. The Crosthwaites are members of Walton United Methodist Church.

Ferguson Candidate Kenton School Board

I have, to coin a phrase, "tossed my hat in the ring" for the Board of Education, Second District, of Kenton County. This includes the voting precincts of Decoursey, Fairview, Spencer Store, Taylor Mill, Oak Ridge, Cherokee, Whites Tower School, Independence 1 & 2, Elsmere 2, 3 & 4, and Erlanger 4. I am Dorra Mae Ferguson, 6779 Taylor Mill Pike. My phone number is 356-2434.

As to my qualifications: I have five years experience on the school bus, seven years active duty on the PTA, and I have children of my own in Kenton County schools. I also have three years experience as girl scout leader of Troop 44 of Taylor Mill School.

It would be greatly appreciated if you would be a "name dropper" and let your friends and neighbors know of me.

Your vote would be of great help to me in the coming election. Thank you.

Boone County GOP Offers Rides to Polls November 5

Voters wishing rides to the polls election day may get help by calling Boone County Republican Headquarters, 282-8144. From this central location volunteers will be sent to take voters to and from the polls.

For those wishing voting information, Boone County GOP Headquarters will be open afternoons and evenings until election day.

Revival at Carter's Chapel

Revival services will be held at Carter's Chapel United Methodist Church, East of Crittenden, beginning November 3. Services each evening at 7:30.

Everyone is welcome. There will be special singing every night. Rev. Verne Smith, pastor will do the preaching. You are invited to hear this man of God.

Ryland Heights Open House

The Ryland Heights PTA will meet November 12, at 7:30 p. m., in the school auditorium.

A Christmas decoration display will be shown during and after the meeting, and everyone will be given the opportunity to purchase the items displayed. The display will also be shown at the December meeting.

After the business meeting, open house tours will be conducted. Refreshments will be served, and a baby sitter provided.

Letter To The Editor:

In answer to the letter of Mr. R. V. Lents, Florence—

Mr. R. V. Lents started his letter in the Walton Advertiser of October 24 in saying that he personally liked Mr. M. Gene Snyder, then immediately starts out to criticize most everything he has done.

In criticizing one of the best Congressman we have every had, he has failed to recognize that Mr. Snyder has been representing all the people back home, instead of just the people that voted for him. That is why Mr. Lents don't know whether he is a Republican or Independent. He has been used to a Congressman that represented only the voters that sent him to Washington.

Mr. Snyder is always in Washington to vote and look out for our interests and he frequently comes home to check to see if he is pleasing the people and if he can be of any better service to them.

I can recall some time back when Mr. Lents was a candidate for Representative of Boone and Gallatin Counties. He canvassed the voters, stating his qualifications, what a good Democrat he was and what he could do for the people, if elected. He was defeated in the Primary.

If Mr. Lents had been elected and had to represent Boone and Gallatin Counties, would he have moved his family to Frankfort and not come back until the Legislature adjourned?

Mr. Lents seems to find fault with all the Republicans. Maybe some day he will find some he could like.

And another thing, he claims that the Communists, Hippies and Yippies are responsible for all the riots and trouble, which is true, and the Republicans and Democrats are not to blame, which is also true, yet he cannot resist a little dig at the Republicans in stating that most of the trouble is in states that have Republican governors.

Another thing I would like to explain to Mr. Lents is maybe the reasons that Mr. Snyder and Gov. Nunn are saying some of the things he claims is that they can see the handwriting on the wall.

We have a two-party system with the Democrats with their principles and policies, and the Republicans with the things they stand for, and should a third party move in with enough power, promising things to the country and people that they would be unable to carry out, our country, which we love so well, would be in a very bad shape and what do we do next?

A lot depends on the outcome of the November 5 election.

Respectfully,
WILBUR D. KELLY

Letter To The Editor:

Dear Editor,

Within the last few months several ideas and possibilities have been mentioned that affects our community.

As a result of this many comments have been made and various plans are being formulated. This is a healthy sign that people have become interested in what is taking place.

Your paper has carried these events as they have occurred. You and your staff have presented some wise and timely editorial comments. And as a service to the public you publish letters from individuals who will sign such letters.

I have tried to read and understand every one of these letters so I would know what other people think.

Some of the opinions seem to indicate that there may be a small group or a few individuals who are able to stop completely any progressive moves. This may be true, I do not know. If it is it does not speak well of the majority who favor these and see future value of such moves.

Other opinions seem to think the "Big Park" will be the answer to all our problems. Surely, this cannot be true. In all I have read on this subject I cannot see any magic involved that solves any of our local problems.

There is a need to start solving some present problems before the new ones, created by the park, arrives. This is a community-wide challenge.

I would like to speak in behalf of one subject that has been left out of all of these opinions concerning our community needs. That is our local schools.

I could not tell from the comments if this subject was ignored or the intense thinking on the other subjects caused it to be forgotten.

Good local schools are among the first signs of a progressive community. People who have lived in places where the schools "died," so to speak, will testify to what its loss meant. New business considers local schools high on their list of needs.

I firmly believe that our school system is needed more now than ever before. I firmly believe any difficulties faced by the school board can be overcome in such a manner we can all benefit from them. We must remember that the schools belong to both Walton and Verona.

All communities are divided into many areas of thought. They are all a part of our life if we are to be a part of the community. These various ideas must be gathered in to a working program if Walton is to be a progressive area. Yes, Walton has a good chance to grow if we really want it to.

I wish to thank our Mayor and City Council for the many hours they have spent in efforts to overcome our present problems as well as presenting new ideas.

Thank you,
J. B. McCUBBIN

Man and Woman Killed On I-75, Last Friday

A Flint, Mich., man and woman were killed at 6:45 a. m., last Friday on I-75, one mile south of Walton. The vehicle was traveling south when it skidded off the wet expressway, went into a ditch and came back up on the shoulder of the road, according to State Trooper James Wilson. The 1961 Chevrolet hit the guardrail broadside.

The two were tentatively identified as Arthur G. Abbott and Deana Abbott. Both died of skull fractures, according to Boone County Deputy Coroner Don Smith.

The bodies were taken to the Chambers and Grubbs Funeral Home, Walton.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—Last year I attended college under the GI Bill. I plan to return to school this fall, but desire to enter a different college. Must I notify VA in advance?

A—Yes. This will allow VA to process your payments much quicker and will permit them to issue you a new Certificate of Eligibility for the school of your choice.

Q—May I borrow on my GI Insurance to help pay college expenses for my son or daughter?

A—If you have a permanent plan GI insurance policy, you may borrow up to 84 percent of the cash value of the policy. The interest charge is 4 percent.

Q—I am a service-connected disabled veteran rated 50 percent disabled. My son is 22 years of age, is a Post-Korean veteran, and is enrolled in school under the new GI Bill. Am I still eligible for additional compensation?

A—Yes, you may be eligible for additional compensation (until your son reaches age 23) although he is receiving educational benefits as a veteran.

67 Bands March at Eastern

Saturday, October 19th was a scene of activity when 67 high school bands from all areas of the state of Kentucky and a few from out-of-state convened on the campus at Eastern State University, Richmond, to participate in the Band Day Parade in the morning and to attend a football game and perform as one group during the half time intermission. At this halftime performance there were 5000 students taking part and playing under one director.

Walton-Verona Band was in the parade and made a good showing. For the size of the school, the local band was one of the larger ones in the parade.

Several parents of the band members were in Richmond to see the parade.

Key points in Richard Nixon's new directions in farm policy

NEW SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE

"The first thing I will do is put a real farm man in charge of the Department of Agriculture—one who knows farming, who understands your problems, who is sympathetic toward your welfare, and one with whom you can work. I think that instead of having a secretary of agriculture who speaks for the White House to the farmers, we need a secretary of agriculture who speaks for agriculture to the White House."

CITY PROBLEMS LINKED WITH RURAL AMERICA

"The hard truth is that many of our city problems are rooted in rural decay. The time has come for major improvements in the opportunities and quality of rural life. I feel this primarily because it is right for our rural people, especially those trapped in poverty, but also because we can hardly hope to triumph over city problems if the heavy migration from the rural areas into the cities is not stemmed."

"More than half of our citizens below the poverty level live in rural America, farm unemployment is twice as high as city unemployment, and half the nation's inadequate housing is found in rural areas."

FARM PRICES MUST BE IMPROVED

"Parity prices the last eight years have averaged 77%. Farmers deserve, must have better than that. It is important to you—to the nation. More than 8 million American families have a direct financial stake in farms. And countless others handle farm and food products."

"We must put the reins in more capable hands who know and understand farmers—who really believe that farm prices should be higher—and who will do something about it."

"I will see that that is done—as a first order of business in January."

EXPORTS ARE VITAL

"It is very disturbing that farm exports in the fiscal year just ended dropped nearly half a billion dollars below the year before. This must be reversed."

"Overseas sales and trade must be expanded. At the same time we must protect United States farmers from unfair foreign competition. There is an opportunity to market commodities more aggressively overseas while protecting our farmers and ranchers against uncompetitive subsidized imports."

TO EASE HIGH COSTS

"First, we will give you a dollar that will keep its worth. We will use fiscal sanity and responsibility in conducting the affairs of the nation. We will stop the vast red-ink spending that has caused the skyrocketing costs."

"During the last eight years, the level of prices farmers pay has jumped 18%, almost five times faster than in the previous eight years."

"Farm debt per farm has more than doubled. I am not satisfied with this—and I do not think farmers are either."

FOR GREATER BARGAINING POWER

"My party's platform pledges sympathetic consideration of proposals to encourage farmers—especially small producers—to develop their bargaining position. I support that position—and will explore ways to give the farmer a stronger hand in bargaining for fairer prices."

"Any legislation in this area ought to let farmers bargain effectively and fairly."

PROGRAM CHANGES PLANNED

"The first thing I would do is put an end to the dumping of CCC stocks on the market to depress prices."

"We will strengthen markets so more of your income can come from the market—which will give you both higher prices and greater freedom to manage your own farm affairs."

THIS TIME,

NIXON.

Letter To The Editor:

October 24, 1968
Walton, Ky.

Dear Editor,

You were very firm not to let people take advantage of this column for Political reasons. It is supposed to be the "Voice" of interested people, with good as well as adverse praise. In other words the "Voice of the People."

I want to give our Walton Life Squad a big vote of thanks and praise and encouragement. Living here all these years I've never had occasion to call on them until the other night. A neighbor's baby was very ill, 105-degree fever and convulsions—let me tell you, they were here in five minutes flat with oxygen and other help—two of them had been ready to retire—they shall remain nameless—but folks give this a little thought—while we are attacking our little town—let's give credit where credit is due—how many of you would have gotten up from your warm beds to dash out in the night to save a tiny baby, without PAY or PRAISE? I really feel safer knowing there are folks here that care!

Sincerely,
MARIE BLIZZARD

P. S. How many people in town are interested in putting up some kind of plaque or board in front of City Hall with our boys names from Walton and surrounding area, serving their country here and in Viet-Nam? Write in, as I've asked several people and so far every one says we should do that but no one has yet started the idea rolling—this is the least we can do for those boys born and raised here, homesick and away from their home town, doing their best for us. Let's show them we care!

TAYLOR MILL PTA

The program of the Taylor Mill PTA, which convened in the school auditorium October 21 at 8:00 p. m., stressed not only the importance but also the purpose of reading. A short skit, "Timothy, the Little Gray Lamb," was enacted by Kimberly Brueggan, Lisa Barrier, Tommy Barrier, Eileen Feagan, Kevin Mahaney, Melanie Miller, and Jesse Potts, students of the school, under the direction of Mrs. Eugene Feagan, Mrs. Carlos Mahaney and Mrs. Larry Brueggan. The skit stressed the importance of reading and was followed by a film, "The Purpose of Reading." In keeping with the theme of the program and in recognition of "National Library Week," all present were invited by Mrs. Webb, librarian, and Mrs. Warren Wiersbe, library chairman, to visit a book display and the library immediately following the meeting.

Earlier in the evening, Mrs. Malcolm Fletcher, president, introduced the newly-elected Mrs. Bernard Humber, who will fill the office of vice-president, vacated by the recent resignation of Mrs. James Walter.

Mrs. Charles Stephenson, membership chairman, announced that the membership campaign will be open until November 8.

The winning room will be awarded a party plus the presence of "The General," the official mascot of the Taylor Mill PTA, in their room for one day. "The General" is a 7-foot toy soldier artistically assembled by Mrs. Stephenson.

Prior to the meeting a study group and discussion was held in the cafeteria for all parents and teachers of first and second grade students. Mrs. Massey served as group captain for the first grade while Mrs. Horton was captain for the second grade.

Staffordsburg

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

L. M. Deuser was ill on the weekend but is better.

Bluch Rich has been in the hospital a week but hopes to come home soon.

Mrs. Dawson Balthiger has been a bit under the weather for a few days, and did not feel like coming to church Sunday morning. So her good friends, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cooper, called in the afternoon. Their good, cheerful conversation worked wonders and on Monday, Bertie was feeling quite a lot better. Hope she is soon OK. We miss her.

Rev. Phillips' mother, Mrs. Conita San Pilipo, has visited here for a few weeks and made a number of friends. She is leaving at the end of the week. We will miss her but she leaves a fragrant memory.

Alfred Eugene Damon was taken very ill last weekend. On being taken to the hospital an operation was deemed necessary and it was performed quite early on Monday morning. The report is a good chance for recovery.

Mrs. J. B. Richardson, while preparing for sleep on Sunday evening caught her toe causing her to fall. When taken to the hospital on Monday, she was found to have broken her hip. We wish for her complete recovery. We will miss her cheer.

Miss Elsie Hiteman of Independence, accompanied by several nieces from Waynesville, Ohio, spent Sunday with Mrs. Hilda Hiteman on Klein Road.

Howard Frederick is home from the hospital and feeling better.

Mrs. Myrtle Deuser, who has been ill for a few months, is not making the progress we would like to see. Hope she soon begins to mend.

Rev. Giesler, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, plans to be our speaker Sunday evening, Nov. 3, at 7:30. We have been disappointed on two occasions but we hear that Rev. Giesler plans to be here. Can't you come?

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Kreuger, the cousins of the Rich family, are visiting relatives here, but returning to Kansas sooner than planned because of storms at home since they came away. Mrs. Agnes Caldwell brought them to visit the Bluch Rich family, Tuesday.

Attending Barbourville

Miss Frances Ammer, 11 Fairview Court, Walton, has enrolled at Union College for the fall term.

Miss Ammer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Ammer, is enrolled in the senior class. She is majoring in elementary education. Union is a senior liberal arts college with an enrollment of 900 students.

Attend Homecoming Events

Mr. and Mrs. Joe P. Tackett, III, of Florence, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cannoy of Florence, and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Laubisch of Covington, attended the annual homecoming activities October 18-19 on the Morehead State University campus in Morehead.

Boone County DAR To Meet Nov. 6th

The Boone County Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution was represented Sunday, October 13, by Mrs. Francis Sayre, regent, at the dedication of a Rose Window at Phillips Church, Race Street and McMicken Ave., Cincinnati. The Rose Window is in memory of "those who gave their last full measure of devotion."

Pastor of Phillips Church is Rev. Stephen T. Szilagyi, who was formerly pastor of Bromley United Church of Christ. He was a refugee twice in his native East Europe because of the Communists. While serving the Bromley church Rev. Szilagyi was presented the DAR Americanism Medal by the Boone County DAR.

The next meeting of the Boone County DAR will be held at the home of Mrs. Samuel Denham, Jr. in Florence, on Wednesday, Nov. 6 at 7:30 p. m. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Denham, Mrs. Ronald Crume, Mrs. Howard Allen, Mrs. Ronald Noel, Mrs. Henry Hayes and Mrs. John D. Williams.

The speaker, Mrs. Charles Z. Alphin, Walton, will talk on "Recollections of Yesterday from the McGuffey Readers." Mrs. Alphin, a graduate of Georgetown College, with a Bachelor of Arts degree, belongs to Alpha Delta Kappa, National Honorary Sorority. She has taught in Cincinnati, in Ft. Thomas and at present teaches in Beechwood High School, Ft. Mitchell.

Marlow COOK

THE LEADER...

MARLOW COOK

Marlow COOK

THE VETERAN...

...The Man...

Marlow W. Cook, at 42, is one of the most experienced young Republican officeholders in Kentucky. Judge Cook has just completed nine years of continuous public service.

A resident of Jefferson County since 1942, he entered the Navy at 17, and served aboard a submarine in both the Atlantic and Pacific during World War II.

After the war, Marlow Cook entered the University of Louisville. He was graduated from the U. of L. Law School in 1950, and has since been a practicing attorney in Kentucky.

A lifelong Republican, he has worked for the Republican party, starting at the precinct level, ever since returning from World War II.

He made his first race, for the Kentucky House of Representatives, in 1957, and was re-elected in 1960. He served in the House with distinction, obtained a thorough working knowledge of State Government, and quickly gained recognition as a leader. He was vice chairman of the special House committee investigating education in Kentucky, and a member of the Legislative Research Commission planning and zoning committee.

In 1961, Judge Cook was selected County Judge by a 20,000 vote majority, the largest county judge majority on record, and the first Republican Jefferson County Judge elected in 12 years. His 1961 victory came after a 9 month campaign that began with his victory in a hard-fought Republican primary, after which Republicans united for a smashing November win.

In 1965, Judge Cook, running for re-election on his four year record, was given an overwhelming vote of confidence, winning by a majority of 54,792 votes—a Republican record surpassed in Jefferson County only by Senator Cooper in 1966.

In his first statewide race, the Republican gubernatorial Primary of 1967, Judge Cook came within 3,800 votes of victory. That fall he went to work and made speeches throughout Kentucky for the victorious Republican primary candidate, Louie B. Nunn. Louie Nunn is the first Republican Governor of Kentucky in 24 years.

On May 28, 1968, Judge Cook, running again in a state-wide primary, was chosen as the Republican nominee to succeed Senator Thurston B. Morton.

A civic-minded man, Marlow Cook has been a director of the Neighborhood House, chairman of the board of overseers of Ursuline College, a Trustee of the University of Louisville, a director of the Louisville Junior Chamber of Commerce, and was 1959 winner of the St. Matthews Jaycee Distinguished Service Award. In 1961, he was named Louisville Junior Chamber of Commerce "man of the year," and the State of Kentucky Junior Chamber "outstanding young man of Kentucky."

Judge Cook and Mrs. Cook, the former Nancy Remmers, of Louisville, have four daughters and a son.

PINER PTA MEETING

The first meeting of the Piner PTA was held on October 17.

The meeting was called to order by president, Mrs. John Mullins.

Julie Glacken led the assembly in the pledge to the flag. The devotion were given by Mrs. David Wolfe, devotion chairman. She emphasized the five ways a child grows. They are physical, mental, emotional, social, and spiritual growth. A girls' trio from Wilmington Baptist church sang a special "While I Pray" accompanied by Mrs. Steinhauser.

The officers and committee chairmen for this school year were introduced by the president.

Plans for the Fall Festival were announced. It is to be held on November 22 from 5 to 9 p. m. Proceeds from the festival will be used toward purchasing equipment for the new physical program.

Room count awards were given to Mrs. Goshorn's first grade and Mrs. Steinhauser's fifth grade who got first prize; Mrs. Bailey's fourth grade, second prize; and Mrs. Stahl's sixth grade got third.

In observance of Open House, the program chairman introduced all of the faculty and made a few comments about each one.

After the meeting was adjourned, all were invited to visit the classrooms and for refreshments in the cafeteria.

U. A. OVER THE TOP

Metropolitan Cincinnati's 50-day United Appeal campaign went over its $9,241,420 goal by $90,057 last week.

In the Kenton and Boone areas the figures were as follows:

North Covington, Ludlow and Bromley, $23,011, 96.1 percent; South Covington, Latonia and Forest Hills, $6,590, 96 percent; Dixie Highway cities, $17,854, 103.1 percent; Erlanger, Elsmere and unincorporated Kenton County, $6,910 or 101.9 percent, and Boone County, $7,696, 113.1 percent. The total for the area was $94,610, 102.8 percent.

Celebrates 91st Birthday

Mrs. Edna Flynn, who lives on a farm near Fiskburg, celebrated her 91st birthday Saturday, Oct. 26th.

Two parties were given in her honor. The first was by the Piner Homemakers Club, of which she has been a member of 37 years. There was the traditional birthday cake, and she received a duster and gown and box of candy.

The other party was given by the Fiskburg Chapter, No. 334, Order of Eastern Star, which gave her a blue cardigan sweater. She has been a member of the chapter of 47 years.

She is presently serving as treasurer of the Daughters of America, Fiskburg Council, No. 59.

Mrs. Flynn lives on a 60-acre farm with a son, Emmet. Another son, Owen, lives on a nearby farm.

Her husband, Charles Flynn, a director of the Dixie State Bank, for many years, died in January of this year.

Mrs. Flynn is also an aunt of the Advertiser editor, and we congratulate her on reaching this milestone in her life, and wish her many more happy birthdays.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE KEY
Lesson for November 3, 1968
Background Scripture: Peter 1:3-9; 2:18-25; 3 through 5.
Devotional Reading: Peter 5:1-11.

Nothing so surprises some Christians than the fact of suffering. "What did I do to deserve this?" they ask in both bewilderment and indignation. "How can God do this to me? How can he let this happen?" In vain they search their memories for the remembrance of some sin that might explain or justify their present plight. Suffering seems to them an evidence that something is wrong, either with them or with God. Either they have made a mistake or he has. That there might be some other explanation seems never to occur to them.

Predictable consequence
Why? Is it because Christianity encourages us to inevitably regard suffering as punishment for sin? Of course not. Christ on the cross is the classic example of undeserved suffering. If everyone had the right to protest his suffering, Jesus died. Who would have been more justified to ask, "What did I do to deserve this? How can God let them do this to me?"

Despite the fact that Jesus was obedient to the will of his Father, he suffered. In fact, we might even say he suffered because of his obedience. It was the predictable consequence of his loyalty. And so it may be for all of us who seek to follow him. If we are obedient disciples, we are likely to find the cross a consequence of our obedience.

Indeed the writer of I Peter warns us: "Beloved, do not be surprised at the fiery ordeal which comes upon you to prove you, as though something strange were happening to you." (I Peter 4:12 RSV) Anyone who understands the meaning of discipleship ought not to be surprised when suffering comes upon him. There is no crown without a cross.

More than physical
Of course, there are different kinds of suffering. We tend to think only in terms of Jesus suffering on the cross, of Paul being persecuted, of Roman Christians dying in the arenas of Rome, of reformers dying at the hands of the Inquisition, and of missionaries undergoing terrible hardships in far-off lands. All of this makes the experience seem pretty remote — long ago and far away.

Yet suffering, according to my dictionary, means "to be subjected to pain, distress, injury, loss, or anything unpleasant." Thus, it can mean physical pain, but it doesn't have to. Suffering can also mean emotional distress or any unpleasantness. Even Christ's suffering on the cross was more than merely physical.

Rejoice!
Therefore, although we may not be called upon to bear physical pain for the sake of the Gospel here in America, we may still be called upon to bear periodic distress, rejection, ridicule, and unpleasantness. Sometimes these kinds of suffering are more frightening and insidious than mere physical pain. Often it is easier to die as a Christian martyr than it is to live as a Christian witness.

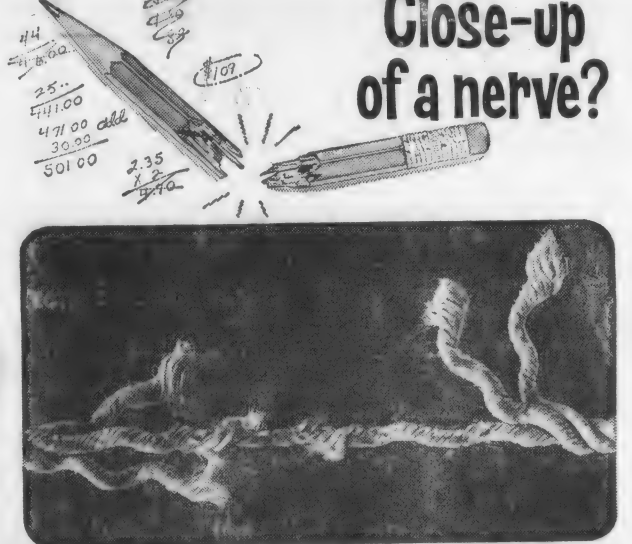

But Peter's counsel for the sufferer is not merely a negative "Don't be surprised." Along with the "Don't" there is also a "Do!" "... rejoice in so far as you share Christ's sufferings, that you may also rejoice and be glad when his glory is revealed." (I Peter 4:13 RSV) Suffering is a terrible foe and the only way to prevail over this enemy is to refuse to let him take away our faith and joy. If we can sincerely thank God for the privilege of suffering with Christ, the power of suffering will be broken. It is like defusing a deadly weapon. Our joy destroys its power to defeat us.

Here, then, is the two-edged key that enables us to meet suffering.

Don't be surprised... and ... Do rejoice!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Copyright 1968 Kester Advertising Service, Inc., Syracuse, Va.

No, it's just a rope... at the breaking point. But, frankly, it's a good illustration of how a man feels when his nerves are "worn to a frazzle."

The Church has never claimed that religion is a cure for frayed nerves. But a man's Christian faith does this for him:

It shows him a Purpose in life more important than mere existence. It shows him a Power more effective than his own strength. It shows him a Future more rewarding than selfish gain. And it gives him courage more lasting than the sheer force of his human will.

With these spiritual resources, founded in the certainty that God understands and helps, a man never reaches "the breaking point." For when his human reserve is exhausted... he has only begun to tap the vast reservoir of Divine Strength.

THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE CAN SHOW YOU THE WAY!

GENE SNYDER

KNOWS THE FARMER'S PROBLEMS

During his years in Congress, Gene Snyder has shown he knows farm problems first hand.

As a result his overall voting record—as it pertains to the farmer—ranks among the finest of ANY Kentucky Congressman. Gene has been active in the Kentucky Farm Bureau for many years.

Upon reelection he will continue to serve the farmer in Congress as he has in the past. He has pledged to do so—and experience proves he keeps his pledges.

Vote for the man who votes for the people of his district—M. G. "GENE" SNYDER.

GENE SNYDER DESERVES YOUR VOTE NOVEMBER 5.

Water Heaters Should Be Inspected, Is Report

Any home owner who plans to install a water heater of any type, should have it inspected for his own safety. Inspection can be obtained by calling the Boone County Plumbing Inspector, Joe Abell. Mr. Abell can be reached any Monday, Wednesday or Friday at the Boone County Health Department, 371-9002, between the hours of 8:00 and 10:00 a. m.

Attend Annual Meeting of Boone County Homemakers

The Walton Homemakers Club had six members present at the annual meeting at the Barkley House last Tuesday week.

Mrs. James R. Burden of the Walton Homemakers was elected to the office of secretary of the county organization and Mrs. Edward Lay also of the Walton club is serving a second year as the president.

Mrs. Joseph Sargent was a model for the style show which was presented during the luncheon hour.

Other members of the local homemaker group attending were Mrs. Donald McMillian, president of the Walton Club; Mrs. Rich Cain and Mrs. John Wood.

The old Spottswood House in Glasgow, is said to have been designed by George Washington.

Experience is a wonderful thing, for it enables you to recognize a mistake when you make it again.

VOTE FOR BETTER EDUCATION!

Let us take a look at the proposed tax of 55c per $100.00 assessment now before the Walton-Verona School Board. True this tax was passed by the voters in a close election on May 23, 1967. We feel this tax passed because the people were uninformed and misinformed. Fortunately the people now have a chance to take a second look at this issue and support the candidacies of Daniel D. Hance and Donald J. Rosenstiel for the Walton-Verona School Board, subject to the November 5 general election.

This tax of 55c per $100 assessment is a 72 per cent increase above the present tax rate, 80 per cent above the county rate and is to be levied for a period of 40 years. With this tax our grandchildren will be paying for a school building projected to meet our needs only 10 to 12 years. With the proposed abolition of the Verona elementary school, this new school will only slightly increase our total number of classrooms. In view of this we think the 10 to 12 year projection is highly optimistic. Also, all voters should be aware of the movement in the state legislature to force all small school districts to merge. This is about 5 years in the future; however, should we be forced to merge with the county, the county will not assume our debts incurred prior to merger.

With this type of disproportionate taxation, who, as individuals or industry, will be willing to buy or build in this area and expect normal property values as compared to the entire surrounding area? This tax will undoubtedly depress property values, create undue hardship on the taxpayers, especially the individual living on a fixed income and seriously jeopardize our present and future opportunity for growth.

We firmly believe good schools in the area are a necessity to growth; however, our school with a standard rating which has been recently raised from sub standard, without a tax increase, still rates below all surrounding school districts. These school systems have a comprehensive (the highest) rating which we must strive to achieve. This can not be done with pretty buildings alone but must be accomplished by a wider course range with qualified, highly skilled teachers geared toward the labor market in our highly technological society of today.

We solicit and appreciate your support in our effort to attain the best possible education for our children at a fair and just cost to the taxpayer. Positions on the ballot will be:

DONALD J. ROSENSTIEL
I have lived in Verona all my life and presently live on Ky. 14, Rural Route 1, with my wife, the former Vicki Logsdon, of Walton.
I attended the Walton-Verona schools for 12 years and after graduation entered the Army Reserve in the Williamstown Unit.
Presently, I am a self-employed farmer in partnership with my father, Harold Rosenstiel, and my brother, Vincent.
My wife and I are members of the New Bethel Baptist Church in Verona.
I have always been interested in school activities and civic functions, especially in giving a good educational program to the children of our communities.

DANIEL D. HANCE
I was born and reared in Walton and presently reside at 117 South Main Street with my wife and two children, ages three and six.
I attended Walton-Verona school for 13 years and have a B. S. Degree in Agriculture from Berea College. I have spent 2 years in the army and worked with a little league baseball team in Bellefontaine, Ohio, prior to my return to northern Kentucky.
I am employed as an inspector with the Railroad Perishable Inspection Agency.
My local heritage and ancestry (father is Evan M. Hance, farmer and lifetime resident of Walton) gives me a deep interest in seeing the southern Boone County area grow and remain viable.

Annual Meeting of The Future Farmers

On the 25th of October, the Simon Kenton Chapter, Future Farmers of America, held its annual meeting at 3:20 p. m. Steve Prince opened the meeting, and the secretary called the roll of members. There were 17 members, 29 freshmen, and two guests, Lueada Cheek and Brenda Cook.

Officers reports were given by: John Dillon, reporter; Rusty England, treasurer; Donald Mann, sentinel; Donald Courtney, vice-president, chapter program of work for November.

A special feature was given by Donald Courtney, Donald Mann on the National FFA Convention.

Committee reports were given by Gary Acuff, cooperation. He reported on "Farm-City Week," putting a for sale sign up down at the Ag Shop, and FFA supplies.

Donald Courtney moved that Steve Napier write a thank you letter to Floyd Kells and William E. Durr, which carried.

Jerry Bray, leadership, reported on the uses of the FFA jacket, and Tom Gunning on earnings and savings. Donald Mann on conduct of meetings. Rusty England moved that we hold FFA meetings the first Tuesday of the month, starting in December.

Wayne Acuff reported on scholarships; he moved that the scholarship write to some book companies to get some sample books for the chapter. John Dillon, recreation; Bob Osborn, supervised farming; Gary Acuff, moved that we tour Eden Shale Farm, Owen County, and the Farm Machine Show.

Thirty-one Greenhands were received into the chapter. Jerry Bray moved that we receive the Greenhands. Donald Courtney moved to amend the motion that the three boys that were not dressed up wear their clothes one at a time. Jerry Bray moved to adjourn the meeting and dispensed with the closing ceremonies, which carried.—Reporter

Turkey Shoot On Sunday

Don't forget the turkey shoot on Sunday, Nov. 10, sponsored by Johnson-McElroy Post American Legion at the Post home on High St., Walton. The affair will start at noon and end at dusk. 12-16-20 gauge guns will be allowed. You may also obtain home-made bean soup, and a social will begin at 2:00 p. m. for the ladies. Bring your own gun.

New Burley Barn To Be Inspected

Northern Kentucky tobacco growers will have the opportunity to see, examine, and to discuss the new burley barn that has been designed by the University of Kentucky Agriculture Engineering Department. According to William H. Green, Extension Agronomy Specialist, the meeting will be held November 12, from 4:00 to 7:00 p. m. on the Clarence (Duper) Craig property on U. S. 227, South of Carrollton, opposite General Butler State Park, behind the Case Garage. George Duncan of the University of Kentucky Agriculture Engineering Department will discuss the construction and advantages.

The main advantages are the smaller crew required and reduction in man-hours to house the tobacco. This is one of the first radical changes in tobacco barns for many years. Farmers will want to see this improved curing process.

BONFIRE & PEP RALLY

A bonfire Pep Rally, sponsored by the Student Council of Walton-Verona High School, has been set for November 8.

A snake dance will start at 6:30 at the Baptist Church and proceed to the school. There the basketball teams will play a scrimmage game at 7:30.

Everybody come and help the Bears start their year off right.

The secret of being a bore is to tell everything.

TURKEY DINNER ON SUNDAY, NOV. 10th

It's that time again! The Walton-Verona Band Boosters have their turkey dinner on Sunday, November 10, in the Walton school cafeteria. Serving will be from 11:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m.

If purchased from a band member in advance, the meal will be $1.35 for adults, and 75c for the children. At the door, prices will be $1.50 and 85c.

Carry-out dinners will be delivered. Please call Helen Jones, 485-4571 before Sunday morning or call the school, 485-4293, between 10:00 and 12:00 noon.

Carry-out dinners may be picked up in the Home Ec room on the second floor. Use the same entrance to the school as to the cafeteria.

Plan now to enjoy your Sunday dinner with the Band Boosters. It will be turkey and all the trimmings.

Civil Defense Meets At Owensboro, Ky.

The Fifth Annual Fall Conference of the Kentucky Civil Defense Council met October 18-19, at the Downtown Motor Inn, Owensboro, Ky. Representing Boone County were: Director Robert Coffey, and wife, Jean, and Mrs. Helen Collins, President of the Civil Defense Auxiliary.

Prominent speakers were: Hon. Conrad Duffie, Washington, D. C., and Col. Geo. D. Rich, Director 2, Olney, Md.

A most interesting panel discussion on "Light Duty Emergency Rescue," was given by the following: William Fribell, Legal Council for the Ky. Ass'n of Rescue; Lt. Col. Paul M. Smith, Dept. Director, Ky. State Police; Thomas Thompson, Training Officer, of Frankfort; Representative of McCracken County Rescue, Area 2; Tom Combs, Jefferson County, Area 3; Harold Klosterman, Kenton County; Area 4, Graham Buchett, Floyd County.

Although Boone County Civil Defense was only represented by three members, they were given special recognition at the conference.

The Auxiliary designed a C. D. flag which was made for them by the Ragaglia Flag and Banner Co., Cincinnati. It was taken to the conference and presented by Mrs. Collins. It received a unanimous vote by the group to be accepted as the Ky. C. D. flag. It is very beautiful and all were proud of it.

Boone County citizens should be proud of the work the Civil Defense Units are doing. They are willing and trained to help in many ways, both in times of peace and disaster.

The CD will help you if you will help them—better yet—join the group.

Auxiliary meeting, Civil Defense Building, Burlington, Ky., third Monday of each month at 8:00 p. m.—Reporter

Dr. Russell Huffman To Speak at Verona

Dr. Russell R. Huffman will preach a trial sermon at the New Bethel Baptist Church, Verona, on November 10th. He is a licensed and ordained minister, with a certificate from Moody Bible Institute.

He studied at different intervals at Georgetown College and earned his Bachelor of Theology, Master of Theology, and Doctor of Theology Degrees from the Divinity School of Pais Mar Bible College in Chicago, Ill.

Mr. Huffman has also had over 15 years experience as a radio preacher, broadcasting daily for over nine years, and is now pastor of First Baptist Church, Wingo, Ky. Mr. Huffman was born in Williamstown.

There will be a covered dish get-acquainted dinner immediately after morning services.

Social At Independence

A social will be held at the St. Cecilia School, Independence, on Sunday, November 10, at 2:00 p. m. The public is invited.

Work Progressing On Frontier Worlds

No visible change has been made in the land here which, one day, will be Frontier Worlds, but in southern California, it is a different story.

"We're working constantly out here on planning for Frontier Worlds," said Leonard Shannon, last week. He is publicity director for Fesspar Enterprises of Hollywood, Calif., Fess Parker's development firm.

Fess is in daily consultation with designers and engineers, Mr. Shannon said. Fesspar offices are located on the 20th Century Fox studio lot where Parker works on his Daniel Boone series. In the evenings he works on Frontier Worlds. Shannon said plans are moving right along.

Financing is being finalized and details of design are in the making. Shannon also said that an office would be opened at the site of Frontier Worlds later this year to handle local business.

It is believed that designers and engineers will be on the site at times throughout the winter. However, ground breaking will not get under way until sometime next spring.

Shannon confirmed plans for inclusion of a lake somewhere on the 1,743 acres. This would serve for recreation, including water rides, and will add to the scenic beauty of the park.

First Boone Cuntion Is Named to Airport Board

Gov. Louie B. Nunn has named a Boone Cuntion to the advisory board of the Kenton County Airport. He is Paul R. Krummen, 40, a food broker, of 26 Mikkelsen Drive, Florence. There are also six Ohioans on the board. Mr. Krummen was appointed to a two-year term.

Twenhofel F.H.A. Attends Meeting

The Northern Kentucky F. H. A. Fall District meeting was held at Williamstown High School, Oct. 19. The theme was "Recipe for Leaders." The purposes of the girls attending were to understand the duties of her office and to become better acquainted with other officers in the district.

During the day's activities, the Twenhofel chapter participated in the program by giving "The Thought For The Day."

Attending were 243 persons, including chapter officers, members, advisers, chapter mothers, and guests.

Those attending from Twenhofel were: Connie Thompson, president; Sharon Parsons, first vice-president; Melissa Wincher, second vice-president; Kathy Sebastian, secretary; Janet Whaley, historian; Deanna McIntosh, treasurer; Linda Carlisle, parliamentarian; Sheila Baldwin, reporter; Lynn Neuf, song leader; Diane Henderson, recreational leader; Trudy Northcutt, member at large; Aimee Collins, honor roll chairman; Sue Tillett, scholarship chairman; Mrs. Carol Neely, chapter adviser; Mrs. Cornell Thompson, chapter mother.—Reporter

Smorgasbord Dinner At The New Haven School

The New Haven P. T. A. will hold a smorgasbord dinner in the school cafeteria from 5:00 to 7:30 p. m., Monday, November 18th. The public is invited.

Dinner will consist of a choice of fried chicken, meat loaf, macaroni with cheese, green beans, corn, tossed salad, fruit salad, rolls, coffee, tea, milk, and pie. The donation for adults is $1.25, and for children, under 12, 50c.

After a fine dinner, the parents are invited to Open House. Each parent will have an opportunity to visit various class rooms and have conference with their children's teachers.

Don't worry if you get kicked from the rear. It simply means you are out in front.

KENTON SCHOOL FOOD ASSOCIATION MEETING

The Kenton County School Food Service Association held its Oct. meeting at Kenton Elementary School.

New officers for the year are: Mrs. Helen Mann, Kenton Elementary, president; Mrs. Marsuella Marsh, Twenhofel Junior High vice president; Mrs. Helen Hollingsworth, Taylor Mill, secretary, and Mrs. Marcella Fields, Simon Kenton, treasurer.

Mrs. Alberta Lanham, Kenton County School Food Supervisor, spoke on National School Lunch Week, and outlined the requirements for a Type A lunch.

The highlight of the program was a parade of uniforms, modeled by members of Twenhofel cafeteria staff and furnished by Life Uniform Shop.

SMALL FIRE MONDAY

A live cigarette, discarded in a waste basket, was the apparent cause of a small fire at 2:30 a. m., Monday morning.

Walton firemen responded to a Needmore Street home (name not available). After the blaze in the container was extinguished, the firemen used a large exhaust fan to clear the house of smoke.

Letter To Editor Is Not Published

This week we received a "Letter to the Editor," which, we think was near the libel line, and did not print same. We were advised by our attorney that it would be wise to omit said letter.

This sort of letter could easily lead to "no letters to the editor."

A newspaper is always responsible for the printed matter appearing in its columns, signed or not by the writer... and we are not looking for trouble because of someone else's troubles.

If the writer should desire to rewrite her letter, we'll print it. This column was not intended for possible insults, and we are not forced to print anything we do not think worthy of print.

As we said, letters such as this can lead to all "Letters to the Editor" being filed in the waste basket.—Editor

Northern Kentucky Youth Hold Leadership Meeting

"Recipes for Leaders" was the theme for the FHA fall district leadership conference October 19, at the new Williamstown High School. There were 266 officers, chapter mothers and advisers in attendance.

Miss Collins, Assistant State Adviser, gave a talk on "Shopping for the Responsibility Ingredient." Barbara Bailey, State FHA Secretary, reviewed events of the National meeting held in Miami, Fla., in July.

The purpose of this meeting was to teach the chapter officers their duties for the current year. From the favorable comments there was much evidence that the purpose was accomplished.

Lay Speakers Meet Here

A district certified lay speakers training session of the Methodist Church was held Sunday afternoon at Walton. Several lay members of the Covington District were in attendance.

Kentucky Conference members, C. J. Haggard and Frank Bean, of Lexington, were the key speakers.

Other leaders of the district were M. E. Wallace, J. L. Davenport, Mrs. David Kennedy, C. R. Rouse, and James Lawrence.

Refreshments were served by women of the host church.

Railroad Crossing Repaired

Several days of repair work on the L&N Railroad crossing on North Main Street at Alta Vista Drive, Walton, has been completed. The result is a very smooth asphalt surface flanking the new rails which were put in. For several years this has been a very rough crossing but now there is hardly any bump at all. Nice work Mr. L&N.

No Election Results

As you may have already noticed, we are carrying no election returns this week. First, it would cause us to be somewhat late in getting our paper out, and second, by the time the paper is delivered on Thursday, everyone will know what happened anyway. Television, radio, and the daily newspapers will take good care of the situation, so we see no reason for our adding our two-cent worth. We trust you picked the winners.

EVENING OUT ENJOYED BY THE F. H. A. ALUMNI

On Thursday evening, Sept. 19, 16 members of the Simon Kenton F. H. A. Alumni got together for an evening in Cincinnati.

Instead of having a regular meeting, members went to the Colony Restaurant for a delicious dinner. Afterwards, they went to the Albee Theatre to see "Rachel, Rachel."

The evening was enjoyed by the following members: Mrs. Helen McElroy, Marilyn Young, Judy New, Carol Kitts, Elaine Penick, Nora Simpson, Marilyn Ellison, Bonnie Strain, Martha McClure, Barbara Evans, Arlene Porter, Judy Schadler, Pam Barnes, Ginger Bailey, Cheryl Mullins, and Peggy.

All Simon Kenton F.H.A.'ers are invited to attend the meetings and to join in the fun.

Simon Kenton Tops Beechwood, 40 to 0

The Simon Kenton Pioneers ended the Beechwood season with a 40-0 defeat last Friday in a Northern Kentucky Athletic Conference game at Ft. Mitchell.

Charlie Siffel, the state's leading scorer, tallied five touchdowns as the Pioneers marked up their seventh victory against two defeats and a tie this season.

In the first period, Siffel went over right tackle from the Beechwood 24, and Chuck Tolliver ran the point for a 7-0 score. In the second period, Siffel went over for another touchdown and also ran the point. Later in the period, Jerry Jacobs ran 50 yards for a touchdown and Gary Murphy ran the point for a score of 21-0 at the half.

Charlie Siffel went over from the one in the third period and Tolliver passed to Murphy for the extra point. The Pioneers added two touchdowns in the final period. Charlie Siffel went over from the two yard line and the conversion failed. A Beechwood fumble on the Beechwood 24 set up the final Simon Kenton score with Charlie Siffel scoring from the three yard line, and Dave Obel failed to convert.

CLEAN YOUR CHIMNEY

Rev. Herman J. Helfrich, Chairman of Check Your Chimney Week from November 10-16, urges all householders to check their chimneys.

Some points are: Clean chimney, pull vent pipe out, look in hole, remove soot, broken bricks, birds' nests and other items; test chimney by blowing tobacco or candle smoke into chimney and see if the smoke readily rises; examine vent pipe and clean, make sure there are no breaks or holes, remove damper from gas vent, replace vent pipe securely so every part goes uphill, and do not push vent pipe in so far it touches the back of chimney.

Bank Is Robbed For Third Time

Early Wednesday morning, Nov. 30, a lone gunman with a white stocking over his face got away with a little less than $4,000 in a holdup of the Taylor Mill branch of the Bank of Independence.

This is getting to be old stuff, as this was the third time the bank has been robbed.

In January, 1967, three men were captured and convicted of robbing the bank of $11,000. In June a holdup netted the burglars $10,500. One man was captured in another state and is now in jail.

Kenton County Police and the FBI started an immediate investigation of this latest crime.

This was the second holdup experience for Gary Wagner, bank manager, and Nina Sellmeyer, a teller. A second teller, Margaret Kordenbrock, Taylor Mill Road, started working at the bank only a couple of days previously, and she was pretty well shaken up by the experience.

Raymond Giles, president of the bank, said, "I can't understand why people do this sort of thing. It just doesn't make sense."

CONCORD

Mrs. Lindsey Webster, Reporter

Concord Baptist Church went to the home of their pastor for a Halloween party. We had a nice time. The children played down in the basement, and the older ones had a nice time talking, and playing a game. Winston Jones' little boy got the first prize, and our pastor's little boy got the prize for being the prettiest. He was dressed as a little girl. Elwood Haddix' little girl got the prize for being the oddest.

George Burgess took Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Webster to Napoleon, Wednesday.

Harold Girkin visited Lindsey Webster on Wednesday, and Mrs. Lindsey Webster spent Tuesday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rudd.

Lindsey E. Webster visited Mr. and Mrs. George Burgess.

Earl Chance of Lexington, visited Mrs. Chance's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Burgess and grandson, Roger.

Floyd Chapman visited Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Webster, Thursday. Ray Gullion is better.

Dr. and Mrs. Gaines E. Huey and children recently enjoyed a trip to Florida. Dr. Huey attended a dental convention, but several side trips of interest were enjoyed by the Huey family, as well as places of interest enroute.

Staffordsburg

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Barnett accompanied by their granddaughters took a drive into the Smokies the past weekend, and also visited with their son's family, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Barnett, in Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Elmore visited with their son's family, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Elmore recently, and also attended their granddaughter's first communion at St. Matthew's Church.

Albert Gilligan, who has been in and out of the hospital several times in the last few months, underwent surgery recently. After being on the critical list for several days, he is now mending and we hope he will soon be able to return home.

Mrs. Leontine Stephens paid me a visit Thursday afternoon.

Alfred Eugene Damon, who underwent surgery at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Oct. 21, is mending slowly. He had a temporary setback the first of this week, which has retarded his release. We hope he is able to go home soon.

Mrs. Georgia Richardson, who has been in St. Elizabeth for a few weeks, is slated to return to her home soon.

We enjoyed hearing Rev. Geisler on Sunday evening. He graciously answered several questions—a very pleasant person to meet. On Nov. 10 we are expecting to hear Rev. Frank Scholl of St. Mark's.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Keeney are celebrating their birthdays (4th and 8th) on Nov. 2 by driving to Berea for dinner, accompanied by Rev. and Mrs. Phillips and Cathie.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ballinger returned recently from a trip to New York state.

Kenton County Garden Club

The Kenton County Garden Club met Oct. 24 at the home of Miss Margaret Stephens, Main St., Independence, with a good attendance. The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Elma Taylor. In the absence of the secretary, her report was read by Mrs. Leontine Stephens. The treasurer also was absent and her report was read by Miss Taylor. Roll call was answered by "my favorite autumn tree." A sample of the stationery which was ordered following the last meeting was shown, but the order had not arrived.

The September and October issues of the National Gardener were passed around and attention called to an article about covered bridges in Kentucky, of which 14 remain. A movement to preserve them is popular and this magazine is working for this plan. Also, attention was called to the flower arrangements. We all know Margaret's interest in roses. Many comments were made on the beautiful blossoms with which her home was decorated. Mrs. E. Damon gave the spiritual guidance.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Leontine Stephens on Friday, November 22, who exchanged with Mrs. Helen Jaeger. Dried arrangements on burlap will be the point of interest.

Mrs. L. Stephens introduced the speaker, William Straw, and his subject was the care and maintenance of the lawn. He stressed the scientific approach—test for soil content and structure, good seed and weed control. This will be a continuing process and not all done at one time and finished. He told how rose plantings which he has made on the couthouse yard with plants he has grown from slips would have cost around $300 if plants were purchased from nurseries.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, to: Miss Elma Taylor, Miss Elsie Hiteman, Miss Alice J. Williams, Mrs. Edwina Damon, Mrs. Leontine Stephens, Mrs. Helen Jaeger, Mrs. Forrest Popp, Mr. and Mrs. William Straw and a guest, Mrs. Nell Morgan.

REDDY IS ROUGH ON PROWLERS

Make a prowler's job more difficult! Here's how: Install a LIGHT

KNIGHT Outdoor Light on your property. A prowler hates the spotlight! And, chances are he will steer clear of the premises. ■ Outdoor Lighting prevents slips and nasty spills, too, by sweeping away after dark sidewalk and driveway hazards. ■ Families who live in poorly lighted, sparsely settled areas rent Outdoor Lighting for as little as $3.25 to $4.50 a month, depending on bulb size. Cost includes everything from installation to maintenance (even the electricity). ■ Automatic operation: Light on at dusk, off at dawn... assures carefree safety and security over the long winter nights ahead.

Letter To The Editor:

To the Editor:

I read in last week's paper an article by Mrs. Marsh about the Opera House in Walton. Well, I will go back 10 years earlier than that, when it was new and, I think the first thing that happened there, was a dancing school, taught by a man named Lena Bagby from over around Piner.

I can see him now waltzing with a little girl named Lena Ransler. Every time I see Lawrence Welk I can see Lena Bagby. I do not know of but one besides myself still living, and that is Sally Vest. She was my partner. She was Sally Herndon then. I think it was $12.00 for 24 lessons. Then at the end we had a big ball. The floor was new and waxed and slick as glass.

Adolph Edwards built the building about 1895 or 1896.

I lived then on Beaver Road, about 1 1/4 miles out, and went on

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—My mother died recently. She had been receiving a pension as an unmarried widow of a Spanish-American War veteran. Will the Veterans Administration reimburse me for any of her burial expenses?

A—The Veterans Administration is permitted to make payment of up to $250 for the burial expenses of war veterans only. This benefit cannot be extended to any dependents of veterans.

Q—I was retired from service because of a disability. Must I file a claim with the Veterans Administration for compensation in order to qualify for vocational rehabilitation?

A—No. A determination of your entitlement will be made by the VA when you apply for training.

Q—I recently married. Are there any forms for changing the beneficiaries of my VA insurance?

A—Yes. VA Form 29-336 is used for this purpose. You may obtain this form from any Veterans Administration office. When completed the form should be forwarded to the VA office to which you send your insurance premiums.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

The children of Elizabeth Ryan extend their deepest appreciation to everyone for the visits, flowers, cards, expressions of sympathy and especially for the food and kindness to the family. God bless you all.

WHO FORGETS?

Lesson for November 10, 1968

Background Scripture: 2 Peter.
Devotional Reading: 2 Peter 1:12-17.

One night several years ago I ran out of gas on the Taconic Parkway between Poughkeepsie and New York City. By day the Taconic Parkway is a beautiful and scenic ride through the rolling country of Westchester and foothills of the Catskill Mountains; by night it is one of the darkest and loneliest of thoroughfares.

Fortunately, a few minutes after I coasted to a standstill, a state patrol car came up behind me and the patrolman offered to push me some seven miles down the road to the state police barracks where he would telephone a gas station for me. When we reached the exit that led to the barracks, I put my car off the road to wait while the officer went ahead to phone for a service truck.

Because someone forgets!

An hour and fifteen minutes went by and help had still not come. My companions and I had waited patiently, at first, but as the night grew colder we began to be concerned. Had the policeman forgotten us, someone wondered? Oh no, we were certain he wouldn't have done that. But when another twenty minutes had passed, I decided to walk to the barracks and find out what had happened to our promise of assistance.

The officer, I found, was not there! He had been sent in another call and, in his haste, had apparently forgotten about us. Understandable, but how unpleasant to wait for help that doesn't come because someone has forgotten you!

This was a feeling shared by some Christians in the early years of the Christian Church. The Apostle Paul had taught the Church to expect that Christ would "return" in the near future. They had thus looked eagerly for his coming. Yet, he did not come and some of them began to ask: "What has happened to the promise?" Had Paul been mistaken? (Actually, Paul had somewhat revised his expectation.) Was Jesus still to return? Had he forgotten them? What kind of hope were they to hold to in these times of hardship and persecution?

Always scoffers

The letter we know as 2 Peter was written to answer these people. First of all, says the writer, Christians must understand that the presence of scoffers does not mean that the Christian Hope will not be fulfilled. There have always been scoffers and there always will be those who jeer at the faith and expectations of others. So what else is new?

Remember the past experiences of those who have waited upon the Lord. Remember the scoffers who ridiculed Noah and his "silly" ark. How they made fun of his conviction of imminent world destruction. How long he waited for that assurance to be fulfilled—but it did come!

Our problem, of course, is that God does not measure time as we do. What to us seems many years of waiting is for him but a "second," a minute interval in eternity. Our impatience is understandable, for we see things in the perspective of the short-run, while his is a long-run view.

What of our promise?

We need to remember that others in other times have also been disheartened by long waiting. Tyrannical men and fearsome powers have risen up to threaten both the Church and civilization, yet in the long-run, none of them have prevailed. In his own good time, God has swept away the Ghengis Khans, the Alexanders, the Cyruses, the Caesars, the Napoleons, the Hitlers, the Stalins and so many others. These "giants" have all turned to dust while God and his kingdom have continued on to the final fulfillment.

God will keep his promise, but what of us? If we are to wait patiently, that does not mean we are also to wait passively. It is not enough to wait for God to do his part; we must do our part too. No, God does not forget; we do!

Strategy

It's Tim's move, and he is taking a long time thinking it over. In chess, if you're a good player, you don't play quickly. If you do, your opponent may outwit you.

Military strategy, they say, is based on the rules of chess. So are many of the "higher games" in business and finance. Yet, when it comes to life itself, the rules of chess apply in only a limited way. In life, you can't be totally objective. You can't exist on logic alone.

The Church teaches that though we surely need logic in order to live successfully, we also need compassion, tolerance, love, understanding, and the strength that comes with faith.

Although life is not a game, we must have the help and strength of the Church to discover those rules that will determine our ultimate destiny.

THE REJECTION OF MR. FORTAS

By M. Gene Snyder
U. S. Congressman
4th District, Kentucky

There are few instances where a Presidential nomination has caused such heated controversy as the nomination of Abe Fortas. When Majority Leader Mike Mansfield called for approval of the nomination, a filibuster broke out in the Senate. This is the first time in our history when a filibuster against a Presidential appointment has occurred. Last week a motion for cloture, which would close off debate and force a vote on the nomination, was defeated and the Administration withdrew the nomination.

There are many reasons for this rejection of Fortas, but his long involvement with LBJ is without a doubt the strongest.

Fortas set up the "trust fund" arrangement that allows the President's intimate associates to manage his government regulated TV properties and bank stocks while he manages the government.

Fortas was LBJ's man in the Walter Jenkins and Bobby Baker cases and the "landslide election" of 1948 when Johnson entered the Senate by a disputed 87 vote majority.

After Johnson put him on the Supreme Court as an Associate Justice, Fortas joined the liberal Warren faction that has delivered decisions which allow Communists to work in our defense plants, hand cuffed our police departments in their fight against crime, and toppled state court convictions against hard core smut publishers.

When Warren announced his "retirement," those of us who believe the Supreme Court should abide by the Constitution rather than trying to rewrite it to suit their own philosophies were elated when Warren announced his "retirement." But, of course, Warren and LBJ had made a deal to make Warren's retirement contingent on Fortas' succeeding as Chief Justice.

As opposition to this triple play by LBJ-Warren-Fortas has grown, other factors have emerged which in themselves should be sufficient to defeat Fortas.

It appears he misled the Senate Judiciary Committee when he denied that he had been participating in the drafting of Great Society legislation violating the separation of powers specified by the Constitution.

It also has been disclosed that Fortas picked up a hefty $15,000 to conduct a nine week seminar at American University School of Law, Washington, D. C. To augment his $39,500 annual Court salary, the tax-free funds for the seminar were raised by his former law partner. The money was donated by cigaret and stock exchange executives.

This raises a serious conflict of interest question, should cigaret and company stock exchange legal cases be heard by the Supreme Court?

The point should also be made that in 1960 when a serious backlog of Federal Court cases indicated a need for the appointment of new Federal Judges, it was, after all, LBJ who ramrodded a resolution making it the sense of the senate that Dwight Eisenhower, with only five months to go, should not make any more appointments.

One good result of the Fortas controversy is that it has focused public attention on the appointment of Supreme Court justices—something that this country has ignored since FDR tried to pack the Court in 1937. Since Justices are appointed for life, Fortas could have been Chief Justice until 1996—if he lives as long as Charles Evans Hughes did.

Heading what is one of the most powerful Courts in the world, the Chief Justice affects perhaps even more profoundly than Presidents the life of the country and the lives of its citizens.

parently was confined to five or six far-western counties.

Before a county is listed as positive for the brown recluse, a spider specimen from that county must have been sent in and the spider positively identified by University or other taxonomists.

The brown recluse is a small, tan to chocolate colored spider that shuns light and is very shy. It likes dark rafters, crevices, dark closets and similar locations. Its bite can cause a breakdown of flesh in the bite area, as well as nausea and other symptoms. However, doctors have been researching the venom for some years now and have worked out reasonably satisfactory treatment.

Not many bite cases were reported in Kentucky, or even in the U. S., until a national publication did a story on the spider. Many bites, undoubtedly from brown recluses, have occurred but were not always suspected or identified as coming from the brown recluse. Now that the danger of the spider's bite is better known, bite case records are increasing. An estimated 20 such cases have been reported in Kentucky in the last two years. None of these cases resulted in death of the victims, although deaths from this cause have been reported from several other states.

Fall topdressing, liming and fertilizing legume fields has many advantages over spring applications. (1) Ground is drier and firmer and easier to get over with heavy equipment; (2) work loads are lighter for farmer and fertilizer dealer in the fall; (3) fall fertilization improves plant growth and helps the plants survive winter freezes and thaws; (4) little, if any, phosphate and potash are lost from fall applications—in leaching—only steep land loses much of these nutrients, and usually it is from runoff on thin, weak stands.

A soil test is the best index of soil needs. If soils were not tested, a five-ton crop of alfalfa or alfalfa-grass mixture should get 500 to 600 pounds an acre of 0-15-30 analysis or 1/2 equivalent with boric acid. For 3 1/2 to 4-ton grass and legume pastures, apply 400 to 500 pounds an acre of 0-15-30 or its equivalent.

Tobacco stripping room lights, 40-watt fluorescent tubes researched by the University of Kentucky and now available on the commercial market, should be considered by farmers.

Ira Massie, U. K. Cooperative Extension Service specialist, urged farmers to check stripping room lights now, and replace worn out or unsatisfactory fluorescent tubes; and try to get these newly researched and proven lights. The tubes, developed by Carl Clark, U. K. agricultural economist, and Gerald White, U. K. agricultural engineer, have been tried for two years over the state and comments run from "good" to "highly satisfactory."

Good lighting in the stripping room, with tubes that bring out the colors needed for accurate stripping and grading, is a must.

Have you become acquainted with permanent press yet? With this finish, you have garments that keep their just-pressed look all day long, and they never need ironing.

Permanent press is a finishing process for fabrics that makes pleats and creases permanent. It eliminates wrinkles for the normal life of a garment.

There are several ways to give a permanent or durable press to fabrics; most of them require heat and chemicals. Generally, the chemicals are applied to the yard goods, the garment is made, and the finish is then set or "cured" by "baking" in an oven or by special pressing.

When you buy permanent press fabric by the yard, the finish has already been set or "cured," as there are no facilities to do this in the home. Thus, the seams and creases in the handmade garment do not have the set that those in a ready-made garment have.

Permanent press fabrics presently are available in man-made fibers, cotton, and blends. Fabrics vary in weight from light to heavy, according to the type of garment.

A wide range of permanent press garments for every member of the family: blouses, shirts, children's clothes, women's dresses, men's pants, jackets, and raincoats.

You cannot tell by looking at a garment or piece of fabric whether it has a permanent press finish. This information is on the hangtag or label.

A garment with a permanent-press finish may be higher in price than a similar garment without the finish. However, this extra cost may be offset by the need of fewer garments, since they can be quickly and easily laundered. This is a bonus to you mothers with children who soon outgrow their clothes.

When selecting a ready-made garment with a permanent-press finish, ask yourself these questions: Does the hangtag give fiber content? Brand name? Washing instructions? Are the seams, pockets, plackets, and zippers flat and smooth? (Puckers won't come out in laundering.) Are there any wrinkles in the garment? (These wrinkles will not come out.) Is the color even, with no streaks or mottling? Does the garment fit? (Alterations are difficult to make.)

For further information on permanent press, call 586-6412, and ask for Fabric Tips: Permanent Press, Leaflet 309.

Corduroy has entered the realm of fashion for Fall-Winter 1969. Most corduroy is all-cotton pile fabric with sales that run in the lengthwise direction. The pattern of the wales has been varied on this year's scene to include the popular pinwales, wide-wales, and a broad selection of novelty patterns. The novelty patterns include a thick and thin, sculptured, and eyelash designs. An array of floral, paisley and plaid prints give added variety to the corduroy picture.

Unusual designs have been fashioned from corduroy with the wale running crosswise or diagonally due to the cut. The very deep piled corduroy so closely resembles velveteen that it has been fashioned into party clothes, at-home separates, and used in combination with satins and laces.

Some hints on the care of corduroy are:

Turn all corduroy items inside out before washing to avoid lint clinging to the pile. Empty lint traps in both washer and dryer before laundering.

Some corduroys require dry cleaning due to the use of unwashable notions such as taffeta linings.

Corduroy can be machine washed in some instances. Other garments are to be hand laundered. Check the hangtag.

Warm water is preferable because it preserves the softness of the pile.

To fluff up corduroy pile, add a fabric softener to the final rinse water each time an item is laundered.

Damp-drying is the secret of retaining the velvety appearance of corduroy.

Use a steam iron for best results on pressing. Hold it slightly above the right side of the fabric so that the steam can bring up the nap. When using a regular iron, press on wrong side over a terry towel.

There are many new fibers, fabrics, and sewing products on today's market. Each one can be effective if properly used. If you are a home sewer and would be interested in receiving further information about pattern, fabric, and notion selection in the form of a newsletter, send your name and mailing address to Nancy White, Area Extension Agent, Burlington, Ky. 41005, or call 586-6412. Your name will be added to the mailing list.

A little less selfishness would go a long way toward solving some of the world's problems.

10th Anniversary Of The W-V Band

Members of the Walton-Verona High School Marching Band were given a surprise party Monday evening by the Band Boosters to celebrate the 10th anniversary of a marching band at the local high school.

James Layne, band director, called a band assembly for 6:30 p. m., in the band room. He kept them occupied until the Band Boosters could get refreshments ready in the lunch room, and then brought the band in for the surprise party. Cake and punch was served, after which the band was shown a film.

The film, too, proved a bit of a surprise. They were to see a film of one of the best bands in the state. They saw a film of one of the best marching bands in the state and it was a film of themselves taken by Mr. and Mrs. Ken Berkemeier.

Mr. and Mrs. Berkemeier took pictures with their movie camera as the W-V band had participated in the recent parade at Ludlow and again at Band Day in Richmond, Ky. He also showed some slides of the band when they performed the day of the Post Office dedication, five years ago.

The Band Boosters are proud of the Walton-Verona band and hope the town of Walton is equally as proud. We congratulate Mr. Layne, director, and are looking for many more years of performance from the Marching Band of W-V High.

Green Road Special Meets

The squares definitely were in the majority at the October meeting of the Green Road Special 4-H Club at the home of Barbara Simpson, leader.

We inhaled the refreshments and whizzed through the business and a demonstration on parliamentary procedure by Elaine Hampton, a junior leader, so that we could get right down to the business of the squares—square dancing that is—was enjoyed by all members.

Each member is to bring goodies to the November meeting to send to a division in Vietnam. Record books are to be turned in and all required demonstrations are to be given.—Reporter

Whether you live on the farm or in the city, you can learn by doing through 4-H. Find out what it has to offer you. It's worth your time.

No man ever exposed himself to trouble without getting more than he expected.

ANSWERS TO TURKEY QUESTIONS

by Martha Logan

Q. How long does it take to thaw a frozen turkey?
A. A turkey weighing 11 to 14 lbs. will take about 2 to 3 days to thaw in the refrigerator.
Q. What is the advantage of a deep basted turkey?
A. Special self-basting mixture, added deep inside where hand basting can't reach, bastes the Butterball Swift's Premium Turkey all the way through as it cooks. Exclusive vegetable oil recipe won't alter the natural flavor but assures you of tenderness and juiciness never before possible... every time.

Q. Are frozen turkeys apt to be held in commercial freezers from one season to the next?
A. No, not generally. Commercial freezer storage is expensive and so it is not economically sound to hold frozen turkeys for any length of time. In addition Butterball turkeys are in such great demand that a new supply must be processed each season.
Q. What is the advantage of buying a turkey with the major leg tendons removed?
A. This makes carving the drumsticks much easier.

Burley Sales Are To Open November 25

A light but high quality crop of Northern Kentucky burley tobacco awaits the auctioneer's chant, starting November 25.

Auctioneers are expected to sing a $2 million tune for Boone County's 1,403 burley growers.

"Many growers have already been stripping their burley," according to Joe Claxton, Boone Area Extension Agent. "What I've seen is lighter in weight but as good in quality as last season."

Tobacco is the area's most important cash farm crop.

Sales begin Monday, November 25 throughout the 410-warehouse eight-state burley belt. Markets will operate week days through December 18, except for Thanksgiving Day.

Sales recess December 18 and will resume January 6.

CHILI SUPPER AT PINER NOV. 22nd

The Piner PTA will sponsor a chili supper and Fall Festival on Friday, November 22, from 5:00 to 9:00 p. m.

Dinner will be served in the school cafeteria. There will be eight game booths, country store, candy, cake, soft drinks, and potato chips, as well as a membership booth.

Proceeds from the festival will be used toward the purchase of equipment for the new physical education program.

Everyone is invited to enjoy an evening of good food and lots of fun.

OES Inspection Nov. 18

Walton Chapter, No. 161, Order of Eastern Star, will have inspection of the chapter on the regular meeting night, Monday, November 18, at 7:30 p. m.

Refreshments will be served. All members are urged to attend.

A SPECIAL ELECTRICAL GIFT SECTION NOV. 21

Net week, the Walton Advertiser in cooperation with The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company and local appliance, radio and television dealers, will feature a special Electrical Gift section, packed with gift ideas for every member of your family.

There's also the "Everyone Wants Something Electrical" contest with $2,000 in appliances awarded to lucky winners. You'll find a contest coupon in this issue of the Advertiser.

Be sure to watch for next week's Electrical Gift Section in the Walton Advertiser.

Capt. John Lillard Chapter DAR Meets

The Capt. John Lillard Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held its November meeting at the Harp House, Williamstown, with Miss Laura Dickerson, Mmes. John Juett, J. W. Bennett, G. S. Webb and Dr. Lenore Chipman as hostesses, who served a delicious salad luncheon.

Mrs. Charles Z. Alphin, regent, opened the meeting with the ritual. Miss Martha M. Blaine gave the treasurer's report, followed by a reading of the minutes by Miss Elizabeth Flege, substituting for Mrs. Zayde Clore, who is recovering from a broken hip in Baptist Home of Northern Kentucky, Newport. Mrs. B. C. Cotton, corresponding secretary read "thank you's" from the State officers for our participation in the District meeting in Lexington. Mrs. T. A. Perry, National Defense Chairman, having just returned from a European trip, told of her experiences in East Germany—a guided and curtailed day behind the Iron Curtain. She told of the tenseness, lack of joy, regimentation, and absence of people in groups. Our freedom seemed much more precious after seeing their lack of it. Mrs. Abram Hedges, flag chairman, reported that it is now a crime to mutilate the flag in any way. $1,000 or one year's imprisonment or both may be the punishment. Mrs. Alphin gave excerpts from the President General's message in which she said that one of our three real American Holidays—Thanksgiving—would soon be here. She urged us to be truly thankful.

The following chapter chairmen reported: Miss Betty Jo Ackman, magazine; Miss Martha M. Blaine, good citizen girls; and Mrs. Robert C. Hume, State transportation chairman, sent an invitation from Campbellsville, David Allen Chapter, for us to attend a Christmas House tour on Dec. 8. A chartered bus will leave Lexington at 11:00 a. m., returning at 7:00 p. m. Members were reminded to bring food to the bake sale Nov. 16 at Geo. Powers' Store, Williamstown, by 9:00 a. m.

Mrs. Alphin introduced the speaker, Mrs. Roy C. Nestor, 5th District Director, former State CAR president, Boone County Regent, and State Membership Chairman, who spoke on "Finding New Daughters," which really means getting new people interested in an enlightened public opinion, education, and patriotic citizenship. She told of several sources to obtain genealogical records, court records, family Bibles, cemeteries, public libraries, and older relatives.

Members not mentioned previously, attending, were: Mmes. W. O. Blackburn, Kenneth Greene, E. H. Martin, Sally Odor, Kirtley Points, Jennie Poor, Alva Ransdell, K. H. Smith, Misses Louise Flege, and Mary K. Shipp.

Mrs. Barney Taylor, of Green Road, Walton, was a guest.—Pub. Chm.

Youth Revival At Amity

A youth revival will be held at Amity Baptist Church, Persimmon Drive in Plantation Heights, Nov. 16 and 17, with services each evening at 7:30. A team of youth from Georgetown College will have charge.

Sunday School, 9:30 a. m., and Sunday morning preaching at 10:30. All are invited.

Simon Kenton 19, Boone County 13

The Simon Kenton High School Pioneers closed its best season ever on the gridiron by defeating Boone County's Rebels, 19-13, last Friday at Independence. The victory was the eighth against two defeats and a tie.

Boone's Rebels did accomplish one thing—holding the state's leading scorer, Charlie Siffel, scoreless.

The Pioneers scored after taking over on the Simon Kenton 41, and in eight plays carried to the Boone 10. Jay Lehman recovered a Siffel fumble on the three and ran it over for the score. Tolliver's conversion failed.

Boone County came back to score. The Rebels' Vic Munson intercepted Tolliver's pass on the Simon Kenton 27. He ran over for the score, and Terry Hodge ran the point for a 7-6 lead.

The Rebels got its second TD drive started late in the first period and scored early in the second. At the end of the quarter, Boone moved to the Simon Kenton 35. Eight plays in the second period carried to the 14-yard line of S. K. and Dennis Kelly passed to Bob Ahlfeld for the score. The run by Hodge for the extra point failed.

Simon Kenton tied the score in the third period at 13-13, when Tolliver passed to Ken McCarty from the eight yard line, and Tolliver ran the point.

The Pioneers pushed over the winning touchdown in the final period. Boone kicked to the Simon Kenton 36-yard line. Ten plays carried to the Boone County eight where Tolliver again passed to Jerry Jacobs for the touchdown. The conversion failed.

Walton Lions Club Installs 9 Members

The Walton Lions Club installed nine new members recently.

Lion Lewis Davis sponsored the following six new members: Donald A. Davis, Harry Davis, Chas. W. Leicht, Charles Sizemore, Eugene Sizemore and Robert Smith, all of Walton.

Lion Sam Gamble sponsored William M. Stevens of Verona; Lion Carl Perkins sponsored W. J. Scott of Verona; Lion Stanley Salce sponsored Deane Poore of Walton.

The total membership of the Walton Lions Club is now 30. Lions Lewis Davis and Carl Parker will receive special awards from Lion District Governor Joseph Mueller on Tuesday, December 3 at the Walton Lions Club regular meeting for sponsoring the most new members during Lions International Membership Drive during the month of October.

Lion First Vice President Carl Parker and his wife, Gloria, and Lion Secretary Kinney Dawalt, Jr. and his wife, Shirley, attended the second cabinet meeting of Lions International, District 43-T, at the Holiday Inn, Frankfort, Sunday morning, Nov. 3, representing the Walton Club.

The Walton Lions Club was recognized as being the leader of District 43-T, Zone 1, for new membership applications.

Lion First Vice President Carl Parker, Lion Secretary Kinney W. Dawalt, and Lion Treasurer Lonnie Masters will represent the Walton Lions Club at the combined zone meetings of Zone 1 and 2 at Glen Schmidt's in Newport, on Monday night, November 18, with the Campbell County Lions Club as the host.

Bond Boosters To Meet

The Walton-Verona Band Boosters will hold their regular business meeting on Monday, November 18 at 7:30 p. m., in the band room. Please attend.

The Band Boosters take this opportunity to thank everyone who attended or donated to the turkey dinner, held Sunday. It was a successful dinner and the proceeds will go toward the band program in the Walton-Verona schools.

Leisure is just a dead weight unless we have a regular job to do at the close of our vacation.

TOP GROUND GAINER

Charlie Siffel

Top ground gainer for the Simon Kenton Pioneers football team this year was Charlie Siffel. He carried the ball 198 times for a total gain of 1,491 yards, an average of 7.5 yards per try. He also caught three passes for 54 yards, which gives him a total yardage gain of 1,545 for the year. This young man was a most pleasant surprise for Coach Jenkins and the Pioneer squad. Congratulations.

Walton Homemakers Meet

A lesson on "Needlepoint" was given by leaders, Mrs. Nelson Popham and Mrs. William Gibson, Jr., at the November meeting of the Walton Homemakers Club.

The club held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Eddie Whaley. The devotion was given by Mrs. Rich Cain, and the meeting conducted by Mrs. Donald McMillan.

During the business session, the following officers were elected to serve for the new year, beginning in January: Mrs. Donald McMillan will serve a second term as president, and Mrs. Joseph Sargent will serve a second year as vice president. Mrs. Eddie Whaley was elected secretary-treasurer.

Plans were made for the Christmas party and meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Clayton Jones on December 13.

In attendance were: Mrs. Paul Beighle, Mrs. Clayton Jones, Mrs. Glenn Saylor, Mrs. Edward Lay, Mrs. Ronnie Cox, Mrs. Glenn Cox, Mrs. James Burden, Mrs. Rich Cain, Mrs. Bobby Wood, Mrs. John Wood, Mrs. Joseph Sargent, Mrs. Lawrence Teaters, Mrs. Nelson Popham, Mrs. Donald McMillan, and Mrs. William Gibson, Jr.

TAYLOR MILL P. T. A. TO MEET NOVEMBER 18

The Taylor Mill PTA will meet Monday, November 18, in the school auditorium at 8:00 p. m. The meeting will be preceded by an Open House, beginning at 7:00 p. m. All parents are invited to visit the class rooms and see the progress of the students, in addition to meeting their children's teachers.

Mrs. Homer McMillen, Mrs. Malcolm Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Baker, October 24, attended the Sixth District PTA Fall Conference. The conference was hosted by the Campbell County High PTA, Alexandria.

KENTON COUNTY COUNCIL PTA FALL MEETING SET

The fall meeting of the Kenton County Council PTA will be held on Monday, November 18, at the Covington YMCA. The meeting begins at 10:00 a. m. with Mrs. Wesley Hall, president, presiding. Awards will be presented to the schools at this time. The speaker will be Rev. Alonzo Alexander, of the Ludlow Presbyterian Church.

G.O.P. CLUB TO MEET

The Boone County Republican Club will meet at Headquarters in Florence, Thursday, Nov. 14, at 8:00 p. m. A large crowd is expected. Ray Ernst, president, said a nominating committee would be appointed at this time. The meeting is open to anyone who is interested.

The March of Dimes reports that prenatal care can prevent or control certain diseases which may be transmitted from mother to child before birth.

Ruberg Is Speaker At A FHA Meeting

The Simon Kenton Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held its monthly meeting Oct. 16 in the school cafeteria with Lueada Cheek presiding.

As guest speaker, Judge Robert Ruberg discussed juvenile delinquency; the causes of it, and ways to help prevent it. He told of many examples in which many juveniles are corrected.

This year, the FHA has 73 proud members. Guests at this meeting were Judge Ruberg, Mrs. Orb Cheek, John Dillion, Robert Osbourn, and adviser, Mrs. Helen R. McElroy.

The business consisted of telling of the field trip which sophomores and seniors are taking Nov. 14. Then the hobby exhibit was discussed. Connie Lipscomb is chairman of this exhibit for open house which was held Nov. 4.

Formal initiation was held to welcome each new member.

The meeting was then adjourned and refreshments, furnished by Mrs. Cheek and the juniors, were served.

Good Citizenship Week was observed October 27-November 2. This was a week in which all FHA members showed what good citizens they could be. Each day a committee of girls would do a certain project in representing good citizenship. Monday, a tea was planned for a later date; Tuesday, an apple was given to each teacher to remind them of good and wholesome citizenship; Wednesday was no gum and no gripe day—anyone caught doing either had to pay a fine of one penny; Thursday, in order to show good school citizenship, a group of girls cleaned several buses; Friday, a committee of girls washed all car windshields in the school parking lot.

Good Citizenship Week was a great and very successful week. Each girl is proud to say that she is a FHA good citizen.

Wa-Na Club Meets In Popham Home

Mrs. Daniel Hance showed club members many gift ideas for Christmas and gave instructions on how they could be made as she spoke before the Wa-Na Woman's Club at their November meeting.

Mrs. Jack Norris and Mrs. Nelson Popham were hostesses for the meeting, held in the Popham home on Bedinger Avenue, last Thursday evening. Mrs. Herman Slusher gave the spiritual guidance, using Thanksgiving as the timely topic. Mrs. Asa M. Rouse conducted the meeting.

The club will be mailing packages to local boys serving in Vietnam soon, and if there is a Walton or Verona serviceman you know of, who will be stationed in this area for Christmas, please contact Helen Jones, 485-4571, and check if they have his name and address. They do not want to overlook anyone, but it must be for the Vietnam area.

Members present were: Mrs. Chester Surgeon, Mrs. Malcolm Simpson, Mrs. Clayton Jones, Mrs. Joseph Sargent, Mrs. Robert Eisenhardt, Mrs. Herman Slusher, Mrs. Lewis Webster, Mrs. Asa M. Rouse, Mrs. Dale Stephens, Mrs. Jack Rouse, Mrs. Gerald Elliott, Mrs. Leo Flynn, Mrs. George Black, Mrs. Harry Henson, Mrs. Preston Art, and the hostesses.

Walton Masons To Meet

Walton Lodge, No. 719, F&AM, will hold its regular monthly business meeting on Thursday, Nov. 21, at 8:00 p. m.

There will be work in the E. A. degree in addition to the regular business.

Refreshments will be served.

Prenatal care may reduce the risk of premature births, which are associated with many disorders of infancy and childhood, according to the March of Dimes.

INJURED IN KENTON COUNTY ACCIDENT

Mrs. Virginia L. Kayse, 30, of 618 Skyway Drive, Independence, suffered fractures of both legs and one arm and had to undergo surgery at Booth Hospital, as a result of an auto accident on Hands Pike, Wednesday of last week.

Kenton County Police were told Mrs. Kayse, returning home from a doctor's office about 5:00 p. m., saw a car headed for her and was almost stopped when the crash occurred.

The other driver, William Beasley, 39, of Cincinnati, told police the brakes on his 1955 Chevrolet grabbed after he had passed a truck, causing the car to recross the centerline.

Beasley and a passenger, W. T. Landrum, 20, of 4710 Oliver Road, Independence, were treated and St. Elizabeth Hospital and released.

William Kayse, husband of the injured woman, is an L&N Railroad employee. They have two children.

Local Businessmen's Association Meeting

Think of tomorrow! This was the advice of Boone County Attorney William McEvoy, speaking before over 70 Greater Walton Area businessmen attending a meeting at First Federal Savings & Loan office, at Walton, Wednesday night of last week. Discussing the opportunities opened up by the coming of Fess Parker's Frontier Worlds, Mr. McEvoy emphasized it was "our responsibility to provide the conducive atmosphere to those coming in. Don't say what we can't do, say what we can do!"

McEvoy pointed out that the decision for Frontier Worlds coming to this area was made in Los Angeles after a very thorough study proved the area's advantage over others. He noted that Frankfort officials and local officials helped make this possible only by their warm reception and accommodation to Frontier Worlds developers.

"The meat and potatoes of the situation is this," he said. "Plans call for 1,000 employees at the park—probably 90 percent local. Analysis shows 1.4 million people will pass through the gates of Frontier Worlds the first year." He compared Walton's projected growth with that of Anaheim, Cal., location of Disneyland. "Anaheim jumped from a population of 6,900 in 1951 to 83,000 today—with no place to go. We must do all we can to work in cooperation with Frontier Worlds and adjust accordingly," he told his receptive audience.

Walton Mayor, Dale Stephens, told the audience he and Walton City Council appreciated the spirit of cooperation between the association and county council, and that a committee should be kept as liaison between the two.

A report of the by-laws committee featured a reading of the proposed by-laws and articles of incorporation. A committee composed of Ronnie Cheek, Jimmy Spencer, Russell Groger and Cliff Ryan was appointed to examine the proposed by-laws. Suggestions were also offered for the floor.

The next meeting, according to Charles Wiley, secretary, will be held Wednesday night, December 4, again at First Federal, South of Walton. The planned agenda will be announced shortly.

BAPTIST CONVENTION IS HELD AT FLORENCE

Several Kentuckians from across the state figured prominently in the program of the 131st Kentucky Baptist Convention, Nov. 12-14, held in Florence Baptist Church at Florence. Jack Sanford was host pastor.

Rev. Eldred M. Taylor, pastor of Somerset First Baptist Church of Somerset, presided as president and delivered the president's address.

Rev. J. T. Miller, Whitesville, Ky., delivered the convention sermon. A message on evangelism was given by Rev. R. Haskell Bolding, First Baptist Church of Corbin. Dr. Duke K. McCall, president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, delivered the closing message.

Social at Independence

The Altar Society of St. Cecilia Church, Independence, is sponsoring their regular monthly party on Wednesday, November 20, at 1:30 p. m., in the school basement. The public is invited.

The social is being held a week early due to Thanksgiving Day.

You can't build a reputation on what you are going to do.

DO GOODER

An electric plug is a "doer." It performs scores of tasks from entertaining your family to cooking your meals.

To do all these jobs properly, your home must have adequate wiring. Otherwise your appliances won't get the electricity they need.

Be certain your entrance panel (fuse box) is large enough to serve your circuit needs. If your home is more than 10 years old, check your fuse box to make certain it is large enough for your circuit needs.

JOE CLAXON

Man's standard of living through the ages has been measured largely by how much time he has left after providing for the essentials—food, clothing, and shelter. Judged by this yardstick, the United States has had marvelous success.
 Only 5.6 percent of our population are now on the farm, leaving 94.4 percent for other occupations.

The average consumer spends less than 18 percent of his income for food compared with 28 percent in England, and 50 percent in Russia. Yet, the 5.4 percent on our farms are our biggest market for industry and labor. Farmers spend over $50 billion a year for goods and services. Each year farm purchases include $3.4 billion in new farm tractors and other farm vehicles, and another $3.4 billion for fuel, lubricants, and maintenance. Farmers use more petroleum than any other single industry, and 320 million pounds of rubber (about 9 percent of the total used in the United States, or enough to put tires on nearly 6,000,000 automobiles). They consume annually 28 billion kilowatt hours of electricity and use 5 million tons of steel.

Who is the farmer today? The farmer today is an agricultural producer, an American who must invest initially an average of $73,000 in order to begin farming, one who must invest an average of $36,500 for each farm worker he employs. Because of the increased costs of farm labor, the man who works the land must add to his normal risk of weather, market fluctuations, and other hazards the risk of a large investment in labor-saving equipment, fertilizers, pesticides, and other chemicals.

Louisville, in 1840, became the first city in the American west to acquire gas lights.

When all is said and done, it's the politicians who say it, and the taxpayers who do it.

The lesson on a Home Business

TO BE SURE

Lesson for November 17, 1968

Background Scriptures: 1 John 1:5 through 2:6; 3:1-10; 3 John Devotional Reading: 1 John 4:1-11.

The couple sitting next to us was served a most unusual, but appetizing dish. The long table we shared with them and perhaps seventy other people was one of several that filled the large Salzburg hall where a amateur Tyrolean groups were performing their delightful folk music and dances. I was intrigued by the couple's order. Since they were obviously Austrians, I addressed them in German, adding what I assumed to be a Bavarian accent.

"What do you call that?" I wanted to know, glancing at the food the waitress had set before them. My question met with blank stares. They weren't hostile, nor indifferent — no, it was obvious they hadn't understood me. Surely my German isn't that bad, I asked myself. So I tried again with the same result. Once more, this time pointing to their food, I asked slowly and distinctly and without any attempt at accent. When it was obvious that we still were not communicating, I smiled an embarrassed smile and turned away. As I did, I heard the woman say in the precise, clipped accent of the British: "I think the German gentleman was asking about our food, but I'm not sure."

Quite different

I had been so sure they were Austrian and they were equally certain about me. And we were all wrong. How deceiving appearances can be. How difficult it is to be really sure when we set out to identify someone on the basis of what we have assumed he would be like.

If, for example, you were given the responsibility of surveying your neighborhood in a five-block radius to determine the number of Christians residing there, at first glance it would seem a relatively simple task. You'd simply go door-to-door, asking people if they are Christians — a little embarrassing, perhaps, but not difficult.

But, hold on a minute: you were instructed to find out how many are Christians, not how many say they are. That's something quite different and much more difficult. In fact, it's impossible, for how can you really determine who is a Christian and who isn't? If you were checking on tuberculosis, you could give everyone an x-ray. Or if you are checking on heart disease, an electrocardiogram. Or if poor eyesight, an eye-chart. But what tests can you use to determine a person's commitment to Jesus Christ?

Guidelines

The writer of I John gives us some guidelines by which we may measure Christian commitment, although these are intended primarily for the evaluation of our own faith, not that of others. The writer lays down a general principle: God is light and where there is darkness in someone's life there is separation from God.

Well, that's all very fine, John, but rather vague and unspecific. Can't we be more precise than that? So John becomes more specific and perhaps we would have preferred that he had remained vague:

First, "... if we walk in the light, we have fellowship with one another." (1 John 1:7) One cannot be close to God and separated from his fellow men.

Secondly, a Christian acknowledges his sin and need for God's mercy. (1 John 1:8-10). One sure indication of "darkness" in a person's life is his assumption that, because he does this or doesn't do that, he is a "pretty good fellow" in God's sight.

Third, a Christian is one who keeps the commandments of Christ. Jesus himself said this (John 14:23).

Finally, "He who abides in him ought to walk in the same way he walked." (1 John 2:6) There needs to be some likeness between the way he lived his life and the manner in which we live mine.

None of these, John makes clear, depends much upon words: "If we say... and do not..." If one wants to be really sure, we will look, not so much to what is said, as to what is done.

Center was presented by Mrs. Dolores Cick and Mrs. Doris Ulbert.

Officers for the coming year were elected and will be installed at the December meeting.

Plans were finalized for the bake sale to be held Nov. 27 at the Cherokee IGA, Taylor Mill and Co. Roads.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Roberta Brinkley and Mrs. Betty Blanton.

SHORT OF A MIRACLE

Rome's Coliseum, partly tumbled into ruin, is considered one of the wonders of the world. It was built in 80 A. D.—and that is a long time ago, to be sure. Yet it is but a second when measured against the ages that have passed since God created the world.

The Coliseum—wonder that it is—is also visible proof of the limit of man's accomplishments. We consider it nothing short of a miracle that something built by man has endured that long. Yet those things created by God remain endless and eternal.

God's works should, indeed, fill even the wisest of us with wonder, with awe, and with gratitude. We tend to take them all too much for granted. We tend, at times, to forget them—and even to forget Him—entirely.

Discover God again, in the church of your choice and in the process, rediscover yourself.

What do you look for on clothing labels before you buy? There are certain requirements by law as to what a label is required to tell you.
The law requires that all textile and clothing products be labeled as to generic name, identification of source of manufacture, per cent of each fiber in the fabric, country of origin, if other than the United States, and fiber trade name if desired.

To be truly helpful, the label should tell you:
How the fabric will perform.
Special finishes.
How to use fabric or garment.
How to care for fabric or garment.

Name and address of the retail store or manufacturer.

Many times labeling information occurs in the form of hang tags rather than permanent labeling.
Hang tags are frequently lost off the merchandise in the store due to careless shoppers.

Few homemakers save these tags
so when the time comes to clean the garment, there is no available information. For these reasons, there is a current move to require mandatory permanent care labels in all garments. This would be similar in nature to those now found on raincoats.

responsibility in promoting the use of effective labels. Your first responsibility is to understand the terminology found on hang tags.
You should demand the wider use of informative labels by asking for tags if you can't find the answers to your questions. Don't buy a product that is not labeled with enough information to answer important use and care questions.
Save your labels for future refer-

Finally, if the product does not perform as advertised, inform the store as to your dissatisfaction.

Local School Board Election Questions Given An Answer

Superintendent Earl C. Roberts of the Walton-Verona Independent Schools, stated this week that information received by his office clarifies some of the questions and many phone calls he has received regarding the eligibility of candidates following the November 5th school board election.

First, in regards to Donald J. Rosenstiel who was the top vote-getter with 412—according to Ray Corra, director, division of legal service, Department of Education, Commonwealth of Kentucky, "This is to advise that KRS 160.180 sets forth the qualifications of a school board member. Section 1, paragraph A of that statute reads as follows: (1) No person shall be eligible to membership on a board of education: (a) Unless he has attained the age of 24 years.

"On the basis of the provisions of KRS 160.180, 1-A, it is our opinion that a person who is less than 24 years of age is not qualified to serve on a board of education."

Secondly, pertaining to the eligibility of Daniel D. Hance, who received 386 votes, he has presented, for filing, to Supt. Roberts, a copy of a Deposit Service receipt issued by The Union Light, Heat and Power Company, which states that he became a customer at 670 Mills Road, Covington, beginning February 2, 1965.

It is common knowledge that he moved from that residence to Walton in March of 1967. In light of this receipt, it is the opinion of Supt. Roberts that Mr. Hance meets the Kentucky School Board member residence law, KRS 160.180 (1-B).

By the time a man realizes that maybe his father was right, he usually has a son who thinks he's wrong.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT DAY

First Baptist Church, Walton, observed International Student Day on Sunday. The International Club of Georgetown College were the honored guests, along with local students.

During the morning service, Joe Afterkirk, a music major at Sue Bennett College, sang a special, "How Great Thou Art." The message was given by Daniel Wahjoni of East Kenya.

A basket dinner was enjoyed at the noon hour. Then the students were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Shields and daughter, Judy.

The evening service was very unusual as students from Nigeria, Hong Kong and the United States sang a quartet, "We've A Story to Tell to the Nations." David Khan, a pastor at Singapore, delivered the message and showed slides. Raymond Ngy led the congregational singing.

FESTIVAL AND CHILI SUPPER ON FRIDAY

This is good weather for chili. The Piner PTA invites you to their chili supper and Fall Festival on Friday, November 22, from 5:00 to 9:00 p. m.

Dinner will be served in the school cafeteria. There will be game booths, country store, candy, cake, and refreshments, and also the membership booth.

Proceeds are for equipment for the new physical education program. Everyone is invited.

Simon Kenton FHA Holds Open House

November 4th was the date for the FHA hostesses, Diane Whaley, Pat Glaser, Rhonda LaFollette, Kathy Vastine, Lueda Cheek, and Connie Lipscomb, to guide parents through the Home Economics Department of Simon Kenton High School to view FHA hobby exhibits which ranged anywhere from stuffed animals to shells and books.

The FHA members who were responsible for making the various displays possible were: Wilford Siffel, Kathy Vastine, Lona Connelly, Lueda Cheek, Debbie Gilbert, Pat Glaser, Brenda Sothard, Elaine Hampton, Rhonda LaFollette, Carol Collins, Susan Drake, Sandy Kells, Jean Smith, Cindy Cheeseman, Brenda Schadler, Barbara Mains, and Connie Lipscomb.

A special treat before touring the Home Ec Department was the registering for a door prize, a beautiful autumn arrayed centerpiece and a piece of candy from the FHA candy basket.

The exhibits were enjoyed by all individuals visiting the department.

A special thanks from the FHA to all persons who took an interest and stayed to visit with us Monday evening.—Reporter

Serving On Kentucky

Commission On Women

Mrs. Phillip Ferrante, Florence, is serving on the Kentucky Commission on Women. She is active in Republican Women's activities, and is also involved in charity work and young people's activities.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn created the commission "in the belief that 'Every Kentuckian Counts,' giving the commission the responsibility of bringing to the attention of women the many opportunities available to them.

Careers will be the first area of emphasis for the commission thru a series of 30-minute educational television programs, which will begin in January.

Planning Christmas Bazaar

The ladies of St. Cecilia Church, Independence, are just about ready for their Christmas Bazaar, having worked very hard the last few months sewing, knitting, embroidering, crocheting, painting, and making artistic decorations.

The dates are set: November 30 and December 1. The public is invited to stop and shop for personal, household and gift items.

Lack of cash is perhaps as strong a check on misbehavior as a strong will.

Walton Literary Club Meeting

The Walton Woman's Literary Club held its November meeting in Fellowship Hall of the Walton Christian Church, on November 6 at 1:30 p. m.

The theme for the refreshment table was autumn, carried out with flowers, napkins and other arrangements. The dessert was served to members and guests at the beginning of the meeting.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Lloyd Watson. Mrs. W. W. Rouse gave the Club Collect; Mrs. R. M. Daniels led the flag pledge, which was followed by the singing of America, the Beautiful. Mrs. Elizabeth Farrell presented the Spiritual Guidance. The scripture was taken from Psalm 19.

After the business session, the guest, Mrs. Milton Valentine, gave a most interesting talk on the subject, "Our Heritage In Antiques." Many articles were on display by members and by the speaker. After this informative talk, all have a greater appreciation for the things we find in our own homes.

Among the collection of items on display were Carnival glass in different colors, Mary Gregory glass, end of the day or sunset glass. The French fashion doll was especially interesting and attractive.

Those in attendance were: Mrs. Carl Gerth, Mrs. Melvin Wasson, Mrs. George Knox, Mrs. A. T. Russell, Miss Rachel Acree, Mrs. Sam Sleet, Mrs. John Farrell, Mrs. Bruce Wallace, Mrs. R. M. Daniels, Mrs. Lloyd Watson, Miss Mary West, Miss Elma Taylor, Mrs. Carl Conner, Mrs. A. H. Gaines, Mrs. Wallace Grubbs, Mrs. Melvin Moore, Mrs. H. F. Mann, Mrs. D. L. Lusby, Mrs. W. W. Rouse, Mrs. W. H. Presser, and the speaker, Mrs. Milton Valentine.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Watson, Miss West and Miss Acree.

The next meeting will be the Christmas luncheon, to be held on December 4th at Southern Trails Restaurant, Florence.

A Porch Light Drive For Verona Firemen

The residents of the Verona area are asked to participate in the Porch Light Drive to raise funds for the Verona Volunteer Fire Department.

The Verona firemen have received a number of donations but if you have planned to make a contribution or care to contribute more, please have your porch light turned on Saturday evening, Nov. 30, between 7:30 and 10:00, and a member of the department will call at your home.

The support of all residents who will be served by this fire department, when they get fully equipped and organized, are asked to make a contribution. Any donation will be appreciated.

Sharon Parsons Named Co-Ed Correspondent

Miss Sharon Parsons, 14, of DeCoursey Pike, Covington, has been named Co-Ed Correspondent for the 1968-69 school year, according to Miss Margaret Hauser, editor of Co-Ed Magazine, published nationally by Scholastic Magazines, Inc., for home economics students. It contains articles on fashion, food, beauty, and home furnishings.

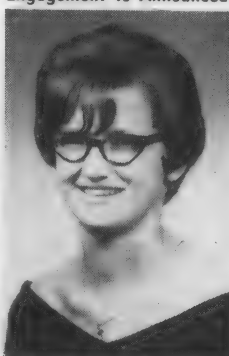

Miss Parsons, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Parsons, is a freshman at Twenlock Junior High School, Taylor Mill Road, near Nicholas. She was appointed correspondent by Mrs. Carol Neely her home economics teacher.

Engagement Is Announced

Miss Glenda Sue Crouch

Mr. and Mrs. Myrick Crouch of near Verona, announce the engagement of their daughter, Glenda Sue, to Warren Brown, son of the late Clay Brown and Mrs. Violet Brown of Elliston. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Crouch was graduated from Walton-Verona High School last May.

Dance At All Saints Church

All Saints Church will give a dance, to be held Saturday, Nov. 23rd, beginning at 8:00 p. m., in the school basement.

Refreshments will be available. Music will be furnished by the John-D Combo. Everyone is welcome.

Community Thanksgiving Service November 27th

The Walton Community Thanksgiving service will be held at the Walton Christian Church on Wednesday, November 27, at 7:30 p. m. The message will be given by Rev. Robert Yates, pastor of Walton United Methodist Church.

Rev. Arthur J. Russell, president of the Walton Ministerial Association, will be presiding, and sharing in the services will be Father Frederick Bamberger of All Saints and Rev. Wilfred Davis of Zion Baptist Church.

The choir from the host church, under the direction of Mrs. Harry Henson, will have the music.

The offering received at this service will be put into the community relief fund which is used to give assistance to transient people stranded in Walton or to local individuals who need aid from time to time.

The public is cordially invited to this Thanksgiving service.

Boone County DAR Meeting In Florence

The November meeting of the Boone County Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held in the home of Mrs. Samuel Denham, Jr., Florence.

The speaker for the evening was Mrs. Charles Allphin, Walton. She is regent of the Capt. John Lillard Chapter, DAR, of Williamson.

Mrs. Allphin's talk on "Recollections of Yesterday from the McGuffey Readers," was much enjoyed by all members and guests present. The McGuffey Readers were the first books for each primary grade. Before their books, the main source of learning was from the Bible.

Boone County Chapter, DAR, will be selling flag pins and ribbon. Anyone wishing to buy any of these articles, may contact Mrs. Denham, ways and means chairman, or any member of the chapter. The chapter will also sponsor a supper "Card Party," Dec. 7th.

Members attending the meeting were: Mesdames Billy W. Brown, Helen Collins, William Conrad, Clifford Coyle, Samuel Denham, Jr., Richard Dornier, Joseph F. Eubanks, Walter Ferguson, Davis Gaines, Margaret Goodridge, Wallace K. Grubbs, Howard Jarrell, Ashlin Logan, George Meyer, Roy Nestor, Floyd Roberts, Francis J. Sayre, Bernard Scott, and Clarence Wolfe.

Bearcats Win Two In NKIAC Tourney

Bill Lawrence, Reporter

ARTHUR INGRAM and RICKY STEPHENS WERE NAMED TO THE TOURNAMENT ALL-STAR SQUAD.

The Walton-Verona Bearcats began hardwood play last week as they traveled to Williamson to participate in the N.K.I.A.C. Invitational tournament which began on Tuesday evening. They went with a fresh team of only two regulars from last year's squad. But Coach Morris Tyler's boys won over the Saints of Maysville.

The first half went along at an even pace with first the Cats then the Saints in the lead. In the second half the Cats broke loose. With the fine shooting of Ricky Stephens, Arthur Ingram and Mike Ferguson, they took a 4-point third quarter lead. Outscoring their opponents 21-15 in the final period of play gave the W-V Bearcats an impressive win of 73-63.

This was Coach Tyler's first win as head coach.

Ferguson took scoring and rebounding honors with 25 and 18. Stephens had 20 and 17.

Individual scoring—

Walton-Verona
Ferguson, 8-9-25; Stephens, 9-2-20; A. Ingram, 6-6-18; Glenn, 0-9-9. Saint Patrick McHugh, 3-4-10; Blakefield, 2-2-6; Sullivan, 4-3-11; Fearis, 1-0-2; McClanahan, 0-2-2; Stahl, 7-12-26; and Kelch, 3-0-6.

With a breath of earlier victory in their nostrils, Tyler's squad faced the St. Henry Crusaders in Thursday's encounter. But the whiff was soon gone for the Cats were being routed. It was soon evident that the Cats were not up to par. They trailed at first 17-5 and at half time 35-12. But they woke up and attempted a comeback that fell short. Third quarter score was 54-25. The Cats did outscore the Crusaders in the final period but it was not enough to overcome the wide margin.

Individual scoring—

Walton-Verona
Stephens, 5-4-14; A. Ingram, 5-0-10; Glenn, 4-1-9; Ferguson, 1-2-4; T. Cady, 1-0-2. Saint Henry Baily, 0-2-2; Holzderber, 4-0-8; Otte, 7-1-15; Timon, 7-0-14; Soper, 2-0-4; Schibus, 3-3-9; Fleesch, 4-1-9.

In the Saturday evening consolation game, the locals outscored Augusta. Our boys were out for the third place trophy and they struck it rich. They took a 13-5 lead at end of the first quarter of play. Augusta came fighting back to a 33-30 edge at halftime.

The Cats took over in the third quarter and never did let go of the lead. They led 57-53 after three periods and won the game by a score of 75-74.

Individual scoring—

Walton-Verona
Stephens, 7-12-26; Ingram, 13-0-26; Ferguson, 4-2-10; Glenn, 4-1-9; G. Ingram, 1-0-2; Cady, 1-0-2. Augusta

T. Kelsch, 9-6-24; Lucas, 3-1-7; Kelsch, 1-1-3; Ward, 3-2-8; Noe, 0-5-5; Thornsbury, 3-2-8; Hargett, 1-0-2; BeHymer, 6-5-17. St. Henry defeated St. Thomas 72-45 for the championship.

SNOW FLURRIES

Northern Kentuckians had a whisper of winter early Tuesday as snow flurries were quite widespread. Little or no accumulation was expected, however.

KENTON ELEMENTARY PTA OPEN HOUSE NOV. 21

The regular monthly meeting of the Kenton Elementary PTA will be held November 21 at the school. In addition, Open House will be held from 7:00 to 8:00 p. m. At this time you are invited to visit the class rooms where the children's work will be on display.

Turkey Dinner, Friday

The sophomore class of Walton-Verona High School will sponsor a turkey dinner in the school cafeteria on Friday, November 22nd. Serving will start at 5:30 p. m.

Carry-outs will be filled and delivered between 5:30 and 6:30 p. m. To place orders for carry-outs, please call 485-4711 or 485-7211 before Friday evening.

WALTON POST OFFICE ROBBED SECOND TIME

Burglars pried into the Walton Post Office, peeled open a safe and stole an undetermined amount of money, sometime Friday night or early Saturday morning.

Mrs. Mildred Cleek, postmistress, discovered the break-in when she opened the office Saturday morning.

The intruders pried locks on two steel doors in the rear of the building to gain entrance.

Mrs. Cleek said, "The safe looked just like you'd taken a can opener to a can."

Actual cash loss, according to Mrs. Cleek, was less than $100.00, although before the final check it was estimated to be a larger amount. It is believed that the Star Route carrier from Cincinnati probably frightened the intruders away.

The post office was burglarized in a similar manner last Aug. 3.

Attend State Board Meeting of The CAR

Among those from Northern Kentucky who attended the State Board meeting of the Kentucky Society, Children of the American Revolution, Nov. 9, in Frankfort, were: Mrs. Francis J. Sayre, of Florence, Regent, Boone County Chapter DAR; Miss Donna Sayre, State CAR president, and Mrs. J. Ashlin Logan, Walton, Senior State CAR Vice President.

The meeting was held in the Kentucky Historical Society Building, which is the Old State Capitol and whose present exhibit viewing the historical exhibits following the meeting.

There were refreshments of cookies and punch. The punch was served from the handsome silver ladle from the battleship Kentucky, which was loaned by the Historical Society for the occasion.

4-H Club of Piner Tours Berea College

A tour of Berea College was selected as the annual trip by the Piner Clever Clovers 4-H Club.

The group took the industrial tour in the morning. This included watching the making of candies and decorating sugar cubes with icing in the candy kitchen; seeing the stages from sawing wood to the beautiful reproduction of colonial furniture and old games in woodworking, as well as watching the students weave lovely wool cloth of their own designs. It was fascinating to see a hunk of clay become a bowl or vase. In the log cabin sales room, the 4-H'ers were able to see finished products from all of the industries.

They ate lunch in Boone Tavern and it was a delightful experience. The food was delicious, the student waitresses were gracious, and the "Old South" atmosphere very relaxing.

In the afternoon, the club took the academic tour. From the student union building they could see about a fourth of the beautiful campus. They were conducted through the arts building, music department, library, chapel, entomology room and the Little Theatre. Many other buildings were viewed from the outside, but they could not enter as it would have disturbed classes. The guide told the group a lot of interesting history of the campus and its buildings.

Twelve club members and three leaders returned home tired but with a day to remember.

Dance Proceeds Lost

The softball team of Walton sponsored a dance Saturday night to make money for the softball fund. A package containing part of the proceeds was lost on Sunday as it was being taken to Deane Poore on Alta Vista Drive, Walton. It is thought to have been lost on Alta Vista.

Anyone knowing about this loss or finding the parcel, please contact 485-4670 or 485-7196, or return to Deane Poore and receive a reward.

Boone-Union Lodge To Confer M. M. Degree

On Saturday, December 7, Boone Union Lodge, No. 304, will confer the Master Mason degree. The meeting will start at 6:30 p. m. at the Masonic Hall in Union.

Those receiving the degree are Granville Gilliam, Chester Wood, James Payne, and Warren Ryle. It will also be Past Masters' Night.

Boone Union degree team will portray "The Legend of The Temple."

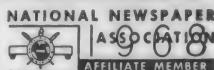

All Master Masons are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Check stripping rooms carefully and strip correctly. Stripping is an important phase of market preparation.

1—Make sure the tobacco stems break cleanly from the stalk and leaf. Don't leave slivers on the leaves.

2—Don't take down more tobacco than can be handled in two days' working time. When tobacco is ready to strip, strip it; don't leave Thomas E. Rogers of Eminence, Ky., called on Mrs. Ada Moore of South Main Street, election day, when he came back to Walton to vote.

Mrs. Savella Parker of Route 2, has been confined to her home due to illness.

Double birthdays were celebrated at the home of Mrs. Ron Harper of Ludlow, with a buffet dinner to honor her husband, Ron, and her father, Woodrow Greene, of Walton.

Besides the honored guests, others enjoying the dinner and birthday cake were Mrs. Woodrow Greene, Ricky and Ronda, children of the hostess, and the Jim Ellis family of Erlanger.

Mrs. Eugene Lay is at the home of her sister, Mrs. John M. Taylor, Catahina Drive, where she is recovering from injuries suffered in a recent automobile accident. Eugene Lay was more seriously injured in the accident and has to re-enter the hospital this week to have more work done to his eye.

WHITE'S TOWER PTA

The regular meeting of the White's Tower PTA will be held tonight (Nov. 21) from 7:00 to 7:30 p. m., in the school cafeteria.

Open House with room visitation will be held from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. The purpose of this opportunity is to join a closer relationship with parents and teachers. All parents are urged to attend.

There will also be a bake goods and candy sale.

Attending Georgetown

Four students from Walton are enrolled at Georgetown College for its 140th session, according to the registrar, Mrs. Dorothy DeMoisey.

They are: James Gordon Drury, Shirley McGlone, Vernon McGlone, and Charles Edward Neumeister.

the crop hanging in the barn, as it can darken.

3—Clean out the stripping room, check lights and make sure there is one good light for each two strippers. Put in new and recommended light tubes if necessary. The 40-watt fluorescent tube recommended by UK researchers is urged.

4—Strip crop into the five basic grades—flyings, lugs, bright leaf, red leaf and tips. There probably will be a strong demand for flyings and tips this year, which makes grade-sorting still more important. Stripping into the five basic grades assures you of top market price. 5—Use a wooden hand-press, pressing each 12-to-14 hand stick lightly for top appearance. Avoid mechanical (hydraulic, electric) presses, and don't overpress with the hand-press.

6—Put pressed tobacco in the "chicken-coop" bulk for eight to 10 days, then move it to the solid bulk. Usually, tobacco goes into the solid bulk about a week before delivery to market.

7—Cover bulked tobacco to protect it from foreign matter in the barn, and use a tarpaulin to cover it enroute to market.

SECURITY LIGHTS

NITE LIFE

Here's a bright idea... stretch a few more hours into your busy days. You can do this and much more when you have outdoor lights controlled by an electric photo cell. It automatically turns itself on at dusk; off at dawn. Your yard, barn and out buildings can all be well lighted so you can still get things done... even after the sun sets.

Well-placed outdoor lighting is an important safety feature, too. Because you can see, even on the darkest night, there is less chance of injury by a slip or fall.

It means greater security, too. A well lighted area discourages unwanted prowlers, both the two- and four-legged varieties. Animals, birds and equipment are thus protected... automatically... from dusk to dawn.

The cost? Only a few pennies a day. Ask us for complete information. We'll be glad to help you select the best locations for each light so you can get greater benefit from low-cost rural electric power.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

We were very glad to have as our guest speaker, Rev. C. Evison. He brought with him his choir, which made the occasion much more interesting. They sang two selections, then joined our congregation in several numbers. The J. Green family also presented a quartet selection. Rev. Evison very graciously answered several questions on the Roman Catholic faith. All seemed to enjoy the service.

Rev. Frank Leeper of Brucewood Presbyterian Church spoke Sunday, Nov. 17.

Albert Gilligan, according to his doctor, is making progress. We wish for him better health following surgery.

A. E. Damon, who suffered a setback because of pneumonia, is much improved.

Mrs. J. B. Richardson is at her home and doing nicely. She travels about the house in a wheel chair and with the aid of her husband.

We have heard reports that Mrs. Myrtle Deuser is improving, and this is very good news. She has been ill for a long time.

Mr. Nixon is now our President-elect. Whether you supported him in the campaign is not important. The thing that is of great importance is that we back him up in the very heavy tasks which will soon be his. Let every one pray God's guidance be given him and that the "purpose in his heart" to follow this guiding light.

Staffordsburg Homemakers

The Staffordsburg Homemakers Club met November 6 in the dining room of the Pleasant Grove Methodist Church with Mrs. Victor Damico as hostess. One interesting event of the day was a tour of this recently dedicated building. It is indeed both beautiful and commodious. The class rooms are attractive and well arranged.

The president, Mrs. Damico, opened the meeting with the salute to the flag, followed by the reports of the secretary and treasurer.

Each member was supposed to bring a Christmas gift or decoration for the display to be held at Trinity Hall, Latonia. Most of the members forgot to bring these things, but those who did remember, brought some beautiful and ingenious decorations. Plans for our Christmas party were discussed but not definitely decided. Each is to bring a $1.00 gift but the place will be announced later.

The annual election of officers was held. The committee on nominations presented the following slate: Mrs. V. Damico, president; Mrs. H. Nitschke, vice president; Mrs. M. Wharton, secretary, and Mrs. L. Faulkner, treasurer. The selections were unanimously approved.

The lesson on gourmet cooking was given by Mrs. Perkins and Mrs. Nitschke. The latter prepared two of the dishes suggested, which were delicious. Mrs. Wharton and Mrs. Damico gave the lesson on antique glass. Mrs. Keeney reviewed the story of a teenager's lonely but very interesting trip on a sailing vessel half way around the world. Robin Lee Graham will finish his story and I'm sure bring it out in book form before long.

Among those present were Mrs. Pruett and Mrs. Flanagan and Miss Nancy Nitschke, guests; the members were Mesdames B. Rich, J. Perkins and daughter, Jennifer, E. Stein, H. Nitschke, L. Rapp, J. Shaw, Ora Nehring, R. Payne, L. Faulkner, G. Cooper, J. Elam, E. Ware, M. Wharton, V. Damico, and F. Keeney. Mrs. Damico was a gracious hostess.

JET SET 4-H CLUB

The November meeting of the Jet Set 4-H Club was held at the Grace Baptist Church, Independence. The session was called to order by the president, Teresa Lachmann. Pledges were said and the secretary and treasurer's reports were given.

There being no old business to dispose of, the club welcomed six new members, making a total of 15 members now enrolled.

The new members are: Tammy Birkbecker, Meribeth Curry, Bernard Fields, Brenda Gibson, Lisa West, and Laura West.

Election of officers resulted in the following being named: Chela Richardson, president; Melanie Curry, vice president; John Richardson, secretary; Lisa West, treasurer; Vicki Mastin, reporter; Dean Lockard, recreation leader; Bernard Fields, pledge leader; Teresa Lachmann, historian. A refreshments committee was also named to provide refreshments for the meetings.

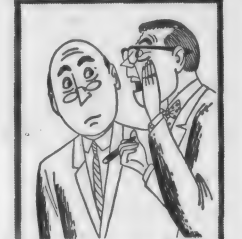

Names were drawn for the exchange of gifts at the Christmas party.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments and recreation followed.

Installation of officers and a Christmas party will be held at the next meeting at the home of Mrs. Richardson.—Reporter

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—My father was killed in service in World War II. I received four years (36 months) of war orphans' educational assistance from the Veterans Administration while attending college. After graduation I went into service and will soon be discharged after two years of active duty. Am I entitled to any additional educational assistance from the VA as the result of my own military service?

A—You will be after Dec. 1, 1968. Under a new law recently signed by the President, veterans such as you who have already received educational assistance under one VA program will be entitled to an aggregate of 48 months of educational assistance under two or more Federal veteran benefit programs. You will be entitled to 12 more months of VA educational benefits.

What's up with Southern Railway containers these days?

Just about everything but their highway chassis.

To us it just doesn't make sense to rail-haul the deadweight of highway wheels and underframes.

So we leave the highway chassis behind, working at the terminal, while freight-filled containers make the long-haul journey by economical rail. At the other end, the containers are loaded onto other chassis for the short highway haul to final destination.

Containerization — we helped pioneer it—is the ideal way of "packaging" freight for intermodal transportation by rail, highway, sea, even air. It saves shippers money.

It helps keep our costs down, too, so we're better able to maintain competitive rates that combine with service to help our customers squeeze the waste out of their distribution.

PINER CLEVER CLOVERS

The October meeting of the Piner Clever Clovers 4-H Club was held in the home of Miss Sherrill Bridges with 14 members present.

Pledges to the flags were led by Sue Fisk and two songs were led by Brenda Smith and Judy Magee. Minutes, treasurer's and reporter's reports were read and accepted.

Final plans were made for our tour of Berea College. Another item of old business was the "Award of Excellence" forms. All members were encouraged to complete their forms.

Two items of new business were acted upon. It was decided to buy six song books and a gavel for the club. The club decided to sell comb and mirror sets as their money making project.

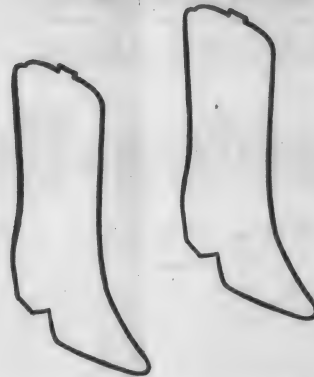

Enrollment cards for the project we plan to work on next year were filled out and turned in.

The November meeting will be at the Piner-Fiskburg Firehouse, with Amy Collins as hostess.

VERONA

Flonnie Edrington, Reporter

Danny Keeton and Rebecca LeFeber were married Friday evening, November 1, at 7:30, in the United Baptist Church, where his father is pastor, by Bro. Ambrose Davis. The best man was Dennis Stewart, and the maid of honor was Merleida Keeton. After the wedding, they all had supper at his home. He is the son of Hager Keeton and Zona Crase Keeton of Verona, and she is the daughter of Charles LeFeber and Gertrude Butler LeFeber of Coasaddale, Ohio. Margie Keeton and girls of Morrow, Ohio, came down to attend the wedding.

Mrs. Iris Hughes and Flonnie

Edrington were calling on Mrs. Stella Murray recently.

Mrs. Allie Chandler spent Wednesday with her brother, George Jones, of Erlanger, who was operated on. She reports he is doing fine.

Mrs. Susie Gore was a recent guest of her granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Curry, and children. While there she was stricken with a heart attack and rushed to the Owenton Hospital, where she is recovering.

David H. Curry was a recent guest of his grandparents, Bro. and Mrs. Ralph Curry.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bob Hamilton and two daughters of Ft. Rucker, Ala., are visiting their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hamilton of Verona, and Mr. and Mrs. Ogden of Latonia.

Miss Sue Curry left for Frankfort, recently to visit relatives.

We extend sympathy to Don Murray in the passing of his mother.

Mrs. Sam Cornett is still on the sick list at this time.

We also express sympathy to the Noma Sparks family in the passing of their loved one, Frank Sparks, of Iowa.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kemper went to the Dry Ridge Rest Home recently and got her mother, Mrs. Lena Harris, and brought her home with her for the day, which she enjoyed very much.

Mrs. Zona Keeton called on Mrs. Flonnie Edrington, one day recently.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Akins and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Keeton.

James Whitson was a recent Sunday guest of the Edringtons.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Pennington called on Allie Chandler one afternoon recently.

Never be afraid of what other people say if you are sure that you approve what you have done.

You may think that seat belts are uncomfortable, but have you ever tried stretcher?

I wish to take this opportunity to voice my appreciation to the people of the Walton-Verona Independent School District for their support in my election to the school board and to extend special thanks to all the many people who worked so diligently in my behalf.

In the coming four years, I shall try to the best of my ability to represent you in our efforts to achieve the best possible educational opportunity for all students.

Thank you,
DANIEL D. HANCE

THE SPOILED GAME

Lesson for November 24, 1968

Background Scriptures: 1 John 2:7-11, 3:11-18.
Devotional Readings: 1 John 4:19-21.

It is Ernest Hemingway in his novel, A Farewell to Arms, (Charles Scribner's Sons), who describes what many people call "love" as a kind of game.

I knew I did not love Catherine Barkley nor had any idea of loving her.

This was a game, like bridge, in which you said things instead of playing cards.

How much of what is called

"love" is in reality simply a game which people play by saying the right things and going through the right motions?

To love someone may merely mean that we want them for some selfish purpose.

Love affairs, whatever else they may be,

are often lacking in love itself.

People speak of loving chocolate

sundae, of being in love, of making love, and all the while they use the same word when they repeat "For God so loved the world..."

Meaning of love

Someone has proposed that the word "love" ought to be removed from our vocabulary and that new words be given to convey the different meanings for which love is currently used.

Unfortunately, this is not very likely to happen.

Perhaps the next best thing is to try to do whatever we can to communicate more adequately what the Christian faith means when it speaks of "love."

Christians, like politicians, often speak in vague generalities.

They talk of hope, faith, and love without making it specifically clear what they mean by these terms.

Certainly, when the Christian says that "God so loved the world..." he does not mean what is meant when someone says that they would "love" to do "this" or "that." So what do we mean?

The writer of 1 John is quite specific in communicating what "love" is to mean.

When he writes that we are to "love one another" (3:11), he refuses to leave us with vague generalities.

Something you do

For example, "By this we know love, that he laid down his life for us" (1 John 3:16 RSV).

The writer of this epistle might have tried to describe "love" with words alone.

Instead, however, he points to something quite unambiguous: Jesus' offering of his life for us.

The man without love takes life, but the follower of Jesus Christ, like the Master himself, is one who gives life for the sake of others.

For many people, love is merely something which is said: "I love you." Yet, necessary as is one's declaration of love, the loving act is far more persuasive.

As Hemingway indicated, one may play the "love game" with words instead of cards.

Often the words are lies, intended or unintended. Thus: "Little children, let us not love in word or speech but in deed and in truth" (1 John 3:18 RSV).

Love is truly something you do, much more than something you say.

Furthermore, love is no less required of us than it was of Jesus: "...and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren" (1 John 3:16b).

Of course this "lay down our lives" is also likely to become a generality, so the writer goes a step further in making clear the meaning of love: "...if anyone has the world's goods and sees his brother in need, yet closes his heart against him, how does God's love abide in him?" (1 John 3:17 RSV).

The act of "laying down our lives," does not necessarily mean dying for someone; it may mean living for someone, a task which sometimes may be even more difficult than dying.

The spoiler

The writer makes it very clear, too, what hate is. Hate is an emotion that blinds the hater: "...the darkness has blinded his eyes" (1 John 2:11).

It robs him of the truth, of seeing things as they really are.

Furthermore, "Anyone who hates his brother is a murderer" (1 John 3:15).

But it is the hater who murders himself with the poison of his hate, smothering his own soul, and snuffing out his own eternal life.

He has made it all too clear what love and hate are. He has spoiled our game, for he has taken away the luxury of our ignorance.

A giant radio telescope picked up bursts of static from a galaxy 2000 light years away. In them, scientists discovered these simple words:

"Earthmen, your planet is in danger. As your morals decay, your great cities slowly crumble. You will see wars and civil strife."

"But we offer you hope," the ancient message continued. "A new world. We can give you knowledge and bring you the peace for which you have searched so long..."

Science-fiction?

Not entirely.

There is a message that originated in a distant place over 2000 years ago. It describes the world as it is today, and it offers hope for the future.

The Bible, inspired by God, is a very real message, one that you can begin reading today. Then go to church on Sunday and meet the Author there.

Complete Boone Care Center Deal

Boone County's long-awaited extended care center came a step nearer last week with delivery of over $1 million in bonds to a trustee bank.

Boone County Judge Bruce Ferguson, and Campbell County Judge Andrew Jolly, a consultant on the center, took the bonds to a bank in Columbus, Ohio.

County Clerk Jerry Rouse and Judge Ferguson had to sign the 1,208 $1,000 bonds, which will finance construction.

The three-wing structure will be erected on a tract of approximately 16 acres along the west side of I-75 just north of the Burlington Pike interchange. It isn't known at this time when construction will get under.

Fiscal Court members are serving as the Boone Public Properties Corporation, a non-profit holding company, which will own the 100-bed center.

The county's only contractual obligation is to provide up to $15,000 a year to the home for care of its indigents. The new center will care for the indigent aged now cared for in the Boone County Infirmary.

The new facility will also offer care to persons needing long-term, lower-cost nursing care.

The Boone Public Properties Corporation will hold title to the center and pay off the bonds over a 40-year period with revenue from the center.

Management of the center will be carried out through an operating committee of ten Boone County residents. They are:

Pauline McDavid, Burlington, a Cincinnati Suburban Bell Telephone Company employee.

Mrs. Robert F. Greene, Burlington, a registered nurse.

Aaa M. Rouse, a Walton attorney.

Dr. Floyd Poore, Florence, general practitioner.

Dr. Howard Ravenscraft, Hebron, general practitioner.

Dr. James Shrand, Florence, a general practitioner.

Nellie McCarty, Florence, Union Light, Heat & Power employee.

Mrs. Charles Weierich, Florence, Girl Scout a civic leader.

Ruby Caldwell, Burlington, Boone County school nurse.

Gayle McElroy, Walton, real estate broker.

Cancer Society Meets Nov. 21

The Boone County Chapter of the American Cancer Society held its first organizational meeting of the year November 21 at the Boone County Health Department, 267 Main St., Florence.

This organization has been active for the past 15 years. Mrs. H. R. Daugherty served as chairman of the nominating committee.

The following people were appointed to office: Mrs. Carl Cummins, president; Mrs. Don Shadrach, vice-president; Mrs. Ivan Clements, secretary. The professional directors are Dr. J. F. Daugherty and Dr. Gladys Rouse. Mrs. Glenn Baird will be the Memorial Chairman, and can be reached at 384-3737 by those wishing to place memorials. Mrs. Mary Cress, Service Chairman, and her phone is 371-9001. Mrs. Alan H. Gaines is Education Chairman. Names of the Crusade Chairman and Area Chairmen will be announced noon. Warren G. Parrish, area vice-president, was present to assist with professional advice.

The Student Center Board at the University of Kentucky features among its speakers this year, Al Capp, Jim Garrison, and actor John Carradine.

It will please the St. Cecilia ladies to serve you.

X-Ray Unit At Airport

The Boone County Health Department announces that the TB Chest X-Ray unit, sponsored by the Kentucky Elks Association and the State Department of Health, will be at the Greater Cincinnati Airport on Friday, December 6th. The unit will be stationed at the fire-house. The hours of operation are from 10:00 to 12:00 noon and 1:00 to 3:00 p. m. Persons eligible for chest x-rays include those 18 years of age and over, pregnant women only if referred by a physician. Those persons under 18 years of age must be referred by a physician.

Annual Boone GOP Christmas Party Set

The Boone County Republican Club, working in cooperation with the Boone County Women's Republican Club, will hold its annual Christmas party on Thursday evening, December 12, at 6:30 p. m. This year's dinner party will be held at the Old Farm Restaurant (formerly Park 25), just south of Florence, on U. S. 25.

Reservations at $1.38 per person should be gotten to co-chairwoman Lucille Brakefield at 485-4398 by Saturday, December 7, or by contacting other officers of the Boone GOP organizations. Lillian Schram of Florence, is serving as the other co-chairman, with Carrie Martin, Florence, in charge of arrangements and decorations. Harvey and Emily Pelley are in charge of favors for the children attending.

Patty Rosenstiel of the Teen-Age Republicans is in charge of reservations for the TARS. Teen-Age Republicans Denise Gullion and Donna Vaughn will serve hostesses. Christmas carols will be accompanied by Roger Fletcher and his guitar.

Taylor Mill PTA Has Open House

An Open House preceded the November 18th meeting of the Taylor Mill PTA held in the school auditorium at 8:00 p. m. Parents visited their children's classrooms, met the teachers, and witnessed the progress of their children.

Mrs. Charles Stephenson, membership chairman, announced that the membership drive has been extended to November 27th. At that time two prizes will be awarded. A first prize of a party plus a visit to the classroom by "The General" a seven foot toy soldier, will be awarded to the winning class in the first to third grade division. An identical first prize will be awarded to the winning class in the fourth to sixth grade division.

Mrs. Malcolm Fletcher, president, extended a "Thank You" on the part of the Taylor Mill PTA to Edgar Baker, principal, and Mrs. Eugene Feagan, Jr., corresponding secretary, for their efforts in handling the purchase and delivery of the piano which was placed in the school's music room. Mrs. Fletcher also announced that the Taylor Mill PTA was awarded an Extra Superior rating at the recently held Sixth District PTA Fall Conference at Alexandria, Ky. The individual chairmen receiving that award were Mrs. Thomas Barnett, health; Mrs. John Reams, safety; Mrs. Thomas Moak, membership; Mrs. Walter Simmons, bylaws; and Mrs. Gordon Johnson, publications. A special scholarship award was given to Miss Jean Brewell.

The evening closed with the announcement of a Christmas Musical to be given in the school auditorium December 12th at 7:30 p. m. by the fifth and sixth grade chorus under the direction of Mrs. B. Curry.

Christmas Bazaar Dec. 7

The Auxiliary of the Verona Volunteer Fire Department are planning a Christmas Bazaar for Saturday, December 7th to be held at the Boone County Drug Store in Walton starting at 10:00 a. m. There will be homemade candies and bread and a large variety of Christmas gifts, and decorating items.

The auxiliary is sponsoring this bazaar to raise funds to aid the Verona Fire Department, which is now getting organized.

Come, see these gift ideas before you complete your Christmas gift list.

Plans December Wedding

Miss Nancy Alice White

Mr. and Mrs. John C. White, of Stanford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nancy Alice White, Florence, to William Avery Norman, of Morehead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Norman, Summer Shade. Miss White, a graduate of the University of Kentucky, has done graduate work at the University of Maryland. Mr. Norman graduated from Western Kentucky State University and received his Master's Degree from the University of Kentucky. Miss White is employed by the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service in Boone County. Mr. Norman is with Geigy Agricultural Chemicals.

The wedding will be December 21 at the home of the bride's parents.

PLAN TURKEY SHOOT

Plans have been made for a turkey shoot on Sunday, Dec. 15th, sponsored by Johnson-McElroy Post American Legion, to be held at the post home on High Street, Walton.

For the ladies, a social is to be held, and home-made chili will be served. Plan now to attend. Bring your own gun.

Enjoy Florida Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Collins and daughter, Cathy, of Main St., Independence, have returned home after a two weeks vacation in sunny Florida. They were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. John M. McCausland and daughter, Allyson, of Miami. While there many places of interest were visited including Viscaya, Monkey Jungle, Parrot Jungle Aquarium, and Yey West, with its many attractions.

Businessmen To Meet December 4

The third meeting of the newly formed Greater Walton Businessmen's Association will be held on Wednesday evening, December 4, at 8:00 p. m. The meeting is to be held at First Federal Savings and Loan, just south of Walton, on U. S. Highway 25.

Program of the meeting calls for a presentation and discussion of projected area growth, and especially how it pertains to the Walton area. Bob Meltry, of the governor's office, with possible attendance of other state officials, will be on hand to note what steps have been taken and what projected means will be available for advancement of the City of Walton, not only pertaining to Frontier Worlds, but the entire Northern Kentucky growth pattern.

Over 50 business and professional men and women of the area attended the first meet in October, and over 70 attended the second. It is hoped that another increase in attendance will be forthcoming at the December meeting. By-laws, presented at the last meeting and read to the membership, should be again brought before the organization following a committee hearing on them.

Free Parking In Walton

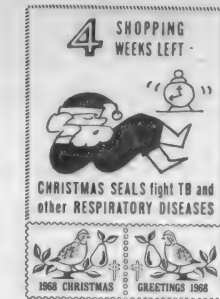

There will be free parking in Walton during the Christmas shopping season this year. According to Mayor Dale Stephens, effective December 7 and continuing until January 2, 1969, the Parking Meter Ordinance has been declared void. We appreciated this act on the part of Council and trust shoppers will likewise appreciate being able to forget about the meters during the Christmas season.

Sees Son On Television

Mrs. Christine Rich of Alta Vista Drive, Walton, was watching the "Today" television show last Thursday morning and saw her son, Pfc. Ernie W. Rich get off an Army transport plane returning to Hawaii from Vietnam for a short relief period.

Television cameras were set up at the landing field to film the arrival of Pat Nugent, son-in-law of President Johnson, who was also returning to Hawaii for relief period.

Ernie telephoned his family and told them of his experience and of sharing a seat with Nugent on the flight from Vietnam. Seeing her son on television was quite an experience and thrill for Mrs. Rich.

Revival Crusade Planned At Staffordburg Church

A revival crusade will be held at the Staffordburg Methodist Church, December 1-8, with services each evening at 7:30.

The evangelist will be Jimmie Rose of Wilmore, Ky., and is a well known speaker. Plan to attend this revival crusade.

Remember Our Servicemen

The Wa-Na Woman's Club has secured names and addresses of servicemen of the Walton-Verona area who are now in Vietnam and who will be getting a package mailed to each of them this week from the club.

The women know there are other friends, of these boys, who would like to send a Christmas card or small package to help them have as nice a Christmas as is possible when away from loved ones and friends.

The Advertiser and Mr. Simpson are cooperating with the Wa-Na Club in publishing this list of names and addresses. We hope you will send a message of cheer to any or all of these boys:

A Porch Light Drive For Verona Firemen

The residents of the Verona area are asked to participate in the Porch Light Drive to raise funds for the Verona Volunteer Fire Department.

The Verona firemen have received a number of donations but if you have planned to make a contribution or care to contribute more, please have your porch light turned on Saturday evening, Nov. 30, between 7:30 and 10:00, and a member of the department will call at your home.

The support of all residents who will be served by this fire department, when they get fully equipped and organized, are asked to make a contribution. Any donation will be appreciated.

Mrs. Florence Crowe and Mrs. Edith Hamilton spent Thursday in Elsmere.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beigle and children spent Sunday in Lexington with relatives.

Mrs. Wesley Burgess is on the sick list. We wish her a speedy recovery.

The W.S.C.S. will hold its regular meeting Friday evening, Dec. 6, with a Christmas dinner, and all members are urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carlisle and Mrs. Ethel Breeden were the Sunday evening dinner guests of Rev. Harmon at a fellowship dinner at Pleasant Grove church.

Mrs. Mildred Berry and Mrs. Mary Stephenson were Saturday afternoon guests of Mrs. Berry's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Casper Phillips, of the Dixie Highway.

Wesley Burgess and Miss Wilma Goode spent Sunday afternoon in Frankfort.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hahn spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Utley and family.

Elbert Cullen and Zoma Hornbeck of Covington, spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Callen.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson spent Sunday afternoon with his uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Cash Wilson, of Williamstown.

Happy Helpers Meet

The Happy Helpers class held its regular meeting November 19 at 7 o'clock with a ham dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carlisle as hosts. The meeting was opened by singing "He Lives," with Mrs. Lucile Hudson at the piano. Minutes were read and approved and the treasurer's report given.

The group was honored to have Mr. and Mrs. Nick Welsh and family and two of the boys from the Daniel Boone Center at Grant.

Mr. Welsh gave a very inspiring talk about how the school was operated. He introduced one of his boys, Danny Percell, a colored boy, 11 years old, and everyone enjoyed his talk. He certainly has a bright future ahead of him. Mr. Welsh is doing a fine job with the boys at camp and Nick, we are very proud of you in this work.

Those enjoying the delicious dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. Nick Welsh, Linda, Brenda and Johnny Welsh, Danny Percell, Kenny Hayse, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Callen, Rev. Robert Yates, Mrs. Mary Stephenson, Mrs. Edith Hamilton, Mrs. Myrtle Hammond, Mrs. Rebecca Brown, Mrs. Lucile Hudson, Mrs. Llewellyn Wallace, Connie Ruf, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wallace, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carlisle.

Eastern Star Inspection

The Eastern Star Inspection was held Monday evening, Nov. 18 at 7:30. A banquet was served by the PTA at six o'clock in the W-V school for the Grand Officers and visitors, as well as members of the chapter.

At seven o'clock they assembled at the lodge hall for their regular meeting. Before the lodge opened Mrs. Ed Egan sang a beautiful solo, "My Task," in honor of the Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Fania W. DeSpain.

Mrs. Flo Napier, Matron of the Walton Chapter, had charge of the business session. John Jones was initiated into the order. Several talks were made by the Grand Officers and delicious ice cream and cake was served to the following members and guests:

Mary M. Allen, Lorine Hurling, Virginia A. Pettit, Nancy Pettit, Betty Kelly, Dorothy Brockman, Ollie Giltner, Mary Stewart, Virginia Moore, Stanley Allen, Seward R. Abbott, Grace Abbott, Fania W. DeSpain, Betty Hensley, Nannie Hardy, Mae Fields, Wayne Gilmer, Barbara A. Intermediate GA's Meet

The Intermediate GA's of First Baptist Church enjoyed a study, "Look South," on Monday evening. Miss Debbie Boyer arranged an interesting display on Mexico. The breaking of the pinata was enjoyed thoroughly.

Delicious chili was made and served by Mrs. Geneva Fredericks, assisted by Mrs. Rhoda Humphrey. The girls came dressed as Spanish American teenagers and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson taught the book.

Douglas Newton of Frankfort, was the Tuesday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson, and attended the Walton-Verona vs. St. Henry basketball game at the local high school.

Well, just because I am feeling a little better, I will try and write a few items for the good old Advertiser, as I still think its the best of the county papers.

Our sick list is long, but this nice weather coming on now has shown a big improvement. The sick are: Mrs. Jess Webster, Mary Ward, Mrs. Cecil Clay and the writer and his wife.

Mr. Insbitt is returning to Wisconsin for a visit with relatives after the holidays. He must like it up there as this is his fourth visit in the past five years.

We were shocked by the death of our brother who had been in the hospital only a few days in Cincinnati, and had only been sick a few days. Cause, pneumonia.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I desire to change the beneficiary on my government life insurance policy. Do I have to send my policy back to VA for this?

A—No, you need not return the policy. Merely write your nearest VA regional office or the office to which you make your premium payments. Your letter will be accepted as a change and you will be sent the appropriate forms to list your designated beneficiaries in a more official manner.

Q—Are widows of World War II servicemen who died on active duty or from service-connected disabilities still eligible to file applications for GI home loans?

A—Yes. Entitlement for these widows will not expire until July 25, 1970.

Q—I am a widow of a veteran and receive pension benefits for myself and my children. I am planning to get married soon. I understand that I will lose my benefits, but will the children lose their pension too? What if they should be adopted by my future husband?

A—Your children will not lose their benefits when you remarry even if they are adopted by their stepfather.

The art of hand tailoring has been mastered by 14 Boone county women during the Tailoring Workshop sponsored by the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service.

Nancy Campbell, Area Extension Specialist, located in Grant County, has been the instructor for the eight-week course. Completing the course were Mrs. Nelson Popham, Walton, who tailored a Kelley green suit; Mrs. W. J. Brewer, Erlanger, who fashioned a Kelley green dress and jacket; Mrs. Russell J. Clark, Erlanger, who made a brown, orange and gold plaid suit; Mrs. Joseph Schwartz, Erlanger, who made an A-line coat in navy. An aqua double knit was the fabric chosen by Mrs. Thomas Fleck for her suit; Mrs. David Cummings, Ft. Mitchell, selected a blue-green textured wool suit; Mrs. Franklin Blank, Union, used a dark royal blue for her silk and wool suit; and Mrs. Walter Zalla, of Burlington, selected peacock flannel for a two-piece suit.

A dress and jacket ensemble of blue royal flannel was constructed by Mrs. Donald Carpenter, Burlington; Mrs. Francis Briggs, of Florence, chose a green houndstooth tweed check for her stylish coat; a green tweed coat was fashioned by Mrs. James Smith, Union; Mrs. Nelson Swango, Florence, made a brown suit. Others enrolled in the course were Mrs. Wm. Roadcup, Mrs. Charles Jump and Mrs. Richard J. Zirkelback.

The group will model their hand-made outfits at a luncheon on the third of December. The event will be a co-operative affair with the Kenton County Tailoring Class.

Avocado, Flame, Chocolate, Pineapple, Melon, Turquoise, Biscuit, Mushroom—these are among the mouth-watering color-names given to the new lines of pots, pans, and other kitchen equipment. Add to these exciting new shapes and miraculous new finishes, and plain Jane pans find themselves as out-dated as kerosene lamps. Glamour takes over in the galley, as cookware becomes easier to look at and easier to care for.

No longer does a bride treasure her mother's well-seasoned iron skillet: she wants, and usually gets, a complete color-coordinated cooking set which she hangs decoratively on pegboard—because it's too pretty to hide in the cupboard. A complete set might contain 8" and 10" skillets, 1 and 2-quart saucepans, a 3-quart covered casserole, and a big 6-quart pot—all with necessary lids. To this basic set might be added double boilers, lasagna or roasting pans, coffee-pot and teapot, and casseroles in various sizes.

Color combinations are stirring up as much excitement as the gay new solids. One firm offers pots which are chocolate outside, flame or avocado inside; another puts bright flowers or gay geometrics on the pans; yet another goes pop-art with a multi-colored splashed-on look. Lids and handles offer additional color contrast, and removable handles allow many pans to double as serving dishes.

There is silhouette excitement, too. Pans take on a more streamlined appearance, lower and leaner than older designs. Straight sides are seen more often than flared styles; lids sit low to assure a spare silhouette, rather than perching atop the pot.

Although several materials—aluminum, iron, steel, and glass—are used in making contemporary cookware, the real news is not so much in the basic material as in the finish applied to it.

One of the newest finishes, used instead of porcelain enamel on the outside of pans, is a substance called Polywide—a thermosetting plastic, chemically related to nylon, which is sprayed and baked onto aluminum utensils to give them a colorful, smooth, easy-to-clean, dishwasherable exterior. It differs from porcelain enamel, which is a molten glass product permanently fused to metal, in that it may be applied to lighter-weight aluminum. Coupled with its own modest cost, this puts Polywide-finished utensils in a medium-price category.

All sorts of utensils now have stick-resistant linings—including muffin tins, cookie sheets, bake pans, pie pans, as well as ordinary skillets and saucepans. Many lids are also similarly lined.

Silicone coatings are also being used to finish some non-stick bakeware. These are lower in cost and are chemically entirely different from the fluorocarbon coatings, but they perform about the same, require the same care, and respond to the same cleaning techniques.

It is all part of an exciting new ground swell that makes cooking more fun than ever, with home-makers free to concentrate on creative cooking as the cleanup detail gets easier and easier.

Open House Monday Nite

How to use the telephone as an aid to education was an illustrated program of the Walton-Verona PTA on Monday evening at the Verona building. Harold Wilson represented the Citizens Telephone Company and explained the many items available for use in all the grades of school. He encouraged the use of such aids from all business and manufacturing enterprises for the building of a better world. Mrs. Billy Prewitt is program chairman.

Mrs. Joe Sargent presided during the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Frankie Ryan. A devotional was given by Mrs. Clayton Jones entitled "Things to be thankful for."

Winners in the membership drive and $25.00 were Mrs. Ruth Layne's 5th grade and Mrs. Verne Gill's 7th grade.

Room count was won by Mrs. Dorothy Porter's 6th grade with 16 present.

Parents visited in rooms of their children during Open House and conversed with teachers about the work and study habits of the students.

Open House and a Christmas program at 7:30 are scheduled at Walton for the December meeting.

Burley Marts Open

Burley tobacco markets opened on Monday of this week with high prices throughout the area.

It is said the crop is an extra good smoking crop. It weighs lighter than last year, which will mean the farmers will receive more per pound but probably less per acre.

At the Boone County Warehouse at Florence, 1 million pounds of leaf was on the floor. 228,396 lbs. were sold Monday for an average of $74.00 per hundred. A total of $169,023 was paid to growers.

According to Dick Ryan, John Baker of Beaver, sold 6,612 pounds at the Golden Burley Warehouse in Carrollton, for an average of $75.00 per hundred, which was grown on 2.3 acres.

The University of Kentucky campus was originally a fairgrounds and park owned by the City of Lexington. During the Civil War it was utilized by Union troops as a bivouac area.

The Kentucky Department of Mental Health reports that 100 of Kentucky's 120 counties now have community mental health-retardation services available.

CHANGING THE GUARD

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

The great national dialogue has ended and the American people have decided who will lead the nation for the next four years. Although the inauguration of the next President will not take place until January 20, the time between now and then will be occupied by the busy and complicated process of changing the guard.

One of the greatest strengths of our system of government is its flexibility in the transfer of power from one Administration to another. The process of government must continue without interruption—partisanship is laid aside and full cooperation given. Already the present Administration is gearing itself to assure that the reins of government will be handed to the Nixon Administration with a minimum of disruption.

There is a general sigh of relief in Washington that the election was not thrown into the House of Representatives for a decision. If this had happened, there would have been many weeks of uncertainty over who would be our next President and what direction our country might go. Even the transfer of power would have been more difficult. In these days, when stability of leadership in the United States is essential to the security of the free world, the election of the President by the House of Representatives certainly could have had grave consequences.

The many unsettling events of 1968 have had a profound effect on Americans especially since they have emphasized the weakness of many of our political institutions. Plans to correct these weaknesses will most certainly receive high priority in the next Congress.

In the last few years, our whole electoral system has come under scrutiny. There can be no doubt that a most searching study will be made concerning the selection of Presidential candidates. Proposals to amend the Constitution and provide for more direct election of our President and Vice President have already been submitted.

Another area where the need for reform has been indicated is Congress itself. Many of the procedures are antiquated and do not reflect 20th century thinking. Although pressures mounted to consider changes in the operations of Congress, the rush to adjourn the 90th Congress prevented their consideration.

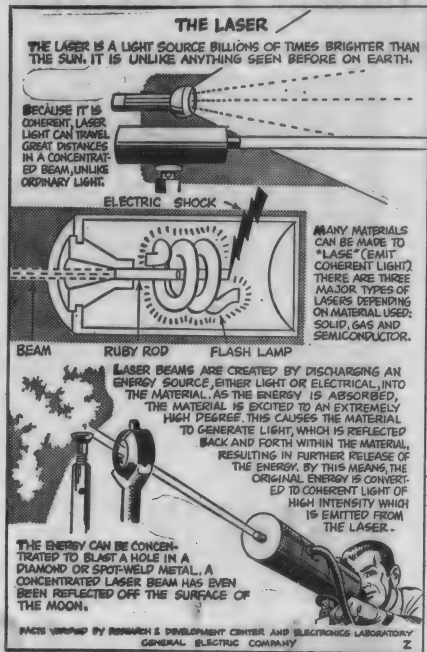

Also of great importance, I feel, is the huge confusing jungle of Federal aid programs. At this point, no one in the Federal government is fully aware of how all these programs operate or even how many such programs there are. We can be sure, though, that the estimated $20 billion spent each year involves massive overlapping and duplication that is burdening the American taxpayer without providing any real assistance. This is another problem which must be considered by a new Congress and a new Administration.

YOUTH TO PRESENT PROGRAM

The UMYF of Walton will conduct the worship service Sunday evening at the Walton United Methodist church. Special music will be given in addition to other parts of the program.

The High School Junior Program is conducted by the College of Arts and Sciences during the 8-week summer term at the University of Kentucky. The program is open to all students with a "B" average or better in their high school record.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Kentuckians aged 65 or older can enroll in the University of Kentucky or any of the UK community colleges free of tuition. No educational requirements are necessary for those who do not wish to study for college credit.

KLIP KLOP KLUB

The monthly meeting of the Klip Klop Klub was held in the home of Scott Parker on November 14. The meeting was called to order by the presiding vice-president, Randy Simpson. Pledges to the 4-H and American flags were led by Steve Vaughn. The minutes were read and approved. Old business discussed was the skating party, the Ridgeway Horseshow, and the recognition banquet.

In starting a new year enrollment cards were filled out and record books and horse project books were handed out.

A bake sale was discussed. The club decided that for December recreation they would go Christmas caroling. All members also decided to join the Grant County Saddle Club.

The club's newest member is Steve Vaughn of Independence. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments served. The next meeting will be held December 5th at Steve and Jim Vaughns.

The officers for 1968-69 are as follows: President, Randy Simpson; vice-president, Andrea Ballard; secretary-treasurer, Brenda Simpson; reporter, Harry Simpson.

KEEN TEENS 4-H CLUB

The meeting was held in the home of Peggy Justice. There were five new members to join the club. They are Mike, Vic and Joyce Ponzer, Timmy and Steve Justice. Project books were given out for next year, and the Christmas party was discussed.

Marcy Mulcahey gave a demonstration on "You and Your Clothes."

TOP HATS 4-H CLUB

The November meeting of the Top Hats 4-H Club was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rector. The meeting was called to order by President David Jackson. Minutes were read and approved. A Christmas party was discussed. Jimmy Vaughn gave a report on the recognition dinner. Those who received awards from our club are Dean Wolfmberger, electric; Keith Russell, forestry and electric; Kevin Russell, public speaking; Tom Richardson, beef; Don Richardson, beef. Tommie received first in Jr. beef judging in state. Jimmy Vaughn, Dean Wolfmberger and Keith Russell received electric clocks from RECC and CG&E for their outstanding work on their electric projects.

Refreshments were served after the meeting adjourned.

CONCORD

Mrs. Lindsey Webster, Reporter

The M.W.S. met at the Concord Baptist church November 18 for a prayer retreat. And also for the regular WMS meeting held the same day. Present were Mrs. L. E. Webster, Mrs. Vinson Jones, Mrs. Ernest Haddix, Mrs. Elwood Haddix, Mrs. Catherine Carpenter, and our pastor's wife, Mrs. Violet Lipscomb. We drew names for sunrise pals.

Concord Baptist church members visited with one of the rest homes at Dry Ridge Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Floyd Chapman and Mr. went to Williamstown hospital on Tuesday to see Gribbit Petty who got hurt Saturday in a machine accident. He was real sick.

Mrs. Lindsey Webster visited Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rudd.

The Hutchinson boys visited Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Webster Wednesday night. Mr. Webster visited with Mr. and Mrs. George Burgess on Wednesday.

Mrs. L. E. Webster visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul Webster Monday.

Liming acid soils (soils that have a PH of lower than 6 on the rating scale) pays dividends for many reasons.

Sometimes these reasons aren't widely recognized, but they are important.

Two essential plant elements are calcium and magnesium. Agricultural limestone (ground) supplies the needed calcium and varying amounts of magnesium. Amounts of magnesium in the limestone depends on the quarry. But all limestone in Kentucky will supply some magnesium.

Fungi and bacteria speed decay of organic matter in soil, releasing plant food and improving the soil's properties. Liming increases the activity of these organisms.

Liming acid soils makes some plant nutrients more available, particularly phosphorus. It also increases fixation of nitrogen by the soil, and legume nodule bacteria.

On strongly acid soils (pH ratings of lower than 5.3), manganese and aluminum are highly concentrated. Excessive amounts of these can reduce yields. Liming will correct these problems.

Put limestone on this fall, if soil tests show it is needed. The limestone will have all winter to react with the soil, and equipment can get onto the ground more easily without tearing up the soil or compacting it.

Tobacco stalks left in the rain this winter take money out of your pocket.

Sixty-one percent of the organic matter can be lost from stalks exposed to winter rains.

You'll pay hard cash next year for fertilizer to replace these elements in stalks. Keep stalks under shelter until they are spread on lawns or fields. Stalks can be spread in the fall or winter months without much loss of nutrients... that is, if spread on fields or lawns where stalk nutrients go into the ground where they will be used.

If stalks are from mosaic-susceptible varieties or from fields that were disease-hit this year (black shank, fusarium wilt, black root rot or others), do NOT put them back on plant bed sites or fields where tobacco will be grown next year.

IN THE FLESH

Lesson for December 1, 1968

Background Scriptures: 1 John 1:1-4; 2 John. Devotional Reading: Matthew 2:14-18.

Some people today, as we have noted before, are disposed to dispense with the divinity of Christ. To them, Jesus was simply "a good man," "a great teacher," "our perfect example," "the most Godly man who ever lived," — but still a man!

There is another heretical temptation, however, that leads people to the opposite extreme. It is the temptation to disregard the humanity of Christ, to forget that Jesus was truly a man. This was evident a few years ago in the reaction of some people to the motion picture, The Gospel According to St. Matthew. Some objected bitterly to the film's depiction of Jesus as very much a man. Quite accustomed to the Hollywood bathrobe dramas in which the figure of Jesus is little more than a phantom, it was hard for some to think of him in such human terms.

"Very man"

This is not a new problem in the life of the Church. It is a controversy that has often plagued Christianity. In the fifth century A.D. there were Christians who emphasized only the divinity of Christ. They said that Jesus only "seemed" to be human. As a divine being in human disguise, he did not really get hungry as men do, he only "seemed" to get hungry. He also only "seemed" to get thirsty, tired, and tempted. He was, they said, a God who only looked human in appearance.

In time, the Church branded this concept as heresy. The Council of Chalcedon in 451 A.D. insisted that Jesus was "very man," ("very" meaning really). It declared that his manhood was complete. He didn't seem to be a man, he was a man. He is, they said, "of one substance with us as regards his manhood; like us in all respects, apart from sin."

The writers of the four Gospels also took pains to indicate that Jesus did not just seem to suffer on the cross, but that he really suffered and really died too. Thus in the so-called Apostles' Creed we are very careful to spell it out: "... suffered under Pontius Pilate, crucified, dead, and buried..."

By this you know

This same concern to preserve the truth of Christ's humanity is found in both 1 and 2 John. "By this you know the Spirit of God: every spirit which confesses that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is of God..." (1 John 4:2 RSV) And again in 2 John 7: "For many deceivers have gone out into the world, men who will not acknowledge the coming of Jesus Christ in the flesh; such a one is a deceiver..."

Why is this so important to the writer of 1 and 2 John? Why has the Church always been so concerned to preserve the doctrine of his humanity? Why is it so important for the writer of the Gospel of John to say: "And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us..." (John 1:14)? What does it matter for God to have come "in the flesh"?

Only a man

If Jesus had not been fully human, he would have little attraction for us. We could dismiss the price he paid on Calvary with the knowledge that he didn't really suffer. We could ignore his example and teachings, dismissing them as lying beyond human capabilities. We would not likely go to him with our problems, our concerns, our heartaches, nor accept his comfort and counsel; for what could a divine being know of the sufferings of men?

Because Jesus was fully human as we are, because he knew all that we know and experienced all that we experience, we cannot ignore the call he gives us. When he says "This is what you can become," we can take him seriously, for he has first-hand knowledge of us. Only a man, fully human, could inspire us to realize the full potentialities of our humanity. Because he became what we are, we are called to become what he is. That's why it is important that the Word became flesh.

now making up the 'United Church of Christ. Our members, who have been able to attend this series, seem to feel they have been worthwhile.

It has been decided to have our Christmas party for the Home-Makers Club at the YMCA, Dec. 3. Each one attending is to bring a $1.00 gift and a donation for a Christmas basket.

The many friends and relatives of Mrs. Reba Hawkins regretted to hear of her death on Monday at Lakeside Home, Cold Spring, Ky. For a number of years, until the death of her husband, she was a member and faithful attendant at Oak Island Baptist Church. Following her removal to Covington, she reunited with her former congregation, Lakeside Presbyterian. Ever cheerful and wishing to be helpful, she tried as long as able to assist those in need. Funeral services were Friday with interment in Highland Cemetery. She will be long remembered for her kindness.

Staffordsburg W. S. C. S.

The W.S.C.S. met Nov. 12 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shaw. The meeting opened with a scripture reading by Mrs. D. Parsons. Mrs. F. Keeney had charge of the program on "Our Young People—The Hope for Tomorrow." A reading was given, "Thanksgiving in the Heart." It is gracious to say "thank you" to our friends, to God, even to strangers. But heartfelt gratitude means so much. Did someone unconsciously make a lasting impression on your life? Tell them so. It may fill a need or brighten a dull moment for them. I recently read a line—don't repay a favor—pass it on!

Most of the members present had some part in the program. We were reminded that many of our young people are filling worthwhile positions, accomplishing a great deal for the needy peoples of the land, showing friendship to friends. Let's not let the latest headlines of bad news obscure the smaller print telling of worthwhile activities.

Following a short business session, delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Shaw and her daughter, Carol, to Miss Helen Richardson, Mesdames D. Parsons, G. Fennell, D. Ballinger, D. Keeney, A. Faulkner, C. Losey, F. Keeney, R. Losey and Mr. Shaw.

The Christmas meeting, Dec. 10, will be at the home of Mrs. Dore and Keeney. Come, bring a guest!

RESOLUTION 1968-8

WHEREAS, it appears to the members of the City Council of Walton, Kentucky, that Stephenson Mill Road, between the intersection of Stephenson Mill Road and Beaver Grade and the intersection of Stephenson Mill Road and Central Avenue, in said City, is without City Water from the existing main on Stephenson Mill Road, a distance of 760 feet, more or less;

WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Walton, Kentucky, deems it necessary and proper for the convenience, health and safety to the citizens and residence of the area of Stephenson Mill Road at its intersection with Beaver Grade to Central Avenue along said Stephenson Mill Road, to construct a six (6") inch water main with necessary supporting facilities along said Stephenson Mill Road.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF WALTON, KENTUCKY:

1. That said route of said improvement on Stephenson Mill Road shall be from its intersection with the existing main on Beaver Grade along said Stephenson Mill Road to the intersection of the existing main on Central Avenue, a distance of 760 feet, more or less.
2. Said improvement shall consist of the construction of a six (6") inch water main with necessary supporting facilities in the area of Stephenson Mill Road.
3. Said improvement is hereby declared to be a necessity.
4. Said improvement is a stage improvement.
5. Said improvement is to be paid for by the benefited property owners.

Passed, approved by the vote of five members of the City Council of Walton, Kentucky, and ordered published by said Council of the City of Walton, Kentucky, as provided by law, this the 19th day of November, 1968.

K. DALE STEPHENS, Mayor, City of Walton, Ky.
ATTEST: DAISY HILL, Clerk, City of Walton, Ky.

To Be Thankful

It used to be that a picture like this could only mean harvest time—big orange pumpkins, shiny red apples, colorful stalks of Indian corn. And, of course, a turkey in the pantry.

But what about today? You can buy apples almost any time. Pumpkins are available in a can twelve months of the year. And you can buy a frozen turkey as easily in July as in November.

We Americans take for granted what was a real treat in our parent's time. But in the midst of this material plenty, there is danger of spiritual famine. To keep the proper perspective, to appreciate the gifts of life to the fullest we need the Church and the story it has to tell us.

Maybe you can't be a pioneer—a Pilgrim. But you can follow your forefathers' example at Plymouth that first November. You can utter genuine thanks in the church of your choice.

Wrap Up Report On The 90th Congress

M. Gene Snyder
U. S. Congressman
Fourth District, Kentucky

The Congress finally came to a halt Monday, October 14, after meeting this year in an atmosphere of mounting crisis. At home, inflation eroded the value of the dollar, crime and racial unrest posed grave internal threats to all citizens, and the nation was divided bitterly over foreign policy. Abroad, the war in Vietnam went on and on, our European alliances were in a state of disarray, and the dollar was threatened by a chronic deficit in the balance of payments. As Congress packed up to go home, most of these problems remained with us.

Crime is still on the increase. While the population increased 10 percent in the last 7 years, crime 88 percent. No community is immune to the increase. Congress made some moves to combat the crime menace with an omnibus anti-crime bill which would provide block grants to the States to assist their local communities' law enforcement efforts. However, this is only a token effort and not a true solution, because the real problem lies in the decisions of the Supreme Court and in the ineffectiveness of the Attorney General. Both of which limit the ability of local officials to effectively combat crime.

When the legislative package calling for a 10 percent surcharge on the income tax and a $6 billion reduction in federal spending was before the House earlier this year, I was one of the few who argued that there should be a sharp reduction in federal spending rather than a tax increase. The entire package became law (with my vote in the negative) and the taxpayers are now paying the surtax. However, there is doubt that the government will reduce spending by the $6 billion required by law. Many Departments and Agencies have already been exempted from the provisions of the law. Inflation resulting from deficit spending hurts the pocketbooks of all Americans, especially those on fixed incomes such as Senior Citizens.

Congress enacted a number of laws aimed at protecting the American consumer. A TRUTH IN LENDING bill was passed that provides for full disclosure of interest rates in dollars and cents as well as percentages on loans and revolving charge accounts. Congress also voted to establish a commission to investigate rising AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE costs. Other consumer legislation included the PIPELINE SAFETY ACT and inspection programs for MEAT and POULTRY.

Disabled veterans and railroad retirees will receive increased benefits due to Congressional action this year. Veterans were also voted improved educational, medical and rehabilitation services. For the first time, widows of veterans were voted education benefits, enabling them to pursue their education efforts.

The 90th Congress has paid special attention to the problem of conservation with bills to protect many of our wild and scenic rivers, our forests, and parks. As a member of the House Public Works Committee, I have had a direct concern with this legislation.

A FIRST FOR SUSIE—Olympic medal winner Susie Shields, 16, Louisville, was presented upon her return from Mexico City with Gov. Louie B. Nunn's first "Outstanding Kentuckian Award." Susie won an Olympic bronze medal for her third-place finish in the women's 100-meter butterfly swim. Susie received the award for her "outstanding achievement."

These are only some of the areas in which Congress has acted this year. Yet, as I said, many of our most pressing problems still remain to be settled. The taxpayer and the average citizen still seem to be getting the short end on their returns from the many tax dollars that they contribute to our government. Vietnam remains a hardship and a sorrow that all of us must face, while the property and rights of those at home are damaged by ever increasing crime.

Ryland Heights PTA Meets

At the November 12th meeting of the Ryland Heights PTA, fall and Christmas decorations were displayed and sold before and after the meeting. Mrs. Alma Rust and Mrs. Elaine Vorhees were in charge of the display.

It was announced that William Pfeiffer's sixth grade class won the PTA membership contest. A record player was awarded to the children.

At the recent Sixth District Fall Conference held at the Campbell County High School, Ryland Heights was represented by Mrs. Kenneth Pennington and Mrs. Ben Payne.

After the business meeting was adjourned, open house tours were conducted.

Refreshments were served by the fifth grade room mothers and a baby sitter was provided.

Area 4-H Council Meets

The Area 4-H Council met at the Methodist church in Williams-town November 4th. New officers elected were Marilyn Wilson from Pendleton county, Mrs. Charles Walcott, Kenon County, and Charles Hatcher, Campbell County.

Wayne Couple Mark Sixtieth Anniversary

The following item was sent to us by Lavelette Ranson Orr, of Paris, Ky., which is taken from The Suburban and Wayne Times, Wayne, Pa., November 21:

On November 26, 1908, Olivia Bedinger Ranson and Mr. Charles Stowe Boles were married in Richmond, Ky., now known as Walton, Ky. The couple moved to Wayne in 1920 and Mr. Boles entered the real estate business.

Still residing in Wayne, the couple will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary at a buffet supper at Glenhardie Country Club.

The couple had eight children, six of whom are living and will attend the festivities to honor their parents. The children include a son, Scudder D. Boles of Connecticut; Mrs. Elizabeth Merrill of Wayne; Mrs. Henry Whitney of Oregon; Miss Lavelette M. Boles of Wayne; Mrs. Lila B. Ripley of Devon, and Mrs. Millard N. Croll of St. Davids. There are 16 grand-children, and 13 great-grandchildren.

The eldest great-grandchild, 10-year-old Deborah Lynn Blythe, expressed her thoughts of her great-grandparents in poetry:

"To be married 60 years in pure love
Not to divorce, not to depart
To love each other with all your heart
To love each other all the way
And stay with each other all the day.
It's wild to be a great-grand-child
I love their house from roof to floor,
To knock at the door.
But what I like best—
My great-grandfather and great-grandmother and they love me."

Grace Baptist WMU Meets

The WMU of the Grace Baptist church, Independence, met at the church on Thursday with Mrs. Bryant Rust and Mrs. Forrest McEntire as hostesses.

The program "Fruits of Evangelism in Ecuador" helped the group to see how the gospel is proclaimed in Ecuador.

Members present were Mesdames W. O. Tolliver, Bob Simpson, Forrest McEntire, Bryan Rector, Bryant Rust, Leo Gouge, Richard Webb and W. O. Smallwood. The WMU was glad to welcome Mrs. Joe Sebastian as a new member.

Society

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan of Bedinger Ave., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. David Mason and sons in Golden Gate, Fla. The Morgans went to Florida to help care for their daughter, Mrs. Janice Mason, who has not fully recovered from hepatitis, an illness she was suffering from before moving to Florida earlier this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jones were Saturday evening dinner guests of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Kerry Vest, of Verona.

Mrs. Heinz Wahrenburg has resumed her classes at the Anneliese Art Studio on North Main Street. The studio was closed for several weeks because of Mrs. Wahrenburg having surgery.

Airman Richard S. Clements will arrive home Wednesday to spend a leave and Thanksgiving with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Clements, of Alta Vista Drive.

Last Wednesday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Vest were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Yates of Youngwood, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Kent and son, David, of Verona.

Morning Circle Meets

Mrs. Irene Peebles was hostess to the Morning Circle which met last week in Fellowship Hall of the Walton Christian Church.

Mrs. Sue Gibson had the study, and Mrs. Ruby Afterkirk gave the worship. Others in attendance were Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Russell, Mrs. Sara Dean Anderson, and Mrs. Lucille Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Huston of North Main Street, recently returned from an extensive trip through the western part of the United States. They were gone six weeks, going to California by a northern route and returning by a southern route.

Sunday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Asa M. Rouse were Dr. and Mrs. Richard Bachmeyer and children, Dr. and Mrs. Roger Augenstein and children, and Mr. and Mrs. William Mathis of Covington.

Mrs. Sylvia Beckman of New York City, arrived Sunday to visit her sister, Mrs. Marie Blizard, and family of Beaver Road. Mrs. Beckman spent Monday in Lexington, visiting her nephew, Danny Chapman, Mrs. Chapman and two daughters. Mrs. Beckman and Mrs. Blizard left Tuesday morning for Miami, Fla., where the sisters will spend a week with their father and other relatives.

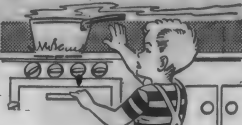

Sgt. Gary W. Simpson, who has been stationed at George AFB in California, is on leave and visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Opal (Dude) Simpson, and family south of Walton. Gary will be assigned overseas duty when he returns to San Francisco after his leave.

The first printed cookbook came off the press 20 years after Gutenberg's first Bible.

ON THE SAFE SIDE

ACCIDENTS CAUSE MORE DEATHS AMONG INFANTS AND YOUNG CHILDREN THAN DIPHTHERIA, WHOOPING COUGH, SCARLET FEVER, PNEUMONIA, AND POLIO COMBINED—AND THESE ACCIDENTS COULD HAVE BEEN PREVENTED. WHITE LABORATORIES SUGGESTS THESE SAFETY TIPS FOR CHILD-PROOFING YOUR HOME, INDOORS AND OUT.

A POT HANDLE THAT EXTENDS OVER THE EDGE OF THE STOVE CAN MEAN SEVERE SCALDING FOR THE CHILD WHO GRABS IT. NEVER TEMPT A CHILD'S CURIOSITY; ALWAYS TURN HANDLES IN.

BABIES CREEP AND CRAWL AND STICK THINGS INTO EVERYTHING ALONG THE WAY—EVEN ELECTRIC OUTLETS. PREVENT SHOCK BY SEALING OUTLETS WITH ADHESIVE TAPE OR "BLIND" PLUGS.

ROMPING IN THE PLAY YARD OFTEN ENDS IN CUTS AND BRUISES. AVOID THEM BY SIFTING SAND IN SANDBOX FOR GLASS AND NAILS, AND CHECKING SWINGS AND OTHER EQUIPMENT FOR NEEDED REPAIRS.

BUT IF YOUR SON OR DAUGHTER DOES SUFFER A CUT, SCRAPE, OR MINOR BURN, TREATING IT IMMEDIATELY WILL KEEP PAIN TO A MINIMUM. WASH WITH SOAP AND WATER, LET DRY, THEN APPLY A D AND D OINTMENT TO RELIEVE SMARTING AND AID HEALING.

We just learned that Mrs. Marlene Lynch has been a patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital and is still quite ill. We hope she is better soon.

Albert Gilligan is at home from the hospital, but Mrs. Gilligan is not feeling at all well at this time. Hope she soon improves.

We visited with Mrs. Bessie Campbell on Wednesday of this week. She had been feeling badly for a few days, but was feeling better when we called, and we had a pleasant time indeed.

Mrs. Ruth Simpson is improved but still hospitalized. Hurry and get well.

Friday evening the neighbors were aroused when an automobile left the road and smashed into a tree on Lester Adams' farm. The ambulance from the Kenton Fire Department was called and took two young men to the hospital. We did not learn the names or the extent of injuries.

We enjoyed as guest speaker on Sunday evening, Rev. Frank Leeper. This was the last of seven ministers of different denominations who were invited to have part in this ecumenical effort. Two were not able to come. All were interesting and we think we were reminded that there is much more to unite than to divide the "people of the way." Remember, Christ said, "I am the way, the truth, and the life." John 14:6.

We regret to learn that Harry Taylor of San Pedro, Calif., but well known here, is again in the hospital. Hope you are soon at home, Harry, even before you get this week's paper.

Let us not forget to give thanks to the giver of all good and perfect gifts.

LOOSE TO ST. HENRY 84-52

The Walton - Verona Bearcats faced the St. Henry Crusaders on the local floor last Tuesday and tasted defeat for the second time in this new season. The visitors were a tall and talented club. They led all during the game, following an early scoring rally. It was 14-8 after eight minutes and the visitors increased the lead to 37-22 at halftime.

The Cats were outscored 25-17 in the third quarter as the score was 62-35.

Both coaches substituted freely in the final stanza. Both benches gave a pretty good showing with scoring on even terms.

Trio Named To Realign Boone Court Districts

Boone County Judge Bruce Ferguson has selected a three-member commission to redraw the county's lopsided magisterial districts.

Two Democrats and a Republican from different sections of the county will comprise the commission. They are:

Marvin T. Kendall, 63, disabled former auto dealer, Democrat, and a long-time Boone County political observer and statistician, who lives at 72 South Main St., Walton.

Victor H. Miller, 38, of 42 Anchor Way, Florence, State Farm Insurance agent and former Boone County Democratic campaign manager.

Norman Herbstreit, 54, Jergens Lane, Hebron, Republican, assistant supervisor of right-of-way for The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. Their job will be to realign the districts as nearly equal in population as possible before the May primary election next year.

Boone County has 10,739 registered voters, according to figures from County Clerk Jerry Rouse. Ideally, each of the three magistrates, who comprise the Boone Fiscal Court, the county's governing body, should represent 3,580 voters.

As it now stands, one magistrate, Charles M. Carpenter, represents over half the county's total voters in Florence, which has 6,367 voters. This contrasts with only 2,476 voters in the Hebron district, represented by Charles Patrick, and 1,896 in David Houston's Walton area district.

Florence area voters are under-represented on the governing Fiscal Court, while other areas are over-represented populationwise.

Boone County Utopia Club Meets Nov. 21

The November 21 meeting of the Boone County Utopia Club was conducted by John Hetterman, the president, in the Extension office at Burlington. There were 19 members and six children present. Mr. Claxon announced that Beckham Shields had been named as a State Director of the Kentucky Farm Bureau. Congratulations, Beckham!

The nominating committee, John B. Walton, James W. Brown, and Alberta Dickey, submitted the same officers to remain for the coming year. They are: John Hetterman, president; Joe Domascho, vice president; Helen Collins, secretary; Archmarie Maddox, treasurer.

Henry Hudson gave a very good report on the building to be put up on the fair grounds. Funds from the Utopia and Homemakers Clubs will combine to make this a reality. It will be used as a floral hall and is surely needed.

The program for the coming year was planned. The club will hold its Christmas party at the home of Grant and Archmarie Maddox, Dec. 28. A good time is promised to all who attend.

To Hold Open House at Covington Care Center

On Sunday, December 8, the Northern Kentucky Mental Health Association is hosting an Open House for the Comprehensive Care Center's first anniversary, from two until five o'clock, at the Covington Center, Second and Greenup Streets. General Chairman for the Open House, Mrs. Thomas A. Welton and Mrs. Charles Zimmer III, have announced that Mrs. Marshall Thomas is Boone County Chairman for the event.

Counsellors served by the Covington unit of Comprehensive Care Center are Boone, Kenton, Carroll, Gallatin and Grant, but the Newport office at Third and Washington Streets is available to those residents of Campbell and Pendleton counties. Comprehensive Care Center offers professional aid in the problem areas of mental health mental retardation and alcoholism.

The public is cordially invited.

FIRE AT COURTEYS

Eleven volunteer firemen from the Walton organization responded to an alarm at 5:40 p. m., last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Courtney on Old Salem Creek Road, Walton.

A passing motorist on nearby I-75 turned in the alarm. The Courtneys were working at their tobacco barn. The fire is reported to have started in the attic of the one-story dwelling. What caused the blaze is not known.

A freezer on the back porch and some of the furniture was saved. There were no injuries reported. Six vols were on standby.

TRAINING AT LACKLAND AFB

Michael Vest, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Junior L. Vest of 85 North Main St., Walton, left Tuesday night by plane for six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Amarillo, Texas.

Annual Boone Co. GOP Xmas Party

The Boone County Republican Club, working in cooperation with the Boone County Women's Republican Club, will hold its annual Christmas party, Thursday evening, December 12 at 6:30 p. m. This year's dinner party will be held at the Old Farm Restaurant (formerly Park 25) just south of Florence, on U. S. 25.

Reservations at $1.38 per person should be gotten to co-chairwoman Lucille Brakenfeld, 485-4398, by Saturday, Dec. 7, or by contacting other officers of the Boone GOP organization. Lillian Schram, of Florence, is serving as the other co-chairwoman, with Carrie Martin, Florence, in charge of arrangements and decorations. Harvey and Emily Pelley are in charge of favors for the children attending.

Patty Rosenthal of the Teen-Age Republicans is in charge of reservations for the TARS. Teen-Age Republicans Denise Gullion and Donna Vaughn will serve as hostesses. Christmas carols will be accompanied by Roger Fletcher and his guitar.

EXIT LIGHTS ON

Lights on the exits at the junction of I-71 and I-75 have been turned on.

PINER HOMEMAKERS

The Piner Homemakers Club met November 19 at the home of the president, Mrs. Clarence Duncan. The devotional was given by Mrs. Frank Elliott. Members answered roll call by stating their most pleasant Thanksgiving memory.

The club expressed its thanks to Mrs. Woodson Marshall and Mrs. Louis Schlachter for arranging the Christmas display at Trinity Methodist Church, Nov. 14.

Mrs. Malcolm Oliver gave a short lesson on Needlepoint. Mrs. William Wolterman and Mrs. Marshall gave a lesson on Antique Glass. It was a very informative lesson and they had many glass items on display.

Others present were: Mrs. Edna Flynn, Mrs. Chester Mullins, Mrs. James Bentley, Mrs. Richard Colclough, Mrs. Fred McMillian, Mrs. Dennis Glacken and Karen, Mrs. Marshall Hills and her mother, Mrs. Lynn Clark, of Cortland, O., and Diane Hills.

Arrangements have been made for the Christmas dinner and program December 17.

FESTIVAL SUCCESSFUL

The Piner P. T. A. held its first Fall Festival on Nov. 22, and it was a great success. The president, Mrs. John Mullins, and the committee wish to thank everyone who worked at the festival and to those who donated the door prizes, pies or any other items for the booths. Chili and sandwiches were served and there were many games for the children.

A big thanks to all who donated and to those who attended. The proceeds will be used to help purchase equipment for the physical education classes.

The University of Kentucky offers the Ph. Degree in 29 fields.

Pioneers Clobber The W-V Bearcats

The Walton-Verona Bearcats fell before the onslaught of the Simon Kenton Pioneers, last Tuesday night at Simon Kenton.

The home team played with the finesse of a mid-year team. They quickly started the ball rolling with a series of driving lay-ups. The Bearcats playing without Rick Stephens could not keep up with the highly improved Pioneers. Only their first half defense kept the score down. After the first half the Pioneers controlled the game. Only a fragmentary appearance by Stephens held the Cats together. The Simon Kenton squad should have a winning season but they do face St. Henry and Covington Catholic.

Simon Kenton won the reserve game 53-38.

Boone County Civil Defense Group Busy

The past three weeks have been both busy and informative for members of the Civil Defense and the Ladies Auxiliary.

They have been attending classes on Shelter Management for instructors at the Court House on Monday and Tuesday evenings. On Friday evening they spent most of the night in a shelter in Boone County.

The classes have been taught by Charles H. Reedy of the University Extension Civil Defense, and Wayne Berry, also of the University Extension Service. These men did a fine job.

The following members completed the course and on Monday night, Nov. 25, received their certificates: Director Robert Coffey, Ken Frohlich, Ned Kleier, Jim Klosterman of Kenton County, Trinnie Griffin, Albert Yelton, and Roy Griffin; Ladies Auxiliary, President Helen Collins, Vice President Joan Frohlich, Secretary Jean Stephany, Jean Coffey, Irma Marksberry and Emma Reizan.

The class was quite honored to have as speakers on graduation night, Major Gerald Tuttle, State Director of Civil Defense, and Thos. Thompson, C. D. Education and Training Officer. These men have a very busy schedule, and we were surely glad to have them present.

Holiday Bazaar, Saturday

Lots of goodies and Christmas ideas will be on sale at the Christmas Bazaar sponsored by the Boone County Fire department Auxiliary Saturday at the Boone County Drug Store. Stop in and look around. You are sure to see something that you will want to purchase.

Birthday Party Enjoyed

A birthday party was given for Miss Bambi Kidwell by her parents last Friday night.

Those in attendance were: Cindy Breen, Deb Lamb, Nancy Prathier, Janet Norris, Mary Stephens, Janet Cady, Donna Coyle, Sharon Elenschnmidt, Bob Messmer, Bim Richards, Stephen Fredericks, and Bill Lawrence.

MASONIC VISITATION

On Tuesday, December 10, at 8:00 p. m., Dallasburg Lodge, No. 621, F&AM, of Wheatley, Ky., will host the other 12 lodges of District 27, composed of Carroll, Gallatin, Grant and Owen Counties.

The speaker will be D. P. Jones, Executive Officer in Kentucky of the International Supreme Council, Order of DeMolay for Boys. This will be an open meeting.

Engagement Is Announced

Miss Karen Marie Brewster

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brewster of Verona announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Marie, to David Allen McMillian, son of Mrs. Ruth Kinnman of Edwards Avenue, Walton.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Brewster attends Walton-Verona High School and David graduated from Walton-Verona two years ago. He, at present, is attending vocational school.

Senior Dinner On Saturday

The senior class of Walton-Verona High are planning for their first dinner, which will be held on Saturday evening, and served in the school cafeteria.

Ham or chicken will be on the menu along with potatoes, green beans, a jello salad, rolls, coffee or tea, and pie or cake. Serving will be from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m.

With your ticket for the dinner is a chance to win a door prize, several of which will be given during half-time of the basketball game between Mt. Olivet and the Bearcats.

Carry-out dinners will be delivered by calling Mrs. Ruth Glenn at 485-7271, or Dorothy Denney at 485-4563 by noon on Saturday.

You have a chance to help the seniors by having dinner with them Saturday evening.

Circuit Court Under Way at Burlington

The December term of Boone County Circuit Court started Monday at Burlington, with Judge Jas. R. Ford presiding.

Sheriff Reuben E. Kirtley served summonses on 60 prospective jury members. From this number a 12-member grand jury and a 30-member petit jury were impaneled. Those from this area who received summonses were:

Davki Peebles, Roy Branham, Maryalice Conrad, Anna Pearl Johnson, Layne Cheesman, Dorothy Johnson, Doris J. Eisen-schmidt, James Darlington, W. W. Rouse, and Henry B. Sleet, all of Walton; R. H. Stephenson, Jack Rushing, and Charles Neumeister, of Verona.

Verona Teacher to Meet With ETV Study Group

Mrs. Dorothy Porter, Verona, a sixth-grade teacher for the Walton-Verona Schools, has been invited to meet with a special ETV Social Studies curriculum selection committee, meeting in Lexington on Tuesday, December 10th, according to Charles B. Klasek, state ETV network education director. The committee will evaluate in-school programs to be used during the 1969-70 school year.

Special Service Sunday

On Sunday, December 8, the Wooten Four of Somerset, Ky., will be singing and preaching at the Walton Church of God, 88 So. Main Street. Service starts at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. and Mrs. Dee S. Gadd, the pastors, extend an invitation to the public.

Mental health-oriented rehabilitation community centers in Kentucky provide 24-hour emergency services, says the Dept. of Mental Health.

Annexation Suit Is Dismissed

A nine-year-old suit contesting the annexation of about 500 acres by the City of Independence, has been dismissed by Kenton Circuit Judge Melvin T. Stubbs.

Withdrawal of the suit permits Independence to annex the area south of the present city limits, bounded roughly by Madison Pike, Oliver Road, McCullum Road, and Harris Pike.

The motion for withdrawal was filed by Louis Gorman, attorney for residents in the affected area. Gorman told the court residents held several meetings recently and decided not to fight annexation.

The suit was filed December 7, 1959. Judge Stubbs held a hearing at Independence Courthouse in 1966 to determine the number of persons opposing annexation. He said 128 voted against annexation and 10 for it at that time.

Youth Presents Program

Members of the Walton U. M. Y. F. conducted the worship service at the Walton United Methodist Church, Sunday evening.

"Give Thanks" by Mike Ramsey, and "Life's Influencer—Rev. George Hoffman" by Bill Lawrence composed the devotional message. A special song, "In Times Like These," was given by David Jarman. He was accompanied by Mrs. Lucile Hudson. Other youth taking part in the program were: Connie Ruf, Susan Jarman, Janet Norris, Sharon Utley, Greg Turner, and Mike Jarman. The U. M. Y. F. counselor is Mrs. Andrew Jarman.

FHA Students Promote Open House Activities

The Twenhofel Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America played an important role in "Open House", Monday, November 11th, 1968, at Twenhofel Jr. High School.

Various committees were appointed to help welcome the parents to Twenhofel. Hostesses guided parents throughout the building and introduced them to the faculty.

A tour of the Home Economics Department was conducted and the parents were shown some of the Home Economics student's projects. Approximately 250 guests were served refreshments in the Home Economics Department.

The purpose of the club's activity was to interpret F.H.A. as part of the Home Economics program. This helped promote a better view of the F.H.A. organization.

GREEN ROAD SPECIAL

The Green Road Special 4-H Club met Nov. 14, at Barbara Simpson's home.

We started our meeting with refreshments consisting of cake and Kool-Aid. The three different kinds of cake had been baked by Melanee Simpson as part of her cooking project.

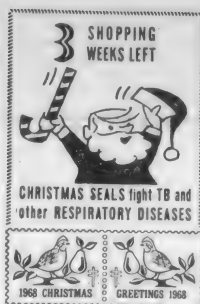

Margaret Collett, vice president, was in charge of the business session. Reports were given by Jerr Hamblin, Mike Robinson, Melanee Simpson, Cheryl Hamblin, and Margaret Collett. For our program, we had a number of demonstrations by our club members which were the final steps in completing their projects.

December 14, the club will meet at Simpsons. This will be the first meeting of the new club year. The meetings are held after school until five. Anyone, ages 9-19, in the vicinity of Green Road, who is interested in becoming a member of our club is invited to attend the December meeting. The only requirements are regular attendance at the monthly meetings and a willingness to work hard and finish the projects you have selected.—Reporter

Toy Social December 6

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Walton Volunteer Fire Department will hold their yearly toy social at the firehouse on Friday, December 6, starting at 8:00 p. m.

You are invited to be present and enjoy a pleasant evening and help the ladies with your attendance.

Regular Meeting of Simon Kenton FHA

The November Chapter meeting of the Simon Kenton Future Homemakers of America was held on Nov. 20, in the school cafeteria.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Lueada Cheek, using the long opening ritual.

The "Thought for the Day" was presented by 11 members of the Twenhofel FHA, assisted by their advisor, Mrs. Carol Neely.

The roll call and minutes were given by the secretary, Rhonda LaFollette.

The treasurer, Diane Whaley, then gave the treasurer's report. Officers' reports were then given. Each committee chairman then read a list of the members on her committee.

In the business session, the FFA-FHA Christmas party and the pin and charm order were discussed. The program of work, goals, and the budget for the year 1968-69 were accepted.

A program on the FHA District meeting, held at Williamstown High School, was given by the chapter officers.

The meeting was then adjourned, using the closing ritual and refreshments were then served.—Reporter

Science Club Active

The Science Club at Walton-Verona High is hard at work on some of the projects for this year. Plans include putting on a play to raise money, making a darkroom, and selling stuffed dolls. The club would appreciate the support of everyone.

The Science Club sponsor is Mr. Estep. The president is Jim Shields.

Boone County To Get Food Stamps

Boone County is slated to change to the food stamp plan, effective July 1, 1969.

This means an end to the commodities plan which has been in effect in the county for the past few years.

Cost to the Boone County Fiscal Court will be about the same as the commodity program. With the food stamps, recipients can get a greater variety of foods than under the commodities program.

Needy and low income families purchase food stamps at a considerable reduction of their worth. The lower the income, the lower the price the family pays for the stamps under regulations set up by the Department of Agriculture, which administers the food stamp plan and the commodity program.

COMPLETES BASIC TRAINING

ELECTRIC CLOTHES DRYER

WEATHER INSURANCE

An electric clothes dryer doesn't keep rain and snow from falling. But the weather outside need not spoil your day because an electric clothes dryer lets you do the family's laundry any time, any day. In minutes, everything's fluffy dry, ready for folding.

Yet all the extra convenience of an electric clothes dryer costs only pennies a day, thanks to low-cost rural electric power.

Mrs. Eugene Stephenson, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Arnold and Janet and David, of Florence, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Roger Arnold and Chip Martin on Sunday, Nov. 17, the occasion being the birthday of Roger Arnold. We wish him many more.

Sgt. Alva (Butch) Crouch spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Crouch, who accompanied him back to Tennessee, on Sunday. Monday he left for California, to visit with his brother, Donald Mason, and family before going to Denver, Colo., for 21 weeks of schooling. After school he will be going over seas.

We are happy to hear L. B. Hutcherson came home from the hospital last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ryan were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Feldhaus last Sunday night.

We are sorry Mrs. Betty Roter hasn't been able to return to teaching school yet.

Members of Beaver Lick Baptist Church enjoyed a delicious dinner and fellowship Sunday evening before service with a good crowd attending.

Little Rodney Rhodes is doing fine after having a tonsilectomy last Tuesday.

Mrs. Mabel Rosenstiel and Misses Sandy, Betty and Shirley Stephenson spent Saturday in Covington.

Mr. and Mrs. Dulaney Johnson have moved from this community to their new farm in the Union-Big Bone precinct. They will be missed here.

Mr. and Mrs. Cruse Johnson spent Thanksgiving day with Mrs. Johnson's sister in Covington.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Lennie Baker is home from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rosenstiel spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rosenstiel and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rosenstiel of Dudley Pike.

Mrs. Mayme Moore and Mrs. Bertha Jack visited Howe Henry, Sunday, who has moved from the Veterans Hospital in Indianapolis, Ind., to the Veterans Hospital in Ft. Thomas.

Ralph Barlow came home from the hospital last Friday. Mrs. Barlow is also improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ryan entertained for Thanksgiving dinner, Mrs. Maggie Ryan, Mrs. Catherine Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Seng, Patty and Peggy, Rick Rechin, and Mary Jo Ryan.

A large crowd came out for the Thanksgiving service Wednesday night at the Big Bone Methodist Church, representing all churches in the community.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

On behalf of the Wa-Na Woman's Club of Walton, I wish to extend our thanks to all those who were most generous and helped in contributing time, money and merchandise toward our Vietnam project.

This is the second year that the club has undertaken this task of trying to add a little brightness to the lives of those who are fighting for us and the free world.

Fourteen packages were sent this year, two more than last, to servicemen from our area who are serving in Vietnam. We regret that in working with a deadline we were unable to include some names that were received too late by the committee.

Let us all hope and pray this is one project the club can abandon next year.

Thank you, Wa-Na Woman's Club Mrs. Asa M. Rouse, President (Published as a public service by the Advertiser).

It is often difficult to decide whether to sit tight or stir things up.

Staffordsburg

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

We are glad to hear that Earl Armstrong, who recently had surgery, is home and feeling better. We hope he will soon be well.

Miss Emma Mills, who lived in this neighborhood as a girl and also started her life work of teaching in the Staffordsburg district, suffered a fall, breaking her hip. She is a patient in St. Elizabeth Hospital.

The L. J. Rapp family, as they have done for several years, enjoyed Thanksgiving in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Binder.

Bluch Rich, who has been in poor health for some months after suffering a stroke at his home, was taken to the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Paul Keeney and daughter spent the Thanksgiving holidays with his mother and other relatives. On Friday, they enjoyed a trip to Frankfort. Several persons from the Staffordsburg area attended Thanksgiving community services at the Taylor Mill Church of Christ. It was a very nice program and considering the weather, the attendance was good.

We are sorry to hear that Geo. Binder has been "under the weather" as the saying goes. We hope he will soon be better.

We are having a revival from December 1 to 8 at the United Methodist Church with Rev. Jimmy Rose as the evangelist. We hope you saw the announcement in the Nov. 28 paper and will attend during the week. But we are telling you again, so come, if you can.

WALTON LOCALS . . .

Mrs. Ruth B. Smith of High Street, and her son, Richard Smith and his wife, were called to Harrison, Ohio, Saturday to see her cousin, Russell Beach, who had a stroke and is in a critical condition.

Letter To The Editor:

A WALK BY THE SEA
By Marie Mark Blizzard

I'm walking by the sea, the air is salty, my hear blowing free,
My feet sinking in the wet sands,
I'm walking with God hand in hand.

I'm walking by the sea, the roar of the waves in my ear, the sky blue above, gulls sailing over my head,
My heart happy, my soul lightened, my head clear!

I'm walking by the sea, my head high, my step brisk, without fear
Away from the crowd, turmoil, away from the blaring noise,

I'm walking by the sea, the solitude a comfort to me.

I spy a shell, white and pink, one of nature's true treasures;
I put it in my pocket, comforted with the find of it and proud of my pleasure,

I'm walking by the sea, such a simple thing to do; could be enjoyed by so many, only realized by a few.

If you are not near a roaring sea, perhaps you are near a leafy wood, then you could have the same pleasure, oh yes you could.

Just walking with God by your side, no matter where you are, you'll never have to hide;

I'm walking by the sea with no one there—just God and me!

The opening of the Burley market was a big day in Boone County. The market opened strong with the Boone County Warehouse averaging 74 cents plus and the New Kenton Tobacco Warehouse averaging 74.04. This was good news to all burley growers and will be money for the Christmas season.

It is always pleasing for us to attend the tobacco market—seeing all of our friends, but it was especially pleasing this year to see so many pleased burley growers. A number stated it was the highest priced crop that they ever sold in their lives. We hope that the market will continue to be strong.

If you are going to spend money for fertilizer—then spend it efficiently.

Soil tests provide the base for efficient fertilizer-spending. Property taken soil samples show you what's needed on the land—and saves you money.

Fall is a fine time for sampling soils. Soil and weather conditions are ideal, while spring wet weather may hold you back.

Testing laboratories have more time to handle samples and make recommendations. If limestone is needed, fall is a good time to apply it; the limestone has all winter to react in the ground. Phosphate and potash can be applied safely during fall and winter months on most soils.

If you know in the fall what you will need, the fertilizer dealer will have more time to supply you.

Recommendations from soil samples taken in the fall are just as good as those made on samples taken next spring. You have also saved time.

Area extension offices in the counties have full instructions on how to take samples, process them and use them.

DARK DAYS

Lesson for December 8, 1968

Background Scripture: Revelation 1 through 3.
Devotional Reading: Revelation 1:4-8.

"It is a gloomy moment in history," writes an editorialist. "Not in the lifetime of most men has there been so much grave and deep apprehension. Never has the future seemed so incalculable than at this present time. The political cauldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty. Russia hangs, as usual, like a cloud — dark and silent upon the horizon of Europe... It is a solemn moment, and of man can see the end."

Yesterday's paper? No, these words, so contemporary in their sound, were written by an editorialist one hundred and ten years ago and appeared in the October, 1858, issue of Harper's Weekly. This voice from the past helps to remind us that the bleak conditions of our world today are hardly something new under the Sun.

Always in crisis

It is not only in the realm of international affairs that we find these recurring problems. For example, more than two thousand years ago, in 394 B.C., the philosopher Socrates wrote of a problem that sounds all too familiar: "The children now love luxury. They show disrespect to elders and love chatter in place of exercise. Children are now tyrants, not servants, of their households... They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up dainties at the table... and tyrannize over their teachers."

Both the editorialist and the philosopher bemoan the dark days that have befallen their world, just as editorialists and philosophers and many others do today. There are many in our own world who have little doubt but that the world is coming apart at the seams and are wondering whether it can have much time left before disaster is total and final. That is hardly a new fear, for society, it seems, has always been in crisis. There have always been dark days from which it has seemed the world could scarcely emerge.

In contrast, the writer of Revelation possessed an unflinching confidence and faith about the future. He knew that the churches of Asia Minor were being subjected to all kinds of threats and pressures. He knew that some Christians were wringing their hands in despair, thinking the days of the Church were numbered.

Fear not!

Some churches were putting up a good fight against the dark forces — they needed to be encouraged to continue. Some were making serious mistakes — they needed to be corrected. Others, like the church at Laodicea, seemed to have "thrown in the towel" — they needed to be saved from destruction. It was for these reasons that John wrote the unusual book which we know as Revelation.

"Fear not," he says, addressing the seven churches in Asia Minor. (Revelation 1:17) He does not mean that they have nothing about which to be concerned. That would be dishonest counsel for he knew that there was lots of trouble ahead for them. He recognized the problems and foresaw the dangers, so that his "Fear not" was not an assurance that these were not real, but that the vindication of God was even more real. The churches would not be spared their dark days, but they would be given the power to be victorious in them.

Hold fast!

Thus, Revelation is a communication of hope to Christians who are, like ourselves, surrounded by hostile, challenging forces. It is written for those who scan the horizon of the future for some sign of encouragement, of promise, of hope. And their hope, he says, is in Christ who in God's own good time will conquer. "I am coming soon; hold fast what you have, so that no one may seize your crown" (Revelation 3:11 RSV). The dark days of those to whom Revelation was first addressed are so similar to our own. And their hope is our hope too: the victorious Christ!

NANCY WHITE

"Do I know a good clothing buy? What is the best garment for me? Will I be happy with my purchase a month from now?"

These are some of the questions you should answer before buying any garment. Nancy White, area Extension agent specialist in clothing, reminds you that Consumer Information Week is a good opportunity to become a more of a satisfied, better shopper. She points out that many choices open to clothing shoppers can be a hazard as well as a boon.

Consider, for instance, the many new developments in fabric types and finishes. Choosing the right fabric (rough fabrics add weight, smooth fabrics take it off), the occasions for which you will wear the garment (sports, work, evening or church), and the care you will give it. The wrong care can quickly make an expensive garment look sleazy and cheap.

Construction details are another important consideration. Frayed seams and buttonholes, puckered seams, no reinforcement at the strain points, and poorly attached trim are among the signs of careless manufacture that will take a garment from the store rack to a rag bag in short order. Also beware of trim that requires different care from the rest of the garment.

Know what you already have in the closet before you add to your wardrobe. New clothes should be coordinated with old ones if they are to be worn together. Also be sure the new item fills a gap in your wardrobe. Why buy a dress-up dress, just because it is on sale when what you really need is an everyday dress or a pair of slacks?

The questions that apply to the women's clothes also apply to the men's and children's. For example, easy-care clothing for men come in a wide variety of styles and weights. Men's clothing should fit properly, be appropriate to the occasion for which it will be worn, and coordinate with items already in the closet.

Children's clothes have the added problems of fitting active and growing wearers. It is better to buy a few sturdy, versatile clothes than a closetful of dainty dresses, Miss White points out. "Stretch, wash-and-wear, and permanent-press fabrics can be a mother's best friend. But be sure to read the label for care instructions.

Clothes should also fit correctly with allowance for growth.

The home sewer is often faced with the same questions as the buyer of ready-to-wear clothes. Sewing fabrics come in an amazing variety of finishes. The wrong fabric for your needs can be a disaster.

Most important of all considerations is the amount of money that can be spent. But even the most limited budget will purchase more if it is wisely spent. The University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension has a variety of printed materials to acquaint you with the latest developments in clothing constructions, styles, fabrics and fabric care. These pamphlets are free at your county Extension office.

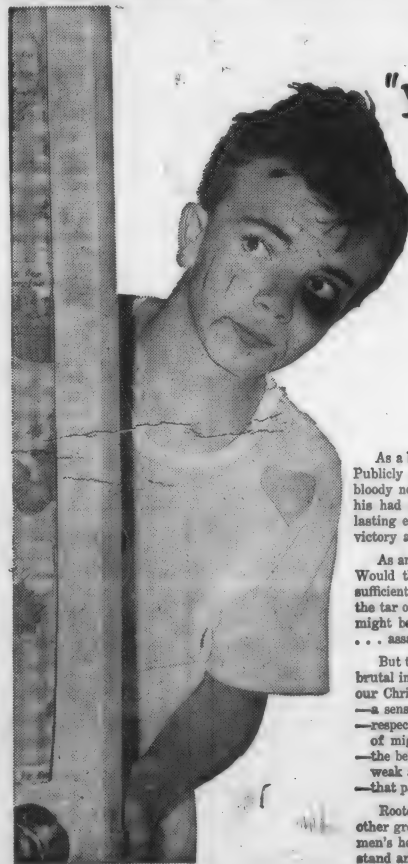

University of Kentucky male students outnumber females three to two on the Lexington campus. Of the 15,317 total enrollment—9,166 are men and 6,151 are women.

Other Guy!"

As a boy it was so easy to justify a fight. Publicly you gloated over your opponent's bloody nose (and privately you wished that his had been the black eye with its more-lasting embarrassment). But, somehow, the victory alone excused the battle.

As an adult how do you view the matter? Would the possibility of bloody victory be sufficient justification for attempting to beat the tar out of some irritating neighbor? You might be arrested for disturbing the peace... assault and battery!

But that is not the real reason we control brutal impulses. The real reason lies deep in our Christian heritage:

- a sense of human dignity...
- respect for fairness and justice regardless of might...
- the belief that peace can be a blessing for weak and strong alike...
- that patient understanding can enrich life.

Rooted in the same Christian faith are other great principles of life which challenge men's hearts and minds. We seek to understand and apply them as we worship God in our churches. They are essential in a world still threatened with a return to the black eye and bloody nose... or something worse.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Brashear visited her brothers, an uncle, and other relatives in and around Bloomington, over the past week-end.

Mrs. Queenie Blackwell returned to her home last week after spending a week with Mrs. Allie Chandler.

Mrs. Cecil Washum and son, Buddy, were calling on the Edringtons one evening recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Porter spent Thanksgiving day with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ferguson, and two daughters.

Mrs. Ellena Hamilton and daughter, Karen, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Flossie Greenwell, of Erlanger.

We extend our sympathy to Jess Atha and son, Larry, and other relatives in the passing of their loved one, Mrs. Mary Atha of near Napoleon, last week. Her funeral was held Saturday afternoon at Ten Mile Baptist Church. Hamilton Funeral Home had charge.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Edrington visited their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hughes, Thanksgiving day.

Mrs. Phyllis Stephenson taught the mission study book on Columbia, Nov. 25, with 16 women and five children present.

We are sorry to report Mrs. Sam Cornett still remains very ill. We wish her a speedy recovery.

We are glad to see James and Physical Exams

Schedule periodic physical examinations for children of school age. During grade school years, annual check-ups are recommended. A thorough examination for school beginners will detect any hearing or vision problems that may hamper the child's schoolwork. Also, a thorough examination is recommended for children who intend to participate in school athletics.

Hiking

When planning a hiking trip, select clothing which is comfortable and suitable for weather conditions. Shoes should cover the ankles and be properly "broken in." Wear properly fitted woolen socks, since wool absorbs perspiration and holds its shape. Refrain from eating too heavily before or during the hike. Avoid over-exertion and allow sufficient time for your return trip.

Hunting

Carelessness accounts for virtually all hunting accidents. When carrying a loaded gun, always maintain control over the direction of the muzzle. Never cross over or through a fence with a loaded gun. Either unload the gun or place it beside the fence and pick it up after you are on the other side. Never fire the gun until you have clearly identified your target.

Frontier Worlds Plans Increase of Initial Investment from $13.5 to $20 Million

Walton businessmen were told last Wednesday night that they had a jump on the opportunities for growth that Frontier Worlds and other area developments would present. Bob Metry, assistant to Governor Louie B. Nunn, told a capacity audience that "There will be plenty of money coming in. And if you don't watch it, they'll buy your land, make the money, while you're sitting around wondering what happened. We would like to see you people of Walton prosper with your good fortune. If you're willing to put your money where your life is, you will," Metry promised.

In announcing that Fess Parker had upped initial investment plans from $13.5 to $20 million, Metry explained that this was only the amount going into the nucleus 140-acre theme amusement park site. "This doesn't include development of the peripheral areas," he noted. Fesspar Enterprises holds options (all which have been renewed) on 1743 acres just west of Walton.

Metry cited these and other points: The Federal Government has asked to put $2 million into the project. Target date for the park opening is still April, 1971. The park will be financed totally from private funds. "There's nothing now but to get through what is left of the red tape and we expect an announcement on this by January 1," he said. Metry further urged the development of Walton to the west of I-75. "That is where all the action will be," he stated frankly to the audience of businessmen and civic leaders. We can provide you people with information, services, and technical assistance—anything but money. We have experts on the payroll and they'll come here to help when you want them and ask for them," he added.

"Walton would have grown rapidly even without Frontier Worlds," Metry concluded. "Boone was the slowest of the three northern counties to develop. As a result you have the last big tract of undeveloped land. The Greater Cincinnati Metropolitan area is burgeoning and is destined within a few years to spill over even into Grant and Pendleton counties."

Piner Christmas Program

Children of the Piner school will present a Christmas program in the school auditorium on Wednesday afternoon, December 18, at 1:30 p. m., for members of the Piner PTA, parents, and friends. The program, entitled "The Obliging Clock," will be directed by Miss Berna. This will serve as the December meeting for the PTA.

Junior Woman's Club Organized

The organizational meeting of the Boone County Junior Woman's Club was held December 8 at the home of Mrs. Jerome Biedenharn. Guests were Mrs. John Acree, KFWC 5th District Governor; Mrs. Nancy Lauderdale, KFWC 5th District Junior Director; Mrs. Glenn Baird, President of Florence Woman's Club, and Mrs. Don Schiman, Membership Chairman of the Florence Woman's Club.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Jerome Biedenharn, temporary chairman. Mrs. Paul Vanderhaar was appointed to serve as secretary pro tem. A committee was appointed to set up the club's by-laws. A nominating committee will be appointed later.

Members present at the meeting were: Mrs. James Gates, Mrs. Sue Reed, Mrs. Larry Wyckoff, Mrs. Timothy Pieper, Mrs. Bruce Biedenharn, Mrs. Charles Burger, Mrs. Richard Gillette, Mrs. Jerome Biedenharn, and Mrs. Paul Vanderhaar.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, December 17 at 8:00 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Richard Gillette, 12 Kenner Drive, Florence. For information, call Mrs. Richard Gillette, 371-9571. All women, married or single, between the ages of 18 and 35 are invited to be present.

TAYLOR MILL P.T.A. CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

The annual Christmas program will be presented by the Taylor Mill PTA on Thursday, December 12, at 7:30 p. m., in the school auditorium.

The dreamland adventures at the North Pole of a little girl, her rag doll and her toy soldier will unfold musically in the operetta, "Santa Claus," presented by the fourth grade classes, under the direction of Mrs. B. Curry.

SIMON KENTON F.H.A. ALUMNI MEETS NOV. 21

There were 10 members present.

Judy New has scheduled the Gibson Card speaker for a gift wrapping demonstration on March 10th.

The Alumni will have its Christmas party at the next meeting on December 19 at 7:30 p. m. There will be catering, Christmas records, a grab-bag, and games. Following adjournment of the meeting refreshments were served by Judy New and Carol Kinnman.

Bearcats Lose Three Games In Past Week

The Walton Verona Bearcats lost three games last week; to Beechwood 71-48; to Erlanger Lloyd, 76-56; and to Mt. Olivet 54-52.

At Lloyd the smaller Cats held the Juggernauts in check the first ten minutes, but the taller home team broke out and could not be stopped. Stephens played part of the game with an injured leg and scored 11 points but teammate M. Ferguson took scoring honors for W.V. with 17. The bench gave a good showing.

Mt. Olivet invaded Bearcat land Saturday evening and eeked out a two-point victory, 54-52.

Stephens injured an ankle in the first minute of play. But the Cats were inspired by Jim Shields, M. Ferguson and Mike Glenn and led most of the first half. Butch Ingram was in for the second half but was not able to score. It was nip and tuck until the final quarter when Mt. Olivet led at times by 12 points. Tom Cady helped lead the comeback with a series of good defense, cut into the lead. With only 27 seconds remaining and trailing by 2 points the Cats went for broke and hit a field goal to tie the score. The visitors hit one last shot with 7 seconds left to win the game 54-52.

The J-V team has won two of their last games, 55-38 over Mt. Olivet and 57-52 over Lloyd.

NFO Convention Held In St. Louis

Kenton County delegates to the annual convention of the National Farmers Organization in St. Louis, Mo., returned home last Friday after what they termed "the most successful in history."

The 10,000 delegate convention returned Oren Lee Staley of Rea, Mo., as president of the rapidly expanding organization, and also re-named Erhard Pfingsten of Sergeant Bluff, Iowa, as vice president.

The NFO convention heard detailed reports that proved the NFO is now effective enough in bargaining that it has raised the price level of many commodities higher than they would have been.

This has been accomplished, the officials said, through activation of contracts with processors, moving production from low price areas to higher price areas and because of the ever-present threat of a holding action.

Characterized as a "working convention," the annual NFO event brought to the assembly floor detailed reports on background, the techniques and accomplishments of the dairy, meat and grain commodity departments.

Heading the list of gains was the red meat contract breakthrough scored by NFO with the all-commodity holding action. These supply contracts with pricing formulas have been hailed as an "agricultural first."

It was pointed out that the area of NFO territory expanded to 41 states during the past year. Plans were made for further rapid expansion.

Eastern Star Party

Walton Chapter, No. 161, Order of Eastern Star, will have its regular monthly business meeting and Christmas party on Monday, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p. m.

A $1.00 gift exchange will be held and refreshments served.

Wa-Na Club Members Enjoy An Evening Out

Members of the Wa-Na Woman's Club, their husbands and guests enjoyed dinner and the Broadway stage production "Baretfoot In The Park," at the Beverly Hills Supper Club, last Saturday evening.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Preston Art, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rouse, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benson, Mr. and Mrs. George Black, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Popham, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Ann M. Rouse, Mr. and Mrs. Gayle McElroy, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Elliott, Mrs. Malcolm Simpson, Miss Joella Sleet, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sturgeon.

This outing was for the club's Christmas treat, instead of the regular monthly meeting.

Engagement Is Announced

The engagement of Miss Linda Ann Goodpaster to Mr. Joe Allen Locke has been announced by Miss Goodpaster's parents, Mrs. Ann Goodpaster of Columbia City, Ind., and Mr. William Goodpaster of Indiana.

Mr. Locke is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Locke of Walton. No wedding date has been set.

New Bethel Church Calls New Minister

New Bethel Baptist Church of Verona, has called a new minister. He is Dr. Russell R. Huffman of Mayfield, Ky. He will complete his ministry in Mayfield on the 15th of January, and begin his duties at Verona, January 19.

Mr. Huffman has been pastor of First Street Baptist Church and West Broadway Baptist Church, both in Mayfield.

He is the son of the late Edward Huffman and Margaret Pogue Huffman of Berry, Ky. He was born in Williamstown, and reared in Dayton, Ohio.

Mr. Huffman holds a Bachelor of Theology, Master of Theology, and Doctor of Theology degrees, and has also authored seven booklets.

Mr. Huffman is married to the former Betty Jean Creech of Lexington. They are the parents of four children: Marilyn Kaye, 17; Ronald Ralph, 15; Judy Carol, 14; and Jerry Wayne, 11.

New Haven PTA to Meet

The New Haven PTA will hold its monthly meeting December 16 at 7:30 p. m., in the school cafeteria.

Rev. Robert McAllister will give the devotional. The program will be, "Spiritual Emphasis at Christmas." The children will sing Christmas Carols.

A baby sitter will be available, and refreshments will be served following the meeting.

The Trains Are Running

The popular model trains of The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. got under way last week in the Fourth and Main Street lobby, Cincinnati, with officials of the company and the B&O Railroad opening the display.

The display will be open Monday through Saturday, 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m., throughout December with the exception of Dec. 24 and 25.

The Last Month For Vehicle Inspection

During the month of December, owners of automobiles with license plates ending in the numeral two are required to have their vehicles inspected.

Motor Vehicle Inspection records show that 1.2 million vehicles have been inspected to date this year.

Commissioner W. O. Newman, Department of Public Safety, said, "With just a few weeks left in the year, we are assuming that a large majority of cars have been inspected."

Enforcement action is being felt by those automobile owners who have failed to have their cars inspected.

Figures released by the Kentucky State Police show that during a three-month period of August, September and October, there were over 4,500 citations issued for violation of not having a valid inspection sticker displayed on their vehicle. Anyone operating a motor vehicle without a valid inspection sticker is in violation and subject to arrest and court action.

Turkey Shoot On Sunday

Don't forget the turkey shoot on Sunday, December 15, sponsored by Johnson-McElroy Post, American Legion, at the Post home on High Street, Walton.

The affair will start at noon and end at dusk. 12-16-20 gauge guns will be allowed. Home-made chili will be served, and a social will start at 2:00 p. m. for the ladies. The shooters are asked to bring their own guns.

Walton Masons to Meet

Walton Lodge, No. 719, F&AM, will meet on Thursday, December 19, at 8:00 p. m.

This is an important meeting. It is St. John's Night and the election of officers. Past Masters' Night is also being observed.

Refreshments will be served. All Master Masons are invited. All members are urged to be present.

SANTA TO VISIT AREA

Santa Claus will be at the Firehouse in Walton, Sunday afternoon, December 15, at 1:00 o'clock. He will have treats for the kiddies, and the firemen will be taking the little ones for a ride on the fire trucks.

St. Nick will then go to Verona at 3:00 p. m., for a repeat performance. Parents, bring your children to see the Old Gent. He wants to get their Christmas wishes.

If you know of a shut-in who wants to see Santa, contact the firemen.

TO IMPROVE LOOKS OF THE COURTHOUSE

Boone Fiscal Court took another step last week to beautify the old courthouse in Burlington.

The court tentatively accepted low bids for sandblasting, repair and trim paintings of the brick structure.

Terra Cotta Associates of Cincinnati, was low bidder on sandblasting at $3,440, and Augsburg Contractors of Lexington, $3,295 on painting; H. C. Truitt Roofing Co., Covington, $2,410 for cleaning, replacing broken roof slates and repair of the bell tower.

Phi Alpha Theta Chapter

Xi chapter of Phi Alpha Theta national honorary society in history, has been installed at Eastern Kentucky University. Formal initiation ceremonies were conducted by Dr. Robert Lundie, Dr. Carl Cone and Pat Weldon, all from the University of Kentucky chapter.

Among members initiated were Allan Dee Rust of Walton, and Sharon Thompson of Florence.

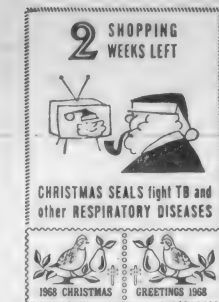

Youth Revival Planned at First Baptist

Ken Hale

A youth revival is being planned at First Baptist Church, Walton, to run December 27 through December 29.

Featured at these services will be Rev. Jerry J. Ennis, pastor of Hillshoro Baptist Church, Versailles, Ky., who will do the preaching; Ken Hale of Georgetown, Ky.,

Free Show Dec. 21 Sponsored by Lions

The Walton Lions Club will have a free Christmas show at the James Theatre on Saturday afternoon, December 21, starting at 1:00 p. m. Doors open at 12:15.

The movies to be shown are "Topo Gigo" and the "Reluctant Astronaut," plus a cartoon carnival.

Santa Claus will arrive and bicycles will be given to a lucky boy and a lucky girl. Other treats will be given, so everybody will get a gift from Santa, himself.

Every child in this area is invited. Parents of small children will be admitted free, so bring all the little ones to see Santa.

This treat is being given by the men of this civic organization in appreciation of the help given to the Walton Lions Club in projects they have previously sponsored.

Auto Accident Saturday

An auto accident Saturday evening about 10:30, injured a man and his wife. Their car hit a utility pole just south of the intersection of U. S. 25 and Chambers Road. Electrical service in Florence was interrupted for a time.

The injured persons were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harlow of Maher Road. Their two sons were not hurt seriously and were taken to the home of a neighbor. The Walton Life Squad and Chambers & Grubbs took the Harlows to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Covington.

Mike Greer

A youth revival is being planned at First Baptist Church, Walton, to run December 27 through December 29.

Featured at these services will be Rev. Jerry J. Ennis, pastor of Hillshoro Baptist Church, Versailles, Ky., who will do the preaching; Ken Hale of Georgetown, Ky.,

DEATHS

MRS. FLORENCE RUST
Mrs. Florence Rust, 48, who met her husband during World War II while serving as a Women's Army Corps nurses' aid, died at 6:00 p. m., Monday, Dec. 2 in the Cincinnati VA Hospital.

Her husband, Allen D. Rust, a disabled veteran, lost a leg in action. Mrs. Rust, then a corporal cared for her husband-to-be while he recuperated.

A resident of 57 South Main St., Walton, she had been admitted to the hospital hours prior to her death, attributed to complications.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, Allen D. Rust of Eastern State University, Richmond, Ky., and Robert Rust, student in the Walton-Verona High School; also a daughter, Miss Linda S. Rust of Covington; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lenz of Cincinnati; 11 brothers and sisters.

Requiem Mass was held at 9:00 a. m., last Thursday at All Saints Church, Walton. Hamilton Funeral Home, Verona, had charge of arrangements.

MRS. MARTHA ROBINSON

Mrs. Martha Robinson, 75, of 30 South Main St., Walton, died at 4:49 p. m., Tuesday, Dec. 3 in St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Her husband, Garrett Robinson, is a retired L&N Railroad track employee. Other survivors include four sons, Virgil Robinson of Cincinnati, Monroe Robinson of Covington, Harry Robinson of Richmond, and Morris Robinson of Livingston; also a daughter, Mrs. Bertha Martin of LaGrange.

Services were held at 1:00 p. m., last Friday at Sparks Funeral Home, Mt. Vernon.

CLIFFORD A. ROUSE

We learned last Saturday of the death of Clifford R. Rouse, who was a native of Walton.

Mr. Rouse, 76, of 1336 Charleston Ave., Huntington, W. Va., a retired Indiana Creek Coal Company tax accountant, died Nov. 15 in a Huntington hospital. Services were held on Sunday, Nov. 17th, with entombment in Woodmere Abbey of Remembrance.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Myrtle McDermald Rouse, a retired professor and former chairman of the home economics department at Marshall University; a daughter, Mrs. Louise Rouse Maze of Lake Park, Fla.; a brother, Lambert H. Rouse of Dallas, Texas; a nephew, several nieces, a grandchild, and two great-grandchildren.

JOHN GALEN ARRASMITH

John Galen Arrasmith, Sr., 55, Boone County farmer, was wounded fatally at 7:40 a. m., Sunday, in the barn at his home on Walton, Route 2.

Don Stith, Boone County coroner, returned a verdict of accidental death. Stith said Mr. Arrasmith was preparing to go hunting, and had placed a .22-caliber pistol in his belt.

The weapon fell from the belt as the victim apparently bent over to pick up a piece of coal, struck the floor and discharged.

Mr. Arrasmith, wounded in the stomach, died at 10:20 a. m. in Booth Hospital. Stith said an artery was severed and Mr. Arrasmith bled to death.

The victim was an Army veteran of World War II, and formerly lived in Paris, Ky. He was a member of the Millersburg Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include his wife, Marjorie Rector Arrasmith; a son, John Arrasmith, Jr., at home; a brother, William Arrasmith of Union, and a sister, Mrs. Myrtle Marsh of New Lebanon, Ohio.

Services were held at 10:30 a. m., Wednesday at the Chambers and Grubbs Funeral Home, Walton.

Pallbearers were Bob Lawrence, Wilard Collins, Scott Jack, Lloyd Stephens, Bill Harris, J. C. Blanton, Joe Wood and Harold Gruelle.

Honorary pallbearers were: Clifford Rouse, Ted Heile, Ed Smith, Ivan Clements, J. C. Hedges, G. L. Robinson, Paul Shields, Delbert Hubbard, Ralph Marsh, and Marcus D. Mastin.

The Cincinnati Royals basketball games are now being aired over WKRC radio with Joe Thompson as play by play announcer.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

We would like to take this opportunity to thank relatives, neighbors, and friends who sent flowers, cards, food, and did other deeds of kindness during the death of our loved one. A special thanks to Dr. J. M. Huey, Chambers & Grubbs, Hamilton Funeral Home, and to Father Bamberger. Your thoughtfulness will always be remembered.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

Though we have a very good evangelist, Rev. Jimmie Rose, we have not had as good attendance as we had hoped for. The weather has not been very pleasant, but we have God's promise, "My word shall not return unto me void."

Bluch Rich continues in very poor condition in St. Elizabeth Hospital. Would like to hear he is improving.

Mrs. Dawson Losey, who has been ill for some months, is a patient at St. Elizabeth for observation and tests. We hope she finds the answer and can regain her health.

George Binder is not improving and is scheduled to enter the hospital for tests and x-rays within a few days. Hope he is better soon.

One good report...We hear that Mrs. Eddie Lynch, who has been hospitalized for several days, has returned home. Keep improving every day, Mariena!

Mrs. J. B. (Georgia) Richardson who has been convalescing following a broken hip, is returning today (Saturday) for x-rays. We hope all will be OK.

Staffordsburg Homemakers

The members and a few friends met at the Y. M. C. A. dining room for their Christmas dinner and meeting on December 8. Almost every member was present and having a light schedule of business to consider, we opened the meeting before the noon hour, and some reports were given. A motion prevailed to give $5.00 to the Gold Key Club, which is an agency to provide funds for the treatment of birth defects. A few of the leaders were named for the new year.

The next meeting will be held on January 7 at the home of Mrs. H. L. Faulkner in Independence.

Our luncheon was delicious and well served. As we finished the meal, the gifts were distributed by number.

Mrs. Keeney had charge of the program which consisted of a Christmas poem by Mrs. Damico, followed by a play, "The Shining Lights of Christmas," with several members taking part. Mrs. Elam had a few good games.

Among those enjoying the occasion were our visitors, Mrs. L. Wharton, Mrs. Mary Flanagan and Mrs. Bertie Wolf. Members present were: Mrs. B. Rich, Mrs. L. J. Rapp, Mrs. Edith Ware, Mrs. M. Wharton, Mrs. James Perkins and Jennifer, Mrs. Donald Nehring, Mrs. John Shaw, Mrs. J. C. Beall, Mrs. H. L. Faulkner, Mrs. R. Harney, Mrs. V. Damico, Mrs. J. Elam, Mrs. Donald Nitschke, Mrs. Bess Hill, Mrs. Roy Payne, and the writer.

Letter To The Editor:

Elizabeth Lurene (Liz) Earnstein

December 5, 1968
Will you, please, help us find our daughter My wife, Ruth, and I are directing this plea to you and to the ten thousand other newspapers in the cities, towns, and hamlets of this country.

Our daughter, Elizabeth Lurene
(Liz) Earnstein, was just two months short of her fifteenth birthday when she vanished without a trace last March 18.

She was last seen walking home from school along a lonely tree-lined street amid the orange groves of suburban Redlands. In her arms, she carried a blue notebook and a red algebra textbook.

Since then, law enforcement agencies, family members, and friends have spent countless hours tracking down hundreds of tentative leads. But to no avail. Not one single, slender clue has brightened all our efforts. Seemingly,
Liz has disappeared like a breath of air on a winter's day.

But, surely there is a simple explanation. Was she abducted?
Did she run away from home? Is she dead? Or is she alive and, perhaps, in your town?

You can help us. Ruth and I are begging you to help us find an answer to our torment—to help us end the long nightmare of these past eight months—by releasing our story and Liz's picture in your paper.

The Lord willing, someone in your area may have seen her.

With sincere gratitude,
Norman and Ruth Earnstein

Owen Co. Supplies Yule Tree

A 35-foot red cedar from the farm of Mrs. Mae Gaines of near Owenton has been given as the Christmas tree at the capitol in Frankfort. Some 400 lights will be among the decorations.

AREA AGENT'S 1/2 ACRE

...by...

JOE CLAXON

In the next few weeks vacant lots and large parking expanses all over the country will be adorned with a fresh crop of Christmas trees. Householders by the millions will stop by to "pick the tree that's exactly right for their living room."

They'll be selecting from many different kinds of trees, including pines, firs and cedars. Some may be labeled with a U. S. grade, such as U. S. premium, U. S. No.
1, U. S. No. 2. However, not all the selections will be based on sound criteria.

A helpful tool for your selection might be to use the same points a commercial treegrader uses. Look at the density. A U. S. premium tree has the main stem partially obscured with at least light foliage. Observe the taper. The ideal tree forms a cone, the base of which is not more than 70 percent of its height. (Some of the pines might be broader). Turn the tree to see its balance. A premium tree has four complete faces. Examine the foliage. The needles should be pliable, full of moisture and firmly attached. The foliage should be free of moss, lichen growth and foreign material. Finally, look for deformities.
The perfect Christmas tree has no weak branches.

Now, what tree is the best? The answer to this depends on your personal likes and dislikes. Today, balsam fir is not the biggest seller, but because of its good qualities, it has become a standard for comparisons. After much emphasis by northern producers, the sheared Scotch pine is in the number one position. In 1964, a Christmas tree survey showed that about 27 percent of all trees produced were Scotch pine.

Other pines have gained prominence, too. Among the leaders are red, white and Austrian pines.
Here is how to tell the pines apart: Scotch pine has blue-green twisted needles in groups of two, about two to three inches long.
Red pine needles are four to six inches long, dark green, and in bundles of two. White pine has a blue-green "soft" appearance, with five needles in a bundle usually about three to five inches in length. The Austrian pine, like the Scotch pine, has two needles, but they are three to five inches long and much stiffer than those of the red pine.

Another tree you might see on the market at Christmas is the eastern red cedar. This tree is generally accepted as the standard Christmas tree in the south. A northerner wouldn't consider it because the tree's needles are too short, and it doesn't have the deep green color he likes. However, the fact that red cedar trees usually grow naturally thick is a point in their favor.

Last, but not least, are the firs.
Unfortunately because of the slow growing habit of the firs, leading-producing states (Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, New York and Ohio) supply only a few. If they are well-grown sheared trees, they usually command a premium price. Needless to say, a balsam fir to some folks is the only tree that measures up to their standard of "what a Christmas tree should be."

Home Agent's Party Line

By NANCY WHITE

Buying a home is a giant step.
If you're one of the millions of Americans who will buy a home this year, be sure you're stepping in the right direction. Plan your investment and choose your home with care.

"There are many things the home buyer should think about even before he starts house-hunting," says Gertrude Paprotta, area Extension agent specializing in housing.

"The first and most important is how much he can afford to invest in a home. A good rule of thumb is two and one-half times the annual income. But size of family, steadiness of income, amount of savings and other factors must also be considered.
Every family has to determine its own financial ability."

House hunting has many hazards, even for the buyer with a secure financial base. Much is involved in finding a house he can afford that will fill his family's needs. Mrs. Paprotta suggests the following questions the house hunter might ask himself before buying:

Is the house conveniently located? Is it near my job and friends?
Is it near schools, churches, health services, fire and police departments? Is public transportation convenient?

Is the neighborhood quiet and well kept? Are water and utilities available in good supply?

Is the lot large enough for my family's needs? Is the soil well drained and of good quality? (You will need a soil test to determine this). Is the cost of the land reasonable (no more than one-fifth the total investment)?

Is the house in good condition?
Are roof, chimney, gutters and foundation sound? Are the floors level, the walls free of cracks? Is the house well insulated, the heating and electrical systems adequate, the plumbing and fixtures in good condition?

Does the house fit my present and future needs for sleeping, bathing, cooking and eating? Is there enough storage space?

"Another point to consider is the resale value of the house," notes Mrs. Paprotta. "You would not want to be stuck with a 'white elephant' if you decided later to move. Among the factors that make a home easier to re-sell are three bedrooms, two bathrooms, and a family room."

How to finance your home is as important a decision as what home to buy, says Mrs. Paprotta. Be sure to ask the mortgage company or other lender about the interest rate, the number of years you have to repay the loan, the date of monthly payments, the grace period, penalties for failure to make payments, and other costs you will have.

"Remember, your monthly cost for owning the home will be the total of interest and principal payments, taxes, insurance and upkeep of the house. Upkeep will be more for older homes," Mrs. Pap-rotta points out. "Also be sure you check into the reputation of the architect, builder, realtor, and the lender."

Mrs. Paprotta invites you to stop by your county Extension office and learn the many services available to the public. These include free publications on many aspects of home buying and home ownership. Your area Extension agents will also be happy to advise you on individual housing problems.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I receive a pension from the Veterans Administration. With my November check I received a questionnaire regarding my income for 1968 and 1969. Since my income is what I estimated on last year's questionnaire, must I return this new questionnaire?

A—Yes—it is particularly important that you return the questionnaire you received in early November. It must be returned to VA by January 15 if you are to continue receiving your pension.

Q—Can I receive Veterans Administration benefits for flight training under the War Orphans Educational Assistance program? I have my private pilot's license.

A—Flight training is not approved under the War Orphans Educational Assistance Act. Therefore, the VA cannot pay you any benefits for flight training.

Q—Once a veteran has been granted compensation for service-connected disability, does he receive it for the rest of his life regardless of his income?

A—Compensation payments do not depend on income, but rather on the nature of the disease or disability. Some conditions would be subject to change while others would remain static.

Fire in the U. S. claims an average of one life every 43 minutes, the Insurance Information Institute reports. In 1967, 12,200 persons died by fire.

Kentucky residents enrolled in the University of Kentucky at Lexington total 11,787—approximately 77 percent of the student population.

NOTICE OF BOND SALE

The City of Covington, Kentucky, will until 7:30 P. M., E. S. T., December 19, 1968, at the regular meeting place of the Board of Commissioners in Covington, Kentucky, receive sealed competitive bids on $165,000 of its City of Covington (Kentucky) School Building Revenue Bonds, dated December 1, 1968. The minimum bid is the face amount plus accrued interest from December 1, 1968, and bidders must name a coupon rate or rates in multiples of 1/10 or 1/8 of 1%, not to exceed 6%, and not over six different interest rates may be used; however, the same rate may be used more than a single time. The difference between the highest and lowest coupon rate may not exceed 2%. Bonds of the same maturity shall bear the same interest rate and each bond shall bear only one interest rate. Interest for any single interest period shall be represented by only one coupon. Bids must be made on Bid Forms which may be obtained from the undersigned or from Magnus and Company, 502 Dixie Terminal Building, Cincinnati, Ohio 45202, Fiscal Agent, which will also furnish further information as to the sale of such bonds, and shall be enclosed in sealed envelopes marked on the outside "Bid for City of Covington (Kentucky) School Building Revenue Bonds." Such bids will be sold to the highest and best bidder, provided, however, the City reserves the right to reject any and all bids. The required certified or cashier's good-faith check is $23,300. Upon failure of the successful bidder to take up and pay for such bonds when ready such check shall be forfeited by such bidder, and the amount of such check will be deemed liquidated for damages for such default. Such bonds are offered for sale subject to the principal of and interest on such bonds not being subject to Federal or Kentucky ad valorem or income taxation on the date of their delivery to the successful purchaser and subject to the unqualified approving legal opinion of Skaggs and Hays, Attorneys, Louisville, Kentucky, at no additional cost to the successful bidder. The successful bidder will be furnished such opinion, printed bond forms and the usual closing papers, including the customary no-litigation certificate. Delivery of the executed bonds to the successful purchaser will be made in Louisville or Lexington, Kentucky, Cincinnati, Ohio, or Nashville, Tennessee, at no expense to the purchaser, but at any other place designated by the purchaser at his expense. The purchaser shall not be required to accept delivery unless made within 45 days from the date of sale. City of Covington, Kentucky. (Signed) Vivian Willman, City Clerk. 11-50c

THAT DAY!

Lesson for December 15, 1968

Background Scripture: Revelation 4 through 5, 7.
Devotional Reading: Revelation 4:1-11.

An American soldier who spent two and a half years as a prisoner of war in North Korea was asked how he kept going and what gave him the will to live when so many of his buddies were dying of despair. He replied that when things became difficult which was almost always he forced himself to daydream into the future, a future that saw the war over and his return home to be with his family.

"When I got hungry," he said, "I dreamed of the meals I'd have with my family when I got home." When he was cold in his cell, he looked ahead to the warmth of the house he planned to build. When he felt particularly lonely, he tried to envision both his wife and the child he hadn't seen since his son's first birthday. When there were long periods without any mail from home one of the tactics of his captors he would imagine conversations he would some day have with friends and loved ones. These daydreams were not idle wishes or hopes, he maintained, for to him they were a foretaste of a future which would be his if he refused to give up and die.

Thy kingdom come

The writer of Revelation had a similar experience. He too was facing a time of danger and despair, and he too gained strength for the present by looking to the future. The future to which he looked was the final completion of God's plan and purpose for the world. For him also, this future was no idle wish or hope; it was something which he believed had been revealed to him by God.

There is one important difference between his experience and that of the American soldier referred to above: the writer of Revelation saw the future in poetic and symbolic images rather than the real-life daydreams of the soldier. Secondly, while the soldier's daydreams were of help to him alone, the writer of Revelation believed these things were given to him by God to share with others.

When we read Revelation, therefore, we must not get bogged-down in the literal details of the visions, but must constantly seek to get behind the visions to the messages they bear. Too many people get lost in this book, failing to "see the forest for the trees."

Multitudes!

"After this I looked, and behold, a great multitude..." (Revelation 7:9) John's attention shifts from the discouraging scene about him to the vision of the future. Here he sees, not the churches bending under the burden of persecution, but the great gathering in heaven of those who have been redeemed by Christ. It is not the present that occupies him, but the "last days" when God will fulfill his plan for his creation. He sees multitudes, people so numerous that they cannot be counted.

This vision brings him hope, a hope he must share with other Christians who need encouragement. These small communities of Christians scattered here and there often feel isolated and impotent, but in his vision he catches a glimpse of the innumerable company of Christians who will stand with him in that great "day."

Promise of victory

There is another reason for encouragement. His world - like ours - is a divided world. Yet, on that day which his vision foresees, there will be no more barriers between men. People from all nations and races will be there. Different cultures, languages, and customs may separate us today, but these barriers will not survive that "day."

Greatest of all, however, is the encouragement that comes with the vision of Christ's ultimate victory for God's kingdom. For that reason, the Christian, even in the midst of great darkness, can still behold the vision of that day and declare: "Blessing and glory and wisdom and thanksgiving and honor and power and might be to our God for ever and ever! Amen."

HOW WOULD YOU ANSWER?

- Yes ___ No ___ Though I do worry, I feel there's a way to prevent it.
- Yes ___ No ___ Sometimes I antagonize people because of my actions or attitude. I know there must be a way to correct this.
- Yes ___ No ___ It seems contrary to reality, but I feel that real happiness is something apart from wealth, power, or fame.
- Yes ___ No ___ There must be a practical way of raising my family in a better world.

A "yes" answer to any of these questions is definite proof of God's concern for you. God talks to man by making him "feel" and "know" of a better way of living. You feel discontent about present conditions, you sense "something better," somewhere. That's God talking to you. Listen to him. Come to church this Sunday. Read His Living Word in the Bible. This could be the chance you've been waiting for.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...

... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

PINER CLEVER CLOVERS

The November meeting of the Piner Clever Clovers 4H Club was held at the Piner-Fiskburg Firehouse with Aimee Collins as hostess, with 12 members and three leaders present.

The meeting was called to order an hour early so we could recess for a county meeting at Independence, where we learned more about completing our project record books.

The vanity sets, our money making project, had arrived. These were distributed to each member.

Our leaders gave us a last reminder that project records for 1968 are now due in the county office.

It was decided to have a "grab-bag" gift exchange for Christmas. We each got our work assignment for the Fall Festival at the Piner school.

The December meeting will be held at the Piner-Fiskburg Firehouse with Mike Daniels as host. This will also be our Christmas party.—Reporter

Local Democrats Are Reorganized

Northern Kentucky Democrats completed the grass-roots reorganization of their party last Saturday with election of district and county officials.

New county executive chairmen were selected in Kenton and Boone counties, and party unity seemed to be the theme of the day.

Under state law, members of the Democratic party meet in precinct conventions in December, following a presidential election to elect precinct officers. These, in turn, choose chairman of the legislative districts. Each district chairman, acting as the county executive board, appoints a county chairman and a county secretary.

In Kenton County, the new district chairmen are: Peter Burris, Ft. Mitchell, in the 63rd District; Charles Deters, Covington attorney, in the 64th; George Weidner, mayor of Edgewood, in the 65th, and Gus Sheehan, Ludlow, in the 66th. They then named Weidner to the post of county executive chairman, and Mrs. Henry Hollis, Covington, secretary.

Weidner and Mrs. Hollis replace Ottwell C. Rankin and Larry West, who were named to the executive committee with three others, Len Cavanaugh of Edgewood, George Wolzick of Park Hills, and Patrick Hickey of Letonia.

In Boone County, which is joined with Gallatin County for one legislative district, 11 persons were elected to the county executive committee, one from each precinct.

They were: Geo. W. Ryan, Lonnie Masters and Mrs. Lillian Davis all of Walton; Carlton Anderson of Hebron; Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Shinkle of Petersburg, and R. V. Lente, Miss Nellie McCarthy, Dennis McEvoy, Gary Reed, Carroll Ewing and Mrs. Jackie Whalen, all of Florence.

William P. McEvoy, county attorney, was named to succeed the retiring James Conner as executive chairman, and Mrs. Mary Jane Jones, Burlington, was re-named county secretary.

KIDWELL-WOLFE

Miss Eleanor Kay Kidwell and Mr. Larry J. Wolfe were married in Brooklyn, N. Y., early in the fall.

Miss Kidwell is the daughter of Mrs. Goldie C. Kidwell, Route 2, Walton, and the late Rev. Elmer K. Kidwell, who was well known as pastor of Methodist churches for many years and as a public school teacher and guidance counselor for several years in Northern Kentucky.

Mr. Wolfe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ora Wolfe of New Albany, Indiana.

The double ring ceremony was performed in a Methodist church in Brooklyn, with Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Mayfield, uncle and aunt of the groom, as attendants.

A reception was held in Indiana near the home of the groom's parents.

The bride attended Boone County schools and graduated from the University of Cincinnati College of Nursing and Health, in the class of 1966. Since then, until after her marriage, she has been employed as a registered nurse in Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati.

The groom is a 1967 graduate of the University of Cincinnati College of Art, Architecture and Design, and is at present working on his Master's degree at Pratt's in New York. The couple will be residing there until next summer, when Mr. Wolfe will resume his employment in the office of Hartstern, Schnell and Associates, architectural firm, Louisville, Ky.

Christmas Services At Staffordsburg Church

The Staffordsburg Methodist Church is planning to start its Christmas celebration in a unique manner. It is believed this will be held Thursday, December 19, at 8:00 p. m. The choir and girls' grade chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Fugitt, will present a Christmas program. There will also be a bake sale before and after the meeting.

Season's BEST

We hope the Yule finds all our friends rich in joy and wonderful health.

Social At Independence

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Independence Fire Department will hold their monthly social on Saturday, December 21, in the Firehouse at 8:30 p. m.

Mrs. Eileen Faulkner is chairman this month, and Mrs. Jackie Greshover is in charge of the kitchen.

The public is invited.

The game was close until the final period, when the Wildcats scored 31 points. Simon Kenton led 17-15 at the end of the first period, but Newport was in front 39-36 at the half, and 59-54 at the end of three periods.

Jim McMillan led the Newport team with 25 points, Turner had 19, Bonner 18, Points 12 and Shoemaker 11.

Dave Obel was high for Simon Kenton with 21 points, Coppage had 20, and Morgan 15.

Beechgrove PTA To Meet

The Beechgrove Elementary School has elected the following PTA officers: President, Nina Henderson; Vice President, Debbie Walker; Secretary, Wanda Works; Treasurer, Janet O'Hara, and Corresponding Secretary, Jane Hunsell.

The first PTA meeting in this new Kenton County school is to be held Thursday, December 19, at 8:00 p. m. The choir and girls' grade chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Fugitt, will present a Christmas program. There will also be a bake sale before and after the meeting.

Regular Meeting Of Simon Kenton FFA

On December 3, the Simon Kenton FFA held its monthly meeting. Steve Prince opened the meeting at 3:25 p. m. The secretary called the roll of members—there were 31 members and two guests, Mr. Clerk and Lucada Cheek. The secretary then read the minutes of the last meeting.

The officers' reports were given by Dave Worthington, treasurer; John Dillion, reporter, and Donald Courtney, vice-president.

A special feature was given by Bob Osburn on the "Fish and Wildlife Conservation" essay. Kenneth Wischer, freshman; Kenneth Damon, sophomore; Jerry Bray, junior, and Steve Prince, senior, read their essays. They were judged by Mr. Clerk and Mr. Gray. The winner was Kenneth Damon. He received a $5.00 prize.

Donald Courtney moved that Steve Napier write letters to Mr. Floyd Kells and Mr. William Durr. Committee reports were given by Donald Courtney, Bob Osburn, Steve Prince, Jerry Bray, Steve Prince. Gary Acuff moved that the chapter give $200 to the scholarship committee to buy books for our library. Gary Acuff and John Jones also gave reports. John Dillion moved that the committee chairman have two guests at the Father-Son banquet. Gary Acuff then moved that Steve Napier send Mr. Courtney a thank you letter for taking the FFA tobacco crop to Carrollton. Steve Napier moved that the chapter give the earning and savings committee $200.00 for the agriculture shop.

The meeting then adjourned.—Reporter

Christmas Program Planned

A program of Christmas music will be presented in a candlelight service on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 22nd, at 5:00 p. m., in the Walton Christian Church.

Three choirs will be used in the program, under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Henson, who is also organist.

The public is invited to hear the beautiful stories in song.

Lions To Sponsor Free Show Dec. 21

The Walton Lions Club will sponsor a free Christmas show at the James Theatre, Walton, Saturday afternoon, Dec. 21, starting at 10:00 p. m. Doors open at 12:15. The movies to be shown are "Topo Gigo," and the "Reluctant Astronaut," plus a cartoon carnival.

Santa Claus will arrive and bicycles will be given to a lucky boy and a lucky girl. Other treats will be given, so everybody will get a gift from Santa.

Every child in this area is invited. Parents of small children will be admitted free, so bring all the little ones to Santa, if not more than 14 years of age.

This treat is being given by the men of this civic organization in appreciation of the help given to the Walton Lions Club in projects they have previously sponsored.

Full House Walton-Verona Annual Christmas Program

The gymnasium of the Walton-Verona school was really packed Monday night as parents, friends and neighbors attended the annual Christmas program. Grades one through six sang a melody of old and new Christmas carols. The concert band gave fine account of themselves on several popular numbers. The third grade group gave an excellent rendition of "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

"Christmas Story" at First Baptist Church

A program, the "Christmas Story," will be presented at First Baptist Church, Walton, Sunday evening, December 22, at 7:00 p. m. All the choirs will be participating.

Dr. Carl Fields will be the narrator. The public is cordially invited to witness.

Youth Revival At First Baptist Church Dec. 27-29

Rev. Jerry J. Ennis

A youth revival will be held at First Baptist Church of Walton, December 27-29.

You are invited to hear dynamic preaching by Rev. Jerry J. Ennis, pastor of the Hillsboro Baptist Church, Versailles, Ky.

The youth choir will perform each evening with Mike Greer, an evangelistic singer, leading the congregational singing, as well as doing solo work. Ken Hale will be at the piano. Both of these young men are from Georgetown.

Rev. Charles T. Saylor invites everyone to hear these messages in music and preaching.

Will Not Publish Paper Next Week

Well, its that time of year... that time of year when the adults are busily getting ready for Christmas, and the youngsters are eagerly awaiting the arrival of Santa... but for us its that time of year when we can rest for a few days, get ready to start the new year, and give thanks for our blessings of the past year.

We are most grateful for our many readers, our advertisers, and our job printing customers... without you, we would be nothing.

Now, please don't send in news or ads to be published next week, because we will publish no paper. However, we will be on the job December 30th and the Advertiser will be on the news stands and mailed to our subscribers on January 4th. It may be late, because of Wednesday being a legal holiday—New Year's Day, but it will get there eventually.

We trust that everyone will have a grand holiday season, so until next time... Merry Christmas!

Walton Homemakers

The Christmas meeting of the Walton Homemakers Club was held at the home of Mrs. Clayton Jones of North Main St., Walton. Hostesses for the month were Mrs. Carl Gerth and Mrs. Jones.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Donald McMillan. The devotion was given by Mrs. Edward Lay.

Following the noon meal, games were enjoyed by all. Mrs. James Burden was the winner of the most unusually wrapped gift, and gifts were also exchanged by the members.

Those present were: Mrs. J. B. McCubbin, Mrs. Lawrence Teater, Mrs. Clayton Jones, Mrs. Eddie Whaley, Mrs. Joe Sargent, Mrs. Robert Slayback, Mrs. Rich Cain, Mrs. John Wood, Mrs. Robert Wood, Mrs. Glenn Cox, Mrs. Ronnie Cox, Mrs. Edward Lay, and Mrs. Nelson Popham. Mrs. Donald McMillan, Mrs. Carl Gerth, Mrs. Paul Beighe, Mrs. James Burden, Mrs. Homer Winburn, Mrs. William Gibson, Jr., Mrs. Fred Stallard, Mrs. John Hotterman, and five children.

A Holiday Pop Concert

A Holiday Pop Concert, popular musical Christmas program of The Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co., will be telecast in color this year on WLWT, Sunday, December 22, from 9:00 to 10:00 p. m.

CG&E, The Union Light, Heat and Power Company and The Lawrenceburg Gas Company who formerly sponsored the Music Hall program each year decided to change to a TV presentation so that more people could see, hear and enjoy the concert.

Walton Woman's Literary Club Meets

The Walton Woman's Literary Club met for their Christmas luncheon and party, December 4, at the Southern Trails Restaurant, Florence.

The dining room was decorated with a Christmas theme, and the members felt the holiday spirit for the first time. Each person wore a Christmas corsage, and the display of decorations was very interesting.

Mrs. Lloyd Watson, president, called to meeting to order, followed by the reading of the Club Collect, and the salute to the flag.

Mrs. A. J. Russell gave the Spiritual Guidance. She read the story of Bethlehem and compared the life of Jesus and the life of King Herod, and told how each influences our lives after almost 2,000 years.

Mrs. W. W. Rouse reported on her visit to Jewel Manor and Kentucky Village.

Mrs. J. C. Mayhugh, Sr. gave some beautiful numbers on the piano, and led the group in the singing of Christmas Carols.

Mrs. L. M. Gabriel read the 39th Psalm and discussed the significance of "candle and light" for Christmas.

Miss Elma Taylor pointed out the meaning of "stars" and the part they play in the Festival of Light, and the light of our Faith.

Following these talks, each person present was asked to light her own individual candle from the large candle burning on the table.

Those present to enjoy the delicious luncheon the program were: Mrs. John Farrell, Mrs. A. H. Gaines, Mrs. L. M. Gabriel, Mrs. Wallace Grubbs, Mrs. H. F. Mann, Mrs. J. C. Mayhugh, Sr., Mrs. Melvin Moore, Mrs. W. H. Presser, Mrs. A. J. Russell, Mrs. Sam Sleet, Miss Elma Taylor, Miss Rachel Acree, Miss Mary West, Mrs. C. B. Wallace, Mrs. Melvin Wasson, Mrs. Lloyd Watson, Mrs. Cameron Brakefield, Mrs. Claude Thompson, and Mrs. W. W. Rouse.

Guests were: Miss Katherine Scott, Mrs. Bryan Rector, Mrs. Patsy Locke, Mrs. Al Jaeger, Mrs. Paul Ramsey, Mrs. Charles Dearing, Mrs. David Houston, Mrs. Ivan Fields, and Mrs. Ernie McLoney.

Christmas Program Dec. 19

The third grades will present a Christmas program at the regular monthly meeting of the White's Tower PTA on Thursday, Dec. 19 at 7:30 p. m., in the school cafeteria.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting. Free baby sitting service will be provided for pre-school children for the convenience of those attending.

Piner-Fiskburg Auxiliary

The December meeting of the Piner-Fiskburg Ladies Auxiliary was held in the firehouse, with seven ladies present: Faye Bray, Christine Tungate, Eula LaFollette, Goldie Glenn, Opal Allen, Georgia Cornelius, and Leatha Woods.

The auxiliary wishes to thank everyone for the donations and help this year.

During the meeting there was a fire call to the Deaton home in Piner. The volunteer men were back in a short while happy that they were called in time to save the house.

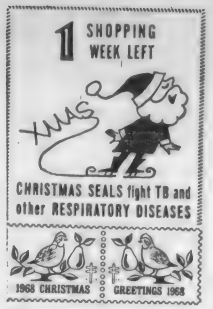

We wish everyone in the community a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Please be a volunteer next year is the plea.

Named Fire Dept. Treasurer

The Piner-Fiskburg Volunteer Fire Department has asked Mrs. Leatha Woods to take over the position of treasurer, left vacant by the death of her husband, Wm. C. Woods, November 1, and she has accepted.

If anyone wishes to pay their dues, make your check payable to the Piner-Fiskburg Volunteer Fire Department for $10.00 and send it to the Piner-Fiskburg Volunteer Fire Department, c/o Leatha Woods, Treasurer, Morning View, Ky., Route 1, 41093.

Lines of least resistance lead to Freedom.

APPROVALS GIVEN TO THE CAC WORK

A required public hearing of the Northern Kentucky Community Action Commission has reaffirmed the organization's work.

Fernon Knox, director of CAC said a public hearing is required each year to determine if the program is reaching the people.

Kenton County Judge James Dressman and Boone County Judge Bruce Ferguson testified in behalf of CAC in the hearing last week.

Several letters were read from tri-county leaders, including the Covington city commissioners, attesting to the "good work" the agency has been doing.

Approximately 70 people attended, including five board members. Mr. Knox said all programs should be funded in late December for next year.

Wallaceites May Vote In The May Primary

A registered Democratic voter who supported American Independent Party candidate George Wallace in the presidential election is still eligible to vote in the Democratic primary next May, state Attorney General John B. Breckinridge announced last week from Frankfort.

Walton's Oldest Resident Passes

Mrs. Mary Angeline Martin Patrick, 102, Walton's oldest resident, died at 11:45 p. m., Tuesday, Dec. 10th. Death came at the home of her son, Clarence Patrick, of 99 South Main St., Walton, an airport maintenance man.

Mrs. Patrick had lived with her son and daughter-in-law, Marie, for many years. She had been bedfast for the past eight years and critical for the past year.

Mrs. Patrick was born at Williamsburg, Whitley County, in 1866—soon after Abraham Lincoln had been assassinated, according to Mrs. Mildred Berry, a practical nurse, and a granddaughter, who has lived with the Patricks for the past three years.

Mrs. Patrick was one-fourth Indian, her grandfather being a full-blooded Cherokee. She was a good Christian woman and read her Bible daily as long as she could.

Mrs. Berry said Mrs. Patrick died exactly 24 years to the day after the death of her husband, Calvin Patrick, a railroad worker.

Four of her ten children survive: John Patrick, retired railroad worker, of Independence; Michael Lee Patrick of Cincinnati, an interior decorator; Clarence Patrick, Walton, and Mrs. Roosevelt Watts of Harrodsburg, Ky. There are also 31 grandchildren, 59 great-grandchildren, and 16 great-great-grandchildren.

Services were held at 10:30 a. m., last Friday at the Chambers and Grubbs Funeral Home, Walton.

Chi Rho and C. Y. F. Trip Is Postponed

Due to conflicting programs, the trip planned by the Chi Rho and C. Y. F. of the Walton Christian Church to visit the Nativity scene at Kenwood Shopping Plaza, will be postponed.

It is hoped that the trip can be made soon after Christmas. Other youth groups will be advised when a new date can be set so that all teenagers who can go will have a chance to see this large spectacle.

Christmas Program Dec. 10

The third and fourth grades presented a Christmas program at the December 10 meeting of the Ryland Heights PTA.

"What Christmas Should Really Mean To You and Your Children," was the devotional presented by Mrs. Orville Wells.

After a short business meeting, refreshments were served and home-made Christmas decorations were displayed and sold.

Dorcas Class Meets

The Dorcas Class of First Baptist Church, Walton, met at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Farrell on December 11, with 11 members and one visitor present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Knox, and opening with prayer by Mrs. Nell Hunt. Plans for making the holidays a little brighter for shut-ins and needy was approved. Then, as usual, instead of an exchange of gifts, each gave the price of a gift in pool for mission, amounting to $13.50—a total for the class of $23.50. Devotional by Mrs. Elizabeth Jones from Luke 1:26, about the birth of Jesus with a talk on "Christian Home Living." A very impressive poem, "Strangers Are Friends We Haven't Met," was given by Mrs. Farrell, followed by prayer for our own Christian strength and faith and for our nation and boys in service, especially for those in Vietnam was given by Mrs. Farrell.

Lovely refreshments were served by Mrs. Farrell. The meeting closed without a time or place for the next meeting.—Secretary

Clothing Budget Help Available

If your clothing budget is getting tight these days, Miss Nancy White may be able to help you.

As area Extension agent specializing in clothing, her job is to help you solve your clothing problems, whether it's squeezing into a budget or letting out a dress.

Miss White, whose office is in Burlington, is a University of Kentucky Extension home economist.

A graduate of the University of Kentucky, she keeps her skills up to date by attending workshops and training sessions in wardrobe and budget planning, clothing buying, clothing construction and care, and grooming, as well as the newest fashion trends.

Through her work with Homemakers and 4-H leaders, special interest workshops open to the public, radio programs, television appearances, and individual conferences, Miss White brings the clothing resources of the University of Kentucky to the people of the Northern Kentucky area.

"Wardrobe planning isn't as hard as many people think," says Miss White. The first step is to take a wardrobe inventory for each member of the family. This will tell you what needs to be repaired or remodeled, what should be thrown away, what can be made, and what must be bought.

Your wardrobe inventory will save you time when shopping, prevent spur-of-the-moment buying of garments that aren't needed, and lead to a better coordinated wardrobe without upsetting the budget. It can also help spread clothing spending over a longer period, Miss White advises.

Wardrobe planning and grooming are as important for men as for women, notes Miss White. She puts special emphasis on these areas in her work with teenage boys. Four-H clothing and grooming projects for boys are gradually catching on. Boys realize that good personal appearance will be important to their careers as well as their social life.

Miss White invites you to drop by the county Extension office and get acquainted with the many services made available by the Cooperative Extension Service. These include many publications about clothing and grooming, as well as a wide range of other subjects, which are offered free of charge. You can also make arrangements for Miss White's help with wardrobe planning, grooming, and clothing construction problems at your county Extension office.

AA Anniversary Dec. 27

The Florence, Kentucky Alcoholics Anonymous group wishes to announce its first anniversary celebration on Friday, December 27th, 8:30 p. m. at the Florence Christian Church educational building at the junction of highways U. S. 25 and 42. Jim D. of Richmond, Kentucky, will be guest speaker. Don't miss Jim's fine message.

This will be an open meeting so family members and friends or anyone interested in the disease of alcoholism is invited.

There will be plenty of good AA coffee and refreshments.

Baby Sitting Service at New Bethel Baptist Church

For busy mothers before Christmas, the GA's of New Bethel Baptist Church will do baby sitting from 9:00 until 11:00 a. m., on Saturday, December 21 as a community project. This is for children, ages 2 to 6.

To Direct Kiddie Symphony

Mark Waller, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Arch Waller of Verona, has been selected from the six finalists to lead the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra in one of its numbers at the Kinderkonzert to be presented at Music Hall on Saturday and Sunday afternoons of this week.

Mark's selection was made when he attended a recent Uncle Al show on television. For the past several weeks a lucky number winner was selected. Six finalists made tape recordings and it was from these that the final selection was made by the director of the symphony. Mark will direct the number, "Jingle Bells," at two performances. An alternate will be the director at the third performance.

BE ALERT! STAY ALIVE!

Broad Scope Of 4-H Projects Keep Youths Busy

Heading the list of the top 10 projects undertaken by the nation's three million 4-H youths are animal science, clothing, foods and plant science. Recent figures released by the Cooperative Extension Service show that youngsters also are very much interested in health and physical fitness.

In addition to animal and plant sciences, the application of scientific principles is a part of nearly all 4-H projects, says the Extension Service.

Recreation, engineering and safety are three more areas in which large numbers of 4-H members excel. Projects involving management and furnishings for the home show high enrollment, as does conservation.

Community service and personal development are a prime concern of today's 4-H'ers as well, judging from the more than 300,000 participating.

Most 4-H boys and girls spend their time on more than one project, as the survey shows. Boys may be involved in plant and animal sciences and engineering projects.

A girl may study plant science to make her horticultural project more meaningful. Or food science to get the most from her foods and nutrition projects. Overlapping areas are safety and conservation. Both affect the individual, the home, community and nation.

Specific programs—or projects—carried on under the 10 main categories have definite objectives that help develop skills and stimulate young minds to "clearer thinking," 4-H leaders point out.

For example, a youngster working on an entomology project (science) will gain new knowledge, improve his surroundings, and possibly "turn him on" sufficiently to seek a college degree and ultimately a career.

The 4-H program provides awards based on individual achievement. The awards are given annually by private industry through the National 4-H Service Committee. Among the 1968 donors are: Standard Brands Incorporated; John Deere; Oliver Corporation; Carnation Company; Simplicity Pattern Co. Inc.; Hercules Incorporated; Amchem Products, Inc. Also: General Foods Corporation; Eli Lilly and Company; The S&H Foundation, Inc.; Allis-Chalmers; Heidsieck & Nelson Farms, Inc.; General Motors; The Upjohn Company; Standard Oil Company (Kentucky).

These firms provide funds for trips to the National 4-H Congress, scholarships and other recognition awards.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

WCS December Meeting
The WCS enjoyed its December meeting, which was really a Christmas party, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Keeney, on Riggs Road, Dec. 10.

The president called the business session together by requesting the secretary and treasurer's reports. Very little business was necessary save for collecting for the brooms sold and talking about Christmas baskets which we always send to shut-ins.

The program consisted of what each member could contribute to the meaning of the Christmas season. Almost everyone had a poem or story and all were interesting and timely. Since everyone had brought a gift, these were distributed by number. They were all quite useful articles. One dollar will still buy a worthwhile gift.

Following prayer by the pastor, we were taken to the dining table which was decorated so beautifully it looked like it was a shame to "spoil" its appearance by partaking.

Among those enjoying the evening were: Mrs. Allene Faulkner, Rev. and Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Wavelyn Parsons, Mrs. Reva Finnell, Miss Helen Richardson, Mrs. Jeanne Nunery, Mrs. Alberta Balinger, Mrs. Opal Shaw, Mrs. Frances Looney, Mrs. Shirley Losey, the hostess' family and the writer, Francys Keeney.

Mrs. Grace Vastine suffered a heart attack a few days ago, but is now better.

George Binder, who is in St. Elizabeth Hospital for tests, visited his friend, Bush Rich, one day this week. Mr. Rich seems a little improved. May both be home soon.

Mrs. William Damon is a patient in St. Elizabeth, resting. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Damon called on her Thursday.

Scott Grubbs spent Friday evening with Lynn Wharton.

The doctor found that Mrs. Georgia Richardson is doing quite well.

Mr. and Mrs. George Finnell, Jr. entertained the Utopia Club with a Christmas dinner Dec. 11.

Rev. and Mrs. Phillips observed their wedding anniversary Dec. 11.

Garden Club Meets

The Kenton County Garden Club met for the November workshop at the home of Mrs. Leontine Stephens on the 22nd, with a good number in attendance.

The business meeting was opened by the president, Miss Elma Taylor. Following the reading of the secretary's and treasurer's reports, a Thanksgiving devotion was given by Mrs. Wesley Hall. She read a Psalm of thanks and also a poem on this very important but often neglected theme. Also, several selections from the Ideals Scrapbook.

The correspondence notes which had been ordered, having arrived, were for the most part quickly purchased by those present. It is quite pretty. Miss Taylor suggested exchanging corsages at the December meeting. Mrs. Helen Jaeger made a motion to that effect and it carried.

Following the business meeting, the women were soon enthusiastically working on the planned project of making arrangements of dried material on burlap. Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Straw assisted. Several very nice "pictures" were achieved, showing that some of us have hidden talents, if we try.

The hostess served delicious refreshments, cafeteria style, to Mrs. Chestine Ginn, Mrs. Elaine McVey, Mrs. Nellie Damon, Mrs. Audrey Gouge, Mrs. Inez Straw, Mrs. Lucille Hall, Miss Elsie Hite-man, Mrs. Katherine Guttridge, Mrs. Helen Jaeger, Miss Margaret Stephens, Mrs. R. Robe, Mrs. Mildred Popp, Mrs. Francys Keeney, Mrs. June Hesseiman, Miss Alice J. Williams, Miss Elma Taylor and the hostess.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Wesley Hall.

The University of Kentucky's educational television production facility is headed by Dr. Paul Owen, director of Media Services on the Lexington campus.

Pickle Cucumber Production for '69

If you want some extra farm income in 1969, pickling cucumber "crop" may be an answer.

The state's principal buyer, Hirsch Bros. & Co., Louisville, needs 3,200 acres of production, says Hubert Davis, U. K. Cooperative Extension Service horticulture specialist. The 1968 production was 2,300 acres.

"Raising pickling cucumbers is a good way to get extra income," Davis said this week. "Production costs per acre are low—they average from $35 to $50 an acre—and returns in cash are highly satisfactory. The good, careful manager may gross $1,500 an acre or more in a season."

He says the 1969 price will be $8.50 a hundredweight for No. 1 cucumbers. The price scales are downward for Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5's. Prices should average about $2.00 per bushel.

Contracts will be available after January 1 in the production areas. "If you are interested, check with your area extension office in the county or the local pickle station manager."

A picklebuying station will be located in Kenton County in 1969, according to Mr. Davis.

Most men can master their immediate problems, if they give their full time and energy to the task.

TO EACH AND EVERYONE.....

Wishing you God's blessings, not only at Christmas, but every day of the New Year.

Heard about the Newfangled PUMP?

The old water pump was invaluable back in the horse and buggy days.

Now, a different kind of pump... the electric Heat Pump... is proving to be one of the real wonders of space age living.

All frigid winter long, the Heat Pump heats your home by extracting warmth from the cold air... and transferring it indoors.

Then, all sultry summer long, this amazing weather machine cools your home by extracting oppressive heat and humidity.

Once you've selected a springtime temperature range, the Heat Pump maintains it season after season.

Sound wonderful? It is.

December Meeting Capt. Lillard D.A.R.

The December meeting of the Cap. John Lillard Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held at Harp House, Williams-town, with Mesdames Sally Odor, E. H. Martin, Adam Juett and Misses Elizabeth and Louise Flege as hostesses. A festive Christmas dessert luncheon was served.

Miss Elizabeth Flege, the Vice Regent and Program Chairman, introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. Willard Wall, pastor of the Williamstown Christian Church. Rev. Wall has traveled and taught extensively in Europe and Canada for the past two years. He has been at the Williamstown church for two years. In developing his subject, "Keeping Christ In Christ-mas," he correlated Bible scenes from world wide travels, Bible passages from Isaiah, which emphasized that the Bible is not antiquated but applicable to all ages, and timely in its message.

The business session was opened with Mrs. Charles Z. Allphin, the Regent, giving the ritual and reading the President General's Christmas wish which for peace, not only from war and violence in the street, but for peace within ourselves.

Miss Martha M. Blaine gave the treasurer's report, and results of the November bake sale. Minutes were read by Miss Elizabeth Flege in the absence of Mrs. Zayda Clore, who is recuperating at her home from a recent illness.

Mrs. B. C. Cotton, corresponding secretary, read an invitation from Limestone Chapter, Maysville, for the dedication of their new Chapter House—Paton House—and a "thank you" from Mrs. Roy C. Nestor, Fifth District Director.

Miss Elizabeth Flege, National Defense chairman, gave an interesting and informative report on a Soviet Union guided missile.

Mrs. Abram Hedges, Flag chairman, said that, "A thoughtful citizen sees in the flag the government, principles, history and truth of this nation and for these reasons and many others we should honor it."

Miss Martha M. Blaine, Good Citizen chairman, reported that Teresa Ann Bell, Grant County High School; Rekenna Simpson of Williamstown High, and Janice Maxine Cox of Owenton High, had been elected to represent Lillard Chapter in the State Contest for Good Citizens.

Miss Louise Flege, DAR school chairman, collected the Christmas donation for the Hindman school.

Mrs. Robert C. Hume, Past State Regent, reported that St. Mary's College and Bacon High School were in need of clothing, books and money. The chapter voted a donation.

Mrs. Evan Hance, Children of the American Revolution chairman, reported that several members are interested in CAR. A survey is to be made to learn the possibility of organizing a chapter.

Mrs. Abram Hedges, Chaplain, said that certificates for local Vietnam casualties had been ordered for the surviving families.

Others at the meeting were Mesdames J. W. Bennett, Winston Mason, Jennie Poore, and Misses Laura Dickerson and John Juett.

DEATHS

RAYMOND ROBINSON

Raymond Robinson, 62, died at 5:00 a. m., Monday, Dec. 9 at a boarding house at 17 Depot Street, Walton. A native of Frankfurt, he was a retired carpenter.

For the past several years, until a few weeks ago, he had made his home with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gaylor, of Morning View.

He is survived by a daughter, Miss Sandra Lynn Robinson of Covington.

Services were held at 10:30 a. m. last Thursday at the Chambers & Grubbs Funeral Home, Walton.

GEORGE (DEL) SCHENCK

George (Del) Schenck, 67, of 118 McCullum Road, Independence, died at 11:00 a. m., on Thursday, Dec. 12, at Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati, where he had been a patient for a week. He retired four years ago as a supervisor for the Brunswick Corporation, Cincinnati, a sporting goods firm.

He was a member of St. Stephen Court, 1380, Catholic Order of Foresters.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Marie Lampe Schenck; a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Krechting of Independence; a son, Richard Schenck of Newport, and his mother, Mrs. Ida Schenck, Newport; two sisters, Miss Margaret Schenck of Newport, and Mrs. Ethel Trame of Hebron, and one brother, Holly Schenck, Newport.

Requiem High Mass was held at 10:00 a. m., Monday at the St. Cecilia Church, Independence.

MRS. RUTH H. LOWER

Mrs. Ruth Houston Lower, 59, of 25 Center St., Erlanger, died on Saturday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

She is survived by seven daughters, Mrs. Joyce Reinersman of Erlanger, Mrs. Joan Ashcraft of Morning View, Mrs. Judy Hogan of Covington, Mrs. Jan DeFalaize of Taylor Mill, Mrs. Pam Jennings of Dayton, and Mrs. Lynn Paulkner and Mrs. Bonnie Paulkner both of Erlanger; five sons, Sonny Lower of Louisville, and Jeff, Gary, Dean and Bobby Lower of Erlanger; three sisters, Mrs. Mabel Houston of Covington, Mrs. Leila Harrison of Ludlow, and Mrs. Cora Wilson of Georgetown; a brother, Charles Houston of Independence, and 23 grandchildren.

Services were held at 11:00 a. m., Tuesday at the Chambers and Grubbs Funeral Home, Independence.

Lodge Confers MM Degree

Saturday, Dec. 7th, Boone Union Lodge, No. 304, conferred the Master Mason degree on James Payne, Chester Wood and Warren Ryle. The fourth man, Jack Gillian, was unable to be present as he was recovering from a broken leg.

Bro. Huey Johnson, DDGM of District 28, and Past Master of Latonia Lodge, No. 748, were welcomed and given honors.

Bro. Scottie Friend presented his class for their proficiency examination on the Fellowcraft degree.

Past Masters who took part in the degree work were: Virgil L. Kelly, WM; Scottie Friend, SW; Surface Barlow, JW; Bill Parker, SD; Virgil W. Kelly, JD.

Bro. Huey Johnson raised Bro. Wood and gave the chart lecture, and Virgil L. Kelly raised Bros. Payne and Ryle and also gave the charge.

The lodge reports that two sons of two of its members joined the DeMolays. They are Tony Collins, son of Sanford Collins, and Don Haynes, son of D. F. Haynes.

Refreshments were served and enjoyed by those present.

Kenton Elementary PTA

The December meeting of the Kenton Elementary PTA will be held on Thursday at 8:00 p. m., in the gym. Miss Berna, music director, will present a Christmas program entitled "A Children's Christmas Program." Students of Kenton Elementary will participate in the program.

Religion In Lives of U. of Ky. Students

The role of religion in the lives of University of Kentucky students is fairly stable year after year, an informal survey shows. Religious leaders at the University say, however, that there is a growing interest among students in social service programs in addition to the traditional religious activities.

A majority of the religious advisors who work with UK students doubts that a significant trend in religious direction exists. The leaders say students presently attend numerous religious functions such as Sunday School, morning worship, communion vespers, Bible study, confession, mass, and group study programs as in the past, with some indication of increased activity and interest in areas of Christian fellowship and endeavor.

One religious leader said it appeared to him "that traditional religious activity is on the decline," but that there is a definite increase in the number of students wanting to help the aged, the impoverished, the retarded, and the infirmed.

Many kinds of programs are carried on by the major denominations at the University. Those denominations are: Baptist Student Union, the Episcopal Canterbury House, Christian Student Fellowship, Jewish Hillel Foundation, Missouri Synod Lutheran, Roman Catholic Newman Center, and the Methodist Wesleyan Foundation.

Social Security Notes

Many young disabled veterans may be missing out on social security disability benefits according to William C. Noel, District Manager of the social security office in Covington. The Social Security Administration provides monthly disability payments to thousands of disabled veterans and their families. A lot more younger veterans are eligible for disability benefits now because of a change in the Social Security Law that was effective last February.

Until last February, many young workers and veterans with impairments could not receive disability benefits because they had not worked long enough on social security covered jobs. Military service time counts as social security covered employment, the same as almost all other employment. Before last February, young disabled men and women needed the same social security credits as older disabled people. Almost everyone needed social security credits for at least five out of ten years immediately before he became disabled.

"Unfortunately," Mr. Noel said, "many young workers and veterans never had a chance to work long enough, including their time in service, to meet this 5-year work requirement. But now, younger people disabled between their 24th and 31st birthday need credits for only half of the time between 21 and the time they became disabled." Here is an example Mr. Noel gave:

A person who became disabled on his 25th birthday, now needs only two years of social security work credits instead of the five years that were needed before this year. For anyone disabled before age 24, the social security work credit requirement is even less. It may be just one and one-half years of work credits out of the three-year period ending when the disability began.

Mr. Noel advised all disabled veterans and other younger disabled workers who were disabled before their 31st birthday to get in touch with the Covington Social Security Office at 309 Garrard Street soon. "Do this even if you made a claim before and were denied because you had not worked long enough," Mr. Noel urged. "The new law may help you."

The amounts of disability benefits now range from $55 to $189.90 a month for a single disabled worker and from $82.50 to $395.60 a month for a disabled worker with eligible dependents.

The Covington office is open Monday through Friday from 8:15 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. and on Thursday from 8:15 a. m. to 8:00 p. m.

Civil Disorders

The civil disorders that raged across the nation during the summer of 1967 caused insured losses of more than $64 million, the Insurance Information Institute reports.

THE REAL JOY

Lesson for December 22, 1968

Background Scriptures: 1 John 1:1-4, Revelation 15:3b, 4:11:15b.
Devotional Readings: John 1:1-4.

In the December 17, 1967 issue of the New York Times Magazine section there was an article entitled, "Singing Those Christmas Holiday Blues." For an increasing number of people, it said, "Christmas is the worst of times. For them, this is the season of mishaps, depression and anxiety."

For evidence, the article cited records of the New York Police Department which indicate that the number of traffic accidents is always higher at this time of year than any other. The F. B. I. also reports that there is an annual Christmas season rise in the numbers of murders and negligent manslaughters, as well as robberies. The National Retail Association adds that December shows the highest incidence of bad-check passing, slow accounts overdraw, and applications for new accounts by "deadbeats." On top of all this, says the article, the most common symptoms of the holiday blues are family quarrels, excessive drinking, loneliness, and despair.

Joy gone sour

Another national magazine surveyed leading American magazines last Christmas and found that they all seemed to reflect the opinion that "Good cheer has given way to gloom; the champagne has gone flat..." In one of these magazines, a psychiatrist offered this explanation: "There are those who feel they should have such enormous enjoyment during a holiday that they become depressed, anticipating their inevitable disappointment. Yes, having to enjoy themselves can be a burden enough to kill the enjoyment."

Yet, Christmas is supposed to be a time of joy, isn't it? Doesn't John say of the incarnation, "... we are writing this that our joy may be complete?" (1 John 1:4). Don't we sing "Joy to the world, the Lord is come..."? Don't our Christmas cards speak of "joy" and our Christmas customs and decorations presuppose it?

The answer to all these questions is, of course, "Yes." But the joy which turns sour for so many at Christmas is not the same joy of which the scriptures and the carols speak. It is because people seek the wrong Christmas joy that they find it such a dismal, discouraging experience.

Secular Christmas

A local high school advertises a "secular Christmas program." "How can that be?" we ask. "How can you make a religious experience secular?" Yet isn't that what we have done with Christmas? Keeping only the name and the sentiment, haven't we made it mostly a secular celebration, divorced from Christ, oblivious to the meaning of the incarnation? Isn't it true for many that the creche is simply a symbol of a forgotten reality, a nostalgic reminder of how the holiday season got its name?

The objective of the secularized Christmas seems to be to enjoy one's self and have a good time, to be merry and gay, to be swept along in an atmosphere of good cheer and inexpensive good will. The order of the day: "Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we go back to work!"

Reason for joy

But one cannot be joyful for the sake of joy itself. There must be a reason or the joy will turn sour. John has a reason for his joy. He rejoices in the knowledge that God revealed himself and bestows the gift of eternal life in the coming of Jesus Christ. Through this one man, Jesus, we are made one with all other men and God himself. In this day of death and division, is that not something which has the power to inspire real joy?

If a man will truly consider the meaning of Christ's coming, he will find a joy that cannot be taken down with the tinsel and the tree.

THE GUN LAW

By M. Gene Snyder,
U. S. Congressman,
4th District, Kentucky

December 18, 1968 was the effective date of most new federal controls on the sale of firearms.

According to the IRS, a retail purchaser will usually have to appear in person and show identification sufficient to establish his name, address and age in order to buy a gun or ammunition.

License requirements for gun dealers also are set in the new law, and license fees for dealers are raised from the present $1.00 a year to $10.00. To qualify as a dealer, a person will have to be 21 years old.

The new law prohibits the sale of pistols and revolvers and ammunition for such weapons to anyone under the age of 21. In addition, persons under the age of 18 cannot buy any firearms or ammunition.

The Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division of the Internal Revenue Service has designated certain firearms as being "Gangster-style weapons." These weapons should have been registered prior to December 1—if you have not done so, you should. Some examples of these weapons are: machine gun, semi-automatic pistol with shoulder stock, weapons made from rifle, shotgun overall length less than 26 inches, shotgun with barrels less than 18 inches, rifle with barrel less than 16 inches, silencer, combination rifle and shotgun barrels less than 18 inches, knife gun, pen gun, cane gun, destructive devices such as explosive or incendiary bomb, grenade, mine and mortar. These must be registered even if they are unserviceable.

The IRS says that "information or evidence submitted in registering a weapon cannot be used against the registrant in any criminal proceeding arising out of a prior or concurrent violation of the law. However, this would not prevent prosecution for furnishing false information."

Christmas Reverie

Copyright 1968 Kaiser Advertising

Christmas—and we crunch along the rutted lane to the house where Grandpa waits, white hair shining in the candlelight, to throw open the door before the biggest tree a child has ever seen.

Christmas—and I cry as I unpack the cardboard manger scene I made as a child, that Mother had set up every year 'till now.

Christmas—and our little girl kneels tenderly beside a homemade manger. Two brothers flank her, their shepherd hats askew, as Daddy reads by firelight, "And there were in the same country shepherds..."

Christmas—and in a world that knows war, bitterness, and pain, I praise God for the Babe who "grew in grace" and demonstrated perfect Love.

Christmas—and candlelight gleams on the altar of your church and mine as we thank God for the birthday of a King.

Safe at Home?

Home isn't as safe as it should be, the Insurance Information Institute observes. More than twice as many persons died in accidents at home than in accidents at work —28,500 compared to 14,200.

Stamp It Out!

Among building fires whose origin can be traced, almost two out of five are attributed to smoking, matches or electrical causes, the Insurance Information Institute reports.

THE INVITATION

Lesson for December 29, 1968

Background Scripture: Rev. 21-22.

Devotional Reading: I Cor. 13.

"What value could there possibly be in studying a bunch of ancient visions?" This is often the reaction with which people respond to Revelation. After all, they reason these visions deal with the distant future and we are busy with just the present.

Yet, just as the past has helped to shape the present, what we do now can be greatly affected by what we expect of the future. For example, how would you answer these questions:

1. Will our world go on and on unending, or will it some day be brought to some kind of close?

2. In what direction is today's world traveling? Is it getting better, getting worse or just staying the same?

3. Will Christianity be completely vindicated at some point in history? Will good really triumph over evil?

4. Will there be a day of reckoning for each of us?

BEHIND THE VISION

These questions are important for the lives we live now in the present are greatly dependent upon our view of the future. For example, if what the church teaches about the eventual vindication of God's will and purpose is not really true, then why should anyone try to live by the Christian faith? There would be no purpose.

That is why, even though they were recorded almost two thousand years ago, these visions are important and relevant to us. We must remember, however, that the important factor in these visions is the message behind the symbols, not the pictorial details of the visions themselves. The writer of Revelation uses a kind of psychodetic imagery to communicate his experience, not the language of the scientist or historian.

For one thing, his vision tells us that the world as we know it will eventually pass away. In its place there will be a world newly created by God. Many of his contemporaries believe that when the kingdom of God came the world would be changed and made better but John is saying that the world will not be changed, but replaced. The fulfillment of God's plan goes beyond this world of time.

A NEW CREATION

This view is at variance with much of our contemporary expectations, too. Many people today assume that the world is "getting better every day in every way," as though progress is automatic, guaranteed. John, however, sharply disagrees with that view. The world would not simply evolve to perfection, he said, but the new world would come only as a new creation by God.

God is the source from which the world and everything in it has come.

How many roses do you lose each winter? Disregarding a particularly cold season, the answer should be none.

Special winter protection applied at the right time is the key to success with hybrid tea and floribunda roses. Unfortunately, predicting the right time for winter protection, or delaying treatment too long, sometimes causes winter injury.

Generally, apply protection in November about the time the ground starts to freeze. However, the work can be done later if the weather is still warm.

Many protection methods work. Mounding the soil around the canes with 8 to 10 inches of soil is a successful and widely used practice. It is best to bring in soil from another part of the garden. If you dig it from the rose beds you may injure the roots of the plants.

After mounding with soil, tie all the canes together to keep them from being blown about and loosening the root system. The plants can be topped at about 30 inches to facilitate tying. Six to 10 inches of coarse straw or hay can be placed over the soil for added protection. Straw or hay mulch is beneficial if winter temperatures dip below zero.

The styrofoam rose cone is a more recent winter protection innovation. Some growers experience good success with cones, while others have gone back to simple mounding. If a cone is used it is still advisable to mound the soil. The rose stems should not be placed under the styrofoam cap until temperatures are in the twenties.

Placing the cone on the plant too early can lead to problems. If the temperature climbs, so does the air within the cone. This new micro-climate situation provides an excellent site for disease growth and spread.

Some cones have removable tops that are taken off when the temperature rises and replaced when it falls. These work, but there is always a chance that the gardener will forget to replace the top when it gets cold. When spring comes the cones should be removed when night temperatures are above 32 degrees F. The soil mound can be left on longer and removed about March 15.

Rose cones provide excellent homes for mice. Mice extensively damage rose canes by girdling the stems. It is best to place a poisoned bait under each cone to eliminate this problem.

Help Children To Use Money Wisely

Today's child is tomorrow's consumer. Are you helping our child learn to use his money wisely?

"Helping children learn the value of money is one of the important responsibilities and privileges of parents," says Mrs. Elizabeth Porter, Area Extension Agent, a specialist in parent education and child development.

Your child's first nickel, his first allowance, the first money he earns—each is an opportunity for him to develop experience in the handling of money.

"Let your child decide how to spend his money," recommends Mrs. Porter. "If you give him an allowance but attach a lot of strings, you are depriving him of a valuable experience. Even if he squanders it on candy or cheap toys at first, he'll eventually learn to save for what he wants most. The important thing is to let him learn for himself. That means a lot more than anything you can tell him."

Well-meaning grandparents, at times, upset the educational value of an allowance by giving the child extra money for things he wants. They would help the child more by discussing with the parents some specific need of the child that doesn't fit into the family budget and then making that a gift for a special occasion, such as Christmas or a birthday.

What your child learns from his experiences with handling money will depend largely on your own attitudes. But many parents are confused about their goals. "Children should learn to spend without being wasteful, to save without being stingy, and to share what they have with others," suggests Mrs. Porter. Most important, children need to learn to value money for what it can do, not as an end in itself.

As your child grows older, he should have family responsibilities for which he is not paid, but he should also have chances to earn money. For example, perhaps a neighbor may have some work they could do for pay.

Older children should also be in on planning your family budget. This can help them to see how you make money decisions and how their own needs and desires fit into the family budget. It also gives them valuable experience for the time when they'll have family budgets of their own to manage.

By the time a child is in high school, his experience in handling money should enable him to manage an allowance that covers such items as clothing, school lunches, amusements, bus fare, club dues, contributions to church and charity, and other necessary spending.

Mrs. Porter invites you to stop by your County Extension Office and get free publications in family relations and child development. They will also be glad to work with individuals and groups to promote better family relations.
